Chapter 18 Angela Had Her Way

Jonathan smiled, "Sure. Without you, I won't file the lawsuit."

But he wasn't talking about the lawsuit against the Collins Group.

Gloria naturally understood. She put down her cup without looking at him, "Except for this lawsuit and the banquet, I don't want any contact with you. You can rest assured."

Jonathan raised an eyebrow in some surprise. If she didn't mean it, how could she say it in such a firm tone? If he didn't come to her, her and Jordy's plan would be in vain.

"Mr. Brown, you don't have to test me again. Our cooperation will end completely after the lawsuit is over."

With that, Gloria picked up her fork and continued eating. She obviously didn't want to talk to Jonathan again.

Jonathan looked at her all the time and didn't find anything suspicious. He chuckled and said, "Norma, you are really special. I never knew Gloria. The woman I met was Norma. The only person I will contact in the future is Norma."

Gloria raised her eyebrow without speaking.

He could say whatever he liked, because she didn't care about his feelings, so it wouldn't affect her.

Besides, she was always sad and frustrated for Jordy in the past three years. She would never be like that again for any man in the future. She should live in the moment.

Jordy had been smoking since he returned to the box. In the past, he wouldn't smoke if Angela was around... But he seemed to have forgotten she had just recovered.

Angela was a little flustered. She could feel that Jordy had begun to care about Gloria.

She took a breath and coughed twice as if she choked on the smoke.

Jordy looked up at her and silently put out the cigarette.

Angela hurriedly said, "I didn't choke on the smoke. Don't worry about me. Just go on with your smoking."

With that, a ringing voice sounded in Jordy's head, "Smoking is bad for your health! Honey, you are not very addicted to it. Why don't you just quit smoking?"

Jordy was more irritated instantly.

Angela also realized that she might have said the wrong thing. However, it was wisest not to talk at this time. Jordy should hate to be disturbed by others at the moment.

Silence was restored in the room.

Jordy seemed to be getting more and more irritated. He got up suddenly, "Finish your meal. My assistant will take you back later."

With that, he got up and walked outside.

Angela had her heart in her throat!

Damn it. Gloria must have upset him greatly!

She hurriedly said, "I don't want to eat anymore. I'll leave with you."

Angela hurriedly got up and chased after Jordy, but...

"Ah..."

The chair was suddenly overturned. When Jordy looked back, Angela had fallen to the ground with a painful look!

His pupils shrank suddenly and he came to his senses!

He hurriedly stepped forward to check on her. Angela's knees and arms were all bruised. He immediately took her up and put her on the chair. Then he said with a guilty look, "Are you okay? Any other bruises?"

Angela finally saw his worried look again. She breathed a sigh of relief and shook her head with a smile, "I'm okay. If you have something to do, go ahead. Don't worry about me."

"I'll take you to the hospital."

Jordy was about to pick Angela up. Angela hurriedly held his arm, "No, I..."

"No, you haven't fully recovered yet. You need another examination."

Then he ignored what Angela said, and walked out with her in his arms.

A small, unobtrusive smile curved Angela's lip.

However, as soon as they came out, Jonathan and Gloria also came out.

Angela turned her eyes, pretended not to see them, put her arms around Jordy's neck, and said with a smile, "Jordy, I'm okay. It was just a small fall. You really don't have to be so flustered. Put me down. I can walk myself."

Jordy said in a calm voice, "Let me get you an examination first."

After that, he left with Angela in his arms in a panic without looking at Jonathan and Gloria who were standing nearby

A mocking look flashed across Gloria's eyes. He really loved Angela.

Every time she was aware of that, she would be glad. Fortunately, she had ended her feelings for him.

Angela was in a coma back then and would not have such an interaction with Jordy.

But the situation had changed. She woke up and was alive and kicking. They needed to display that they loved each other often. If Gloria still cared about that like before, she would be hurt by Angela and Jordy badly

Jonathan was looking at Gloria at this moment. Seeing that there was only sarcasm not sadness in her eyes, he was still surprised. He didn't ask anything, but just smiled, "I'll send you back."

Gloria came out of her trace, and shook her head, "No, I'll take a taxi."

Jonathan said with a firm attitude, "How can I let you go back alone? A gentleman would never do that. Let's go."

Gloria frowned slightly, but they would have contact in the future. If he wanted to find out her address, he would do that sooner or later. She accepted his offer, and went out directly with him.

"Thank you, Mr. Brown."

However...

Life was full of coincidences.

When Gloria arrived at the underground parking lot, she found that Jordy's car was here. She saw he carefully put Angela into the car.

Gloria laughed. Why did they meet and meet again?

When they were married, there were seldom such coincidences.

Jonathan looked at Gloria beside him and said softly, "Maybe I should also do that?"

Gloria subconsciously turned her head, "Do what?"

Jonathan's eyes were imperceptibly soft. He said in a playful voice, "Get you into the car. It's the best service! can provide for a princess?"

The corner of Gloria's mouth twitched, "Your flirting tricks won't work on a divorced woman."

Jonathan raised an eyebrow, "In my heart, you are always supreme. One should treat himself with dignity."

It had two meanings.

One should love himself

And... one should also value himself.

Gloria knew that he was trying to tell her the second meaning. She knew he was reminding her not to have any dealings with Jordy anymore.

But this was her business and nobody else could make the decision for her.

She didn't speak. Jonathan had opened the door for her. She got in the car silently.

As soon as Jordy closed the door, he saw that. The anger in his eyes was stronger. The next moment, he got in his car directly

Then the two cars drove out together, as if they were racing.

But they headed in different directions. Gloria wanted to end this. When she saw an intersection ahead, she said in a flat tone, "Let's turn the corner."

Jonathan narrowed his eyes slightly, "You are afraid?"

Gloria turned her head and said with a smile. "You want me to re-love him?"

"Of course not." Jonathan smiled, stepped on the brake, and went to the right lane. He glanced at Jordy who was still waiting for the red light, and then turned right following the car in front of him.

Along the way, Gloria was not interested in chatting. Jonathan would talk to her occasionally. When she got downstairs he home, she looked at Jonathan and said in a soft tone, "Thank you for giving me the ride, Mr. Brown."

Jonathan smiled mildly, "Sure, have an early rest. If you need anything, you can call me at any time."

Gloria just nodded silently, then got out of the car and left.

Jonathan looked at her receding figure and narrowed his eyes slightly. Gloria was full of mysteries. Would Jordy regret it after losing her?

Tsk

He had met her and wouldn't let her go.

As soon as Gloria got out of the elevator, her phone rang. She took it out while opening the door. It was Karen. She was a little surprised.

She went in and answered the phone, "Hi, grandma."

"Hey, Gloria, what have you been up to? Do you miss me?"

Light flickered in Gloria's eyes and she said with a smile as she changed her shoes, "OF course, I miss you every day."

Karen burst out in laughter, "Oh, you are so sweet!"

Gloria smiled and sat down on the sofa, "So, what's the matter?"

"Oh, come on. You don't want me to call you for catching up?"

Grandma was always so childish, and she pretended to be angry. Gloria smiled, "Yes, grandma, don't get me wrong."

"Hum, then good, but..."

Karen coughed softly. She was uneasy these two days. She said in a soft tone, "How are you and Jordy doing recently? Did he come back home on time? Did he do anything crazy and foolish?"

Karen emphasized "crazy and foolish". If Jordy mentioned divorce, Gloria would give some reaction. If not, Jordy probably had followed her advice and didn't mention divorce again.

But...

Gloria had sensed something. She was a little evasive and didn't reply immediately.

Karen's heart suddenly did a somersault, and she said anxiously, "Gloria?"

Gloria smiled, "So, you already know."

"Huh?"

What was she supposed to know?

Where were they with the divorce thing?

That little bastard! If he lost such a good wife, she would kill him!

Gloria pursed her lips. Although grandma didn't want to accept the fact that they were getting a divorce, it was no use hiding it anymore. She sighed softly and said, "Grandma, he and I... have got a divorce."

"What?"

Karen's expression changed and she stood up immediately.

Joseph had been staring at her. Seeing her reaction, he guessed something. An approving look flashed across his eyes. Jordy was a good grandson.

Gloria was already out of favor of the White family. The Collins family wouldn't get any benefits if they kept her. Moreover, Gloria was not a good daughter, and didn't deserve his grandson!

Karen was worried and said anxiously, "Gloria, are you serious? It's not April Fool's Day!"
