

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 23

Chapter 23 Dazzled by Her Performance

He thought Nydia would get some great racing driver, but it turned out that she got a woman,

It was quite boring

Nydia sneered. You thought Gloria was just a driver? We'll see! She's gonna surprise you!

"Yup, she's here to help! Good luck with that!"

"Are you kidding? I wasn't born yesterday. Nydia, throw in the towel. I'm giving you the chance. She's just a woman."

Gloria followed the sound of his voice and saw a handsome man blowing out some smoke rings. Her brow furrowed.

It was George

He was Jordy's friend. As a promising young lawyer, he was hailed as the second Norma.

Gloria changed up her look today. Though she looked similar to George, he didn't recognize her at once.

Nydia snapped, "What's wrong with being a woman? Can't a woman drive? Can't you put prejudices aside for one day?"

George snorted, "Alright, come on. I haven't got all day."

He snuffed out his cigarette and got into his car.

Nydia looked at Gloria and cheered with her arms flailing wildly. "Come on, girl! I can't wait for it!"

Gloria smiled faintly at her and got in the car.

After a long wait, the referee finally saw them get in the cars and raised his hand.

The referee's hand dropped to his side, and immediately, George and Gloria started their cars!

George took Gloria lightly and acted too slowly. He didn't expect her to get a head start on him.

Gloria's car hurtled out!

One blink later, it was gone!

Nydia stood there and exclaimed with joy, "Honey, you're the best."

Those spectators were all shocked. "Is George the first?"

"No! It's that woman!"

"My God! She's driving so fast! Is she an international racing driver?"

"Who is that woman? Do you know her?"

One minute those spectators praised George so much, the next they were dazzled by Gloria's performance and couldn't help talking about her.

"Damn it! George muttered a curse and sped up. He became very focused.

But he couldn't keep up with Gloria no matter how hard he tried. Worse, he was getting further and further away from her!

George was stupefied.

wa

I'm gonna lose to a woman!

How can this be?

At most, he could see the rear of Gloria's car in the distance. Nydia was about to jump for joy when Gloria reached the finishing line!

"You shouldn't think less of women!" Nydia said, with her head in the air. "You lost!"

George looked depressed. "Damn it! I was careless."

He looked at Gloria and said seriously, "You won. I will give Nydia what she deserves. Let's do it one more time, you and me."

Nydia was amused. "You wish! Who are you to challenge her?"

Gloria said calmly, "Excuse me, I've got things to do today."

Nydia took Gloria by the hand and gave George a defiant look. "Transfer the money to me as soon as possible. I'm telling you, I'm not a woman to be trifled with. One more word out of you, and I'll beat your face into a pulp!"

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 24

Chapter 24 I'm Out of Misery

George was embarrassed to lose the race. After all, there were so many people around. He couldn't believe he lost to a woman!

He met Nydia's defiant eyes and immediately said, "You just want money. I have quite a lot!"

Nydia snorted, and George looked at her irritably. "But remember, that thing will be mine!"

Nydia spat, "In your dreams!"

George went off in a huff.

Nydia was in a good mood. She took Gloria by the hand and laughed, "Honey, let's go!"

Gloria didn't say anything but followed her into the car. With her hands on the steering wheel, Nydia turned to look at Gloria. "Wanna eat out? Or you gonna cook for your husband tonight?"

Gloria froze for a moment before saying, "Let's eat out."

Nydia started the engine and looked at Gloria in great surprise. "Really?"

Gloria nodded. Leaving the engine idling, Nydia stared at her. "Are you sure, honey? Every time I wanna take you out, you say you have to cook for him. You want to be a good wife at home. You can't stay out at night. What's happening today?"

Gloria pursed her lips. A look of annoyance flashed across her face.

It was such a shame that she had wasted a lot of time on Jordy.

Nydia noticed something wrong and looked at her with concern. "Did he bully you?"

Gloria shook her head. "Let's go. Why don't we eat at your house?"

Gloria changed the subject, and Nydia felt worse. She grabbed Gloria's hand and said seriously, "What happened? You... two had a fight? How could he go so far?"

Gloria smiled, "Have you ever seen him and me fight?"

Jordy never talked to Gloria. How could they have a quarrel?

Nydia frowned as if she had thought of all this. She asked worriedly, "So what happened...?"

"We're getting divorced."

Nydia was Gloria's best friend, and Gloria wasn't going to keep it from her.

"What?"

Nydia grabbed the steering wheel, and her eyes widened in shock. She would have stood up had it not been for the small space in the car.

"We've signed the divorce papers and are waiting for the divorce decree to come through."

Gloria stated the fact calmly. She thought she would be breathless with sadness, but she wasn't.

Nydia's pupils dilated a little. Gloria looked like she was ready to get over Jordy.

Nydia looked at her in disbelief. "You love him so much! But now you're telling me you're getting divorced?"

Gloria didn't say anything, which indicated a tacit acknowledgment.

Nydia believed her and almost danced for joy. "Wow! We're gonna go out and celebrate tonight! You're single again!"

Gloria's mouth twitched. "Shouldn't you be comforting me?"

Nydia scoffed, "Gloria, he's not worthy of you! I told you to divorce him before. He was a typically eligible bachelor, but not every woman liked him! He never cared about you. You should have left him sooner!"

Gloria blinked. Nydia told me to get a divorce long ago.

Gloria smiled with relief, "You're right. I'm already out of misery."

"Let's book a club and call some friends to join us tonight."

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 25

Chapter 25 Who Is It This Time?

The city's bright lights were shining.

Even in the middle of the night, there was a huge traffic jam.

Nydia finally maneuvered the car out of the jam into a parking spot. She looked at Gloria and chuckled with her eyebrows raised, "Let's go! Gloria! They're all here already!"

Gloria smiled, "Okay."

Nydia's mysterious smile lingered. She took Gloria's arm and entered the box she had reserved.

However, the box was silent without lights on. Nydia looked around suspiciously and said, "Huh? Are they lying to me? They're not here yet?"

She pulled Gloria inside. "Gloria, let's wait for them."

Before Gloria could nod, there came a loud pop!

Someone sprayed colored ribbons which were fluttering down on Gloria and Nydia, and the flashing lights came on.

Then came the cheers.

"Congratulations! Gloria is single again!"

Gloria was surprised. Nydia laughed out loud and turned to Gloria. "Gloria, is it a big surprise?"

The girl who sprayed ribbons laughed loudly, "Look at her shocked face! Gloria, ever since you married him, you've been following the rules of the Collins family. But now you're free. Just be yourself!"

Nydia echoed with laughter, "That's right! That's what Gloria's going to be like. Good idea, Jennifer!"

Gloria felt warm and said gratefully, "Thank you, Jennifer."

Jennifer held a ribbon spray in her hand. Her dark hair just covered her shoulders, and she had a lovely baby face.

"No biggie. There is something more exciting!"

Nydia was a little confused. "What is it?"

Nydia privately told some of her friends to set the scene for the celebration. She didn't know exactly how they carried that out.

The next moment, a tall man walked out with a bouquet of roses and a modest smile. "Gloria, congratulations on being single again."

Nydia gasped in surprise and beamed excitedly. Gosh, he is here with roses!

Before Gloria could see his face, he put the roses in her hand.

They were college friends and were on very good terms with one another.

Bryson Lloyd had been fond of Gloria for five years since his freshman year.

When Bryson finally mustered the courage to tell his feelings about Gloria, she got married. He then gave up. Knowing that she was getting divorced, he showed up with renewed hope.

Gloria changed color when she found roses in her hand. As she tried to return them to him, Nydia grabbed her hand. "Gloria! Let's sing!"

Gloria could only go along with her.

In another box.

Several men were sitting there drinking together.

George was very depressed with a gloomy expression.

He jerked down his beer bottle and snapped, "Damn it! I should not have underestimated that woman! I'm pissed."

Jordy gave him a quick look and didn't bother to ask anything.

They were there for George.

The handsome man sitting opposite George said with a playful little smile, "Who is it this time?"