

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 3

Chapter 3 What Are You up to?

Light flickered in Angela's eyes when she saw this. She hurriedly looked at Jordy and said, "Jordy, don't be angry with Gloria. There must be some kind of misunderstanding between you two. I don't want you to be at odds for me."

Gloria looked at Angela with a mocking look. She never knew that Angela was so good at playacting. It was so disgusting

Before Jordy spoke, she continued. "Jordy, Angela has long wanted to marry you. Why don't you just marry her to save her from sending those disgusting pictures to me?"

Angela's expression changed slightly when she heard this, and she immediately said, "Gloria, I've explained it to you many times that I wouldn't come between you and Jordy. It's just that Jordy felt indebted to me because I became a vegetable for saving him. Jordy and I had nothing to hide."

The look in Jordy's eyes was disgusted, "Don't waste your breath on her. Let's go."

Seeing that Jordy was leaving with Angela, Gloria reached out and stopped him, "Why don't we get the divorce licenses now so that we won't hinder each other from remarrying?"

Angela clenched her hand more tightly.

Jordy told her that they had divorced, but they hadn't got the divorce certificate yet?

She said seriously, "Gloria, there's nothing between me and Jordy. If you hate to see us together, I won't contact him anymore."

She turned her head, as if she were going to cry. Jordy, I'm sorry that you two quarreled for me. I'm leaving. Just talk to her and soothe her. She'll be alright."

With that, she turned around and headed outside.

Jordy looked straight at Gloria's face with sharp eyes, I'm not free now. My assistant will contact you. You get ready for the divorce."

With that, he got up and chased Angela out.

Irene stood in situ with a cold look, "Gloria! It's a right thing to divorce him. Such a jerk doesn't deserve you at How could they put Norma through this?

It was their family affair, so she couldn't meddle in it. She wished she could beat Angela up!

What a pretentious bitch!

"Irene, you said that Jordy would have to pay tens of billions of dollars if he lost the lawsuit?"

Irene was still in her trance. She froze for an instant, "Yes, what's wrong?"

Gloria looked out of the window with quiet eyes, "Irene, contact Jonathan and get ready to start work."

Irene covered her mouth with shock, "You... hate Jordy now, and you want revenge?"

Gloria gave a cold smile, "No, business is business. I just like this case."

She always liked challenging cases.

And now that she was divorced, she didn't have to care about Jordy's feelings

Irene asked with a confused look, "But why are you going to... help Jonathan? You were Jordy's wife and loved him so much. You did so many things for him..."

Gloria interrupted her in a slightly sad voice, "Yes, but now we're going to get a divorce."

"No kidding?"

"No," Gloria said in a firm voice, "Now that I have taken the case, I will take it seriously."

Irene nodded in doubt and suddenly thought of something. "You could participate in the trial remotely, but Jonathan wants to see you... Once he knows you are Jordy's wife, he probably wouldn't trust you.

"Don't worry, I can take care of this."

Irene nodded seeing her firm look, "OK, I'll take care of the rest. You know the person in charge of legal affairs on his side. It's your schoolmate, Micah Cooper. You'll have a smooth talk."

Irene found that Gloria seemed really different from before. She was glad for her and hurriedly took her arm.

"Gloria, come to my home. I'll cook. Let's celebrate that you are free again!"

They walked out of the coffee shop with a smile. Jordy nearby looked at them talking and laughing with a freezing aura!

Gloria, what were you up to?

After dinner at Irene's house, they chatted for a while, discussing the case, and Gloria went home.

As soon as Gloria returned to the villa, the servant came up to her, "Miss, we watched the monitor, It seems that you were followed when you came back."
