

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1261

Chapter 1261 Immune

“Losses.”

Before he could put the word out, Gloria interrupted him impatiently, “Uncle, whatever you said is true or not, it is not what concerns me. I know what the company is like. You can’t sow discord among us by doing this.”

“Sow discord?” Claude felt aggrieved and wronged at the moment, “What I said is the truth!”

Yes, Claude was telling the truth.

The reason why the company remained stagnant was mostly due to Claude’s incompetence while part of it was owed to the two traitors.

But Gloria’s indifference and suspicion caused prickles of anger at the back of his neck.

Never had anyone put him through such humiliation!

Ever since Declan died, he seized control of both the White Family and White Group. Although Yvonne got in the way from time to time, there was nothing he could do to sway his decision. He had more flunkies after all.

Yet now! Now!

Claude was simmering with resentment and anger.

Gloria looked at him and said breezily, “Uncle, why don’t you just go home. If you wanna get a promotion, earn it with your performance instead of trading it with your dark secret. I value fairness for everyone.”

Claude was silenced by her comments.

Dam*ed girl!

He now knew this trick was not working with Gloria!

And he had mentioned the traitors to Gloria. If the words ever got out, the two traitors, who were now in higher positions than him, might give him a hard time!

Claude panicked.

He started regretting it as he had never expected Gloria to be so cool and stubborn.

She might not believe its authenticity. But she could have asked about their names and looked into

It Yet, Gloria had given him her cold shoulder and showed no interest in it at all.

What the hell was she up to?

“Gloria, what I told you is real. Anyway we must unite when it comes to dealing with our foes. I hope for the best for the White Group as well, do I not? You have to trust me on that!”

Gloria should be able to see his wild ambition. The reason why he hoped for the best for the company was he wanted to regain control. He would talk sooner or later whether Gloria asked or not and Gloria would deal with it. So Gloria did not bother to ask!

Why didn't Gloria ask?

Why?

Gloria grew impatient. She rest her palm on the mouse and clicked on a file on her computer while saying faintly, “Get outta here now. I want to get back to work.”

Dam*ed girl' Claude cursed in his heart.

For the next hours, Gloria had made no responses to his persuasion. Nor did she drive him out. He was like an invisible man to her.

Claude blew his top at Gloria's aloofness. She was like a bouncy ball, immune to both soft and hard tactics.

Claude had no choice but to leave.

After he closed the door, Gloria picked up her phone and sent a message to Janice.

-Gloria White, [“Check on Martha Hunter for me and ask her if she's ready.”]

-Janice, [“OK, Ms. White, I'm on it.”]

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1262

Chapter 1262 GW Behind the Scene!

-Gloria White, "Well, give her a little push, if she refuses to talk. Don't blame me for being ruthless."

-Janice, "Got you."

Gloria went back to work.

Two hours later, Janice's message came in again.

-Janice, "Ms. White, she had been playing dumb when I got there. Except for asking about her daughter's situation, she kept her mouth shut."

-Janice, ["Before I left I threatened her just in the way you told me to. She remained completely unmoved."]

-Gloria White, ["I see. Get the words and photos out."]

Then, Gloria sent Janice a file with words and photos in it.

Janice was shocked by the file she received!

She had known none of this before. After texting her back, she got down to it.

Everything was going pretty well, but... The photos and captions Janice posted on Twitter caused quite a stir online.

The topic took up the headlines of the day.

Claude White cheated on his wife and raised an illegitimate daughter with his mistress.

The photos and stories had been proven authentic. Various comments were made down below the tweet.

Kimberly, "Holy Molly! Is this really Claude White! He has always presented himself as a model husband and father. Yet now, it is ruined."

-Marilyn, ["I knew he was a hypocrite no matter how sweet he had been on TV! I knew he cheated on his wife! Not surprised!"]

-Catherine, ["The mistress? Isn't she my neighbor? Neighbors had been discussing her when she moved into the neighborhood with her child. She doesn't work but live in a big house. It turns out people were right."]

Kimberly, "Shame on her! She could have found herself a good man, a single man! Why would she choose to be a family wrecker! But, then again, Claude White, his wife and daughter have been jackals of the same lair. It doesn't really matter, does it? Whatever

“I

-Cynthia, “Don't be so mean, guys? Life has been extremely unfair to them. Angela is dead. Martha Hunter was thrown into prison. The poor girl, the death might be a good way out for her “I

-Adam, [“Indeed, what a poor girl she is! But unfortunately, no one else but her closest friends would have known and revealed such things! Claude's foe was the one to blame for all of this.”

-Timothy, [“You don't mean do you?”)

Obviously, he was referring to Gloria White with the abbreviations.

Someone stood up to defend Gloria right away And soon, a war of words broke out on Twitter

Gloria read the comments online and laughed mockingly

She did not truly care whether she would be involved.

It was the development of the event that concerned her

In the office of the Tamah Group.

Rachel held the phone of her assistant and read the headline of the day. She had asked her assistant to pay extra attention to Gloria and reported to her everything concerning her

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1263

Chapter 1263 A Good Trick

As long as she was not in a meeting, her assistant should report to her in the first place. So here her assistant was.

Her assistant came over immediately with her phone the moment she saw the headline of the day.

After reading the tweets and some of the comments, Rachel put down her phone and smirked, “A good trick it is, Gloria.”

The assistant was confused by Rachel's comment. She asked curiously, "What's the purpose of Gloria doing this thing? Claude was utterly discredited and no longer a threat to her."

At first, she thought little of this thing. Gloria hated Claude. That was the reason why she had released the big news and put Claude in an extremely embarrassing situation.

But... After hearing what Rachel said, she sensed something fishy.

Rachel pursed her lips and looked at her assistant. "A smart person like Gloria White has a purpose in everything she does and doesn't usually make a useless move. Why would she want Claude White to lose all his reputation? Things won't be so easy. To put it bluntly, Claude White is just some unlucky guy who she could make good use of with his scandal."

"Ah...?" the assistant felt even more puzzled. "Well... What is her real purpose? What do we need to do now?"

This assistant was the most important confidant of Rachel, so that she had been informed of everything and remained very loyal.

The enemy of Rachel was an enemy to her. That was why she asked Rachel whether they needed to do something to contain Gloria. If things went too well for Gloria, it might not be good for Rachel.

Rachel answered coolly, "We don't need to intervene in the fight between her and Angela White for now."

"Huh?" Puzzled as her assistant might be, she got what Rachel meant, "You are saying that Gloria was doing this to aim at Angela White?"

Rachel snorted coldly and said, "There was a secret person behind Angela White to back her up. I know that, and Gloria White must also know that as well. The secret person is the real one Angela needs to guard against."

The assistant winked and said nothing, waiting for Rachel to continue her analysis.

"Gloria dared to show up last time I texted her the location. She must infer that I am not going to get involved in this strife between them. So as long as it is in her favor, she won't turn it down."

The assistant nodded, convinced by Rachel's analysis.

"Gloria remained a rival to me but we could be allies as well. She won't come after me for now although she would be on alert as long as I observe neutrality in this strife between them."

“So this time, her strife with Angela White...”

After everything Rachel had mentioned, the assistant still failed to see what Gloria was going to do to Angela.

Rachel pursed her lips and asked, “We have received an invitation from the Philips, haven’t we?”

“Yes,” the assistant nodded.

Rachel sneered, “If I am right, Angela White is the so-called long-lost daughter Eva Philips, wife of Mr. Philips, found.”

Her assistant’s eyes twitched slightly. She also had her own guess about it but never did she dare to speak it out.

“I heard that Mrs. Philips is a ruthless woman. Angela is not her real daughter. She will not be kind to Angela. Angela’s life has not been easy lately. How do you think she is gonna react after finding out about her father’s affairs?”

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1264

Chapter 1264 I Beg Your Mercy

After a second of shock, the assistant said, “She’s gonna break down and get even more desperate in whatever she does, which would give Gloria chances, right?”

“Get desperate, maybe a little bit,” Rachel shook her head and continued, “Precisely speaking, it doesn’t matter much to Gloria whether Angela gets desperate or not.”

“Well, then...?” The assistant fell further and further into the quagmire of confusion.

Rachel raised her eyes to look at her and said, “Use your brain. Do you think Angela is gonna accept this whole thing well given her relationship with her father? Will she go for Claude to confront the issue? Or will she choose to help her father clarify and set the record straight?”

The assistant was suddenly enlightened by her questions. “I see, Gloria wants Angela to give away herself and the secret person behind her!”

“The reason why the secret person did not give up upon Angela is that Gloria is their common enemy and that Angela is still useful. What Gloria is doing right now is following up on the clues Angela might give away and seize the secret person. That was when Angela becomes an outcast.”

The assistant opened her mouth in awe.

Rachel leaned back a little, fiddling with her pen on the desk, and smiled: "This is the brilliance of Gloria. She has a clear mind and a definite purpose. Maybe, she is able to achieve more things at this stroke, which I can't foresee now."

"Well.. Are we going to do something?" the assistant looked at Rachel and asked.

Rachel shook her head. "Just observe carefully and update me on the developments of this event."

"All right." The assistant grabbed her phone and went out after making sure Rachel had no other orders.

Alone at her desk, Rachel took out her phone and went back on Twitter. She found it hard to bring her attention back to work.

She wanted to see if there was anything new on Twitter

This event continued to ferment online

When Angela heard of it, her face was twisted with anger and embarrassment She couldn't believe it! Grabbing her phone tightly, she was about to explode with rage at any second

Eva was sitting by her side. They were alone in the bedroom at this moment. With a serious face.

Eva said, "Remember, you are Annie Philips, my daughter now! Whether the scandal online is true or false, it has nothing to do with you. You cannot get yourself involved!"

She sounded solemn when saying this as if it was a warning or an order.

Looking extremely awkward and embarrassed, Angela stared right into Eva's eyes and defended herself, saying, "He is, after all, my biological father. It is more than normal for me to feel offended and angered when someone spread a rumor online and slandered my father. I hope you can understand..."

Her aggressive voice trailed off as her reason came back to her slowly. At the thought that she still needed Eva's help, she became milder.

Eva snorted, "I don't mind whatever wicked thoughts you have. You are not going to do anything about it. You are Annie Philips. All that happened in the White Family has nothing to do with you!"

Angela shook her head in a sudden pang of panic. "Mrs. Philips... Even if no one else knows the truth, you should know I'm his biological daughter! I beg your mercy. Save my father and my family..."

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1265

Chapter 1265 You Are Doomed!

Eva's face grew even darker

"Did everything I said just fall on deaf ears of yours? Didn't you hear me clearly? How dare you ask me to intervene in this event for you?"

Sitting opposite Angela, Eva wore a gorgeous gown, which was affordable only by super rich of the city.

The big gold earrings dangled from her earlobes. She was wearing a pair of gold rimmed glasses. The skin was well cared and properly maintained for a woman in her fifties.

She was no longer young. Wrinkles on her face reminded her of that

She didn't choose to smooth out the wrinkles for fear of pain of surgery

Angela took a shallow breath and shook her head quickly, "No, no, no, I don't want you to intervene in the whole process of this event, nor do I want you to avenge me I hope that you could help take out the headlines and make the topics go away.

She knew she was not in a position to make a request. All she wanted was Eva could help her take out the headlines so that there was no more and further discussion on this scandal online

Besides, Eva could do it just with a call.

She had underestimated the seriousness of the matter

Eva sneered, "Claude White is a person hated by everyone now. No one would ever try to help him. By taking the headlines out of blue, we cannot avoid arousing suspicions. You might be exposed. Besides, Gloria was not truly aiming at your father. She was trying to get you!"

Angela's face grew paler!

But if things continued to ferment, it would only cause more trouble to her father!

When she took a breath and wanted to say something, Eva mocked, "What's more, your father has been cheating on your mother. He should feel sorry for you and your mother. Why do you want to defend him?"

Eva's words came as a bolt from the blue. Angela was stunned! She struggled to find back her voice and asked stiffly, "What? What did you say?"

Looking at Angela's deadly pale face and startled expression, Eva snorted coldly. "It is the truth that your father is a cheater. He even has a child with his mistress. So I warn you, don't do anything stupid. You are my daughter. Whatever happens to Claude White is none of your business."

Angela was dumbstruck by Eva's warning. She just found everything surreal. Why, why would it turn out this way....

These days' getting along with Eva had Angela know more about her. Eva was always mean to the others.

But, what she said right now sounded convincing!

Angela sat there with her body stiff like a marble. After a moment of silence, Eva said coldly, "What you got to do right now is stay home and play along! If the secret person who backs you up gives up upon you, you are useless! When that day comes, you are doomed if Gloria wants to take her revenge!"

After saying that, Eva gave a snort of contempt and walked out. At the threshold, she paused and gave her last warning, "Be smart and patient, so that you might have a future. If you expose yourself now, your life is ruined. You are doomed!"

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1266

Chapter 1266 Bloodlessly Pale

Eva pushed the door open and left without looking back.

Angela was left alone in the room. How she wished to take out her phone and call her father.

Yet...

She did not dare. Eva was right. If she exposed herself now, it was her future and life that were jeopardized. But... Did her father really cheat?

Did he really cheat on her mother and have a bastard daughter with his mistress?

Now that both she and her mother had left him, did her father reunite with his mistress and daughter and lived ever after?!

This event was such a blow to Angela. When she saw the photo of the family of three that was on trending, her heart missed a beat, as she found that the little girl in the photo looked a lot like her when she was young!

A moment ago, she didn't believe it. She just thought someone was setting up her father, but now...

But now...

When she read the tweet carefully, her face turned bloodlessly pale!

Gloria had arrived home from work at the moment. In the courtyard outside the villa, Nydia was pacing back and forth with her purse in her hands.

She smiled radiantly at the sight of Gloria. "You are finally home!"

Gloria was a little surprised to see her. "Why didn't you tell me in advance that you were coming over?"

"Well, it is not a big deal to wait for a little moment. I've got nothing else to do."

Gloria frowned slightly and said, "What if I work overtime? Do call me in advance next time."

"Alas, here you are anyway. I have some gossip news to tell you. Come on! Let's get in the house. I have also bought your food ingredients for the dinner!"

She pointed her fingers at the two plastic bags of groceries on the floor.

Gloria smiled and walked over. They picked up the bags and entered the house.

"Ah! I really miss the roast beef you cooked!" Nydia exclaimed.

Gloria laughed. "Well, I'll make it for you tonight."

The two changed out their shoes and clothes and went straight to the kitchen.

Nydia started talking as she rinsed the ingredients under the tap, "What happened on Twitter today was so amusing! I wonder how Angela will react when she sees the tweet and comments! Do you think she would hold herself back?"

"She will," Gloria said with certainty.

Hesitating, Nydia continued, "Maybe they have seen through the purpose of you releasing this big news. They would analyze the pros and cons for her. Do you think Angela would be so stupid to fall for it?"

Gloria pursed her lips and said, "Angela values the tie with her father."

"Eh?" Nydia was a bit confused.

Gloria said drily, "They used to live under the same roof with me. Each time, she saw how affectionately my father treated me, she would shed tears and quarrel with Claude openly. So, Claude had been spoiling her in the past years. The tie with her father had also been what she valued the most. Compared with her mother, she had a better relationship with her father."

"Eh? What would she do if she found out about Claude White's mistress and bastard daughter?"

"You'll see."

Nydia scowled with concern. "Based on my knowledge of Angela White, I never doubt she would react dramatically. I am just worried that those who are with her would watch her closely and give her no chance to make any mistake."

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1267

Chapter 1267 Is Everything That Was Tweeted True

Gloria answered casually, "We cannot rule that possibility out."

"What are you going to do then?"

"You'll wait and see," Gloria White said calmly as she sliced beef at the cutting board.

"Ah...?" Nydia got excited, "You're telling me to wait and see again!!"

Gloria smiled but said nothing.

No matter how Nydia pushed her, she just kept her lips zipped.

And just as Nydia was getting impatient, the roast beef was served.

Nydia's eyes were caught by the roast beef. "Wow!! The roast beef I have been yearning for is finally served!!"

Gloria curled her lips and said, "Time for dinner."

They cooked another dish and soup and set the table.

"Yum! They are so delicious!!! Boohoo... I wish I am as good at cooking as you are."

Gloria chuckled, "Take your time. I'll teach you."

"Well... I think I'll pass. I'd better eat now." As she spoke, Nydia tucked another slice of beef into her mouth. She closed her eyes and let out a gasp in admiration.

"Hmmm! Yummy!"

Gloria and Nydia were enjoying their meal.

But someone had no appetite at all at the moment.

At the moment, Claude hid in his cramped rented house. Because of the trending news, he did not dare to go to the mistress's house.

Nothing was scarier than to be caught in the act for him now.

He did not have to think to know who was setting him up.

That dam*ed girl!

Wasn't his life miserable enough? He couldn't believe Gloria was doing this to him.

He asked for a promotion earlier today, but was turned down by Gloria mercilessly. Why did she go on to treat him like this?

He was full of regrets now! He regretted not to getting rid of her along with her father.

She was the one who messed up his life and made him so pathetic.

He had thought about paying to take out the headlines, but he was not capable of it.

And his daughter...

With a whirlpool of emotions and thoughts, Claude hesitated for a moment and dialed the number of his daughter.

Angela had been in a daze on the sofa. Doubts were written all over her pale face.

Was her father truly unfaithful to her mother and the family?

The phone ringing interrupted her train of thought. When seeing it was from her father, she hesitated and wondered if she should put it through or not.

The Philips had warned her more than once to cut off the relationship with the Whites.

But it was her father who was calling to seek her help. Her biological father who was in distress. If she did not talk to him, he would feel so disappointed and upset.

The phone was still vibrating. Angela took a deep breath and eventually put it through.

“Dad,” she choked with sobs.

Claude’s eyes quivered as guilt filled up his heart. But there was nothing better he could do except to be overwhelmed by mixed feelings.

“Angela...”

Claude called her name and was not able to say more.

Angela took in a breath and plucked up his courage, saying, “I have seen the headlines of the day on Twitter...”

Claude’s eyes twitched as he sighed gently.

Feeling somewhat helpless, he said, “So, I don’t need to retell the whole story.”

Angela shuddered all over again and asked in a tone of disbelief, “What do you mean? Is everything that was tweeted true?”

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1268

Chapter 1268 Whether to Believe or Not

Claude’s face went pale all at once as he explained with his head shaking repeatedly, “How can they be true?”

Claude’s knee-jerk reaction was to shake his head even when he was alone on the phone.

“Really? Dad, am I supposed to believe you or not?” Angela sounded terrified, like a startled vigilant fawn.

Although Claude felt sorry for his daughter, it was not the time for him to tell the truth. He added immediately, "Angela. Of course you should believe me. I am your biological father. Why would lie to you?"

Angela looked undetermined. After a moment of hesitation, she spoke up,

"Mrs. Philips told me that they were all real."

Claude looked more flustered, but his voice remained calm. After hearing what Angela said, he fumed, "Nonsense!"

Angela took in a breath and did not air objections.

Claude wanted to explain himself. But a second thought had he asked, "What happened? What did she say about it?"

Angela pursed her lips and said, "She told me that I am one of the Philips now and should sever my ties with the Whites. She wanted me to stay out of this just in case I would put all our efforts into the toilet."

Claude was stunned for a second. He held the phone and did not know what to say. He knew that by asking for his daughter's help, he would only cause her more trouble.

"Mrs. Philips has always been an honest woman. Daddy, tell me the truth, did you cheat on mother?"

Claude replied without thinking, "Of course not."

Under no circumstances could he admit it.

Before Angela could say anything, Claude said again, "Angela, you have to believe me. I have only one daughter. And that is you. I have only one wife. And that's your mother. You and your mother are the world to me."

Angela's resolution wavered as she did not know who to believe.

Eva was not a liar but her father was so assertive.

Angela grabbed her hair as she was engaged in a silent mental struggle. Claude became nervous.

"My sweet girl, you don't trust me, do you?"

Claude sounded sad and disappointed.

"I... I do."

Angela had a particularly hard time saying those words.

But he was her biological father. No matter how unwilling she was to accept it, she chose to trust her father. She could not bear the consequence of believing otherwise.

After taking in a deep breath, Angela said somewhat helplessly,

“I want to help you with this, but Mrs. Philips won’t. She won’t let me get involved, saying that if I take down the trending topic, it will raise suspicion on me and all my effort made will be futile.”

Claude was not able to take down the headline with his current situation.

Angela felt torn about what to do.

Revenge and her future glory were all that mattered. As for the scandal...

“Er...” Claude didn’t know what to do either.

But if the scandal continued to ferment, the company has every right to fire him. He had brought the company disgrace with this scandal. There was no chance the company would keep him.

At the thought of this, Claude took a long breath and spoke up again.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1269

Chapter 1269 The White Family’s Fate Is Counting on You

“Girl, if the scandal goes on like this, I might have to leave the White Group. Then our only chance to turn the table would be gone with me.”

Angela frowned and said somewhat awkwardly, “Dad, there’s nothing I can do now. I can’t do things with free will. I don’t have any real power. I am just a paper tiger...”

Claude sighed helplessly. For a moment he did not know what to say.

He had known more or less what had happened to his daughter.

But...

He could not let the event continue to ferment. As time passed by, people with malicious intentions would notice it. When that day came, his reputation would be ruined.

To regain control over the company would be a dream that could never be realized!

“Alas...” Claude pulled a long face, but he didn’t want to hang up.

Angela sighed and said with resignation, “Dad, I... I’ll try my best, and I’ll beg them again, but swear to me that you don’t have no bastard daughter, will you?”

“Of course I don’t!” Claude said firmly.

Angela was full of doubts. She thought for a moment and said again, “Dad, under the current circumstance, you’d better be honest with me. You are my father no matter what. If you don’t tell me the truth now, I’m afraid things will be really tricky to deal with!”

In fact, the reason why Angela said so was that she wanted to know the truth...

She was already suspicious of her father, but could not believe it because of her ties with her father over the years.

She asked in an attempt to reassure herself.

Claude’s face turned pale slightly, but a moment of hesitation later, he said, “Angela, you have to believe me. I didn’t do any of those! I have only you. You have to find a way to help me!”

After hearing Claude’s promise, Angela felt relieved.

She said immediately, “Dad, I am glad to hear that. A straight foot is not afraid of a crooked shoe. If you didn’t do it, there is nothing they can do. We could resort to a DNA test if necessary.”

Claude did not say anything in response.

The mention of the DNA test shocked him.

He hastened to explain, “No, no, no, Angela, knock it off. You know what Gloria is capable of. It is easy for her to forge a false result. We cannot bear such thoughts.”

Claude felt guilty in the first place. Even if he didn’t, Gloria was not going to make it easy for him to lie.

Angela thought her father was making a good point. She sighed,

“Alas... That bi*ch! Why doesn’t she go to hell?”

Claude also let out a sigh and for a moment, he felt quite at a loss to reply.

He did not want to say how regretful he was!

“Girl, in any case, you have to think of a way to help me solve this thing, otherwise, I would get kicked out of the White Group. There is no chance for me! This is where we started!” Claude said in earnest. He tried to have Angela help her out. But he had no idea how difficult it was for Angela.

“I...” Angela did not know what to say.

After a second of pause, she took a deep breath and said,

“I will try my best.”

Claude replied feverishly, “Yes, sweet girl, the White Family’s fate is counting on you.”

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1270

Chapter 1270 A Pointless Cover-up

Angela frowned and sighed after a moment of thinking, “Okay, let’s not talk about it for now. I will think it over. See if you can get in touch with anyone to help you clarify it or something.”

Claude sighed as well and said, “Clarify...? What’s the point in clarifying for myself? We can only try to find someone who is more influential than Gloria and put an end to the scandal. Otherwise...”

Before he could finish, Angela sneered, “Someone who is more influential than Gloria? Dad, is this some kind of joke? Both Brown Group and Collins Group lend her their help. Who do you think might be more influential than she is? The Philips is not going to help. As for Rachel Roberts, I don’t think she is gonna help, nor do I think I can convince her to. What do you think I can do?”

Angela complained. She was suspicious of her father and harbored resentment against him in her heart.

Claude knew his daughter so well that he jumped to explanation, “Girl, you don’t believe what’s discussed on Twitter, do you? I have always been faithful to both your mother and our family. I have no other minds!”

Angela kept silent and knitted her brows in a particular bad mood.

When Claude was going to explain something more, Angela had run out of patience with her. "Well! That's enough. No more explanation. I'll have to go. If the Philips finds out that I get in touch with you, I don't know how they are gonna judge me."

Claude heaved a sigh of despair and said, "Yes, yes, yes. We will get in touch later. I am counting on you on this thing, girl."

Angela hung up the phone after a casual reply of assent. She was totally uninterested in dealing with this matter. To some extent, she felt frustrated.

People were gossiping about it at the moment, and so were the inmates of the prison.

Martha was working on the field with her fellow prisoners at the moment instead of being locked up in the cell.

Martha complained while mowing the grass. But her attention was soon distracted by the conversation between two correction officers.

"The White Family is screwed." the female officer whispered to the male.

The male officer raised his eyebrow and argued, "They are not the only Whites in the world. Do not generalize about them."

Martha froze there and looked in the direction where the two officers were talking stiffly.

What did they mean? The Whites they were talking about were...

Martha dared not think any further. She wondered what Gloria had been doing out there.

The female officer nodded her head and corrected herself, saying, "Yes, you are right, after all, Gloria is also a member of the White Family."

Martha's face darkened. They were talking about her family. And that dam*ed girl! What did that dam*ed girl do this time?!

She had put her into prison? What else did she want? Wasn't that enough? She was insatiable, wasn't she?!

Without further ado, the female officer started mocking again,

"I don't think Claude is able to get away with it this time after the disastrous scandal on Twitter. He could have a happy life. But after this scandal, it is gonna be ruined. Tut, how ridiculous they are."