

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1311

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1311—To heal Jordy's stomach, Gloria had been making all three meals.

During this time, Jordy's stomach was well taken care of by Gloria.

After breakfast, Gloria looked at Jordy. "What are we going to do today?"

"Take a walk first," Jordy said calmly.

Gloria said nothing, which was tacit consent.

His purpose was certainly not just walking. Gloria knew something was going to happen when they got out.

The two went out after making simple preparations.

Harold drove while Gloria and Jordy sat in the back seat.

Neither of them spoke. It was very quiet in the car. Not even the music was on.

At the destination, Harold stopped the car and said, "Here we are."

Jordy got out of the car, and so did Gloria.

They looked around. It was far from the city center but not deserted.

This was a huge casino. Many people, especially rich guys, come here frequently.

The name of this casino was wild. Gambling was legal in this country, so no one minded it.

The resplendent plaque read "Forte Fortissimo".

There was a row of very provocative words in gold on the lower side of the plaque.

"Don't come in if you are timid, or you will sleep under the bridge in the future."

This slogan was quite arrogant.

Jordy glanced at Gloria. "Go in."

Gloria blinked silently and followed Jordy.

This was the largest casino in the country. Moreover, Gloria remembered the information Jordy gave her yesterday. This casino was the secret operation of the owner of the auction.

But Gloria didn't understand why he was here.

While she was thinking, Jordy suddenly looked at her, "Do you know how to gamble?"

Gloria looked at him. "To what extent?"

Jordy responded flatly, "Until we become public enemies."

Gloria blinked and spoke without hesitation. "No problem."

Jordy was a little surprised but returned to his normal expression after a moment. He was a little shocked when Gloria agreed, but she was Gloria, so he didn't think it was surprising.

Jordy felt that Gloria was not an ordinary girl and could even equal him.

Gloria was no longer what she used to be, so Jordy couldn't treat her the way he used to.

The two walked in. This was a place of tens of thousands of square meters. Its decoration was dazzling. It was very lively inside. A dozen people were sitting around each rectangular table. First time here, no one would know how many tables or people there were.

Everyone was intently looking at the playing cards or the dice. Some people patted their thighs. excitedly while others had gloomy looks.

There were too many people here, so no one could hear what everyone was saying except some people's roar.

Harold followed Jordy and Gloria the whole time. Ten minutes later, they came to the central district and stopped.

At this moment, the tables in the central area were not as lively as in other places.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1312

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1312—There could be dozens of people around the table but only three at this time.

This was a rectangular table. The man sitting in the main seat was smoking a cigar with five cards in his hand and one of his feet on the stool, looking cocky.

Jordy stepped forward and asked calmly, "Any seats available?"

They were looking at the cards carefully.

Hearing Jordy's voice, they looked up at them.

This man in a suit and leather shoes looked very noble. His cool face showed that he was not easy to mess with. When they saw the top beauties behind him, everyone had meaningful eyes. After two of them made eye contact, one guy immediately said, "Of course. We're the only ones here. Will the three of you join us?"

Jordy said nothing and took a seat away from the person on the long side of the table.

Gloria sat across from him.

Harold left there, seeming to watch the scene elsewhere.

There was only one woman at the table, Gloria, who was a top beauty. Every now and then, the other men looked at Gloria.

The guy in the main position smiled at Gloria, "You are the only woman here, so you will get the cards first."

Jordy took on a gloomy look.

Gloria smiled faintly. "But I want you to throw the game. I'm very pushy."

At this moment, the dealer started to deal cards from Gloria.

"Don't worry. I will." The man put out his cigar and picked up the cards the dealer gave him.

Jordy was even more gloomy.

"Come on. Bet and show the first card." With a serious cigarette addiction, the person in the main seat lit another cigar.

Each one had five cards, and they would compare the rank of each card. Only one or two of the five could win. A bet should be placed each time a card was shown.

Not long after, Harold had exchanged Jordy's and Gloria's money for chips.

These chips were worth tens of millions of dollars.

The three people at the table were instantly excited. Seeing so many chips, the three of them knew that Jordy was not an ordinary one.

“Please.”

The man in the main seat made a gesture towards Jordy.

Jordy smiled and showed the first card.

This was a 6!

This number made the people on the opposite side sweat nervously. They were all surprised at Jordy’s good luck. This was the most centered number.

Except for Gloria’s card, the three of them only have a 30% chance of winning.

“Quinto, it’s your turn.”

The man in the main seat nodded and said to the dark-skinned man named Quinto.

Quinto got a 5 and was eliminated.

Then, $9,000 worth of chips in front of Quinto was moved to Jordy.

Jordy was expressionless.

The lead man glanced at him and took a puff on his cigar. Immediately afterwards, another friend of his showed his cards. This was an A.

Then this man was also eliminated.

Now, it was just the man and Gloria left. She hadn’t gambled before, but she wasn’t panicking at all. No matter what happened, Gloria would intimidate her opponents with her aura.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1313

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1313–Besides, she had never been afraid of anything.

She was very capable.

“I know ladies come first, but two of your friends have already lost. Will it make you look cowardly if I show my cards first?”

Gloria smiled. Obviously, he wanted the man to show his card first.

The guy smiled and said, "There is only winning and losing in the casino. You can ask others in this casino if there is anything I am afraid of. I hope you show your cards first, but my two friends have already been eliminated. So, when I count to 3, we show our cards at the same time, okay?"

"Good idea."

Gloria smiled and nodded in agreement.

The man began to count.

The atmosphere at the scene became tense as the men counted.

But only that guy was nervous.

For them, this would determine whether they could still be called the "God of Gamblers" in this casino in the future. They wanted to hit Jordy hard in the first round!

After they showed their cards, the man in the main seat had a 6 while Gloria had an 8.

Gloria won.

Gloria, however, raised her eyebrows. "You just said that we will compare the ranks of the cards each time. I agreed, but your card and my friends are the same. So, if we get the same number, let's sort them in the order of spade, heart, club, and diamond, OK?"

"I won, so in the next round, I'll show my cards first, and let's take turns clockwise. I don't need ladies first. It's the casino, so we don't need to be polite."

Gloria's pronunciation and logic were very clear.

The man couldn't help but glance at her. At first, he thought Gloria was nobody, but he seemed to underestimate her.

"Since you said that, as you wish, honey." The man smiled wretchedly.

"You're not her honey!" Jordy frowned and retorted with a gloomy expression.

Behind them, Harold seemed to see hope.

After this was over, with luck, Jordy might make up with Gloria!

The man in the main seat clearly sensed Jordy's anger.

He knew well about men, as well as women.

After Jordy finished speaking, Gloria didn't respond with a calm look.

The two had an unusual relationship but not as close as lovers.

"I know I'm not, but I wouldn't mind having one. Would you agree, miss?" The man in the main seat smiled at Gloria.

He took a puff on his cigar and waited for Gloria's reply.

Gloria knew people were outgoing here, but it wasn't a good omen for something like this to happen. in a casino.

Besides, she didn't need a honey at all!

However, this was his territory, so she didn't want to reject him in front of everyone.

"We're here to play cards, sir. Shall we talk about that later?"

Gloria said with a smile.

After the game was over, everyone would leave here, and this would end.

Moreover, she knew it was just a joke he said based on the current situation, so she wouldn't take it seriously, and neither would that man.

"Now it's my turn to show my cards."

Before that guy could respond, Gloria changed the subject and showed her second card.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1314

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1314—Chapter 1314 Dirty Tricks in Casinos

This was a 5 of hearts.

And this was again the number in the center.

Gloria said nothing and waved her hand to ask them to show their cards.

Soon, they showed their cards clockwise.

The three on the opposite side turned their cards over without hesitation.

There was a 3 and a 2.

Quinto and one other were eliminated. However, the moment the man in the main seat turned over the cards, he looked excited.

Because he got a 7 of spades.

The man arrogantly added $3,000 worth of chips and nodded to Jordy without saying anything.

Ignoring him, Jordy showed his cards nonchalantly.

That was a 10!

In this round, the man's chips already belonged to Jordy, but he was very unhappy. "We have three on our side while only two are on your side. Based on the odds, it's not fair."

"Are you playing rascal?"

Gloria frowned with a ghastly expression.

She hated those who break their promises. They set the rules of the casino, but based on the current rules, she won.

"What are you talking about? How could I play rascal?" The man smiled and handed Jordy his nearly fifty thousand dollars worth of chips.

"How do you make it fair to you?"

Jordy said with an indifferent expression.

His eyes were full of contempt. He didn't take this man seriously at all.

"I said it's not fair in terms of odds. There is one more guy with you, isn't it?" the man replied with his smile disappearing.

He was gesturing for Harold to join.

Jordy tried to say something, but Gloria cut him off even though she was also unhappy. "If you say that, can I say that this dealer is on your side? Sorry, dealer, I didn't offend you. I was just giving an example."

The man was just unconvinced because they won twice.

Hearing this, Quinto took a step forward with a sullen expression but was stopped by the man.

“What do you mean, honey?”

The man narrowed his eyes.

“My last name is White, so you can call me Miss White.”

The “honey” made her very uncomfortable.

Gloria continued, “I’m not questioning anything. If you think it’s unfair, ask one of your friends to quit the game or ask someone to join us.”

“If we disagree on dealing and shuffling, I suggest that the winner of the previous round shuffle and deal.”

This was the best solution.

However, Gloria realized that the man cared so much about the game because he cared not only about his fame but also about the game itself. He had been winning in the casino before, but now he lost two rounds in a row, which showed that something was wrong with the game.

Still, she knew that all the casinos were tricky!

“Miss White, I admire your thinking. As you wish. Everyone, does anyone want to join us?”

After speaking, that guy turned his head and shouted at the dance floor behind him and the people who were gambling.

His voice stunned everyone, who looked at them at once. Not long after, a man and a woman came over.

But both of them were wearing masks.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1315

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1315—“Since we’ve got some new friends here, we may need to change the rules we just did...”

“Stop talking nonsense!”

Before Gloria finished speaking, Quinto, who was standing beside the man, snapped with a very unpleasant and fierce look towards Gloria.

“Bang!”

Jordy raised his foot to kick Quinto in the knee, and Quinto was so caught off guard and instantly fell to his knees.

“You’re just a henchman. You have no right to speak here!”

Jordy shot a cold glance at him, askance and proudly.

The man saw his man being kicked to the ground like this in front of so many people in the casino, he immediately felt himself having been insulted.

“Calm down, bro! You don’t have to be so hot-tempered! People come to Crockfords Club all for fun, so most of them never procrastinate, but always get straight down to business without further ado!”

Jordy didn’t put the man in his eyes. “It seems to be your man who really don’t know what the point of keeping such a stupid man arou

Jordy snorted coldly, and what he said had been brutally frank.

“Do you still want to play or not?”

That masked man saw the scene in front of him and frowned in displeasure.

“Sure.”

The man immediately agreed with a smile.

After all, no one would refuse the money at his fingertips.

However!

Jordy, at this moment, coldly snapped, “Before we start, your man must apologize to my woman.”

The pride and the murderous hostility in his eyes made Jordy look like a devil from hell. Obviously, he wanted to back Gloria up

As Gloria heard what he said, she rolled her eyes speechlessly.

They had already been divorced, and she was no longer his woman. Right now, she had nothing to Apologi do with him!

But she didn't say anything. After all, Quinto looked like he was going to get her killed just now, and he also showed no respect as he talked to her.

"If you don't apologize for what you've done, then we'll leave right now."

Gloria said, with a determined attitude.

Leave?

They had just won more than half a million just after two rounds, and no one had ever left Crockfords Club with that much money alive.

The man could only say to Quinto, "Quinto, apologize to Miss White!"

Although Quinto was very reluctant to do so, he didn't dare to disobey the order of his boss.

"Miss White, I'm sorry."

Quinto lowered his head and apologized to Gloria with a very sincere attitude.

Gloria was not a narrow-minded person. She smiled slightly and said, "Since you have apologized to me, I won't take it personally anymore. I didn't really mean anything else just now. I just thought that since we've got some new friends who joined the game, the previous rules probably aren't applicable now."

"Let's just draw cards and whoever gets the bigger card will be the dealer."

Gloria knew the tricks of Crockfords Club, but right now she and Jord

Moreover, she still remembered what Jordy had said when they can Club, so of course, she couldn't leave now until she won more money. a point of no return. or of Crockfords

Hearing what Gloria said, the crowd looked around and no one had any objections toward Gloria's suggestion

Then, eight people began to draw cards.

The man in the main seat got lucky this time and drew the ten of spades. Therefore, he was the dealer this time, and although he got the initiative in this round, he was still a bit upset.

The card in his hand only meant that he could shuffle and deal the cards, it didn't mean that he would be the winner this time.

And it was the ten of spades. If he could get this card just now, he would have won the last game.

Although he got more and more unhappy as he thought about it, he still suppressed his anger and finished shuffling and dealing the cards in this game, and at the same time, he ordered Quinto.

“Quinto, go get some drinks.”

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1316

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1316—He didn't believe that Jordy and Gloria would always be so lucky to win the game!

The cards was turned over.

It was the 9 of spades.

The man added another pile of chips that was worth five million dollars.

Now, the rest seven people had only a 10% chance of winning against him, and he didn't believe that any of them could get the 10 of spades.

Therefore, he arrogantly said, “Maybe you guys can lay down your cards at the same time to save time.”

“At the same time? But we should take turns to do that according to the rules. Can we just follow the rules?” the masked man said unhappily after he heard what the man said.

He put the pile of chips that was worth ten million dollars in the center of the table directly before he laid down his card.

And all onlookers were dumbfounded.

The man in the main seat had played the nine of spades, but the masked man still dared to raise his chips to 10 million without even showing his card. Was he trying to give money away?

However, for the masked man, he had plenty of money, and he just couldn't stand the greed in the man's eyes!

The card was turned over.

It was the eight of spades.

Then the woman beside him also laid down her card, and it was the ace of spades.

It was already the smallest card.

The masked man's arm was draped casually around her shoulders, and he said, "Baby, it's just a game. There is no big deal as long as it can be solved by money. Don't worry. If we lose this time, we can win the money back the next time!"

It seemed that the masked man was really very rich.

The man immediately envisioned a scene where money was piling up in front of him, as his men laid down his card and it was the two of spades

Now it was Jordy's and Gloria's turn to lay down their cards.

Jordy gave Gloria a look and they both laid down their cards at the same time.

Jordy's card was the five of spades and Gloria's was the ten of spades!

As the man in the main seat saw Gloria's card, he was immediately shocked and felt unutterably depressed. He had played a small trick when he shuffled the cards, and he was sure that the ten of spades would not appear in the first round, but the card was now obtained by Gloria.

How was this possible?

Seeing the man's unbelievable look that was interspersed with anger, Gloria sneered, "Bro, you were the one who shuffled and dealt the cards, so there should be no problem with the result, right?"

Gloria was very happy now since she earned almost thirty million dollars in this round.

At this moment, she experienced the joy of being a gambler, because the money came so easy and fast.

However, she didn't lose her mind.

In the next round, she was only going to bet half of the money.

"Sure. There is no problem."

The chips on the table were quickly allocated to Gloria, who would shuffle the cards this time. Soon, a new round began.

Gloria was the first one to lay down his card this time.

And her card was the eight of hearts.

Seeing the card, the man felt his chest tighten up.

This woman was smart. The man couldn't help but wonder if she could play the magic, so she could actually get such a big card every time.

But he had just bet nearly 7 million dollars, and if he bet less money this time, the others might think that he was afraid to lose again.

Therefore, he doubled the bet this time.

And Jordy had bet quadruple of what the man did.

The masked man immediately became excited and bet tenfold money.

Because the great deal of money that had been wagered in this round, everyone watched them with nervousness and trepidation. They all wanted to see who would finally win the nearly 100 million

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1317

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1317—dollars on the table!

The others took turns to lay down their cards. The masked man was luckier than the man, and he got the eight of diamonds, while the man only got the four of spades. Jordy got the seven of spades.

The points of the cards that Quinto and the woman next to the masked man had got were both six.

“Miss White, you're really lucky tonight. Here's a toast to you.”

I'm So Jealous Gloria's lips compressed into a thin line at once.

It wasn't that she was afraid of drinking, but she really didn't like the pungent smell of alcohol because...

Jordy once preferred drinking all night at a social dinner to coming home to face her, and the smell of alcohol reminded her of the past and the humble one she used to be in front of Jordy.

When she was thinking of how to politely refuse to drink, Jordy helped her and clicked glasses with the man, "She can't drink. Let me drink for her."

Since Jordy said so, Gloria had only to smile at the man awkwardly.

The man was not happy, but he couldn't force Gloria to drink. After all, there were so many people here.

If word got out that he embarrassed women since he couldn't afford to lose in Crockfords Club, it would be a shame on him.

"Alright. Come on, cheers."

The man raised his glass to Jordy and then emptied his drink.

Jordy also drank up the wine.

But the masked man looked at them, with a teasing smile. His arms folded against his chest.

After he found out that Jordy had brought Gloria to Crockfords Club, he came here immediately just to see what Jordy was going to do.

But he had never thought that Jordy actually brought Gloria to gamble here!

He had been watching them all the time, and he had to admit that Jordy and Gloria were very lucky tonight.

The masked man was of the same mind as the man, wanting to see if Jordy and Gloria would be so lucky all the time. So after they finished their drinks, the masked man spoke up and urged, "I don't have much time, so hurry up if you want to play the cards."

Gloria then started shuffling and dealing the cards.

This time, Gloria was not so lucky.

The points of the card she had got were three, and the points of the other six people's cards were six, five, eight, seven, three, and an ace

The women next to the masked woman still had the smallest card. After the masked man saw his own card, he said gently, "Miss White, my card is bigger than yours.

Expressionlessly, Gloria didn't say anything.

Their cards had the same points, but in a different suit. She really didn't know why he looked so proud.

But the man in the main seat was very happy now because he got the eight of spades this time. Obviously, he had the biggest card now.

Now only Jordy was left to lay down his card. The man in the main seat didn't believe that Jordy could get a card bigger than his card. Even if Jordy got a card with the same points as his card, his card would still be the biggest.

Therefore, he would definitely win in this round.

Jordy didn't bother to look at him, and he indifferently laid down his card.

It was the nine of spades!

"Oh my! He's so lucky! They're definitely blessed tonight! Let's go over there and get closer to them. Maybe we can be blessed later too!"

"They are from the US. I heard that the people from there are kind of different."

"They won so many times in a row. Oh! I'm so jealous!"

The moment Jordy turned over his card, the crowd couldn't help but exclaim in shock. Although they spoke in a foreign language, Jordy and Gloria still could understand what they had said.

The winnings would be all converted into dollars, and they really won a great deal of money tonight!

"It's so boring. I haven't won even once. I quit."

The masked man directly pushed down the chips in front of him. Then, he pulled the woman beside him and was about to leave.

The man in the main seat was breathing heavily.

The masked man could leave, but Jordy and Gloria had won so much money, there was no way he would let them both go!

"Let's keep going on."

Jordy didn't say anything. Then, he began to shuffle and deal the cards.

Now there were only the three of them left, and the man said, "I'll count 1, 2, 3 and let's lay down

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1318

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1318—Hearing what he said, everyone looked at them directly, and they looked even more nervous.

But in fact, there was only one person who was really nervous.

Jordy and Gloria had already won too much money, and if he lost again, he might be able to lose his life.

Therefore, the man desperately wanted to win.

But compared to the man's anxiety and nervousness, Gloria and Jordy looked calm and relaxed, because in Gloria's eyes, even if they lost, they would just lose the money they had won before.

As for Jordy, he didn't care about the money at all. After all, he actually came here for another purpose!

But right now, the effect of this gambling game had not yet reached the expectations in his heart.

"Gloria."

Jordy suddenly called her name.

Gloria paused for a second.

But in front of people, she restrained herself, and the man in the main seat didn't joke about Gloria's name.

He was only focusing on gambling now...

1, 2, 3...

They laid down their cards at the same time, and the points of their cards were all six this time.

Seeing such a result, Gloria was satisfied with the rule she had mentioned before to decide which card was bigger according to the suit when the points were the same. She got a card of spade and the man got a card of heart.

This time, she still won.

The chips on the table were all pushed to the front of Gloria, who couldn't help but think about how much money she would have when all the chips were converted to money.

Then, she could use the money to eat, drink, and have fun.

But the man clearly felt upset.

He reluctantly continued to bet with Jordy and Gloria. Jordy and Gloria kept winning, which also attracted a lot of people around, who all began to follow them to start betting.

With a chip in his hand, the man was so nervous that his palms were already sweating.

He could only use 20 million dollars to gamble a day in Crockfords Club, but now, he not only had overspent but also lost all the money.

The man was quite upset.

"You have been winning all the time, and it's always been you dealing cards. I don't even have a chance to touch the cards. Now that there are only three of us now, let's add up all the points of the cards we've got and then we only take the last number to compare!"

The man was unwillingly to admit defeat and began to change the rules.

"So you've been suspecting us of cheating? How can we do that in front of so many people?"

Gloria listened to what he said and smiled. "Can't you afford to lose?"

"Are you kidding me? There is no one in Crockfords Club who can't afford to lose!"

The man sneered.

The Crockfords Club was the biggest casino in the UK. How could there be someone who couldn't afford to lose here?

It was just that he also had a mission.

"Joss, what did you say when you were questioned after you won the game before? I remember clearly that you told them not to come here if they couldn't afford to gamble, but now look at you!"

“You can’t suspect them cheating and change the rules as you like just because they have won several times. If you can’t handle your personal emotions properly, I think you’d better quit now.”

“That’s right! Just admit your defeat for bet, otherwise, it may affect the reputation of Crockfords Club.”

Some people in the crowd immediately said unhappily, and then more and more people began to echo up. Gloria then knew the man’s name.

It seemed that the man had played many tricks and offended many people before.

“In that case, Gloria, it’s time for us to leave now.”

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1319

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1319–Jordy’s manner was cold and distant as he spoke to Gloria.

Gloria was stunned.

Didn’t he Say that he wanted to be the biggest winner tonight? Why did he want to quit now?

“Please don’t leave. We’re going to follow you and make a few more bets. Why do you have to leave now? Joss is not the boss here in Crockfords Club. He can’t afford to gamble now, but there are other people who can afford to gamble.”

Seeing that Jordy was about to leave with Gloria, some of them eagerly came out of the crowd and attempted to call them back.

“Yes! We’ll follow you to bet so that we can win some money to recoup our losses in Crockfords Club!”

“That’s right!”

Many people quite admired Jordy and Gloria right now, but of course, they spontaneously came out to surround Jordy and Gloria just because they wanted to win more money with the help of Jordy and Gloria’s “luckiness”.

After all, there are quite a few people here who have lost all their money.

Seeing such a scene, Joss hurriedly dialed a number.

But before the phone was connected, a rough voice sounded from afar, "What's going on here?"

The voice was heavy with insouciance.

Immediately after, a tall man in a purple shirt, who had a silver brush cut and fair skin, walked downstairs with one hand in his pocket.

Everyone instantly silenced as they saw this man, and Joss immediately came forward and said,

"Ernest."

"You idiot!"

Ernest snapped, and Joss quickly stood behind Ernest with respect.

The others all gasped. It seemed that Joss was just a subordinate, and this man who was called Ernest was actually the boss here.

Since Ernest showed up now, it also meant that it would be very hard for Jordy and Gloria to leave Crockfords Club with the money!

"My man didn't know the rules. He didn't mean to offend you. Come on. I'll play cards with you. The rules are still the same!" Ernest walked to Jordy and Gloria and said.

What he said clearly showed that ever since Jordy and Gloria joined the gambling game, they had been watching all the time.

"Okay."

Gloria immediately agreed. Anyway, they had won a lot of money just now, which was enough for them to bet several times. Besides, even if they kept losing all the time... Jordy was here with her, and there was nothing to be afraid of.

But Jordy had noticed that this man, who was called Ernest by Joss, wore a white bluetooth headset. in his left ear.

When Ernest walked toward them, he paused significantly before he said every sentence.

Apparently, someone behind was telling him what to do.

"Let's begin now."

Jordy nodded and walked to the table with Gloria.

Ernest was a good gambler, and he won several times in the beginning, but after four or five games, the situation started to change and the person who kept winning was Jordy.

This made the onlookers, who followed Jordy to bet, unbelievably happy, as they also kept winning.

But Gloria now lost interest in gambling. She noticed that there were many people gathered around. She looked around and suddenly, she had found that the masked man and his woman, who were just playing cards with them, also stood in the crowd.

The masked woman's eyes fell on Gloria, and Gloria's heart missed a beat as she met the woman's gaze.

Obviously, these two people didn't appear here suddenly. They had watched Gloria and Jordy for a long time. Gloria turned her head and wanted to tell Jordy about that, but these two masked people just disappeared in the crowd.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1320

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1320—"Hah! I finally won several games in Crockfords Club today!"

A cheering voice suddenly came from the crowd.

At once, it interrupted Gloria's train of thoughts.

An obese man cheered with a lot of chips in his hands, but a few seconds later, he was continuously yanked to a halt by the people around him.

"Are you crazy? It's true that they have good luck, but it's not a good thing. Since we have won some money, we'd better quit now. Do you really think they can leave here safely after winning so much money?"

The words instantly woke up the obese man from the great joy of winning.

Gloria was not far from them, so she could still hear what they said clearly, even if they were deliberately lowered their voice.

Soon, these onlookers began to leave one after another.

In a short while, only she and Jordy, Harold and the people from Crockfords Club were left around the table.

Quinto was kicked by Jordy and then asked by Joss to apologize to Gloria before, so he looked at Gloria with intense hatred. Clearly, he was trying to let her know that she was going to die here.

Gloria showed a sneer, with no fear in her eyes.

“It seems that Crockfords Club is not so funny as people said!” Gloria snorted.

“You bitch, how dare you say that? You two have been winning money since you showed up! Tell me, what is your purpose to come here?”

Ernest dropped the cigarette in his hand, propped his hands on the table and shouted towards them coldly and sternly.

The biggest casino in UK?

In Gloria’s eyes, Crockfords Club was more like the dirtiest casino in UK.

People came here with money but left with not even a penny. Even if someone won, the money would also be withheld by the people inside the Crockfords Club, not to mention the dirty tricks they usually played in Crockfords Club. The people in Crockfords Club were more like robbers!

Gloria felt very sick when she looked at their disgusting faces.

“Take me to see your boss here, and I can leave all these money here!” Jordy looked at Ernest in the eyes and indifferently said.

Ernest noticed the coldness and sharpness in Jordy’s eyes.

He realized that he was right, and they indeed came here on purpose. They had already known everything about the casino.

Ernest was about to say something more when a deep, husky voice came through his bluetooth headset. “Bring them over.”

“Yes, Sir.”

Ernest respectfully replied, and then gestured towards his men.

This directly verified everything that Jordy had guessed!

Then, Jordy and Gloria were taken upstairs. They walked through the long corridor and then took the elevator to the 39th floor, which was also the highest floor of the building.

The highest floor was lavishly decorated, and there was an open-air swimming pool. The house built next to the pool looked like an opulent palace.

As they walked closer, they noticed a middle-aged man in his forties, wearing white T-Shirt, black shorts, and flip-flops. He was sitting on a leather sofa now.

In front of the man was a large black wolfhound, and the meat inside the basin in front of the large wolfhound was red and fresh.

The man stroked the head of the big wolfhound, as he slowly raised his head and said, "You won so much money not just to simply meet me, right? Now tell me, what exactly is your purpose?"

Gloria noticed that the white hair and wrinkles of that man, but even so, he still looked very noble and distinguished.

Soon, the man noticed her gaze. He looked at Gloria, and Gloria paused a second. Then, she looked away.