

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1481

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1481- What Do You Take My Casino For?

She wore her hair down around her shoulders naturally and was lightly made up, yet she still exuded an air of nobility and was quite stunning.

Harvie noticed the amazement in Jordy's eyes as he looked at her.

"Violet, take Gloria downstairs and wait for me. Ernest, I have something to tell you," Harvie said.

"Okay," Jordy nodded and quickly looked away from Gloria.

He then assumed a respectful posture and approached Harvie.

As soon as Harvie turned to lead Jordy into the room, his face darkened and he grew cold. They entered the room, and without warning, Harvie kicked out at Jordy. Jordy reflexively tried to dodge the attack, but Harvie noticed this and narrowed his eyes.

"You're not Ernest, are you? Who are you?"

Harvie asked, his tone full of certainty.

Harvie had known Ernest for many years and was aware of his mannerisms.

Even if Ernest was just defending himself, he should have recognized his situation and not tried to avoid Harvie's attack.

Additionally, Ernest's eyes had darkened, which was out of character for him.

All of these factors indicated to Harvie that the person before him was not Ernest.

As Harvie considered the way the person had looked at Gloria and the fact that she had sought him out, Harvie became certain that the man was Jordy Collins.

"Jordy Collins!"

His rage was palpable, and anger flickered in his dark eyes.

Jordy no longer tried to conceal his identity when Harvie called him by name.

He tore off the mask he was wearing and met Harvie's gaze without flinching.

Harvie hated the way Jordy was looking at him and didn't tolerate anyone challenging his authority.

He took a step forward and kicked out at Jordy again.

Jordy was quick to dodge, but he stumbled a little.

Harvie immediately launched another attack.

Jordy didn't have time to avoid the blow and was kicked.

He retreated a few steps but didn't fall.

His composure surprised Harvie, but it didn't diminish his disgust for Jordy.

"Where is Ernest? What is your intention in coming to my casino like this?"

Harvie asked Jordy in quick succession, staring at him coldly and putting pressure on him to answer.

Jordy knew that if he didn't answer these questions or bring Ernest back unharmed, Harvie would not let him go.

He wasn't afraid, but he didn't want to waste time on these matters and compromise his plans.

After a moment of silence, he said, "Ernest is safe. Don't worry, I will bring him back to you unharmed. I came here because your man went too far, and I saw an opportunity. I will leave the casino once I've finished what I came here to do, and I won't cause any trouble while I'm here."

Jordy's explanation was both a statement of his intentions and an expression of his attitude.

Harvie sneered at his words, not taking Jordy seriously.

"What do you take my casino for?" he said coldly.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1482

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1482-Harvie clapped his hands and several of his men swiftly entered the room and surrounded Jordy with a nod from Harvie.

“Jordy, you had an opportunity to leave, but you didn’t take it. Now you won’t get a chance to escape...” he growled.

However, before he could finish his threat, Jordy acted swiftly and easily overpowered his men.

This display of strength showed that Jordy was not easily intimidated.

Harvie’s face turned red with anger as he saw his men writhing in pain on the floor.

He thought back to the previous relationship between Gloria and Jordy and the animosity showed on his face.

“Jordy, don’t think I won’t kill you,” he warned.

Gloria still had feelings for him after all, women were more likely to miss their old flames than men.

If he really did something to Jordy, Gloria would be the first one to be angry!

With no weapons, Jordy was no match for Harvie.

“You’d better bring Ernest back to me before I return from the party,” Harvie commanded as he forced Jordy into a chair.

Despite his ability to easily free himself and fight back against Harvie, Jordy refrained from doing so out of respect for Gloria, who was Harvie’s niece.

Since he knew that if he really hurt Harvie, Gloria would never forgive him.

Harvie sneered at Jordy, “You may be a company president now, but why do you still display such shameless behavior?”

Jordy didn’t care about Gloria during their marriage, but now they were divorced, and Jordy had kept approaching Gloria.

Harvie was particularly irked by Jordy’s behavior, especially when he saw the raw desire in Jordy’s eyes when he looked at her.

Jordy was incensed by Harvie’s words and retorted, “You have no right to judge me. You may be her uncle and the boss, but some things are not your business.”

Harvie’s face darkened at Jordy’s warning.

He pressed his hand against Jordy’s shoulder, causing Jordy’s shoulder to be numb at once.

“Then you tell me what things are my business and what things are not,” Harvie sneered.

Although he understood what Jordy meant, Harvie still wanted to challenge Jordy’s arrogance.

Although Jordy was powerful in Canada, but he was now in the UK.

Jordy was becoming increasingly frustrated.

He did not want to come into conflict with Harvie, but Harvie’s words and actions had pushed him to his limits.

Therefore, he looked away to avoid further confrontation.

Harvie also had enough of the conversation and ordered someone to keep an eye on Jordy before leaving the room.

As he got into the car, Gloria asked, “Uncle, didn’t you ask Ernest to come with us? Where is he now?”

Gloria immediately asked.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1483

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1483-Chapter 1483 Was It the Idea Of You Two?

But for Harvie, he interpreted these words as Gloria’s unconscious affection and worry for Jordy.

He asked, bewildered, “Do you truly love Jordy so deeply?”

At the sound of his question, Gloria’s heart skipped a beat.

At first, she didn’t understand why her uncle was asking her this.

Then, she noticed his sour expression, clouded with anger.

Suddenly, she realized something. Her mouth tensed and she said cautiously, “Uncle, why are you asking me that?”

Although she spoke with uncertainty, Gloria was convinced that Harvie had met Jordy.

Upon hearing her response, Harvie shot her a glance.

His disappointment was evident on his face.

“Was it the idea of you two to let Jordy get it this way?”

“No, it was his own decision,” Gloria quickly denied.

Harvie had done so much for her after discovering that she was his niece, and she didn't want to hurt his feelings by conspiring with Jordy.

Fearing that Harvie wouldn't believe her, she explained further, “I only found out about it today when he showed up, and I tried to persuade him to leave, but he wouldn't listen to me.”

Gloria fell silent, her lips tight with frustration. “It's time to go, Violet,” Harvie instructed his driver.

He chose to trust Gloria.

After getting to know her better, he realized that perhaps she didn't believe in their blood relation.

She might think that he was lying, so he wanted to prove it to her.

With that in mind, Harvie let go of his anger towards Jordy for pretending to be Ernest.

“If you don't believe me and think I faked the DNA test results, we can go to the hospital now,” Harvie offered.

He wanted her to witness the process and believe that she was truly his niece.

However, Gloria shook her head.

“Uncle, if it's not true, you wouldn't be so kind to me. I saw everything you did and I know you care about me. I'm not the kind of person who says one thing to someone's face and another behind their back. As for Jordy... I'll find a way to get rid of him,” she declared firmly, her words a promise to herself.

Harvie smiled gently, his expression softening. “If Jordy were willing to leave, he wouldn't have stayed and pretended to be someone else,” he pointed out.

Essentially, Jordy was just unwilling to go, so he chose to do such a thing.

However, Harvie wasn't very optimistic about Jordy.

Harvie pressed his lips and then said, "I do not know how your mother met your father, but I can be sure that if she did not make a private decision, the two of them would never get married because of the family's intervene."

"You've been through a failed marriage with Jordy, and I don't want you to make the same mistake again. You can't stay single forever, and I can help you find a boyfriend if you need one,' Harvie expressed his true thoughts.

As the niece of the owner of Crockfords Club, she would attract the interest of powerful and eligible men!

But, it seemed that Gloria had no extravagant thoughts about love.

If she did, perhaps Jonathan was the best choice for her.

As Gloria pondered Jonathan, she also thought of the concern she had received from Jonathan when he contacted her during this period of time.

When she found out everything, it was time for her to return home.

Gently shaking her head, Gloria spoke, "Uncle, I am grateful for your generosity, but love cannot be forced. I have no inclination to pursue a relationship right now.'

Her focus was on uncovering the truth and advancing her career.

A failed marriage had taught her that men could only serve as hindrances on the path to success.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1484

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1484-Falling in love with a man could potentially put her entire future at risk!

"As you have stated, I shall refrain from discussing the matter further, but keep in mind that I have serious reservations about you and Jordy rekindling your relationship. He showed little concern for you in the past, and I do not believe that has changed."

Harvie held a negative opinion of Jordy and even the mere mention of Jordy's name stirred feelings of anger within him.

If it were not for Gloria, Jordy would have long disappeared, as per his usual practice, without ever having the chance to face him.

Gloria nodded understandingly. 'I know, Uncle."

Harvie said no more on the subject.

Soon, they arrived at their destination.

The party was hosted by an old friend of Harvie's who had personally extended the invitation, but Harvie had missed seeing him due to Gloria's presence.

As soon as he finished everything, Harvie quickly made his way to attend the party.

Despite being initially misconstrued by his friend, he was able to clear up the misunderstanding.

Harvie brought Gloria to the party with the intention of lifting her spirits.

He kept a watchful eye on her throughout the evening, but was eventually called away by his best friend.

Violet followed him to ensure his safety since Ernest was not here. But she never expected that just a few moments after their departure, something happened...

A loud bang echoed through the room.

Gloria followed the sound to find a middle-aged man had collapsed on the ground.

Without hesitation, Gloria, who had a wealth of medical knowledge, rushed to his side. She She was not a nosy person, but she couldn't stand by and watch someone die in front of her.

Gloria first checked the man's eyes and then administered acupuncture treatment. The man coughed twice and then slowly regained consciousness.

The man's eyes were bloodshot and puffy, and in a hoarse voice, he asked, "Were you the one who saved me, Miss?"

He had not taken a few steps this way when he fell to the ground and fainted.

The man had no memory of what had happened after he fainted, nor did he know how much time had passed.

He only felt dizzy and disoriented, with a sharp pain in his chest.

However, he was aware of having been poked with needles and was surprised by this form of first aid, and that was why he asked Gloria.

"You fainted in front of me. Give me your hand and let me take your pulse," Gloria said as she removed the needles and put them away.

The man was around fifty years old, impeccably dressed in a black suit, and appeared to be of high standing.

Gloria, however, was unaffected by his appearance.

She had saved him simply because she was a doctor and couldn't live with the guilt if she had stood by and done nothing.

Take the pulse?

The man was taken aback, especially upon hearing the word "pulse". He asked in surprise, "You have studied traditional medicine, Miss?"

"Just a little," Gloria replied nonchalantly.

She grabbed the man's hand and placed her index and middle fingers on his wrist to take his pulse.

Compared to the man's surprised expression, Gloria remained calm. She did not feel any pride in her knowledge of traditional medicine.

Her father's death, caused by Claude and his wife, still weighed heavily on her conscience and she felt guilty that she was unable to help him.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1485

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1485-As the daughter, Gloria failed to fulfill her filial obligations.

Yet, she found herself pulled back to the present moment when she noticed the unusual fluctuations of the man's pulse.

"Is there anything wrong with me?" the man asked her with confusion in his eyes.

Gloria nodded, not denying it. "The reason for your faint is that you've been poisoned for the past three years," she explained.

"Have you experienced chest pains, heart palpitations, chills, or dizziness from time to time in these three years?"

The man's eyes narrowed as he realized he had been suspicious of being poisoned recently, but had found no evidence. He also exhibited the same symptoms that Gloria had just mentioned, so he did not doubt her diagnosis.

Knowing she was correct, Gloria kindly reminded him, "The person who poisoned you and went undetected must be someone you trust. Be cautious and pay attention to your diet. You should stop eating the same food you have been consuming and seek out a reputable doctor for treatment."

These were the only words of advice she could offer.

After saying that, Gloria stood up and was about to leave.

Her uncle left with Violet, and she had little interest in this party.

Besides, after this little episode, she was also in no mood to enjoy the party, so she thought of going somewhere else.

As she was about to leave, the man stood up, rushed over to her, and blocked her way.

Fearing she would leave, he opened his arms to stop her.

"Miss, you said I should see a good doctor. Can I ask you to cure me? I believe you to be a skilled physician," he implored.

Gloria frowned, skeptical of his request.

This man didn't know her at all. How did he dare to let a stranger treat him?

The people present at the party were not ordinary, and it wouldn't be difficult for him to find a reputable doctor. Moreover, his poisoning was not a terminal illness, and many doctors could help detoxify his body.

There was no need for her to get herself into trouble.

So, she politely declined. "I'm sorry sir, I don't have time, and there are many others who are knowledgeable in traditional medicine."

Gloria thought she had made herself clear enough, but to her surprise, the man persisted.

"Miss, don't worry. I'll offer you a handsome reward for your services. You name your price, and I can afford it no matter the cost."

Hearing this, Gloria grew annoyed.

"It's not about the money. I simply don't want to treat you!" she snapped, annoyed by the man's insistence.

She had only wanted to do a good deed, but now she found herself inviting trouble.

Despite her refusal, the man still wouldn't give up.

He believed that Gloria's quick response and accurate diagnosis of his symptoms indicated her high medical skills, and he could not allow himself to die from poisoning now.

"Miss, I understand if you have a reason for declining, but I can work with your schedule. Since you went out of your way to help, could you continue to cure me?" he asked.

Gloria was hesitant.

Normally, she would have agreed without hesitation.

But her circumstances were different now. She was waiting for her uncle and had to investigate matters concerning her mother with him, so she simply didn't have the time to attend to others.

Gently shaking her head, she said, "I apologize, it's not that I don't want to help. I just don't have the time."

"In that case, could you give me a prescription and your phone number? I'll wait for you to have time, alright?" the man persisted.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1486

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1486-The man did not want to let go of Gloria, who he saw as his savior.

He clung to her hand, despite her increasing annoyance.

This man was about fifty, but he was still abrupt to the point of rudeness!

Dealing with him proved to be a real challenge for Gloria.

She didn't trust strangers easily and certainly wasn't about to take his word for it.

She tried to pull her hand away, but to her surprise, the man fell to the ground.

Just then, someone saw the commotion and cried out in anger, "What are you doing!"

The voice belonged to a man, who was quickly joined by several others who rushed over and surrounded Gloria.

The man who had shouted at her initially spoke again, "Do you know where you are now? Do you know who he is?"

The voice was familiar to Gloria, and she turned to see the same person who had scolded her earlier.

She noticed the cold look in his eyes and the warning they held.

The man who had fallen to the ground was getting up slowly, but didn't offer any explanation. Obviously, he was acquiescing to the man's rebuke to her.

So what?

Was he trying to force her to compromise and give him medical attention in this way?

Gloria felt a little funny.

She had saved a person only to find herself in trouble.

"I did nothing! He's the one who's pestering me to treat him! If you don't believe me, why don't you just go check the surveillance?" Gloria sneered, completely unafraid and unwilling to explain herself further.

She did not want to explain, nor did she want to say anything more, and of course, she was not afraid at all.

At that moment, the man she had saved reached out to signal for everyone to be quiet.

She had found out the man had a high status at the beginning, but she still refused his offer, and now with so many people trying to pressure her, she was even less likely to compromise.

"Miss, I am truly..." the man began, but was cut off by Gloria.

"Don't say anything else. Even if you just fell down accidentally, what about now? So many of your men came over to surround me, and are you sure you're not trying to force me to treat you?" Gloria interrupted, her cold demeanor never wavering.

Gloria was a cold person, and what this man had done had already forfeited the good opinion of her.

Just then, Violet pushed through the crowd and pulled Gloria behind him. The man opposite was taken aback, recognizing Violet, and asked, "Violet, you know her?"

He was curious about Gloria's identity, as he was a friend of Harvie and had never seen Gloria at the casino before.

But from Violet's protective gesture, the man immediately perceived that the young girl in front of him might be Gloria who was rumored to be with Harvie.

She was the niece that Harvie once talked about!

After realizing this, the man was filled with regret for his behavior and for not stopping his men from surrounding Gloria.

He asked, "Where is Mr. Ferber?"

Gloria remained silent. She never expected the man in front of her to be a friend of her uncle.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1487

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1487-People with high status like her uncle would usually not tell others their real names, and in her previous investigation, Gloria also didn't find out any information about the boss of the Crockfords Club.

So, anyone who knew the real name of her uncle was naturally a person who had a great relationship with her uncle.

But Gloria had no qualms about refusing to treat him!

After all, this man was just her uncle's friend, but not hers.

With a gloomy face, Violet said coldly, "Mr. Turner, why do you ask questions to which you already know the answers?"

Violet was in accordance with Harvie's instructions and came back to take care of Gloria, because the party was held by Welch Turner, and before he came here, he first ordered his man to lead Harvie to the VIP Lounge.

But Harvie was concerned about Gloria.

And since Violet learned that Gloria was Harvie's niece, she chose to pass over what happened before between her and Gloria. Instead, she now had responsibility for protecting Gloria.

At this moment, Violet did not ask anything, and she only believed what she saw with her own eyes!

As soon as Welch heard what Violet said, he immediately showed a smile. "Violet, this is just a misunderstanding. I just wanted to ask her to do me a favor, but I accidentally fell on the ground. Then, my men came over when seeing that and misunderstood."

And that was indeed what happened.

But Gloria was already upset, and she didn't want to hear any more words from the man.

She pulled gently at Violet's sleeve and said, "Take me to my uncle."

When she said this, she deliberately pressed down her voice.

She did not want to go there, but compared to being pestered by this man, she preferred to go to her uncle's side.

However, Gloria did not know that this party was held by this man. And Welch immediately followed Gloria the moment she turned around to leave.

Harvie saw these people come in one after the other and also noticed that Gloria's cold look. He instantly realized that something was wrong.

But before he asked, Welch said with a smile, "I'm so sorry since my men almost offended Miss White. Mr. Ferber, why didn't you inform me that you would bring your niece here?"

Welch attempted to tell the whole story in a few words and even pointed out that it was Harvie who didn't tell him in advance.

But Gloria was really unhappy with his words.

She retorted, "I'm not someone like a big shot that needs to be welcomed by you."

She was not only unhappy with Welch's words, but also still felt displeased because of what just happened!

"Are you still angry with me because of what just happened, Miss White?" Welch took the initiative to mention that with a good attitude.

However, Harvie's face darkened.

"Gloria, what exactly happened just now?"

Harvie looked at Gloria and asked.

He didn't need to be informed of anything from Welch. He wanted Gloria to tell him what exactly happened.

There was nothing to hide in such matters, but Gloria also did not want her uncle to spoil their friendship because of her.

After thinking for a second, she suppressed her anger and said, "Mr. Turner accidentally fainted in front of me just now. I saved him and found out that he had been poisoned, so I kindly informed him to find a good doctor to treat him, but Welch trusted me and insisted on asking me to treat him.

However, I didn't have much time, so I refused. Then Welch accidentally fell down and his men misunderstood me, and at the critical moment, Violet appeared."

She also didn't point out that Welch badgered her, but Harvie had already guessed it.

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1488

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1488-Chapter 1488 He Had Only Himself To Blame

He had been friends with Welch for so many years, and he knew what kind of person Welch was.

Welch cherished his life very much and was very afraid of death.

So after learning that he was poisoned and seeing someone who knew the traditional medicine in front of him, of course he would try to ask Gloria to cure him.

It was true that Welch was his friend, but Welch was far less important than Gloria in Harvie's eyes.

Harvie pulled Gloria to his front and said, "It doesn't matter. After all, you have no obligation to help others!"

Hearing what Harvie said, Welch was a bit unhappy.

He thought that as long as he explained everything, Harvie would help to persuade Gloria to treat him since he was Harvie's friend.

But he didn't expect that Harvie would actually say that.

When Welch wanted to say something more, Harvie put his hand on Gloria's shoulder and said with his eyes full of concern, 'Are you tired? We can go back now and rest if you're tired.'

Clearly, Harvie didn't even want to attend the party anymore.

Gloria was not the kind of person who couldn't distinguish the situation clearly. She shook her head and said, "Uncle, don't mind me. I'm fine."

"Violet, I feel a bit uncomfortable. Can you accompany me to the lady's room?" Gloria felt that she should not stay here anymore to avoid any real strife between her uncle and Welch.

Violet always complied with Gloria's request.

Then, only Harvie and Welch were left inside the room.

When Welch was about to say something, his phone vibrated.

It was a call from the Turner family.

As soon as he answered the phone, his face instantly darkened.

The call didn't last long either, and Welch hung up first.

After hanging up the phone, he first apologized in a good manner towards Harvie Ferber. "I really didn't know that she was your niece, and I didn't do anything to her at that time. I just wanted to let her treat me, but she got annoyed. Then I fell to the ground because I was poisoned and didn't have much physical strength. My men saw that and misunderstood, so they surrounded her."

"I admit that in the moment my men came, I was trying to use that to get her to compromise, but Violet appeared in time. We have been friends for many years, and your niece told me that I was poisoned. You won't watch me die, right?"

Welch looked very anxious and sighed while he was talking.

Harvie's mouth tightened. After hearing Welch's words, he coldly snorted. "So you can force her to stay regardless of her wish? If she's not my niece, you must have imprisoned her somewhere now, right?"

Harvie said directly, disregard Welch's feelings.

Welch did not deny it, and he once again admitted his mistake, still in a very good tone and attitude in front of Harvie.

He said, "I know I was wrong, and I can apologize to her, but we've been friends for many years, and she can treat me. Do you really want to stand by and watch me die?"

Welch said in a disconsolate tone.

If he had known that she was Harvie's niece before, he would not have done that.

Now he had only himself to blame!

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1489

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1489- Underhanded Tactics

But Harvie remained indifferent. "That's your own business. Before you met her, you had been poisoned, and those around you were also hiding it from you. Welch, you are practicing this emotional blackmail on me and my niece now!"

After Harvie said this, he turned around to leave with his hand behind his back and walked out.

But Welch quickly stopped him. "Don't you forget that my nephew Gerald met with a mishap in the Crockfords Club. It's true that I can't shake your status today, but if I really want to do something, you will also get into trouble. And now Gloria is here. You should think more about Gloria!"

Welch's mouth tightened into a thin line, and he looked serious.

The phone call he just received was from Gerald's father, who was also his brother, and he usually loved to do those dirty deals.

In addition, the law in the UK was not as strict as that in Canada. His elder brother had also accumulated a lot of contacts.

He knew that Harvie was not afraid of that at all and even had enough power to counteract, but the problem was that it would be a struggle for him if there was a fight.

"So what?"

Harvie sneered and asked Welch in return.

Welch then said, "I have no intention of making a deal with you. Even if Gloria did not appear today, I would still inform you of this. As a long-time friend, I would have chosen to be on your side. But you... Harvie, I just want to let your niece treat me. Why do you have to be like this?"

Harvie's mouth tightened, and he was staring at Welch with cold eyes.

It was not about anything else, but about that Welch had touched his bottom line.

Gloria was his bottom line now.

He would not allow anyone to hurt Gloria.

"But are you sure that you can be at Gloria's side all the time?"

As soon as Welch said this, Harvie immediately became vigilant.

At the same time, Gloria and Violet were surrounded by some men.

Gloria looked at the men in front of her and her eyes darkened.

This was a party held by Welch, and Welch was her uncle's friend. Violet was a trusted follower of her uncle.

It meant that the people surrounding her right now were only likely to be the men of Welch.

In order to let her cure him, Welch could actually dare to do this!

"Miss White."

A man took a step forward and nodded his head toward Gloria with respect.

Violet immediately stood in front of Gloria.

Her cold, warning look had shown that if anyone dared to do anything, she would kill him without mercy.

Gloria felt a little funny. "Is this the way Mr. Turner usually solves problems? Using such underhanded tactics behind?"

She knew that with the shelter of her uncle Harvie and the protection of Violet, she would not be harmed in any way.

But she really despised this kind of behavior.

"Miss White, the one you are talking about is my boss'brother." the man immediately said when he heard Gloria's words.

However, what he said made Gloria more puzzled.

Mr. Turner's brother? Who is he?

Or someone else had known that she found out that Welch had been poisoned for three years and told Welch.

So this poisoner, Welch's older brother, was now arranging so many people to come over to warn her not to meddle in this matter?

Thinking of this, Gloria frowned with a heavy heart.

"Miss White, it is said that everyone should mind their own business. You detained our young master for so long, and as long as you release him, we can sit down and talk."

Read Novel Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1490

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 1490-The man directly confessed his true purpose.

But Gloria was more confused.

Since she came to the UK, she had encountered a lot of accidents with Jordy and also met many people, but as for the "young master" this man mentioned said, she had no idea about him.

Mr. Goddard was an independent big shot in the Middle East. Heather and Lisa were also not ordinary people.

Therefore, she was curious about the identity of the "young master" the man talked about.

Gloria frowned slightly. "You're looking for the wrong person. I've never detained anyone."

After saying that, she was about to leave with Violet.

However, these people had no intention of letting her go, and the moment she took a step, they quickly surrounded her.

Without waiting for her to say anything, Violet had already kicked a man out of the way with a cold face.

"Since you all know to call her 'Miss White' respectfully, how could you still dare to stop her? Do you really want to die here?"

Violet scolded angrily, not putting these people in her eyes at all.

Although Gloria did not say anything, she was ready to fight at any time.

Although the others still surrounded Gloria and Violet, they did not mean to fight, and even after hearing Violet's words, the man made a gesture.

The other people then quickly took a step back.

The man then made his words clear, "Miss White, wasn't he detained by you and Jordy the day of the casino party?"

The moment he finished speaking, Gloria instantly knew who he was talking about.

The young master they were talking about was the man who was staying beside Rachel.

After realizing who they were talking about, Gloria indifferently said, "Then you should go to ask Jordy, not me."

Then, Gloria turned her head towards Violet, signalling to her to leave.

But the man clearly wouldn't let Gloria go.

The man said, "Aren't you Jordy's partner, Miss White?"

The next second, the others re-encircled Gloria and Violet.

As Violet was about to strike at the men, Harvie's cold, stern voice came from far, "Here's the Crockfords Club, and you're in my place now! You'd better mind your manners here!"

As Harvie appeared, Violet became even more fearless.

She grabbed the man's wrist and slammed him to the ground.

Harvie then gave Violet a look, and she immediately understood.

But when she was about to strike at the others, Welch stopped her. "This is my failure to supervise in place. I'm sorry to let Miss White have an unpleasant experience. Don't worry. I will start to solve this problem, and I will definitely give you an explanation."

Welch said firmly to Harvie, but Harvie didn't take his statement seriously.

"No need. I can deal with these people. If your brother asks, just let him come directly to me."

With these words, Violet quickly defeated all the others, and they all lay on the floor moaning in pain.

Welch didn't say anything.

People in the Crockfords Club were all capable of abilities. It seemed that Harvie was not afraid to get himself into any trouble.

If Welch did not know the real relationship between Gloria and Harvie, he would also receive the rumor that Harvie had fallen in love with beauty!

“Go back and tell your boss. He'd better stay away from the people inside my casino, and no matter how many contacts he has, and no matter how powerful he thinks he is, if he dares to hurt my people, I'll sure let him regret it!”