

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1191

Chapter 1191 Change the Ending

Harold cleared his throat and said, "I presume you know that Mr. Collins booked the entire cinema to watch the film directed by you."

The director was surprised. "I... don't know. I was out all day at a party. You mean Mr. Collins watched my film?"

"Yes." Harold unfolded the story little by little lest the director should not take it.

Not a nobody, the director was well-known all over the world. He was resourceful and insightful.

The dramas and films directed by him were all classics.

It showed how much effort he put into his work.

But now...

Jordy demanded a change of the ending, which might evoke dissatisfaction among the audience and affect the rating of the movie. Then again, this was Jordy's order. Harold didn't think the director dared to defy it.

No one could afford to offend Jordy after all.

Of course, the director would not make the modification for nothing. He would gain endless benefits in the future. Jordy would invest in his every drama and movie. He would no longer have to worry about his career.

"Well..." The director was lost for words, and the look in his eyes was complicated, "What does Mr.

Collins think of the film?"

Since the film was mentioned, there should be a problem.

The director hadn't expected Jordy to inform him about such a thing.

Harold pondered for a moment and replied, "Mr. Collins watched the film today. He is not quite satisfied with the ending."

The director's eyelids twitched, and his breathing became rapid. "You mean..."

He got a general picture of the situation. As just Harold said, it was a bit overwhelming.

Harold cleared his throat. "Mr. Collins suggests that you should modify the ending."

The director was stunned.

His mind was blown.

Then he had a hacking cough.

Instead of comforting the director, Harold fell silent and waited for him to finish coughing. When it came to such a thing, he had to take it in on his own.

The director choked on his saliva and coughed for quite a while. When he recovered, he took a deep breath. "This is a joke, right? The film has hit the screen, and the publicity has been done. Mr.

Collins wants me to modify it now?"

So far, he still couldn't figure out why Jordy went to watch the film.

Harold remained composed. "You know the drill, and I think you're clear about the plot."

The director's face changed. He realized the situation and said in a hurry, "The story is not based on Mr. Collins' experience, I promise. It's the status quo of the upper class. This is a misunderstanding. Harold, you gotta intercede for me!"

Harold rubbed his brows and sighed, "Change the ending may make the story better. You know, most people like happy endings. Besides, the main actor has amazing acting skills. It's unreasonable that he is reduced to a minor role."

The director was speechless.

That's nonsense!

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1192

He was lost for words. When everything was ready, he had to call the cast and crew back and film a different ending. Then they would have to publicize the film again. The audience was expecting the film, but Jordy asked him to modify the ending.

No one would accept it.

The director felt that his blood pressure was rising.

He took a deep breath and said, "Harold..."

Aware of his insistence, Harold cut him off, "Mr. Guerrero, I think I've made myself clear. You just need to consider one thing. If you take Mr. Collins' advice, won't he reward you?"

The director fell silent.

He was aware that if he did what Jordy asked for, it would be beneficial to his career.

However, the film was his brainchild. He had put in a lot of effort and spent a lot of time designing the ending.

It was not easy to persuade the actor to play such a role..

He had offered a lot of subsidies, and his hair had turned grey. He found it hard to accept such a request.

He was depressed.

Harold continued to advise him, "Mr. Guerrero, you may be regretful to modify the ending now, but we should look on the bright side. Mr. Collins just sent me another message."

He checked out the new message, and his voice became steady.

The director asked with confusion, "What did Mr. Collins say?"

"He will invest in your every film. You don't have to worry about finding sponsors ever again."

The director was surprised. That was generous.

As a matter of fact, it was hard for him to find sponsors because he pursued real experiences. Things like houses or cars would be blown up in the films. It required a lot of investments, and most sponsors would not agree, thinking it was a waste of money.

The director knew Jordy as a man of his word and began to sway.

Harold added, "If you're fine with it, we can sign the contract right away."

The director's eyes swiveled. After a while, he sighed, "This film is the result of my painstaking effort. I was torn between unification and separation of the characters when I designed the ending.

Most people supported unification, but I decided to try separation. It was a risk I took, and the film hit the screen. Can you wait for a couple of days? I want to check out the audience's opinions."

"I'm afraid that's not what Mr. Collins desires," Harold responded in a calm voice.

The director changed color and sighed, "I didn't refer to Mr. Collins' personal experience. It's just an ordinary love story. All similarities are just coincidences. I..."

He was wronged, but he didn't dare to protest.

Harold laughed, "Mr. Guerrero, you're wrong to think that way. The modification won't affect you much. On the contrary, you won't have to worry about finding sponsors again. There will be no more actors or actresses recommended by the investors. Isn't it nice?"

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1193

Chapter 1193 Sudden Phone Call

Many actors and actresses were backed by investors. Their acting skills were terrible, but for the sake of their interests, the crew had to let them play important roles, which might affect the ratings of the films.

The director sighed, "You're right. One concession in exchange for endless benefits. I should accept it."

Harold smiled, "That's a good choice."

"This is sad." The director rubbed his chest. He was heartbroken.

The film was his brainchild after all.

Harold smiled, "Well then, we'll sign the contract when you're free I'll have it drawn up by the lawyer."

"Okay, let me know when you're ready. I'm going to call up the cast and crew"

"Your effort is much appreciated."

The director sighed again but didn't say another word.

He was devastated.

For a better future, he had to concede now.

They chatted for a while and hung up the phone. Harold then sent Jordy a message.

Jordy and Gloria were in the car. He was going to ride her home.

Neither of them talked along the way. Jordy's face was sullen the entire time. His phone vibrated, but he ignored it and continued to drive.

Gloria lay back in the seat and closed her eyes to take a rest.

She didn't feel like talking to Jordy.

The movie made her upset. It was not the ending that unnerved her, but the plot reminded her of days in the past. She had been devoted to Jordy. In the end...

She opened her eyes, showing a sarcastic look, but soon disguised it.

Before long, they arrived at Gloria's house. Just then, her phone rang. She thought it was Nydia calling, but Joseph's name was displayed on the screen.

She glanced at Jordy and said, "Your grandfather is calling."

Jordy wrinkled his brows. She didn't rush to get off. Instead, he answered the phone. "Joseph?"

After she divorced Jordy, she didn't call him Grandpa again.

That was because Old Joseph never liked her. In his mind, she was not worthy.

Old Joseph felt the distance between them from the appellation. He was embarrassed.

He took a breath and sounded softer than usual. "Gloria, you can call me Grandpa like before."

The speakerphone was on at that moment. If something went wrong, Jordy would know and take care of it.

Jordy remained silent.

Gloria didn't respond to it. Instead, she asked, "Is there anything I can help you with? How is Karen? Is she fine after taking the shot?"

She didn't say much since she was not sure if Old Joseph was with Karen.

Old Joseph understood the situation and said, "She's not with me. Actually, there is something I want to discuss with you."

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1194

Chapter 1194 An Apology

"What is it?" She knew that Old Joseph sounded so humble only for Karen's sake.

Gloria cared about Karen and would do anything for her.

She would not stand by.

Jordy uttered no sound but shut off the engine before she answered the phone.

It was quiet in the car, and the old man didn't know that the speakerphone was on.

Old Joseph sighed, "You may not like to hear this, but I know that I was wrong. I hope you'll feel my sincerity."

He was not that blunt to get straight to the point. Instead, he talked in a roundabout way.

Gloria knew that he was going to bring up things in the past. She remained calm.

"It's okay. Let bygones be bygones."

She had no intention of calling him Grandpa.

There were no bounds between them. To her, Old Joseph was just a senior. She respected him only for Karen's sake.

Old Joseph couldn't help but sigh again, "Girl, I'm sorry for mistreating you. I hope you won't hate me. I was so stubborn but have realized my mistake."

Gloria was surprised. It was reasonable that he conceded for Karen's sake, but his apology was not expected.

"Don't take it too hard." She looked at Jordy in a way as if she could know more about Old Joseph through Jordy's expressions.

However, Jordy looked indifferent as ever. She couldn't read his mind.

“Will you forgive me?” Old Joseph sounded guilty and expectant.

Gloria curled her lips and chuckled, “I’ve never hated you. Don’t beat yourself up.”

She was not lying, but to Old Joseph’s ears, it sounded like she would not forgive him.

He sighed again.

He had said what he had to say. More words would not be of any use. He decided to make it up to her through actions.

From his silence, Gloria could tell his mixed feelings. She asked, “So, why are you calling?”

Old Joseph’s eyes flickered. He replied, “I saw the trending topics about you guys.”

Gloria was puzzled.

She asked him about the purpose of the phone call, but the old man mentioned the trending topics.

Is he trying to warn me to stay away from Jordy? He called me in private lest Karen should be upset?

Gloria took another look at Jordy. Still, his mind could not be read. She said nothing and waited for Old Joseph to continue.

The following speech of the old man blew her mind. It was something he had never expected.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1195

Chapter 1195 Rejection

“This is embarrassing, but Karen is in a bad condition. I don’t want to see it worsen because of anything unpleasant. What happened last time really scared me.”

“You can go ahead with it.” Gloria believed in his words. She saw how anxious Old Joseph was the other day. All these years, Karen and he had been on good terms.

Old Joseph let out a deep sigh and said, “I hope that Jordy and you can get back together.”

Gloria was stunned.

Even the man in the driver's seat was astounded.

Without a word, he laid his eyes on the phone in Gloria's hand.

Before Gloria could come to her senses, Old Joseph's voice came again.

"I was wrong to oppose you two being together. I was so blind to let Angela marry into our family. I was ignorant. You're the right woman for Jordy."

Gloria came to her senses and looked at the phone in disbelief. Never in a million years had she thought he would say such a thing. Old Joseph used to despise her and oppose her being his granddaughter-in-law. Every member of the Collins family was clear about it.

Now he swallowed his pride, hoping that she would get back together with Jordy and rejoin their family. It was just unbelievable.

"You..."

Afraid of her refusal, Old Joseph added in a hurry, "I know that you've been through a lot, but these are my sincere words. I mean it and welcome you to come back. For Karen's sake, I hope you'll give Jordy another chance."

His message was clear. If Gloria and Jordy were back together, it would cheer Karen up and alleviate her disease. His wish was sincere.

He was just unsure if Gloria would agree.

He clutched the phone. The glimmer in his eyes and his parted lips showed how expectant he was.

Jordy sat there without a word as if this was unrelated to him. He let Gloria respond to it on her own.

He was indifferent on the surface but started to pay attention to their conversation. From time to time, he glanced at the phone as if he could see their emotions through it.

The grandfather and grandson were waiting. Gloria enunciated, "I'm afraid I can't."

In an instant, the temperature in the car seemed to drop to the freezing point. She could feel it.

Old Joseph gasped in disbelief.

Isn't Gloria crazy about Jordy?

How come she made such a flat rejection without any hesitation?

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1196

Chapter 1196 Feeling Flattered

If she had wanted to play hard to get, she would have said some tactful words to show her attitude. If so, he could still plead with her and say some kind words to smooth things over. But her direct refusal made Old Mr. Collins at a loss for words.

After a pause, he said, "Gloria, can you give it some more thought? After all, this is your first marriage, and you had been married for three years. You must still have feelings for him, right?"

Old Mr. Collins did his best to convince her because he hoped they could remarry very much.

The surprise in Gloria's eyes grew stronger. She had not expected him to love Old Mrs. Collins so much. Gloria knew he looked down on herself, so she was surprised that he had condescended to ask her to remarry Jordy. From the perspective of Old Mr. Collins, his current attitude must be very humble. For the sake of his wife, he could do such a thing. Gloria felt moved and envious of their deep love. But she still sighed softly, "Remarriage is not a simple thing. You should know our current situation. We're not suitable at all. You..."

Before she could finish speaking, Jordy suddenly interrupted in a deep voice, "It's none of your business."

Hearing this, Gloria subconsciously looked up at him. When he saw her calm face, the look in his eyes gradually became gloomy. Gloria kept silent, but her eyes flashed with sarcasm.

If Old Mr. Collins wanted them to remarry, he shouldn't have called her because Jordy would not agree no matter what. Old Mr. Collins had talked for only a short while, but Jordy had gotten very unhappy. So, there was no need to talk about this matter at all.

"You little brat, why are you there?"

Jordy snorted, "You said you saw the trending topic. Don't you know we watched the movie together? I am sending her back home!"

Joseph was speechless. He had thought they would separate after watching the movie and had not expected Jordy would send her back home. Gloria stopped speaking after Jordy interjected, intending to let the grandpa and grandson go on talking.

“So, you heard what I said just now?” jordy didn’t respond, but silence meant acquiescence.

Old Mr. Collins showed a gloomy face and cursed in a faint voice before saying, “Since you have heard my words and understood my thoughts, you should know I will not hinder you any longer. Whether you can win Gloria’s heart depends on yourself now. Don’t make me look down on you!”

Gloria was speechless.

Jordy’s face became gloomier when he said, “I said it’s none of your business. You don’t need to worry about our marriage. You just need to avoid angering my grandma now.”

“You brat! You’ve grown up, so you think you don’t need to show respect to me anymore, right? I’m your grandfather!”

Gloria turned her head aside to look out the window. It was her villa, so she thought the scenery in the yard looked extraordinarily beautiful even at night. The conversation between the two men was boring, and she was not interested in it at all, so she said, “If there’s nothing else, I will hang up.”

Hearing this, Joseph frowned. But he knew the current situation. There was no point in talking too much now, so he gave a cold snort and said softly, “OK, but I hope you can bear what I said today in mind. Our family will always welcome you, and I’m looking forward to your return. I’m sorry for what I did in the past.”

Old Mr. Collins had indeed swallowed his pride today. Gloria had never expected him to apologize to her, so she felt a little flattered.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1197

Chapter 1197 Will You Please Be My Plus-one?

Gloria quickly responded without hesitation, “You don’t need to apologize!”

What others said had little influence on their relationship. Old Mrs. Collins had persuaded them to get along well with each other, while Old Mr. Collins had persuaded them to divorce as soon as possible. Their opinions were the opposite. To be exact, they neutralized each other. So, the main reason was Jordy’s attitude toward her. He hated her from the beginning to the end, so it was normal that he did not want to live together with her. Therefore, their divorce had no catalyst from outside. It was just because they were not suitable.

Gloria had long thought it through.

Sensing that Gloria didn't intend to say anything else, Old Mr. Collins sighed helplessly and said softly, "In this case, I won't bother you any longer. Girl, I hope you can think about it carefully. There is no rush to refuse."

Gloria said yes with a calm face although she had been surprised twice just now. Her feelings for Jordy had long turned to ashes, so there was nothing to relive. She did not intend to think about it anymore or take Old Mr. Collins's words to heart.

"Good."

After they hung up without saying anything more, the car fell quiet again.

When Gloria turned her head to glance at Jordy, she saw his gloomy face. So, she silently turned around, opened the car door, and got off.

"Thank you for sending me back. See you!" Gloria said, closed the car door, and then walked toward the villa with her bag.

Jordy did not start the car after a long time, but she didn't pay attention. After she opened the door, she walked inside without hesitation and quickly closed it.

Jordy used to know the password of the combination lock of her house, but she had changed it after that incident, so he could not enter the house without her permission anymore. Moreover, their relationship had reached such a freezing point that she would not allow him to enter her house again.

Jordy didn't get in this time, and Gloria had a good sleep.

Not long after Gloria arrived at the company the next morning, she received a message from Jonathan, asking, "Old Mr. Roberts' birthday is coming around the corner. Are you willing to be my plus one?"

Gloria raised an eyebrow and replied, "I'll go by myself. I will have other things to do on that day, so I might leave earlier."

Jonathan said, "It's okay. I'll send you there."

Gloria refused, "No, thanks."

She did not want to spend too much time with Jonathan now. She had originally wanted to deceive Old Mrs. Collins to make her feel better. If she got too close to Jonathan, her plan would backfire. All her efforts would be in vain, and Old Mrs. Collins's condition would get worse.

She soon added, "I have important things to do, so I can't get too close to you for the time being. I'm sorry."

When typing the message, she had deliberately capitalized the word "important" to highlight it. Jonathan was a smart person, so she was sure he could tell what she meant at a glance.

Recently, she had frequently visited the old house of the Collins family, so Jonathan knew how much she cared about Old Mrs. Collins. He was a clever person, so he would not make things difficult for her.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1198

Chapter 1198 Caring about Only Her

Jonathan asked, "If so, you will have to compensate me, right?"

There was always some implication in his words. When Gloria saw his message, she froze for a moment, not knowing how to reply. She must reply. But if she answered his question, he might wrongly think she was giving him a chance. Gloria frowned slightly, thought for a while, and only sent him a grinning emoji.

Seeing it, Jonathan replied, "Treat me to dinner when you have time."

Gloria responded, "OK."

She didn't type anything else than this word, so Jonathan tactfully ended the chat.

Everything went smoothly in the next few days. Karen's condition was stabler after another injection. When Karen knew that Gloria and Jordy had started dating, she thought their relationship had become much closer. Therefore, she was in such a good mood that she was not resistant to injections. Every time she got an injection, Gloria and Jordy would come to see her together, so she began to look forward to injections now.

Today was Rachel's grandfather Old Mr. Roberts's birthday. And most rich families had come to attend his birthday party. Those who didn't come were either unqualified or hostile to the Roberts. family. The party was quite lively.

Gloria was the chairman of the White Group, so she also came to show her respect. She was standing alone in the crowd in a light blue dress, holding a glass in her hand. Soon, several men walked up to say hello to her. She was extremely popular now, and many people were eager to make friends with her as if the White Group could be compared with the Roberts Group, the Collins Group, and the Brown Group. Gloria was at ease in the crowd, not feeling annoyed after so many people surrounded her.

As soon as Jordy came in, he saw the most eye-catching woman in the crowd. Her dress set off her curvy and well-proportioned figure. After clinking glasses with a man, she put the glass to her lips, raised her head slightly, and took a sip. She was noble and cold. But when drinking, she looked charming.

Jordy's face suddenly became sullen. When he was about to walk to her, he saw Rachel striding to her ahead of him. So, he stopped his steps.

He didn't know that Rachel had been paying attention to him for a long time. As soon as seeing him coming in, she had wanted to come over to say hello. But when remembering what had happened that day and that they had not had a chance to talk about their cooperation yet, she had felt depressed. Therefore, she had not taken the initiative to greet him.

Jordy had always cared about business very much, and it was an important project. But after standing her up, he had not even mentioned it. Even though the Collins family was powerful, the Roberts family was not inferior to them. Why did not Jordy care about the Roberts family's feelings at all? Wasn't he afraid she would fall out with him for this matter?

Rachel had been angry for days, thinking Jordy should not have treated her like this! Moreover, he cared about only Gloria and had even watched a movie with her!

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1199

Chapter 1199 Are They Friends?

Rachel didn't know how she had gotten through these days.

Since Jordy had arrived, he had not paid any attention to her but kept staring at Gloria. And when he saw her talking and laughing with other men, he was upset! Seeing this, Rachel did not want to deceive herself anymore! Jordy must have feelings for Gloria!

Seeing him about to go to talk to her, Rachel didn't want to give them any chance to flirt with each other at the banquet. So, she hurriedly strode toward Gloria with a glass of wine. She believed Jordy would stop his steps when seeing her go over.

Even though she was looking at Gloria while walking, she kept peeping at Jordy out of the corner of her eye. Seeing him turning around to talk to a man who suddenly greeted him, Rachel felt relieved.

Seeing several men surrounding Gloria, Rachel walked up to them with a smile and said, "You seem to be having a good chat."

When the men heard her voice, their instantly eyes lit up. It was Rachel! After they had arrived, they had wanted to curry favor with her. But she was so busy today that they could not get a chance at all So, they were frustrated and had never expected her to take the initiative to talk with them. But soon, they realized she had come over for Gloria.

One fat man suddenly smiled, "Miss Roberts, long time no see! You still look so beautiful!

While speaking, he moved his wine glass forward.

Rachel clinked glasses with him and said, "Thank you."

Not to be outdone, the other people also intended to drink with her. But she refused with a smile, "Sorry, I am a light drinker. Today is my grandpa's birthday, so I can't get drunk. I appreciate your good intentions."

Those who could not drink with her felt unhappy, but they could only smile instead of complaining.

Then, Rachel grinned, looked at Gloria, and said, "Gloria, can I have a word with you?"

Gloria was speechless.

The people around were surprised to hear Rachel intimately calling her Gloria instead of Ms. White, wondering whether they had a good relationship.

But it was strange. Gloria was Jordy's ex-wife, while Rachel had liked Jordy for many years. So, they should be rivals in love. Therefore, it was unbelievable that they were on such intimate terms.

Gloria didn't want to continue talking with these men, so she nodded at Rachel. She would rather go with her than talk with them courteously but without sincerity. After all, Rachel must be quieter.

Soon, they walked to the sofa not far away. They were both holding an empty glass, but neither of them wanted more wine.

After they sat opposite each other, Gloria asked, "It's your grandpa's birthday party. Don't you need to greet the guests?"

Rachel said with a confident smile on her lips, "You are also a guest."

Their relationship was not good, and they were rivals in the business circle. But now, they were talking and laughing like old friends. If Nydia were here, she would admire them.

Hearing her reply, Gloria raised her eyebrows but didn't say anything. After she put the wine glass on the table, Rachel followed suit.

Then, she put her hands on her knees to straighten her dress and said with a smile, "I'm very glad that you do us the honor of attending the party."

After all, everyone knew Gloria's weight now.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1200

Chapter 1200 Calculation and Evil Intention

Although the White Group was much less powerful than the Roberts Group, many people thought Gloria and Rachel were well-matched in weight. And some people even thought the former was much stronger than the latter. Because Rachel was not the president of the Roberts Group yet and had to obey her grandfather's command now. Old Mr. Roberts had delegated some authority to her, and her performance was good, but people still thought Gloria was more capable than her.

After all, any one of Gloria's sock puppets could cause a sensation in the world. And many people would tremble with fear upon hearing of them. So, no one would think she was inferior to Rachel. Moreover, Gloria could earn a lot of money with her sock puppets and was the head of the White Group, so she might not have less wealth than Rachel.

Hearing Rachel say the word "honor", Gloria showed a faint smile and said politely, "It is my to be invited."

She had nothing to say to Rachel and did not want to have too many dealings with her because she could sense her hostility toward her because of Jordy. However, Old Mrs. Collins was ill, so she could not distance herself from Jordy but must act as if they were dating. Even though Rachel had misunderstood, she would not explain or try to solve the problem. After all, Old Mrs. Collins's health was the most important.

After a waiter came over and poured red wine for them, neither of them intended to drink.

After looking at Gloria for a while, Rachel didn't want the atmosphere to remain so gloomy, so she said softly, "My grandpa's birthday party will not last long. If you're tired, you can go to have a rest."

"You must be joking. Why do you think I am tired?" It seemed Rachel wanted to continue to talk with her but could not find a proper topic. Seeing this, Gloria said softly, "Why don't you go to say hello to the other guests?"

When speaking, she stood up and added, "I need to go to the lavatory now."

Rachel nodded, "Okay."

Gloria silently smiled at Rachel in response and then walked toward the lavatory.

As soon as Rachel got up, two waiters suddenly rushed over, holding trays with many glasses on them.

They were running extremely fast, heading toward Gloria and Rachel.

Gloria was confused. When she was about to step aside to avoid them, Rachel walked behind her, stood still, and asked, "Why are you running so fast?"

She thought they would stop after hearing her words. But the two waiters turned a deaf ear and continued rushing forward. At the same time, two other waiters rushed up from behind one after the other, blocking Gloria and Rachel's way backward. There were so many people at the party, but these four waiters were acting regardless. And Gloria could see the calculation and evil intention in their eyes.

"Avoid them," Gloria whispered. She wanted to Rachel go sideways to avoid them because the other ways had all been blocked. But a few curious people suddenly came over from that direction, so now, they could not go there either.

Soon, the waiters all arrived, and two of them directly bumped into each other.

"Ouch!"

Splash!