

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 41

Chapter 41 Jordy, I Know You Are Very Angry

The living room was filled with guests.

In that case, Jordy still noticed Jonathan and Gloria at a glance, who were talking and laughing beside the wine table Instantly, Jordy looked murderous) Angela noticed that, her eyes were travelling to where Jordy was looking.

A trace of astonishment came into her eyes

She couldn't help but exclaim, 'Oh my goodness, why does Gloria slay with Jonathan? Angela wondered inside Does Gloria really want a divorce? Wasn't she trying to enrage Jordy by doing so?

Or Gloria wouldn't escort the rival of Jordy to the feast.

That humiliates Jordy so much that he won't tolerate Gloria anymore

Jordy resumed his composure, but his gaze was still sharp.

Gloria and Jonathan seemed to perceive Jordy's gaze and they looked over the door at the same time.

Her eyes flickered. The next moment she curled her lips and landed her indifferent gaze on Angela

Watching Angela's red dress, Gloria couldn't help but raise her eyebrows Actually, Angela is a good looking woman and a great diesser. Her delicate, pale oval face makes her look lovable

However, since she wears makeup, she ought to have hidden the paleness on her face. Unless she uses make-up to make herself look pale

Jonathan turned his gaze on Gloria She seemed unaffected by the couple at the door.

He curled his lips "Are you afraid?

'Afraid of what?' A trace of astonishment flashed across her eyes. You and Jordy have been rivals for so many years, so you should know clearly Jordy and I are only a perfect couple on the surface.'

Jonathan raised an eyebrow without a word.

Gloria lifted the goblet in her hand and Jonathan clinked glasses with her naturally. A faint smile spread over Gloria's face. 'I'm determined to get what I want today. Mr. Brown, you are helping it along all the time. I can't flinch now, or I'll frustrate you.'

Jonathan chuckled. "I think I made the right choice.'

Gloria's lips curled. She brought the goblet to her lips and took a sip.

Locks of hair waved on her cheeks. She raised one hand and tucked her hair behind her ears, while drinking champagne. She looked extremely alluring by doing so.

Jonathan's eyes were profound. "Gloria, you can consider being with me. I won't restrict you. I'm not afraid of gaining a bad reputation, but I don't know if you can afford that Gloria let out laughter. Shaking the goblet in her hand and observing the floating champagne, she could no longer refrain from saying, "I've had enough. I have no more energy to start a relationship.

Jonathan and Jordy were the same kind actually. However, they became rivals because their own companies were on opposing sides. Otherwise, they might appreciate each other.

Both of them were cold blooded, ruthless and did whatever it took to get what they wanted. She didn't want to get involved with such kind of man anymore.

Besides, she had been thoroughly hurt in a relationship with Jordy, so she didn't want history to repeat itself.

Jonathan smiled without continuing that topic. He always knew when to stop at where it should be Jordy walked over Gloria with killing intent in his eyes. Angela's pupils dilated. She strode over to catch up with Jordy and whispered to him, "Jordy, I know you're angry. We're at the bouquet So many people are staring at us. If you say something inappropriate, it may inflict the company."

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 42

Chapter 42 What a Gorgeous Woman!

Jordy did not spare a single look at her.

Seeing that Gloria and Jonathan were talking cheerfully. Angela sneered inside. It has been three years since I began to set up a trap for Gloria. Now I'm working on success.

It's Gloria who asked for it, so I shouldn't be to blame, should I?

It was Old Henry Murray's birthday party, but those four people stole all the attention of people present.

Of course, they really expected the fight between Jordy and Jonathan over Gloria.

The show would be very interesting

As everyone was watching, Jordy walked to Gloria and stood before her, with a sullen look.

Gloria raised her head and happened to see Jordy and Angela. She smiled faintly, "Here you are."

Her indifferent voice betrayed no emotions. Jonathan also smiled. "Mr. Collins, it's rare to see you attend a party with other women except Gloria

Gloria?

Jordy's face darkened.

He sneered, 'It's also rare to see you attend such an occasion on a date. Moreover, your date is my wife'

Angela got on her nerve. She couldn't understand why Jordy said so was it because he was trying to save face in public, or was it because he was reluctant to get over Gloria?

Jonathan smiled more brightly. Your wife?"

Gloria put on a wry smile The estrangement in her eyes made Jordy's eyes sting.

He shot daggers at her. "Can you stop making a fuss?"

"Mr. Collins, you overthink it. Gloria wore a faint smile on her lips, "If you really wish me to do so, I might as well fulfill your wish.

"Gloria White!' Jordy gnashed his teeth.

Gloria wasn't bothered at all. She turned to look at Jonathan, smiling. "Aren't you planning on greeting your acquaintances? I can go with you."

Jonathan chuckled instantly. That's great.'

He bent his arm Then Gloria raised her hand, but failed as a heavy weight was pressed on her hand.

She looked away and saw Jordy's murderous gaze

Angela took a deep breath. Seeing that Jordy wanted to take away Gloria, she hurried to pull Jordy's arm.

Jordy"

She looked at him, implying that a lot of outsiders were watching them

Jordy pressed his lips together without moving Gloria regained her presence of mind, and linked her arms with Jonathan very naturally

All eyes were on them. Jonathan took Gloria to Mr. Phillips.

Mr. Phillips felt flattered and greeted them hurriedly, "Mr. Phillips, would you like some drink?"

Jonathan smiled and shook his goblet "I drive here myself, so excuse me for not drinking with you.

Mr. Phillips appeared obsequious. "It doesn't matter. I always want to invite you to dinner, but I don't have a chance. Now I have finally met you. I'm wondering if you might be free to have dinner with me."

Jonathan smiled. "I need to check my schedule."

Mr. Phillips knew Jonathan declined his invitation. Though frustrated, he smiled. It had been beyond his expectations that Jonathan took the initiative to talk with him. He didn't have the nerve to have conversations about the projects, for fear that Jonathan would lose patience.

Then, he landed his gaze on Gloria and sized her up and down.

What a gorgeous woman!

No wonder Mr. Collins liked her. Even Mr. Brown made an exception for her.

He paused for a moment. It seemed that he could no longer repress his curiosity, so he parted his lips with a smile. "Mrs. Collins, why do you attend this party with Mr. Brown?"

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 43

Chapter 43 There's No Turning Back

The whole world knew that Jonathan was Jordy's nemesis.

Gloria smiled. "Now you can call me Miss White."

Mr. Phillips' smile froze on his face. He seemed to realize something and said in shock, "Mrs... No, Miss White, you..."

Jonathan smiled. "They have been divorced."

Mr. Phillips was in great shock.

The Collins couple are very fond of each other, aren't they? Why did they get divorced all of a sudden?

When he wanted to ask further, Jonathan opened his mouth. "Please excuse me. I have something else to do."

A trace of disappointment flitted across Mr. Phillips' eyes. Gloria left with Jonathan.

Jonathan stared at Gloria. "Mr. Phillips is a blabbermouth. The news of your divorce will spread soon."

Gloria raised her eyebrows. She turned to look at Jonathan. "Mr. Brown, how do you know that's my purpose?"

Jonathan wore a faint smile. "Because we're bosom friends."

It was not difficult for Jonathan to guess her intentions. If she hadn't intended to spread the news of her divorce with Jordy, she wouldn't have asked Jonathan, a powerful and rich man, to bring her to the party.

Jonathan clinked glasses with Gloria, his eyes filled with smiles. "I don't think it can work out. Jordy even brings Angela over. It proves that he has dark ideas"

In others' eyes, Jonathan and Gloria were talking cheerfully. Jordy looked at their figures, with sharp eyes.

Gloria took a sip of champagne elegantly.

"That's none of my concern. I only want a divorce."

She couldn't feel at ease until she got the divorce certificate.
Jonathan curled his lips. "That's easy."
Gloria pursed her lips without more words.
The party was very interesting. Everyone's eyes were travelling.
Old Henry Murray's appearance caught the attention of everyone.
Declan Murray, the eldest son of Old Henry Murray and over 40, held the microphone
He smiled at everyone "Thanks for attending my father's birthday party. I won't waste time on preliminaries. Today, let's play a new game."
The crowd was interested. It was a special party. In the past years, the party was only an occasion where businessmen made conversations and established partnerships.
This year, they not only saw a great show, and even got involved in a new game.
a
Jonathan stood in the center. He looked intently at Gloria. 'Do you believe that's my idea?'
"Yes?" Gloria scanned him suspiciously As a cunning man, Jonathan would not do things for nothing. What did he mean by saying that?
The next moment, she seemed taken aback. "You..."
Jonathan was beaming with smiles. "You're smart. I don't need to waste my breath at all."
Gloria didn't speak.
She pursed her lips. It seemed that he was behind it. She began to worry that it might cause a lot of traumas to Grandma
Gloria was hesitant.
She handed the glass to him and whispered. 'Excuse me for going to the restroom.'
Jonathan's eyes were tinged with subtle emotions.
"There's no turning back as we've come to this. The result is what you want, isn't it?"

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 44

Chapter 44 Is It a Big Surprise?

Gloria set her lips tight without a word.
Jonathan smiled faintly. "Don't worry. I can keep you company."
Gloria breathed. She agreed with Jonathan. There was no turning back.
Since Jordy was so hard on her, she would not spare him.
Declan stood on the podium with a smile on his lips "Usually, you'll talk about some projects on such an occasion. Today, I'll make it more convenient for all of you. Well, I've already built a wall."
A wall?
Everyone was puzzled. As Declan flung his hand, two tall, slender women pushed a wall and came out.
A lot of white tags, under which were guests' names, were plastered on the wall
Declan smiled. Your names are on this wall."
The audience was speechless.
They didn't know what Declan wanted to do.
Gloria pursed her lips. She knew there was her name on it.

“For the sake of justice, there are names of males and females. Males’ names are explicit, but females might be addressed as males’ dates. Later, I’ll open one tag randomly. The person who is referred to needs to come to the podium. Then I’ll open the next tag. I won’t press whoever refuses to come over.”

The audience was still in confusion. Someone blurted out a question. ‘What’s the point of going to the podium?’

“Let’s wait and listen. Since it’s for our convenience, he must have prepared something we need.”

As everyone was expecting, Declan continued, “When you come here, you can state your company’s growth, its development plan, the cooperation you want to achieve or any wishes. Feel free to talk. I’ll draw five lucky guests and give them help.

After hearing that, they couldn’t help but look surprised.

The Murray family was so generous this year.

Five lucky guests.

If it came out from others’ mouths, those rich men wouldn’t take it personally. But that was from the mouth of the eldest son of the Murray family, which was able to help them close the deal that was over 10 million dollars.

Besides, it was indeed very convenient. The reason they came here today was to curry favor with the rich and powerful.

But so many people were there. The guys that they wanted to flatter were busy flattering more powerful men, so they wouldn’t have a chance to have conversations

If they went to the podium, they could talk with whoever they wanted!

All of them put on expectant looks, hoping to be the first one picked up by Declan.

Observing everyone’s reaction, he chuckled. “Is it a big surprise?”

Some of the guests lifted their glasses to propose a toast to Declan.

At that moment, Old Henry Murray, who was in the master position, said before the microphone, “Every year when I hold a birthday party, you’ll come over to celebrate it regardless of any troubles. I always appreciate that. Today, I do this to return your kindness. I hope you don’t feel bored.”

Though Old Henry Murray was in a high position, he was very casual. The guests were grateful.

Declan walked to the wall and raised her hand. “Then I’ll open the first tag.”

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 45

Chapter 45 Why do I come across him wherever I go?

Many people had their hearts in their throats. They were excited and nervous, afraid that they would be the first ones to be picked up.

Gloria was rather composed, since she knew that Jonathan wouldn’t let her be the first one.

She took a breath and said in an undertone. ‘I’ll go to the restroom first.’”

Jonathan looked at her with his profound eyes and said softly. ‘OK, don’t worry. Stage fright is not a big deal.’”

Stage fright.

He seemed to imply something else. People that attended such an occasion all had status and didn't have stage fright

After all, they were used to these kinds of occasions. She was no exception.

But he still reminded her not to care about stage fright. That was, he hinted at her not to fear Jordy.

Gloria nodded, turned around and walked to the restroom.

Seeing Gloria's receding figure, Angela hastened to speak to Jordy, "Jordy, May I be excused to go to the restroom?"

Jordy nodded, drinking wine

Gloria was a bit nervous. After she went into the restroom, she opened the faucet.

Seeing water splattering, she stretched out her hand and let the water rinse her hand, She was struggling, with mixed emotions in her eyes.

Her face changed slightly when her mind wandered. She couldn't flinch!

Then she patted her face with cool hands and got a sound mind instantly.

She had gotten here, decisive about their divorce all the time. She shouldn't have scruples.

Gloria took a deep breath. She had explained it to Grandma, who showed a lot of understanding. Except for Grandma, she didn't care about the Collins.

Thinking of that, she recovered her wits.

The moment she closed the faucet and turned around to leave, Angela walked inside with smiles on her lips.

"Gloria, what a coincidence."

There was a hint of mockery in Gloria's eyes. She was well aware it was not a coincidence.

Angela walked to Gloria, revealing a grateful smile.

Jordy and I plan to get married."

Gloria stiffened for a moment and chuckled. "Congrats."

Then she could thoroughly get over Jordy and make him suffer a great loss without any scruples. That was what he deserved

Angela scanned Gloria carefully, but could not feel Gloria's sadness. Angela smiled.

Thanks. Will you hate me?

Gloria curled her lips. "Not at all. You're a perfect match

Angela's smile froze. She could sense the mockery in Gloria's voice.

She thought Gloria would be utterly disappointed, but Gloria didn't Angela smiled brightly Jordy and I will be together forever. You wasted three years standing in for me. I'm very grateful. So, I wish you found a good man who dotes on you."

Thanks. Gloria didn't want to waste her breath, so she turned around to leave.

There was coldness in Angela's eyes. Seeing Gloria's back, she stood still.

Gloria is a proud woman. I've enraged her so many times. She may have given up the idea of being together with Jordy. That's what I expected.

Angela sneered and strode to the cubicle.

Gloria had walked out of the bathroom.

It was surprising that a man who was wearing a cold expression was standing at the door. Sensing her presence, he shot daggers at her immediately.

Gloria stopped and felt terrible. What an unlucky day! Why do I come across him wherever I go?

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 46

Chapter 46 Gloria, the One Who Started the Battle

Jordy looked at Gloria coldly, and said, "Are you happy now?"

"Happy?" Gloria chuckled, "I'm not the one who was responsible for this."

Back then, when she was Mrs. Collins, she served the Collins family with all her heart, never doing anything that might bring shame to family. Many people had praised her for being such a dutiful wife.

But Jordy never cared about her. Instead, he kept flirting with Angela As Gloria was about to marry, people gossiped about her whereas Jordy blamed her as well.

The acidity in Gloria's eyes grew bitler, and Jordy bit his thin lips tightly. He said, 'Please leave the banquet now. We are over.'

Gloria looked at him indifferently, "Will you go to get married with me tomorrow?"

Jordy chuckled at her question and said, 'Gloria, don't have such a fancy. I will divorce you sooner or later anyhow.'

Angela came out. Immediately she saw the two standing close again She blinked her eyes for surprise and then approached them with a smile on her face, Jordy, Gloria, why are you two challing here?"

Seeing Angela carne 10 Jordy as if approaching her own property, she seemed 10 be announcing her possession of Jordy. Gloria had no patience to stay. She walked out directly

Jordy stared at her back, "Gloria!"

The terse word sounded threatening.

Gloria didn't stop. Her hesitation and nervousness were instantly banished after Jordy appeared. Now her calmness had taken the upper hand.

Divorce was a must for her

No one could stop her.

She quickened her steps and soon returned to Jonathan.

Seeing Gloria with ease like she used to have, Jonathan felt quite surprise, raising his eyebrows and asked, "Did you calm down that quickly?"

Gloria smiled, "Well, I do this only to satisfy you and not to spoil your plan."

She wouldn't thank Jonathan though. Her divorce would only benefit Jonathan rather than do him harm She was certain that Jonathan would utilize the ill fame of the Collins family so as to defeat them.

But she knew that Jordy would not let the company crack just because of this incident. For Jordy, the loss this scandal brought was merely nothing.

Jonathan sneered and said nothing more.

At this moment on the stage, two people had made their presentations to introduce their companies and to solicit cooperation. The event went on in order. The audience listened carefully because they might want to get their share of benefits for coming here.

After twelve people introduced on stage in a row, finally it was Gloria's turn. Jonathan turned to look at her, faintly smiling at her, "Get ready for this."

The twelfth speaker was about to give the stage to Gloria Gloria's eyes flickered. I would be the thirteenth speaker, wouldn't I? Thirteen, a bad number though.
She pressed her lips and waited, saying nothing. Just as the twelfth speaker introduced the next speaker, he was a bit surprised to announce, 'Next, let's welcome Mr. Brown's companion, Miss White.'
The speaker confirmed that he didn't read it wrong. The card did read that the next speaker would be Mr.
Brown's companion.
He announced clearly.
All the audience got excited unprecedentedly at this.
Now the battle between Jordy and Jonathan had officially begun. And Gloria would be the one to start the battle
The audience were curious to know what Gloria would say.
People remained tacit that this speech must have been arranged beforehand.
The nonchalant looks of Jordy suddenly disappeared as he looked at Gloria with a stern face at once.

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 47

Chapter 47 Call Me Miss White

Angela wondered what Gloria would do on the stage.
Jordy must not have plotted this. So it must be Jonathan who designs all this. But what are they up to?
Angela was curious because she thought Jonathan would never help Jordy and Gloria get back together. Whereas Gloria, after being with Jonathan, had already decided to get over Jordy. Well, what will happen then?
Angela began to anticipate Gloria's following speech She deeply wished that Gloria, out of her pride and self-respect, would never see Jordy again.
Jonathan turned to look at Gloria, with a faint smile, "Do you want me to accompany you?"
"No."
Gloria looked calm without any tinge of hesitation
Jonathan and Jordy were already quite influential. Now, by Jonathan's side, Gloria was all the more conspicuous as well. Naturally, everyone would stare intensely at Gloria on stage.
Old Henry, while looking at her, immediately frowned and asked, "Who planned all this? Declan's face turned green. Till have someone to find out."
The Murray family will never do anything like this that might offend both the Brown family and the Collins family.
Besides, they had worked with both parties, so partiality was not an option.
If Gloria would go on the stage on behalf of the Brown family, then Jonathan must have bribed the Murray family for this Old Henry looked grim. "What a trickster Jonathan is!"

Declan's eyes flickered, but he didn't say anything.
Old Henry looked coldly at Declan and asked, you have been very close to Jonathan. Did you plan all this?
"Dad, I'm also close to the Collins as well. How can you think it's me?"
Old Henry frowned and didn't say a word. He was afraid to have offended the Collins. How could we cooperate with them in the future?
"You Fool!"
Declan frowned and protested, "Dad, it really have nothing 10 do with me.'
Old Henry took a breath and looked away. He thought it was too late for him to stop it
The Collins had already harbored hatred for the Murray family Even if he stopped Gloria, Jonathan would achieve his purpose Sooner or later, Jordy would find out and be dissatisfied with the Murray family,
But if he stopped Gloria, he might oflend the Brown family in turn.
The Murray family was stuck in a dilemma.
At this moment, Gloria had come to the stage. Joidy was well sealed, holding the glass in his hand tightly.
His cold stare seemed to almost engulf Gloria.
Gloria took microphone and stood in the center of the stage.
Clad in the blue dress, she displayed dignity and nobility. The light shed on her, accentuating her delicate profile so that people could see it clearly
She was like the seductive, beautiful yet dangerous sirens in the myth!
After all, she had been Jordy's woman. Whereas Jonathan got involved with her afterwards.
The audience looked wantonly at her but Gloria didn't care. She just spoke into the microphone, "I don't think I need to introduce myself. Everyone here must know me.
The audience nodded.
Angela looked at Jordy with worries, Jordy, will Gloria do anything stupid? Even though you have separated, she still must not do this to you for the sake of your old relationships.
Gloria sneered and resumed, "but from today on, I will no longer be Mrs. Collins. I hope you will call me Miss White instead

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 48

Chapter 48 Is this a Compensation?

People was shocked.
She is crazy!
Her words implied that she had broken up with Jordy."
She is no longer Mrs. Collins
She's single again!
Jonathan has been looking at Gloria. At this moment, a smile crept onto his face, his eyes full of joy
He turned to look at Jordy, but saw no emotions on his stern face.
He brought Angela here today probably just to put on a show for others.
But with Gloria's speech , his show was already torn down. The spot light would focus on how he failed with Gloria...

Noticing the gaze of Jonathan, Jordy looked back at him. They were not sitting at the same table, but they could look at each other with hatred in their eyes across many other guests.

Jonathan smiled and raised his glass full of champagne to make a toast
Jordy didn't look at him anymore. Instead, he rose up and walked out.

Angela was excited, but worried, 'Jordy.'

She hurriedly follow him.

Seeing Jordy going out, Gloria slightly sneered and continued, "from now on, I hope you won't pester me with the question of what happened. We don't have to be enemy after we divorced. But now I have a question for Mr. Collins instead."

In an instant, all the audience looked at Jordy at the same time.

Jordy stumbled a little, and the hatred in his eyes was palpable.

Gloria smiled. 'Now that we have signed the divorce agreement, are you free tomorrow to get the divorce certificate?'

All the audience in the large venue sank into extreme silence.

They were all excited and shocked by the incident.

Jordy turned his head and said, "I'll see you at the Council at nine tomorrow morning."

After that, Jordy walked away directly.

He was humiliated in the public that day.

But no one really thought this way. They thought it was a plot by the Collins family.

Gloria raised her eyebrows, held the microphone again and said, "I'm finished. Next speaker please."

Going through the stage proceeding and returning the microphone, she stepped off the stage and returned to

Jonathan

Jonathan smiled at her and said, "well done."

Gloria was calm, but indeed she felt exhausted at heart.

Her marriage had finally come to an end. The next day she would have nothing to do with Jordy any more.

Their relationship as husband and wife had not passed the trial through adversity.

Separation became the destination of their marriage.

In the future, they would never contact with each other.

Eventually, she would have to farewell to her three-year marriage at this banquet.

From then on, she would be all alone.

Gloria looked at the glass in front of her and drank all the champagne in it.

"I want to leave," she whispered

"I'll see you off." Jonathan got up very considerately, watching Gloria rise from her seat, and he helped her out of her chair

"We'll leave after we say our greetings to old Henry."

Gloria nodded and said nothing.

When they came to old Henry, he looked at Jonathan as if he was angry at him. "Mr. Brown, you play a nice trick today'

"Old Henry, don't flatter me. I've brought a birthday gift today which includes one of the contracts. I have already signed it, and I'll leave it to you."

Old Henry looked stunned.

If he guessed right, the contract must be the one he turned down last time when he tried to plead the Brown family for cooperation.

Is this a compensation?

Old Henry frowned, and finally said, "thank you."

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 49

Chapter 49 Tell Us Your Victory

Jonathan smiled, there will be more compensations in the future if we have chance."

Old Henry didn't say anything more because he didn't want to offend Jonathan. He smiled and said, 'Mr. Brown, thank you. You may go if you have other things to attend to.'

Jonathan nodded and left with Gloria. The speeches were still going on in the venue. Old Henry was a bit disappointed by departure of these two people, who had caused a sensation there.

He still wanted more explosive information about the two of them. And he thought he would follow their story from the media

The two returned to the car. Jonathan opened the car door for Gloria to sit in.

It was not until Jonathan got in and closed the door that Gloria asked, "The banquet is over now. When are you going to appeal?"

"Let's wait until you divorce, I still have some things to arrange, but it won't be too late."

Gloria nodded without asking any more

She thought her cooperation with Jonathan was about to end after this

In the future, she would have no further connections with Jordy.

She was finally able to live her own life.

"Are you hungry? Let's go eat something? Jonathan started the engine and looked at her.

Gloria shook her head. "No, thanks. I want to go back and have a rest.'

Resolute and calm though she was, the weariness were palpable on her face.

Maybe, it would still be a difficulty for you to lay down the devotion of so many years.

Jonathan didn't ask any more questions and drove the car to her house at her request.

The mobile phone suddenly rang, piercing the quiet ambiance in the car. Gloria looked at the screen and picked up the phone. Without speaking, she heard the anxious voice on the other end.

"Gloria, how are you now? Has the banquet already been going on for a while? Damn, we've had a car accident here. I miss your show!"

"Car accident?" Gloria looked nervous. "Are you alright?"

Jonathan checked Gloria and slowed down the car. If she needed, he was ready to drive her to the scene

"It's fine. The one who hit us was a drunkard. He drove with unstable hands and a full-raced accelerator. He is also fine but he is taken by the police. But our car is hit too badly in the back and it hit heavily in a tree at the front. The car is crashed. But don't worry, everyone was safe.'

Gloria took a sigh of relief, while Nydia's anxious voice rang in her ears again, "We are in the suburban area now. We've already called the car to pick us up. It may be late. How are you now? Did you announce it? You can wait until we go. I want to hear you announce it on spot."

Hearing she talk with vigorous interest, Gloria knew she would be alright. Then she smiled and said, "You don't have to come. We've already left the banquet."

"Shit? I'm too late?"

"Yeah, everything is solved and you don't have to come."

"What?" Nydia felt so sorry, "My God! I didn't see your good show! You have to compensate me for this!"

"Well, I'll invite you to dinner some other day."

"I want a home-made dinner from you."

"No problem."

Nydia was happy to hear that, but the next moment, she continued to ask, 'So, Gloria, are you really divorced? Are you holding back the truth from me just to reassure me?'

"What? Of course it is true. You will see it in the press tomorrow."

Nydia frowned, but thinking Gloria must not have lied to her, she nodded and answered, "Alright. I'll trust you. Where are you now? Come on, let's throw a party tonight! Tell us your victory today."

Remarriage? Never and Go Away! Chapter 50

Chapter 50 Condescending

Gloria eyes twinkled. "No, I'm a little tired today. Maybe another day."

Hearing this, Nydia answered considerately. 'Alright then, take a nice rest today. If you are bored, remember to call me and I will go accompanying you."

"Sure."

The two of them said nothing more and hung up the phone.

Jonathan glanced at Gloria without mentioning anything. He stepped on the accelerator and drove all the way to where she lived.

Gloria looked at Jonathan and said, "Thank you very much today"

Without the arrangement of Jonathan, she might not have been so successful.

Jonathan raised his eyebrows, "You're welcome I do this only to return your favor."

Gloria continued, "Good night."

Jonathan smiled, his eyes full of tenderness. 'Are you concerned about me?'

Gloria didn't answer

It was just a polite remark. She smiled and got off the bus without saying anything.

Jonathan had always been of some use to her. Knowing she was a lawyer, he might also want to continue to contact her. But indeed, she didn't want to get too involved with this man.

Back to her home, her heart pounded and raced

After thinking for a while, she finally dialed a number on her phone.

The person picked it up very quickly, "Hello, Gloria."

Gloria looked guilty and said, "Grandma, you must know what happened today. I'm sorry."

Karen chuckled immediately. 'Gloria, you don't have to apologize to me. If he hadn't been constraining you and involved with Angela, you wouldn't have come to this.'

"Grandma... 'Gloria clenched the phone

At that moment, she suddenly didn't want to have the coming lawsuit.

Tbu bau

Because she thought she owed her grandma too much.

Grandma is so nice to me but now... I have to do harm to her grandson.

Karen sighed lightly, 'Gloria, I want to tell you that you don't have to worry about me. I've said before that you are my own granddaughter as well after you marries into our family. So whatever you do, I will support you.'

Gloria's eyes swelled with guilt.

She didn't know what to say. Her grandma chuckled and continued, 'I know you have a pure and good character. You are too nice 10 hurt people. So I won't stop you. My good girl, but just remember to come back to visit me often.'

She opened her lips, trying to say something, but was interrupted by her grandma, "What you do, my girl, is already destined by fate. You can't change it."

She calls me her girl...

Grandma had no daughter.

And she was treating Gloria like her own daughter though she had a daughter, Olivia, also Jordy's mother.

Atinge of puzzlement flashed across Gloria's eyes. Hearing no voice, she wondered whether Grandma was still over the phone

"Gloria.'

Olivia's voice rang out from the phone. Gloria quickly replied, 'I'm here.'

She... couldn't even call her mother any more.

She knew Olivia had never liked her. She might think the same as Jordy, who judged Gloria as a greedy and vain woman.

Besides, every time she called Olivia's mother, she could see the aversion in her eyes. So this time, it wouldn't happen again.

"Come to the house immediately. Olivia demanded, sounding condescending.

Gloria frowned slightly, but she thought it would be better to settle things clearly and neatly. She thought it would also be nice to meet her grandmother in person and apologize to her.

Thinking so, she responded, "Okay, I'll go now.'

Just after that, Olivia snapped up the phone without even answering her.

Gloria pressed her lips tightly. She had been used to Olivia's condescending attitude for years, and now she didn't have to care.

Soon she called a cab and went directly to the Collins house.