

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 576

Chapter 576 Pissed off

His voice, as well as his eyes, were cold and calm. Even so, Claude caught the fierceness in Jordy's eyes and dared not make contact with him.

Yvonne nodded in a hurry. "Yeah, yeah, we know that you are busy. We shouldn't be here to bother you, but... The White Group did cross the line this time. We never should have stood up against your Collins from the very first beginning. We are here to apologize to you. I hope that you can forgive us for our wrongdoings and let go."

Yvonne was always abrasive, but at this moment, she acted like a well-mannered woman with a good temper.

Claude's color came and went as he listened. Restraining his feeling of annoyance was the biggest concession he could make. He would never say sorry to Jordy.

Claude thought that he had debased himself coming here. In addition, Yvonne had made an apology on behalf of both of them, which said loud for his sincerity. Claude was convinced that Jordy would never find fault with him and accept his apology willingly.

Nonetheless, things never turned out as Claude expected.

Jordy turned a blind eye to him the whole time, just like he didn't exist at all. This deliberate indifference upset Claude even more.

Claude would rather receive an angry glance or a few sarcastic remarks from Jordy than being ignored. This cold shoulder made Claude feel that he was treated like dirt by Jordy.

Jordy's apathetic eyes fell on Yvonne. "It was your Whites who called off the partnership. What's more, we've made the termination public. So there is no meaning in restoring our relations."

Claude's countenance changed when he heard Jordy's remarks.

Meaningless? How can it be meaningless? It may be nothing to your Collins. But there will be huge profits for our White Group!

Yvonne smiled awkwardly. "Mr. White didn't mean it at that time. He was blinded by anger. He still wants to cooperate with you. He did make a mistake and he had realized it. So, could you please give us another chance? Mr. White, you want to work with Mr. Collins, right?"

11SC

With that, Yvonne turned to Claude.

Blushing all over, Claude managed a smile at Jordy and opened his mouth in embarrassment, "Jordy..."

Just as he was about to call Jordy's name, he suddenly received a sharp stern glance from Jordy. So he corrected himself, "Mr. Collins, it was all my fault before. My wife was also reckless and ignorant. Could you please forgive us..."

Claude was too ashamed to say anything more.

He never begged someone like this.

Jordy averted his eyes in silence and didn't say a word.

Claude and Yvonne exchanged a look, wondering what Jordy had in his mind and getting terrified.

But no matter what, Yvonne was here. She would not take no as an answer. So she fixed her eyes on Jordy and went on, "Mr. Collins, I know that the incident harmed your group. And it was all our fault. What can we do to make you feel better? You name it and we'll do anything. Please. Please give us an opportunity to make it up to you..."

Jordy squinted and remained silent.

Claude turned even redder. He had never groveled to anyone like this in his life, not to mention Jordy, a young man in his early 20s.

Claude was pissed off!

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 577

Chapter 577 Collective Interests

Under the suggestive gaze of Yvonne, Claude had no choice but to open his mouth again. "Mr. Collins, I was wrong this time. I... Apologize to you. I am really sorry for what I did before. Please."

Claude felt like being trampled underfoot.

No matter how furious he was, he could only keep a tight lid on himself and behave well.

Jordy cast a cold look at Yvonne and said in a flat voice, "Well, I can only grant you a conditional cooperation."

Yvonne cut in gratefully, "Thank you so much, Mr. Collins. What conditions? You name it!"

Claude bowed his head slightly. He didn't want to say a word now.

Jordy, on the contrary, said calmly, "Firstly, Collins wants another 10% of your profits for the next year temporarily. Secondly, Collins will only accept Gloria's plan and she herself has to be here for implementation."

Claude was a bit shocked.

Jordy's requirements were basically the same as what he said at the meeting before.

After all, the two companies had been partners for so many years. They did know something about the other party's way of doing things.

But Jordy outweighed Claude in every way.

He had reckoned how things would turn out after the meeting and known the biggest compromise the Whites could make.

Claude was against the whole idea of having Gloria work with Collins Group, which was in her best interest.

However, the Collins suffered great losses which could only be made up by Gloria's proposal. Besides, Claude had become the target of attack in the Whites Group, and the only one who could save him was Gloria.

Yvonne and Claude dared not expect too much now. Things had come to this and they had no choice but to accept. Yvonne turned to Claude immediately and spoke nothing. She had no final say after all.

Claude took a deep breath and nodded in the end. "OK. Mr. Collins, it's our great honor to be your partner again!"

Their partnership would last for one year temporarily, which had been discussed at the meeting earlier. The Whites knew that this was the best deal they could get now. The Collins might have refused them from the very beginning. It took the Whites a great effort to strive for this one-year partnership and they would try their best to make Jordy relent and renew their agreement even longer.

So Claude could only accede to Jordy's request.

Yvonne felt relieved. Jordy, looking calm as always, opened his mouth, "Harold will go to your company to finalize and do this agreement in duplicate. So, if there is nothing else, you can go back."

Jordy was straightforward. He was driving them away.

Claude and Yvonne could only follow his order, got up, said goodbye, and left.

Claude finally lost his temper after getting in the car. "Are you happy?"

Yvonne shot a cold glance at Claude and said, "Why are you mad at me? It was all your fault. If it wasn't for you being weak and incompetent, we would never be reduced to such a position. This deal is the best we can get."

"Yvonne! Show me some respect!"

"Respect? You are the chairman of the board. How come you screwed our company to such a passive position? Where is your respect for the company, for all of us? Besides, you are not the only owner of the Whites Group. You never asked for our opinion before making a decision. If you did something good, people would praise you for your wisdom. But now you made a mistake, you deserved to be criticized by others since you are harming the collective interests. If it wasn't for Gloria, our group would come to a dead end. Now we still lose 10% of our profits to the Collins. You know the consequence."

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 578

Chapter 578 Never Speak to Each Other

Yvonne looked at him with her apathetic eyes. Her words were harsh with no regard for Claude's dignity.

Sitting in the back seat, Claude shut his mouth.

Yvonne didn't bother to talk to him. They remained silent all the way to the Whites Group.

All workers, after knowing the result, didn't say a word and just accepted the truth. Some people even breathed a sigh of relief. Despite the fact that their interests were 10% lower, they kept the partnership with the Collins Group going. Moreover, since Gloria's plan was perfect, Jordy still agreed to bear all the expenses, which everyone wanted. In a word, the Whites would not lose too much. And Gloria's plan was given to the Collins Group for free

Gloria heard the whole thing from Ted.

Suspicion clouded Nydia's face. "How can the Whites Group know how things go in advance? And Jordy even agreed in the end."

Gloria pursed her lips and said, "Do you really believe that the Whites could be so smart and manipulative?"

Nydia was stunned, her eyes were full of puzzlement. Fixing her eyes on Gloria, Nydia asked, "What are you talking about?"

Gloria curled her lips a bit upward. "All Collins wanted is my plan. They have their own company, but their technology is not advanced enough and may take a longer time to be developed. But we have our own base and Mr. Maguire and his group know about it. Claude and his party could do nothing but be anxious."

"Indeed. But what does it have to do with their accurate forecast?" Nydia was still confused.

Gloria smiled, raised her hand, and tapped Nydia's forehead gently. "Think harder. Jordy needs the White Group. So he has already planted someone in the White Group to snoop around to know the bottom line of the Whites in this cooperation.

Nydia was suddenly enlightened. "Ah! Jordy is such a crafty devil!"

"Well, craftiness is what makes a good profiteer. 'That's normal.'" Gloria showed a smile. She knew the business world quite well.

Nydia turned to Gloria with adoring eyes. "You're so smart, Gloria! The White Group must know that the Collins has been fishing for information."

Gloria twitched her mouth. "So what? The Whites can't live without the Collins, They have to swallow their pride and make advances."

Nydia frowned slightly. "But you have to find out the mole in the Whites no matter what. Or he might give out more information to Jordy!"

"There is no rush. He can keep lurking and we'll comb him out sooner or later." Gloria looked calm. The spy couldn't cause her too much trouble anyway and could be of greater use instead.

Nydia gave over trying to convince her after noticing that Gloria had a card up her sleeve. She just nodded and said, "Well, you know it better than me. Alas, now that everything seems to happen as you expected, you might get on an easier path to success."

Gloria curled her lips into a light smile. "Maybe. I need you to go to visit someone with me."

"Hmm? Who? Where are we going?"

Joseph Medical Center.

It took Gloria and Nydia an hour and a half to get to this place.

"Joseph Medical Center." Nydia couldn't help elongating her voice. "Huh? This might be Angela's permanent home."

Gloria smiled. "Let's go inside."

Nydia looked at her in confusion. "Why are you here to see her? I thought that you'll never ever talk to or meet her again. She knew the record before. Now she must act like a real mad woman to out trick us."

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 579

Chapter 579 Can't Give up!

Gloria cocked her eyebrows and went on, "I am here for my cousin. Nothing wrong, right?"

Nydia laughed out loud immediately. "I can see the wickedness in your eyes."

Gloria appeared calm and steady with a smiling face. "Let's go."

Raising her eyebrows, Nydia walked behind Gloria.

At this moment, Claude was in Angela's room.

This was a medical center for mental patients after all, Worrying that her daughter got depressed or did something to hurt herself, Martha had been with her all the time.

Both the mother and the daughter fixed their eyes on Claude, who was wearing a gloomy face.

Angela, who had been silent for a long time, finally opened her mouth when she heard the news, "Why? Why does it have to be Gloria? We don't know what she'll do in the future."

Martha didn't look well. Casting a glance at Claude, she said in a low, cold voice, "We can't allow Gloria to develop her power like this. If so, we'll be doomed."

Claude broke out into laughter out of anger. "All this was your fault! How can you have the brass question me?"

Claude came here to vent his anger on Martha. Her arbitrariness and stupidity reduced them to such a situation. The Collins Group used to be quite nice to Claude. Now everything changed.

Martha frowned. "Am I the only one to be blamed?"

"It was you who made so many improper remarks on your Facebook and irritated the Collins. You kept telling me that everything would turn out well in the end and the Collins would submit for sure. But what happened now? They almost broke off the partnership with us and we even lost 10% of our money to them!”.

“Money! Money! You only care about money!” Martha was really angry now. She didn’t want to quarrel with Claude with her daughter’s presence. But now she was agitated by Claude’s eyes full of disgust and couldn’t help trembling in anger.

“Isn’t our daughter’s happiness more important than your money? We finally get this far in the company. The last thing we can accept is Gloria rising above us. She is never a pushover. She has great ambitions. We can’t take the consequence. Don’t you know that?” Martha could not help chattering

“Of course I know the results! But I have no choice. Everyone in the company is attacking me! What else can I do?”

Looking quite pale, Angela bit her lip and spoke, “But whatever happens, you can’t let Gloria work with Jordy! Never!”

Martha looked coldly at Claude. “I know the current situation is very difficult for you. But you have to look out for us. Now…”

“It’s too late! I am already under the fire. If Gloria can’t cooperate with the Collins, I will be overthrown sooner or later. You know how many people we have offended for what we did before. If it wasn’t for my being the chairman and the partnership with the Collins Group, they would have dislodged me long ago!

Martha and Angela lapsed into silence again.

They were aware that Claude was saying the truth. If they fell from power, their nemesis would come to them to crush them all over. Things might be a lot worse than they were now.

But they couldn’t accept the truth.

Angela pursed her lips. “How long will they cooperate?”

Claude looked depressed. “It’s not up to me. The Collins has the final say. After all, the Collins is our investor.”

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 580

Chapter 580 Gossips Online Were Lies

Just at this moment, Martha's phone suddenly rang.

It was her assistant. Martha put her through.

"Mrs. White. Gloria is here with her friend. She said she is here to pay a visit to Ms White."

Martha pulled a long face in an instant when she heard this. As she was about to mouth something awful, she suddenly realized that Gloria might be by her assistant's side now. So she finally replied in a low voice.

"I know. Let her in."

"Okay."

Angela and Claude were still wearing a ghastly expression, and they heard the assistant's words.

Angela set her eyes on Martha, her eyebrows tightly frowned.

"Why did you let that bitch in?! I don't want to see her or pretend to be a mad woman"

Now Angela was the target of the attack online. Everyone accused her of being cruel, ungrateful, and evil. She even dared to frame her own cousin, Gloria.

Even if there was no clear evidence and the police couldn't declare her guilty, all people firmly believed that it was Angela who screwed Gloria up.

She pretended to be a patient suffering from severe depression and neurological problems. Therefore, she couldn't clear her name on the internet. Neither could Martha or Claude defend themselves at such a critical time.

Otherwise, they might enrage the Collins Group even more. Then all things would go too far to be set right. The three of them could do nothing but be scolded by others. They were all ungrateful rats now.

Angela was in a fret.

Martha gazed at Angela with his caring eyes, but she had to do so at this time.

“Angela, be patient. I am trying my best to solve these problems as soon as possible. Then you don’t have to pent up these grievances.”

Angela pursed her lips and said nothing. Just then, Claude looked at Martha and asked, “Why is she here?”

as

Even the police couldn’t prove Angela to be guilty, then no one could. Gloria, being so smart, was well aware that Angela would never betray herself in front of her. So she was here for other purposes.

Martha snorted coldly, “No matter what she is up to, we’ll deal with it.”

There was a sudden silence in the room. Angela tried to act like a crazy person.

Gloria was a changed woman now. Angela must concentrate all her energy on confronting her.

Just as they were in deep thought, there came a rat–a–tat on the door.

The three of them exchanged glances. Martha directly got up and went to open the door.

Seeing Nydia holding Gloria’s arm, Martha stepped aside and forced a smile. “Here you are.”

Fearing that Gloria was recording their conversation, Martha dared not say anything hateful.

Angela, who had come a cropper because of the recording before, was now keeping herself on her toes.

Gloria nodded. “I heard that Angela got worse. So I am here for a visit.”

Angela, with her head bowed, concealed the hatred in her eyes, looking like a real depressed person.

Angela showed no inclination to greet Gloria but just kept her head down all along.

She neither wanted to see Gloria nor talked to her, or else she might jump up and kill Gloria now. At least she would give Gloria a severe dressing–down.

Martha sighed and muttered, “She has been like this for a long time. I have no idea when she can recover.”

Gloria nodded. “What did the doctor say?”

Martha shook her head helplessly. “The doctors only said that they would try their best to make her better. But they can’t say anything for sure. It’s still up to Angela herself. She has to open her heart. Alas, Gloria, she is your cousin. You two have always been close to each other since you were kids.

The rumors on the Internet are all lies. Could you please help her get better?”