

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1401

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1401–Paralyzed

He knew that Gloria was a good fighter. No matter how furious and irritated Rachel was, he was no match for her.

But right now, all he needed was Jordy to care!

“Yes.”

Finally, he got Jordy’s low-voiced response.

He turned around and walked off, ignoring Heather directly.

Heather chuckled disdainfully as he looked after Jordy.

He thought he would have to flex his muscles a bit, but Jordy chose to step back at that moment, which surprised him a lot!

But that was okay. Judging by Jordy’s character, it would not take long before a fight head-to-head. between them broke out.

He just had to wait and see!

By then, Gloria had already entered the room with Rachel.

She’d unlocked the door and intentionally showed Rachel the password combination for the lock. “When Jordy was poisoned, I had my assistant book this suite for the sake of convenience. You’ve got to do it if you’ve got something in your mind. I’d love to help you if you need me.”

Gloria beamed a smile at her.

Rachel didn’t believe Gloria could possibly mean well.

Angela was the best example of that. If Gloria had been so kind, how could Angela, her cousin, not become Mrs. Collins, Jordy’s bed-mate after they got divorced?

Rachel smiled and lowered her head in embarrassment. “Miss White, you are making fun of me. My family has business dealings with the Collins Family, Jordy is not technically a friend to me. It was a pure coincidence that I met you today. Otherwise, I wouldn’t have to chance to be here with him like this

Gloria was impressed by Rachel's intelligence. At this point in time, she still managed to stay calm and sober

Gloria found a dress for her and said, "Miss Roberts, you can change here. Jordy has stacked his medicine in the bathroom You knew he is a neat freak. If you use his bathroom, he might not want to use it anymore."

It sounded fair. Jordy's yell then made things even more reasonable.

Unbeknownst to himself, Jordy snapped at Gloria out of anger. But to Rachel, it looked like they'd cordial collaboration.

Everything made perfect sense.

Rachel lost her temper eventually. "Miss White, although we are both women, we aren't friends. There is no way I would change in front of you. Besides, by refusing me to use the bathroom where all Jordy's meds were stocked, are you suggesting that I might tamper with them? Am I such a wicked woman to you?"

"You are not? Tell me why you showed up right after Jordy was drugged?" chuckled Gloria, who did not bother to play a riddle with her any longer.

The next moment, she inched forward toward Rachel, who suddenly turned pale at her approach. "Gloria White, what are you talking about?" asked Rachel, feeling tired of pretending.

Gloria, too, felt fed up with this meaningful polite formula.

The silver needles in her hands were like shooting stars, falling quickly on her body right at the acupoints where she wanted them to be.

Rachel's face went pale with fright. "Gloria White, what, what do you wanna do?" she asked nervously.

Gloria smiled and said, "Nothing special. You'd better stay still and answer everything I ask you. Otherwise, your body might be paralyzed. Rachel Roberts, you don't want to spend the rest of your life in bed, do you?"

Testing Rachel was one of her plans, but Gloria's ultimate goal was to bring Rachel here in the room, where the two of them could be alone.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1402

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1402—It's Slander

There were so many people out there, and Rachel could simply make a scene out of this by crying to attract them and accuse Gloria of detaining her. Gloria had no the energy to deal with that

“Don’t... Don’t you dare!”

Rachel blurted out the threat anxiously, her body shuddering uncontrollably.

She knew the power of traditional medicine. A small silver needle on the acupoint was able to manipulate the body’s movements. A small mistake would have left her body paralyzed.

The coldness and ruthlessness in Gloria’s eyes were self-evident.

She hadn’t captured the heart of Jordy. She hadn’t killed Gerald. She hadn’t had enough of this wonderful life. How could she resign herself to spending the rest of her life in bed?

Gloria scoffed at Rachel’s empty threat, “You could drug Jordy and do something so shameless in my name. What do you think could stop me?”

Sure enough, everything was just like what Rachel thought. What she did behind Gloria’s back was no longer a secret. What Gloria did was testify about it.

“Gloria White, you would have made such an excellent actress in show business with your acting skills! mocked Rachel, feeling genuinely irritated by Gloria.

She clenched her teeth. Her eyes blazed with fury and anger towards Gloria.

Gloria was testing her, yet she continued to play innocent all along!

Gloria did not take offence at Rachel’s words. Instead, she smiled in a breezy way, “Thank you for your compliment. I am flattered to receive your, my first audience’s positive feedback.”

This angered Rachel even more. She looked at her coldly and said gruffly, “Gloria, don’t be so shameless. You have to base your accusation on evidence.”

Gloria, however, did not take Rachel’s words seriously. She glanced at Rachel coldly and snapped, “Shameless? Who was the one running out of the room naked? Who was the one disguising herself as me and doing those shameless things? It must cost you good fortune, didn’t it?”

Although Gloria said these words with indifference, Rachel could vividly feel the hostility in her gaze.

At the next second, Gloria held out a dagger and pressed it against Rachel's face.

That was when Rachel completely panicked. "Gloria White, if you disfigure me, I'll hunt you down later wherever you are!"

She lost her virginity to Gerald, and the only thing left of her now was this face. If her face was disfigured as well, then what was the point of her living?

Gloria turned a deaf ear to Rachel's empty threat. She sneered and asked, "You care about this face so much. Then why did you do that shameless thing? I can spare you. It is not a big deal. Come on. Tell me how did you get the poison you used on Jordy Collins?"

Gloria's meaning could not be more obvious. She could either tell the truth and get freed or she could choose not and get her face disfigured.

Rachel was frightened to death.

But as a veteran in the business world, she knew that fear could never bail her out of that situation. She knew Gloria and her style of handling things.

Right now, she could be sure that Gloria wouldn't really do anything to her, even though they were abroad.

Rachel regained her composure and tried not to give away her terror. She looked at Gloria with cool detachment, "I don't know what you are talking about. Please, save your breath and stop slandering me. Whatever you do, you have to consider the consequences."

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1403

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1403– Shame

Gloria was amused by her remarks.

"By consequences, are you threatening me with the consequences I might have to bear if I lay a hand on you, or are you reminding yourself?"

Rachel looked into Gloria's eyes and saw a glimmer of amusement in her eyes, which soon faded away.

Her eyes glinted as she took a slight breath and said in a hoarse voice, "A threat? I'm just telling the truth."

"Then, I must give it a try." Gloria smiled contemptuously, fiddling with the dagger in her hand. Just as she used to use some force-

Boom –

A loud boom startled them.

The door was suddenly kicked open from the outside!

With the door slammed open, a bunch of fierce-looking guys broke in!

In a reckless way, they barged their way toward Gloria!

Gloria narrowed her eyes vigilantly and quickly ducked! At the moment, she could not care any about Rachel

A sense of ferocity crept across Rachel's eyes.

Fortunately, she was prepared in advance, otherwise, she would have been disfigured by Gloria!

But she didn't dare move right now.

She had no choice but to give the order, "Fetch a doctor who knows traditional medicine for me now!"

One of the men who had been besieging Gloria took a step backward and did what Rachel had told him to do.

There were still so many of them.

Gloria was overwhelmed with numerical strength. With one man down, the other would fill the gap. The fighting was somewhat tiresome.

Rachel looked at Gloria coldly and said, "Gloria White, we could have been in peace, but you have to choose the hard way. It's not my fault."

Gloria smiled, "No one is a soft touch. If Miss Roberts didn't have a guilty conscience, why did you take such precautions?"

All the while, she looked warily at the men besieging her.

Rachel chuckled, "Didn't Miss White ever hear that the old saying that we cannot be more cautious while dealing with our enemy?"

She said it casually, frowning slightly as the men approached Gloria in a wary way. "Can you be any slower?" she snapped coldly.

These men felt somewhat offended.

They were all deemed good fighters and strong men. But they could not defeat this woman. It was not that they were slow. This woman was just unpredictably strong! They felt reluctant to admit it publicly.

In order not to let women look down on them, they endured the pain and rushed at Gloria one by one!

Gloria's face turned solemn all at once.

If she kept fighting with them like this, her strength would be exhausted, and then...

Rachel was now consumed by fury and she might dare to kill her on the spot.

She backed away, her brain working on the quickest way out of the situation.

Rachel seemed to see through her mind and know what she was thinking. She sniffed coldly, "Miss White, at such a moment, don't get your hope up. Do you really think Jordy would come to your rescue? He is now occupied as well. All his mind is on Heather Walter, right?"

At the thought of this, a strong emotion of envy flashed across the eyes of Rachel. Jordy's heart was seized by Gloria completely. That was why he got pissed off and jealous when Heather went after Gloria!

Why! Why was Gloria always favored by fate? Why did those men all take a liking for her?

But... Rachel had lost her mind. She seemed to be blind to those who liked her.

She watched the scene coldly, waiting for Gloria to be seduced.

Yet, things went contrary to her wishes!

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1404

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1404—Do You Know What You're Doing?

Just when these men had almost exhausted Gloria of her strength, two uninvited guests showed up at the door timely.

Gloria's eyes were lit up a little.

For a moment, Jordy looked like a savior descending from heaven.

Harold rushed forward and, without a word, engaged in the fight with them.

These muscular men were also on the brink of exhaustion due to the fight with Gloria. Now, this fighting master's appearance surprised them even more!

In the blink of an eye, these big men were knocked to the ground!

Jordy looked gloomy and fierce as if he was gonna eat Rachel alive.

Rachel shuddered and opened her lips, trying to explain, but before she could say it, Jordy Collins said to Harold in a cold voice, "You take care of these people."

The next second, he came up to Gloria. "Are you all right?" asked Jordy

Gloria's eyes glistened as she answered, "Yeah"

Jordy and Harold had come timely and fought nicely.

Otherwise, she will fail this time!

Rachel was a little flustered, but she knew that if she didn't speak now, she was doomed. She said in grief, "Jordy Collins, please ask Gloria to take back the silver needle she put on my body!! understand that you want to find out who poisoned you, and I understand that you suspect me, but I am the noble lady of the Roberts Family Why should I do such a shameless thing?"

At the sight of Jordy, Rachel pursed her lips and put on a look of grief and fear, denying any of the claims.

Gloria wore a smile on her lips and said nothing.

That was not how Rachel looked like when she sent those people to do those things!

"Gloria must suspect her with a good reason. Harold, lock her up and don't release her till she confesses."

Jordy squinted at Harold and gave the order. He did not even spare a look at Rachel Gloria did not say anything since Jordy had made the decision.

Rachel looked incredulous. "Jordy, what are you doing?! Why don't you trust me?" she asked.

Sadness was written all over her face.

But Jordy remained unmoved. On his command, Harold went straight for Rachel.

Rachel panicked!

Jordy meant what he said!

She heard that this man had always done things ruthlessly, which she had once admired. But now.... it fell upon her head!

Rachel shook her head and said, "Jordy Collins, you can't do this to me!"

Jordy didn't even look at her.

When Harold put his hands on her shoulders, Rachel blurted out in a pang of panic, "Jordy Collins, you can't treat me like this just because Gloria suspects me. This is unlawful detention. If my father ever found out about it, Mine Development Project in Eastern Area would...

"Harold."

Jordy interrupted Rachel with a snap, signaling to Harold to act immediately.

Harold dragged Rachel from there.

"Let go of me! Harold Ross, do you know what you're doing?!"

Gloria laughed as she watched Rachel struggle vainly

That means Rachel Roberts is still afraid of paralysis.

"Are you sure you're fine? Seeing Gloria still laughing, Jordy asked with concern, considering she had a tough fight with a bunch of muscular guys a while ago.

Subconsciously, he thought of the night of the auction when she was sent away.

Jordy's lips tightened and his eyes narrowed. "Maybe there was never a woman who tried to kill you."

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1405

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1405– Shut up!

Gloria immediately understood, "You mean it was all Heather's solo role-playing?"

Gloria could not rule this possibility out as she suddenly realized next second that Heather liked. roleplaying.

Thinking of this, Gloria White couldn't help but narrow her eyebrows, "I have got to know Heather, haven't I? He'll give himself away given time.

When that day came, Heather's true purpose would come to the surface!

"You don't have to..."

Jordy spoke with his lips pursed. But Gloria interrupted him gruffly, "Heather comes for me. Why don't you think it is necessary?"

Thinking of what Harold told her earlier, Gloria let out a laugh at Jordy's silence.

"Jordy Collins, you don't really think I would rely on you now, do you?"

Jordy pressed his lips and wore a grave expression.

That was not what he meant.

But as his face grew colder, Gloria pressed her lips and said, "Thank you for what you have done just now."

Jordy looked startled, but before he could say anything, there was a "knock" at the door.

Harold just left. So it couldn't be Harold.

They both expected the knocker to be Heather. Jordy frowned at the thought, though.

But before he could react, Gloria went to answer the door. As they expected, the person standing outside the door was Heather.

He leaned against the door frame, folded his arms and curled his mouth in a sinister curve. "It's been so long. I miss you."

He beamed a warm smile at Gloria while staring at her.

Gloria kept a straight face and said solemnly, "Can't you be normal?"

Heather, however, felt saddened by her reply. He put on a face of sorrow and said, "But I was telling the truth. I adore you. I am courting you. Isn't it more than natural to miss you when I don't see you for quite a while?"

Gloria was disgusted by his look.

As a man, he was rather greasy and glib-tongued.

The footsteps from behind warned Gloria of Jordy's approaching. Gloria raised her hands and tried to push Heather out of the door.

She was worried about the conflict between the two of them. She didn't want Jordy to spoil her plan at this critical point.

Heather, however, took advantage of the situation and grabbed her wrist. The grin on his face grew wilder and broader. "Gloria, what did I just say. You believe it now?"

Their eyes made contact. Gloria noticed the pride in his eyes.

The next moment, her expression turned grave as she threw Heather's hand off hers and knocked his chest fiercely with her elbow.

Heather Walter did not move or retreat. He frowned and put on a bitter smile, saying, "Gloria, be gentle. You are hurting me."

Just then, a couple came out of their room.

They cast a look at Gloria after hearing Heather's strange tone of voice. At that moment, Gloria found herself in the spotlight. Anger welled up in her heart. She snapped at Heather, "Shut the f*ck up!"

She'd never seen such a shameless man!

Heather did not shrink from it, instead, he asked her, "What are you afraid of?" and even asked

Gloria White, "What are you afraid of? Isn't that normal flirting between couples?"

Not hearing Gloria's reply, Heather continued, "You should spend some time with me now since I've done what needs to be done."

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1406

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1406—Turn a Blind Eye

Gloria kept a straight face and warned him by saying. "If you keep doing this, we are done, completely."

"Alright. I was only joking. Don't take it so seriously." Heather's banter was tinged with a sense of grief.

Gloria rolled her eyes at him and said no more.

As everyone knew, Heather was doing this for the purpose of provoking Jordy who stood right behind them.

Jordy Collins watched them leave, his dark eyes exuding freezing coldness.

For a moment, he was about to stride forward.

But Gloria's intention was more than clear. She told him to stay out of this. That was why she shoved Heather out of the door when he approached.

He'd got to know her better during this period of time's getting along. Once she made up her mind, she wouldn't change it so easily.

Gerald received a message from his men about Rachel at that moment, 'Mr. Turner, Miss Roberts is being held by Jordy Collins at Moon Club.'

Hearing this, Gerald knitted his brows and ordered the person in front of him, "Untie her."

Rachel was the woman he had his eye on, and one day she would become his wife.

No one was supposed to bully Rachel before she was conquered by him completely

Gerald walked out of the place where Rachel was imprisoned and to his surprise, he ran into Mr.

Oliver, the Poker Face, who once paid him a visit.

Unlike the usual times, Mr. Oliver wore a pink suit today. His purple hair didn't quite match his outfit, but his pretty face saved the day.

Gerald had all his mind on Rachel and did not seem to see him. Before he got into his car, Mr. Oliver stepped forward and got in his way, "Are you calling it a day for today's costume playing. Mr. Turner?"

Mr. Olive came here to see someone. He had never expected to run into Gerald at the gate of the hotel, where Rachel Roberts was held in a dark room.

"Get out of the way," Gerald snapped coldly, tired of talking nonsense with him.

Mr. Oliver smacked his lips twice and chuckled, "What's so urgent? Did something happen to your cosplay partner?"

Gerald narrowed his eyes and squinted at him, asking, "What makes you so interested in my personal business?"

Mr. Oliver also noticed Gerald's emotional upset. "At least we used to have fun together," he said, wearing a wide grin on his lips. "You have gone missing for days. We have to catch up on your life lately. After all, we're friends, aren't we?"

Gerald, having his patience worn thin, said, "If you wanna help, lend me some men at my disposal."

"OK."

Mr. Oliver answered immediately and without equivocation.

So, followed by a bunch of hired thugs Mr. Oliver arranged, Gerald set off.

Jordy stood right in front of Rachel at the moment.

Rachel didn't dare move because of the needles on her body. She'd remained in this position for so long that his limbs went stiff and numb.

At the moment she saw Jordy walking toward her, a light of hope shone on her. "Jordy, I didn't anything about it. You believe in me, don't you?"

Jordy turned a blind eye to her.

Gloria's intuition was always right, at least during this period of time.

Jordy thought of how Gloria had been trying to get the word out of Rachel Roberts.

"Didn't you?" asked Jordy, squinting his eyes.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1407

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1407–Banter

Rachel pressed her lips and mumbled, "What's the point of lying to you while I get stuck in such a miserable situation? Jordy, our families are close partners in business and you know who I am. Do you think I would do something so stupid to hurt myself?"

Jordy watched her closely as she defended herself with self-evident questions.

Rachel struggled to compose herself while making eye contact with Jordy.

At Jordy's silent response, Rachel added, "Didn't Gloria White say she saw a little red mole on the woman's chest? I can prove my innocence."

Rachel looked serious. She was not kidding.

Harold who stood behind felt surprised by her speech.

As the noble lady of the Roberts Family, Rachel was determined to prove her innocence with such a claim in front of a man. This courage and determination were obvious.

Harold wasn't there when it happened, and the woman wore a mask resembling Miss White's face. Rachel's belief wavered after seeing Rachel's determination.

Jordy, yet, remained sure.

"You are wagering that I won't have your cloth stripped off?" Jordy narrowed his eyes and looked Rachel's body up and down with coldness.

That was the Jordy she knew well enough, someone who was hard-hearted and merciless. But right now, she could not admit it, nor could she backed off.

She looked at him with her head held high and said, "I didn't say that I, Rachel Roberts, am a woman of integrity. On what ground could Gloria make such a false accusation? She said that woman wore a mask that resembled her face and had a mole on her chest. I am willing to prove my innocence by taking my cloth off. What's there to wager? Why should I be intimidated?"

Jordy did not answer.

What Rachel said did not really matter to Jordy

He disdained to have such a conversation with people.

Rachel was a suspect. She would not be convicted unless he had got direct evidence against her.

If she wouldn't admit it, so be it. She could stay here.

"It is not our purpose to intimidate you. You've got that silver needle on your body. As time goes by. it might have an irreversible influence on you. If you don't wanna be left paralyzed, you'd better admit it now, so that Gloria could release you," said Jordy, turning around and walking away.

Harold followed right behind him. He couldn't help but give Jordy a thumbs up after what he had just said

He was impressed by Jordy's imitation ability.

The resolution of Jordy when he left daunted Rachel. But she knew there was no point in wasting her breath in explaining herself now. She still couldn't compromise or panic.

You had to endure it and competed with them.

Sooner or later, they would let go of her if she kept her mouth shut.

She was after all the noble lady of the Roberts Family. She must not be looked down upon. She must stand her ground!

Meanwhile in another place, Gloria and Heather sat opposite each other.

On the table between them were all kinds of barbecue food that Heather had his servants send over.

Gloria was not a big fan of meat, but she grabbed a few bites anyway. "You made it? Not bad."

Heather admitted unabashedly, "Of course, I have to grill them myself to show my sincerity since I am the one inviting you over?"

Gloria looked at him and didn't reply.

Although Heather behaved more restrained than before, there was still a certain sense of playfulness in his banter.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1408

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1408– Who Do You Think You Are?

She didn't like to talk to people in this way.

But Heather wasn't even her friend. There was no need to force herself.

Gloria said lightly. "I've come as you asked. Now you can tell me who was the woman trying to hurt me?"

With that, Gloria dropped the bamboo stick in the trash can. She raised her head and looked coldly at Heather

Heather smiled, "Gloria, you've turned me down three times. Isn't it fair enough for me to keep you in suspense? How about I tell you about who she is if you go out on a date with me three times?"

After that, Heather handed Gloria a glass of juice.

Gloria remained unmoved. "What a petty man you are," she sneered.

Heather took no offense at her words. "Tell me about it. I am a man, after all. You have turned my invitation down three times. It did hurt my self-esteem."

Gloria laughed sarcastically

A few seconds later, she spoke to Heather, "Isn't it normal for me to say no to someone I don't know?"

"But don't you already know who I am? Miss Black Rose" Heather continued the conversation and addressed her by her code name as the best hacker.

Gloria frowned.

It seemed Heather had known much more than she expected!

Heather comforted her in mild tones, "Don't be mad. You have hacked into America's system just to investigate me. Isn't it fair for me to look into your real identity as well?"

"Besides, knowing yourself and knowing your enemy will make sure I win every battle. See, if we collaborate, we would be invincible. Gloria, here comes your ex-husband!"

With that, Heather motioned to Gloria by raising his chin. Gloria turned her eyes and saw Jordy walking toward her.

Gloria withdrew her gaze after taking a quick peek.

What was he going to do?

Heather saw through her mind and offered to help, "Gloria, if you don't want to see him, I can make him disappear."

That was easy for Heather to say.

Of course, Gloria also believed that Heather was capable of doing it.

"We are not even friends at the moment," she turned his offer down coldly. "Whatever happened between Jordy and me has nothing to do with you."

And even, Heather could sense the warning sign in her word.

Heather narrowed his eyes and right before he could reply, Jordy was there. Uninvited, he pulled over a white chair and sat down by Gloria's side.

The three sat together.

Acting like the host, Heather served Jordy by saying, "Mr. Collins, help yourself. Order others if they don't look appetizing to you."

Heather's lips curved as a broad smile crept across his face.

Jordy simply ignored it.

Gloria cast him a meaningful look.

But Jordy remained unmoved and expressionlessly cold. He knew Gloria wanted him out of there.

But how could he leave now?

Heather tittered as he saw Jordy's sullen face. He tried to worsen it and anger Jordy, "Gloria just agreed to be my girlfriend, Mr. Collins..."

"You? Who do you think you are?" Jordy gave him a hostile glare. Heather's eyes sank

Gloria grabbed Jordy's hand as he was about to lose his temper and gave him a shove, asking,

"What are you doing?"

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1409

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1409– Nostalgia

Back in that room, she couldn't have made it any clearer for him. Yet he chose to turn a deaf ear to what she said!

Well, he could justify his stalking behavior with the excuse that he was worried about her.

But what was he trying to do now?

Jordy's fierce gaze was as if it were going to burn through her face as he looked over.

What was he doing?

What could he do?

He had exercised restraint! Otherwise, how could he possibly allow Gloria to meet with this man in private?

Gloria stared at Jordy without saying a word. She didn't want to argue with Jordy in this place. Neither was it a good thing for Heather to see that happen

But just because she didn't say it didn't mean Jordy did not understand.

At this moment, the blue veins on Jordy's forehead stood out.

"Gloria White," he said nothing but her name

His face grew darker as he pulled his lips into a flat line, fury burning in his eyes.

Heather's eyes grew colder and the smile on his face faded.

He was not a fool not to feel the connection between them, even if they had not spoken a word to each other.

Already on the verge of losing his patience, he did not want to endure it anymore. He looked coldly at Jordy and said, "Mr. Collins, can you leave us alone? We are on a date. Does it make you happy to be the third wheel?"

Heather's words had certainly fueled the situation.

Just as Jordy was about to say something, Gloria barged in, "Can you two stop being so childish?"

She didn't want to draw attention to the three of them.

She did not want to be that wicked girl who started a fight between men.

Heather did not agree with Gloria. He put on an aggrieved look and said sadly, "Gloria, I am not being childish I am standing up for you. He is only your ex-husband. He can't judge you or tell you what to do!"

Heather raised her eyebrows and smirked evilly.

Gloria shot him a glare, not wanting to hear another word from him.

As for Jordy, all he felt was a heavy weight on his chest, which made him somewhat breathless.

This feeling made him very uncomfortable.

His face was stiff, but his eyes were fixed on Gloria.

Gloria tore his gaze from him and looked to the other side.

“Jordy Collins is my ex-husband. He has no right to interfere in my life. What right do you have? Don’t stir things up here in my name. I did turn you down three times, so what? If you don’t want to tell me, then forget I asked.”

Gloria gave Jordy a look, beckoning him to follow up

She tried to figure out Heather’s true purpose.

But she could not sit by and watch the conflict between Jordy and Heather deteriorate. The scene of Heather’s homicide was still vivid in her mind.

They were in UK.

They may be fearless and powerful, but this was eventually not their place.

Heather was the crown prince of America, so there must be some connection with people here.

They hadn’t successfully brought Misty Lucid Ganoderma back yet so it was better they did not stir things up too much for now.

“Gloria, I know you are a nostalgic woman and you still have feelings for him as you have been his wife for so many years. But I’m also a man of emotions. You can’t be so cruel to me, can you? I have compromised with you on many issues, yet you ignore me all the time,” Heather’s voice rang behind her back at close range.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1410

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1410—I Won’t Leave You Behind

The tension between the two caught people’s attention.

Heather’s aggrieved look and pitiful remarks worsened the situation.

Well! She was the nasty girl who two-timed the men!

Gloria couldn't stand it anymore. She pinched a silver needle in her hand. At the moment when she was about to stab the silver needle into one of Heather's acupoints that controlled his speaking muscle, Heather stopped her by grabbing her wrist swiftly.

Heather grinned and said, "Gloria, you don't wanna embarrass me by treating me like this. I am a man of pride after."

Gloria could not allow him to slander her groundlessly. She launched an attack with the other hand of hers. Heather stretched his hand and gave Gloria a push before leaning forward over her.

Before Gloria could fall to the ground, a pair of strong hands reached out to support her around the waist

The faint smell of tobacco and the familiar aroma of herbs filled up her nostrils.

Heather loosen his grab at that second.

Standing opposite Jordy and Gloria, with a smirk on his lips, he looked like a cold marble.

He snorted, "Gloria, even if you try to turn me away, there is no need to put on such a drama with your ex-husband before me, right?"

"And you questioned my sincerity. I think you are the one who is disingenuous. All that I asked for are petty requests, yet, you turned me down again and again. And you expected me to tell you everything? Tell me, is that a fair trade?"

Heather laughed grimly.

With a wave of his hand, a dozen muscular men swarmed around Jordy and Gloria-

Jordy had helped Gloria to her feet at that moment.

They glanced around at the people besieging them.

They knew Heather was planning something by picking this place as their rendezvous. But they did not expect so many people.

Gloria sneered, "So there was no woman trying to kill me. You were the one who was trying to kill me, right?"

As for why Heather would put on the show of the hero rescuing the beauty, maybe he got bored and wanted to spice things up.

After Gloria said that, Jordy spread his arms and shoved her behind him.

Gloria's heart missed a beat on Jordy's subconscious gesture.

It was she who put Jordy in such trouble.

Heather smiled wryly and denied, "Why should I? You are smart enough to see through my disguise, but how could you not see my real intention? Today I'll take you both with me, or you'll come with me willingly

Heather left the choice to Gloria

He had looked into everything concerning them and had come here today to take Gloria with him

Gloria frowned slightly. Obviously, Heather was well prepared before inviting her over. Just when she hesitated whether she should go with him, Jordy spoke up gruffly, "Do you think we will compromise without putting up a fight?"

He looked cold, proud and domineering

Even Gloria was startled. She turned to the man standing in front of him, calling, "Jordy Collins.

She did not know what to say

Jordy, however, fixed his eyes on her and said earnestly, "I will not leave you behind. Please have some faith in yourself. We are not without resort

His voice trailed off, but Gloria could feel the earnestness in his words.