Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 351

Chapter 351 You Think I Care About Your Cousin?

Gloria looked up slowly and saw the woman in a white gown with her long brown curly hair tumbling in a cascade down her back. Dignified and elegant, she was looking condescendingly at Gloria with her head slightly down.

The woman was polite enough to extend her hand to Gloria, signaling her to continue the phone call and talk afterwards.

Gloria stopped talking with Nydia on the phone. "Honey, I'm at the party now. I'll talk to you when I get back."

Nydia was a little surprised but did not ask more questions. "That's fine. Call me when you're done."

After hanging up, Gloria looked at the noble lady in front of her and said, "Miss Roberts?"

Rachel Roberts was the favorite daughter of Mr. Roberts, who owned the largest company in San Diego.

Rachel wasn't surprised that Gloria knew her. She smiled at Gloria, sat across from her, and said in a relaxed voice, "Didn't expect to see you at this party, Miss White."

And in this way.

Gloria's eyes were suddenly intent. "Miss Roberts, what do you want to see me about?"

Rachel's lips curled upward in a small smile. There were only the two of them here, so she was perfectly comfortable speaking to Gloria.

"Mr. Collins and you are divorced."

Gloria's eyes flashed at Rachel's smile on her lips, but she couldn't tell anything from it. She then said imperturbably, "It's not much of a secret."

Rachel smiled, "I'd like to know why you two show up at such a big party together after divorce, if I may? It's like you were still married."

Gloria gnashed her back teeth.

She wasn't angry with Rachel but with Jordy.

I came to this big party because of Jordy!

au

I don't want to be here!

Jordy, you bastard!

Gloria responded with a forced smile, "Thanks for reminding me, Miss Roberts. I've got that."

Gloria was not a fool. Of course, she could sense that Rachel was very hostile to her.

Far as she knew, the Roberts family and the Collins Group worked together on scores of projects, some of which were in the hands of Rachel and Jordy.

Mr. Roberts had no sons and valued Rachel the most. She would succeed him as president of the company.

Rachel fell silent, gazing at Gloria's calm face thoughtfully. Gloria looked like she was not affected by her provocation. She smiled, "Miss White, you're not who you were two years ago."

Two years ago, Rachel had been to Los Angeles and seen Jordy and Gloria at a party.

She could tell that Gloria felt very unimportant in front of Jordy.

But today Gloria had a very relaxed manner and laid-back attitude.

Gloria smiled at Rachel, who was sizing her up. "Two years is long. I've experienced so much, and my mentality has changed with age."

Rachel raised her eyebrows and regarded her with laughing eyes. "I am a little impressed, but are you sure you can win him back?"

Gloria looked at Rachel and couldn't help laughing softly. "You seem confident about being the next Mrs. Collins."

Rachel did not say anything but smiled her acquiescence.

Gloria sneered, "I'm not your rival. You might as well do some research. Otherwise, you'll deal with the wrong person, miss a great opportunity, and regret it for life."

Rachel froze and then chuckled, "You think I care about your cousin?"

Gloria's mouth twitched slightly. San Diego was new to Rachel. It was normal that she had the wrong person.

Later, Rachel's voice rang out, retracting Gloria from her thoughts.

Chapter 352 Say Something I Don't Know

"With all due respect, I'm so surprised Mr. Collins divorced you because of your cousin."

Gloria's lips twitched up in a faint sneer.

Even Rachel, an outsider knew without a shadow of a doubt how important Angela was to Jordy.

Rachel could say whatever she wanted to say. Gloria didn't care about Jordy anymore anyway, so she didn't feel the sting of her sarcastic remarks.

Gloria only replied with a smile.

Rachel's eyes focused on Gloria and flashed with surprise. The woman in front of me is nothing like

I expected.

After a pause, Rachel said with a smile, "I hope you're no match for me."

Gloria nodded and said casually, "Don't worry. I was put through hell. I won't make a fool of myself. I think you're smart enough to guess why he brought me to this big party."

Rachel was from a wealthy and powerful family. Of course, she had a good idea of what Jordy cared about the most and knew things about Jordy's family.

Even without Gloria's broad hint, Rachel should know those facts.

Sure enough, Rachel nodded. "I hope so."

These two women were clearly on opposite sides, but they were now getting along so well that they didn't look like enemies at all.

The crowd looked in their direction, half expecting to hear some gossip.

But...

They let them down.

Gloria came to this party on short notice. She did not know the press was doing a live broadcast of it.

The audience didn't hear exactly what the guests were saying, but they could see to whom they were talking and what they were doing.

Jordy and Gloria were both in the limelight walking together. The photos of them flooded all social media platforms. People left their comments like crazy, and some of them almost cried with happiness.

Little Bird , (Oh. Boohoo. The two of them finally made up with each other. I knew it! They were so close before. They must have had a tiff. You know, every couple has their fights. I've been waiting so long to see them get back together! I like to witness PDA! I'm totally bored without seeing them billing and cooing these days!)

Merry-Go-Round, [No! I don't want them to be together! Gloria is a crazy woman, while Mr. Collins is a loving and devoted man. She didn't cherish him! She cheated on him! And now she wants to come back to him! Get away! Mr. Collins is mine!)

Lois, [I don't know. There is no right or wrong.]

Alexia, (Oh, no! Mr. Brown and Gloria are meant to be together. How come she comes back to Jordy? I'm not okay with this!)

Blanche, [Gloria is a two-faced two-timer! Why is she so blessed?]

Jonathan was reading the above comments while watching the live broadcast of the party. When he saw Gloria holding Jordy's arm, the smile faded slowly from his face and his eyes were like chips of ice.

His assistant Henry continued updating him on the findings.

Jonathan said, "I already know that. Tell me something I don't know."

Henry nodded and spoke slowly, "Miss White's mother valued boys more than girls and wanted a boy, but Miss White's father could not get her pregnant again. She left them and now she's nowhere to be seen."

Jonathan was scrolling down the page.

"Miss White suspects the cause of her father's death and has asked a lawyer Irene Stewart to look into it. They've got some clues so far, but they still need more."

"Claude has moved with his wife and daughter to free up the house for Miss White."

Jonathan wasn't interested in that piece of information. Henry continued, and Jonathan suddenly jerked his head up.

"Hannah is Miss White."

Jonathan stopped to look coldly at Henry.

Henry stiffened and continued, "That day, Miss White was neither at home nor in the lawyer's office. I checked the cameras and saw she walk out the front door after disguising herself as another person. Bryson sent her back after her work was done."

Jonathan didn't say a word. Henry went on, "After Bryson left, Miss White entered the door. Immediately after, Mr. Collins ... followed in. Then he cornered Miss White in the elevator. They got out of the elevator on Miss White's floor. Half an hour later, Mr. Collins got back into the elevator with a grimace."

Jonathan gripped his phone tightly.

"It's her."

No wonder he thought Gloria looked familiar that day.

No wonder he sensed something wrong with Jordy.

He should have guessed it all!

After a moment or two, Jonathan looked up at Henry and demanded in a low voice, "Why didn't you tell me earlier?"

Henry paled and quickly said in a panic, "I didn't think it was related to Miss White. I started off on the wrong foot. Mr. Brown, it's my fault. It won't happen again. I'm willing to accept my punishment!"

Jonathan's eyes were colder than ever as he said in a serious voice, "What else?"

Jonathan was asking for any more information about Gloria, not another guarantee from Henry.

Henry shook his head. "I haven't yet found more. Do I have to dig into her mother's background?"

"Yes, go find out how her father died."

Henry nodded respectfully.

Jonathan shot an icy glance at Henry. "It was just a one-off. I don't need a waste of space around."

rou

Henry tensed and responded respectfully, "Yes, sir."

Without receiving any more orders, Henry headed out of the office.

Jonathan was left alone, watching Gloria and Rachel talking about something in the video. He had a wicked glint in his eye.

A moment later, he opened WhatsApp and texted Gloria.

The message, (A little wildcat is naughty.)

Gloria's phone buzzed. She saw Jonathan's message and felt puzzled.

Gloria texted him a question mark.

At the same time, Karen was watching the live broadcast.

She was all smiles and raised her voice excitedly. "They are there together!"

Newell sat beside her, frustration surfacing under his eyes.

Karen, however, watched Jordy and Gloria on the screen and beamed, "At this rate, they'll get back together soon, huh?"

Newell had no words.

Karen finished her words and then noticed something wrong. She carefully looked at them on the screen and hesitated before speaking, "They suddenly became distant from each other precisely because of Jordy's mercurial temperament. Are they just acting to make me happy?"

Newell remained silent with mixed feelings. Karen muttered to herself, "After all, they pretended all the time when they were at a party these years."

Karen sighed and slowly put her phone down. "Jordy is a good man, but he's blind to Gloria's feelings for him."

Newell was mute.

Karen raised her eyes to him and frowned, "I saw your mouth twitch."

Newell said hopelessly, "Mom, as you can see, there is nothing we can do about it."

Newell didn't want to lie to his mother.

"It's his fate. You spend all the time worrying about him. It won't help. Who can handle him?"

Karen said fretfully, "When he finds out how good Gloria is, I'm afraid it's too late. He'll only live to regret it."

Newell sighed and didn't say anything.

Karen continued softly, "You don't have to worry about me or come back so far to see me. I've got closure. Rest assured, I'll take my medicine on time. I'm getting much better."

Newell nodded and looked at Karen. "Jordy will regret it one day. Keep yourself healthy and let's wait for the day he wins Gloria back."

Karen nodded with an angry yet expectant face. "You're right. I'll wait for that day to come. This brat is just too cocky. He'll regret it!"

Newell coughed. He had no words to say, though he knew that she was anxious for Jordy.

The party.

After Jordy finished talking with Harold, he started looking around for Gloria. He saw her sitting opposite Rachel, frowned slightly, and strode over to her.

Gloria and Rachel seemed to be getting along quite well. Rachel's eyes lit up when she looked up and saw Jordy approaching. She smiled at Jordy, "Mr. Collins, it's been a long time."

Jordy nodded at Rachel but had nothing to say to her. Her eyes stared fixedly at him.

Gloria looked up at Jordy and frowned slightly. What's he doing here?

She was sitting here for a break, and he could go elsewhere, away from her. There was no need to go on pretending

Jordy looked at Gloria. "How much longer do you need to rest?"

"My feet are sore after the walk. The heels are too high."

The implication was that she was unwilling to get involved in any business talks, which had nothing to do with her.

The heels were chosen by Jordy.

Jordy's eyes moved slowly down from her face but saw nothing because her feet were hidden under the dress.

Sudden scorn flared in his eyes, while he remained outwardly calm. "You'll just need to be patient awhile. We'll leave after a few business talks."

Some deep wrinkles furrowed Gloria's forehead. Jordy, that bastard, tries to take advantage of my sore feet to keep him company.

However, with Rachel around, he had to pretend to be a gentleman. Gloria said with a smile, "Mr. Collins, I believe in your ability to strike a deal without me. My feet are aching. I don't want to cause you any trouble. Why don't you go by yourself?"

With that, Gloria looked at Rachel and continued, "Since Miss Roberts and you know each other, how about you two go together?"

Rachel glanced at Gloria with some surprise.

Jordy's brow creased slightly. Rachel noticed this and said smilingly, "Well, I've got a lot on my plate. I'm here just to take a break. Walking in high heels is a bit tiring."

Gloria looked at Jordy's cold face and smiled smugly at him, as much as to say, "Did you hear that? Miss Roberts reminds you wearing high heels is very tiring because you were deaf to my complaints."

Chapter 355

Chapter 355 Look at Each Other in the Crowd

Unbeknownst to Jordy, two women said some terrible things about him at the same moment on this day.

One called him blind, and the other called him deaf.

It was strange that such a person thrived in business circles and was also a monster in everyone's eyes.

Jordy's eyes narrowed, and his stare was more malevolent than ever.

Gloria gathered up her skirt. To be honest, the shoes Jordy chose for her looked nice, but not very comfortable.

She seriously doubted if Jordy had bought her such shoddy shoes on purpose.

As she moved, Jordy saw Gloria's feet that chafed.

His brow furrowed instantly.

Gloria smiled, "Look at my feet. Do you still want me to go with you, Mr. Collins?"

Jordy pursed his lips and walked away without saying a word.

Rachel saw him take his phone out and call someone.

After a moment, Rachel averted her eyes from him to Gloria and said with a half-smile, "Miss White, you've got over him, haven't you?"

Gloria raised her eyebrows, but there was no response.

It was like Rachel would not believe whatever she said.

Seeing this, Rachel said smilingly before leaving, "I have some business to tend to. Miss White.

Excuse me."

Gloria smiled at her and nodded. "Sure."

Things around her suddenly quieted down.

Her phone suddenly started buzzing.

Gloria was puzzled by a flood of text messages on WhatsApp.

After she texted Jonathan back, he didn't respond. But now he kept texting her.

That's not his style.

Gloria found some messages from Nydia and thought it was her style.

Nydia, (What?!))

Nydia exclaimed, (Holy cow!)

Nydia asked, (How come you're with Jordy? You two are at the same party!

Nydia pressed Gloria, (Gloria, what on earth is going on? Why do you two show up at the party together? I suppose you were done with him.)

Gloria's eyes widened in shock.

Gloria texted her back. [How do you know?]

She didn't remember telling her friends that she was with Jordy.

Nydia, [Now I see you sitting on the couch in the corner. You were talking to Rachel moments ago.)

Gloria was petrified.

Nydia, (It's a live broadcast of the party!)

Gloria cried out, (Holy crap!)

Nydia, (It's so rare to hear a dirty word from your mouth. What the hell are you thinking?
Are you crazy?)

Gloria looked paler.

It's live coverage of the party!

That means everyone can see me and Jordy on the screen!

It's not different from how things used to be.

Darn it, Jordy! He must know about it!

Is he doing this just to make Karen happy?

Gloria looked back and saw the best man in the world among the crowd.

There was something altogether unique about him, something that set him apart from those people around him.

Jordy sensed Gloria's murderous gaze and turned his cold eyes to meet hers.

Gloria seemed to notice scorn surfacing under his eyes.

The phone buzzed, and Gloria checked her WhatsApp.

It was another message from Nydia, saying, (Tut–tut, you two are looking at each other in the crowd.)

Chapter 356

Chapter 356 But someone can

Gloria felt embarrassed and exposed.

It was too late for her to flee. She had her hand on his arm for two hours, and all eyes watched them.

What was the point of trying to hide it now?

Nydia said, (You're a trending topic! I think all the celebrities are gonna hate you. Many directors will want you on screen, like acting or doing variety shows.)

Gloria pressed her lips together and said nothing.

But Nydia was particularly anxious.

Nydia said, (Honey, can you tell me why you came to the party with him?)

Gloria heaved a deep sigh.

Gloria said, [It's because we work together. Karen's not well lately. She just wants to see us back together, so Jordy and I are acting to make her happy. But I just didn't expect him to go this far.]

Nydia said, "So what are you gonna do? You can't even speak the truth?"

People were calling Gloria names on Twitter, and Nydia didn't dare to tell her about this. What if Gloria checked it herself later?

She was on Twitter now.

Gloria rubbed her eyes while reading those cruel comments.

SWA

But when she realized the cameras were recording everything at the party, she felt too uneasy to stay put. She got up and went to the bathroom, which turned out to be a paradise for her.

Her mind was a mess. She didn't know what to do.

Gloria was not the only one who felt panicky.

Angela was going crazy!

She smashed her mobile phone on the ground and snarled through her gritted teeth, "How did that happen? Jordy took her to a party!"

Martha flushed with anger but said slowly, "I hear Karen isn't well. She hasn't slept in days. If she keeps going like this, something might happen to her. I guess Jordy's doing this to soothe her."

Angela's eyes glinted with malice. "She might as well die."

Claude's face turned grim. "We can't let things go on like this. Only if you two get married will he settle down; otherwise, we will never know whether Gloria will continue plotting against us. We're afraid she's recording the whole time, and we dare not face a showdown with her. Instead, we pretend to care about her. I'm fed up with this."

Angela clenched her fists and hit the bed hard. "But he keeps me waiting. He doesn't want to marry me now. I've tried everything. I can feel his uncertainty."

Angela felt lightheaded, her blood boiling with this overwhelming anger. She felt like she needed to go to the hospital right now.

Angela treated Gloria like dirt and thought she was easy to handle like her father, but now Gloria got her big break. Angela couldn't believe it!

She was falling apart!

Seeing her shaking with a pale face, Martha took her hand and said worriedly, "Angela, calm down."

Angela bit her lower lip. "How? I don't know. If I don't hurry, I may let a chance slip through my fingers. I risked my life to save him. Even the world knew that. But look what he's doing!"

Martha said seriously, "You have to cool down! If you hadn't saved him, he wouldn't have looked at you. He now cares about you. That's excellent progress."

Angela pressed her lips together and said nothing.

Claude looked at Martha coldly. "What should we do now?"

Martha sighed, closed her eyes, and said, "We can't do anything right now, but someone can."

Chapter 357 A Big Shove

Simultaneously, Claude and Angela looked at Martha.

Angela said urgently, "What do you have in mind? Just say it!"

Martha frowned upon her anxious look. "Angela, no matter what happens any place, any time, keep your cool! You shouldn't have lost your cool even if there were no outsiders!"

Claude's face dropped. "No more lectures. Tell us what to do!"

Martha looked at their anxious faces and sighed, "We're not the only ones who don't like Gloria. Someone hates to see Gloria and Jordy get back together more than we do. The party is going out live. Olivia may watch it."

Claude's eyes lit up. "You're tight. Not just Olivia, but Old Joseph Collins doesn't like them together."

OU

Angela furrowed her brow. "This seems like the least useful thing to do. We tried to piggyback on their dislike of Gloria, but in the end..."

"It was useful, wasn't it? Jordy divorced Gloria. Old Joseph Collins' announcement showed hostility to Gloria, and Jordy didn't care." Martha's smirk widened. "So in Jordy's mind, respecting his family is very important. Do not turn against them and make them like you, and you'll get a fabulous life."

Angela's frown deepened. "No, this is not going to work. We have to make the first move."

Claude nodded approval. "That's right! What if the Collins family only cares about themselves, not us?"

Martha sneered, "The more we do, the more mistakes we'll make. We have to look at Gloria totally differently. Don't you fear what she'll find out? Even if she loses control of the White Group, she'll flourish in some way."

es

Angela and Claude both fell silent.

Martha looked at Angela and instructed, "In this case, Jordy might just be trying to make Karen feel better. Call him when the party is over. Remember not to question him. Just be understanding and talk to him, okay?"

Angela pursed her lips and nodded reluctantly.

Claude walked out of the room and said impatiently, "We have to figure out a plan. If things go on like this, we'll be in hell."

Angela clenched her fists and shivered with anger. "I underestimated that bitch!"

"What have I just told you?" Martha frowned at Angela. "You weren't like this before. Nothing ever irritated you. But look at you now. This is not the way Miss White should look like."

Angela said nothing but only took a deep breath, trying to control her anger.

The party.

Gloria ducked into the hallway outside the bathroom. She finally felt better with no cameras pointed at her there.

In the corner, she went through a door leading outside.

She glanced around and found no cameras. Then she felt at ease leaning against the waist-high rails.

The party was held on an island. Gloria felt much more comfortable hearing water flowing below.

She texted Nydia back and then slid the phone into her bag.

Suddenly, someone shoved her hard!

There came a big plop!

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 358

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 358

Chapter 358 Is She Out of Her Mind?

That took Gloria unawares.

The water was cold, and Gloria was soaked through. She did not quite see how it happened.

Who pushed me?

Rachel?

Gloria had heard of her. Rachel was too proud to do something despicable like this.

It's live coverage of today's party. Does it have anything to do with Angela and her parents?

They don't know I can swim.

Gloria's eyes narrowed slightly. How about I act like I can't swim and wait for rescue?

Gloria was flopping about in the water. It didn't look like she could swim.

The next moment, she heard someone scream.

"Man overboard! Come and help!"

I can't tell whether it's a servant or a guest.

Almost everyone heard that person.

Some people began to shout, and people at the party hurried out.

Jordy heard them too.

Somehow, his heart thumped unsteadily, and his eyes shot to the sofa in the corner.

COIT

His brow furrowed. Gloria went to the bathroom and didn't come back yet.

The sound was coming from the direction of the bathroom. Jordy paled and immediately ran over there.

"It's Miss White! Can anyone swim? Come and help her!"

Hearing someone yell, Jordy looked paler!

Jordy rushed to see Gloria struggling in the water and jumped right in without hesitation!

Gloria felt puzzled.

Am I mistaken?

The guy who just jumped is... Jordy?

The crowd on the shore saw Jordy jump into the water, and none of them was going to follow suit. They all watched Jordy quickly get to the shore with Gloria in his arms...

Harold, who was waiting on the shore, helped them out.

Gloria's wet dress was sticking to her body, bringing out her attractive curves in all the right places.

Jordy's eyes were fixed on her curvy body, and his face dropped. His clothes were wet, and he looked at Harold.

Harold immediately took off his coat and Jordy wrapped it around Gloria to hide her curves.

Under the gaze of the crowd, Jordy picked her up and put the suit over her.

Gloria's face changed slightly. "You..."

Jordy strode out silently with a sullen face.

Cameras caught them passing by the lobby.

The audience, who heard nothing and had no idea what was going on, was completely confused by Gloria's dripping dress.

Darlene, (Good heavens! Mr. Collins is carrying her out!)

Beatrice, (What's going on? Why is Gloria all wet?)

Alexia, (I've heard the party is held on an island. Did she fall into the water?)

Darlene said, "Is she using tricks to let Mr. Collins carry her out? She's scheming. She was the one who wanted a divorce. But look what she's doing now! Is she out of her mind?"

Chapter 359

Chapter 359 In a Very Bad Mood

Soon, Jordy carried Gloria into the car very carefully. Gloria didn't think he was doing it wrong. All eyes watched them, so he couldn't just throw her into the car.

Besides, Karen might be watching TV. If Jordy hadn't helped Gloria out of the water, then their efforts would have been in vain.

Gloria could have swum to the shore on her own, but she didn't do it in case the one who had shoved her shoved her again. She'd better not let anyone know she could swim.

Jordy closed the car door and gave her a cold glare. "Don't do anything stupid again."

Gloria's eyes flickered towards her bag. She opened it and found her phone wet. It didn't work at all.

She asked with a smile, "Can I borrow your phone?"

Jordy's thin lips curled in a swift sneer. "You have to get me a new one."

With that, he took out the phone from his trouser pocket. It was still dripping wet.

Gloria's eyes widened in shock.

Without getting changed in the lounge, Jordy headed back to the hotel as soon as he could.

The hotel was not far from here.

Gloria frowned slightly and looked at Harold helplessly. "Harold, could I borrow your phone?"

"All right."

Harold handed Gloria his phone, and she immediately took it and texted somebody.

After that, she deleted the message and gave the phone back to Harold.

They remained silent all the way back.

This time, Jordy didn't carry Gloria in his arms. She draped Harold's coat over her shoulders and walked quickly into the elevator.

Then, she rushed into the bathroom to take a shower.

She came out of the shower and saw Jordy sitting on the couch in the living room. He just showered, I guess.

Jordy looked at Gloria and asked coldly, "Did someone push you?"

Gloria's eyes flashed as she smiled, "Mr. Collins, do you think someone pushed me!"

"You don't even know if you were pushed or not?"

Gloria said nothing with her lips pursed.

But Jordy could tell that someone had pushed Gloria today

He imagined how it happened and thought no one would be stupid enough to fall into the water.

Gloria is smart. Who tried to push her there?

Why didn't Gloria say anything just now?

Jordy's eyes were cold.

Gloria didn't think it was necessary to elaborate on the accident. After all, Jordy and she were divorced. What was the use of telling Jordy about it?

She might as well keep quiet.

She would have someone look into it instead of bothering Jordy.

Jordy looked at Gloria's indifferent face and his eyes were colder. Then he went straight to Harold's room.

Jordy looked at him and asked, "What did Gloria do with your phone?"

Harold coughed. It's an invasion of her privacy, isn't it?

Jordy ordered, "Show me your phone."

She must have sent someone a message. Did she tell Jonathan about the accident?

Jordy was in a very bad mood!

Harold stared at him and took out his phone as he was told.

Sometimes, Jordy gave Harold orders by sending him messages. Afraid that he would delete any message by mistake, Harold paid someone to develop an application program that enabled him to retrieve the deleted messages and add it to his phone.

Harold pulled up the message and handed his phone to Jordy.

The message. [Irene, someone pushed me into the water today. I need you to check out Angela and other suspects. Don't text me back. I'll call you.)

Harold read it and his face changed slightly. "Miss White..."

Is he referring to Gloria or Angela?

Jordy said nothing with a serious, thoughtful face.

Harold stood beside Jordy. The message set his mind racing. Mr. Collins knew I could use a program to retrieve deleted messages, or he wouldn't come to me.

Gloria deleted the message, and Mr. Collins just restored it.

nes

What's going on between Gloria and Angela?

Is there something wrong with Angela?

Harold's thoughts were in riotous disarray. He dared not tell Mr. Collins what he was thinking.

Mr. Collins has a complex relationship with Gloria and Angela. I don't know what he's thinking and who he believes.

A moment later, Jordy ordered, "Check it out."

Harold took a quick peep at Jordy. Does Mr. Collins... suspect Angela?

"Yes, sir."

What Harold didn't know was that Jordy was even more upset right now.

Gloria was pushed into the water, but she didn't air her grievance in front of Jordy.

During the marriage, if Jordy heard Gloria whining about something, he would find it annoying and think she was causing him trouble.

But now, Gloria made no mention of the accident. Jordy didn't even know why he was so upset.

Jordy handed Harold the phone and Harold went out.

Suddenly, Jordy remembered something and stopped him. "Wait."

Harold gave him a quizzical look.

Jordy paused for a while and said, "Get me some medicine."

Harold looked startled. "What seems to be the problem?"

Harold looked startled. "What seems to be the problem?"

Jordy's lips compressed into a thin line, and he said a few words slowly.

Harold stared at him blankly for a moment and then stepped out.

Gloria, whose phone didn't work, was going out to get a new one. There was an open phone store, though it was late at night.

Gloria opened the door and saw Jordy standing in the doorway with his hand outstretched. He looked like he was going to open the door.

She stepped aside, and he walked in with a cold face. She then walked out without speaking to him.

Jordy's face was grimmer. "Where are you going?"

"To get you a new phone."

Jordy said nothing.

Gloria continued walking. Suddenly, Jordy strode over to her, grabbed her hand, and tossed her onto the couch.

It happened so fast that Gloria didn't even know how she ended up on the couch. Her eyes widened in shock. What is he doing?

She looked up at him, too startled to speak.

Jordy looked at her coldly. "You're not going anywhere tonight."

Gloria looked at Jordy in disbelief. "Why?"

"Someone pushed you. Are you sure you're going out?"

Gloria looked at Jordy with some surprise, but the next moment it dawned on her that he was doing this to spare Karen any worry. If something happened to Gloria, it would only leave Karen in a state of sadness and her health conditions would worsen.

Otherwise, Jordy would not care if she was out tonight.

He never bothered to say a word to her before.

Gloria thought for a moment and said, "Mr. Collins, please, for Karen's sake, get me a new cell phone and a new SIM card."

Jordy slowly raised his eyes to her with a frown.
