

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 17

Chapter 17 You Know It Clearly

Jordy was slightly stunned. At this time, Gloria suddenly broke away from him, raised her leg, and kicked him!

Jordy quickly dodged and the blue veins on his forehead twitched!

"Gloria!"

He never knew that she had such a sharp tongue and would even attack him.

Gloria sneered, "Mr. Collins, Mr. Brown is still waiting for me. Excuse me."

With that, she headed outside.

The blue veins on Jordy's forehead twitched even more violently, but he didn't stop her. Gloria seemed to have become a different person, and she seemed to have disguised in the past three years.

She found that she couldn't get any benefits from him, so she was going to show her true faces in front of him?

No, it must be her trick!

However, he wouldn't change his mind and fall in love with her!

He stared at her all the time. Gloria grabbed the door handle, but didn't press it down. She looked back slowly Jordy sneered. He knew she was playing hard to get!

What a scheming woman!

Gloria looked at him indifferently, "If you care about the Collins Group's fame and interests, divorce me as soon as possible. Except for the time when we get the marriage licenses, don't appear in front of me again.

Let's just go separate ways."

With that, she looked away, opened the door and walked out.

However... she caught a glimpse of a figure that hid in the corner hurriedly.

Although the figure moved quickly, she saw the light-colored dress. It was Angela.

She sneered and turned back to her box.

Jonathan raised his eyes at Gloria, who looked calm. He smiled, "What took you so long?"

Gloria pulled open the chair and sat down again. She said with a relaxed expression, "I met flies and took some time to drive them away."

Jordy, who had just reached the door of their box, heard this, and turned grave instantly.

Jonathan raised an eyebrow, "Jordy came to you?"

Gloria didn't answer, which meant "yes".

Jonathan looked at her with great interest, "Have you got divorced completely?"

Gloria took a sip of juice, "We've signed the divorce papers. I am waiting for him to get the divorce licenses with me when he is free."

Jonathan smiled and said, "It seems that Mr. Collins is really busy. He doesn't even have time for getting a divorce."

Gloria raised her eyes and looked at him, "What are you trying to say?"

Jonathan just smiled, "Nothing, don't take it to heart."

Light flickered in Gloria's eyes. She sized him up and said calmly, "So, you have nothing to tell me. You just wanted me to eat with you here and see the truth with my own eyes?"

So, he just wanted to test her?

He wanted to find out if she and Jordy loved each other and if she was a spy that Jordy planted around him?

Heh.

For the first time, she knew that she could play such a role and could be valued so much.

Jonathan shook his head helplessly, "You are really smart."

Gloria looked at him with an indifferent look and said nothing.

It was not a coincidence that she met Jordy and Angela here today. This was all arranged by him in advance. He just wanted to see their reactions.

Gloria said with a calm face, "You came to me for this lawsuit on your initiative, and I never lured you to do that. Without me, you would not win this lawsuit. You know that very clearly."
