

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 666-670

Chapter 666 This Is Not What I Meant

Everyone looked at Gloria immediately after Darren had challenged her. Naturally, those who wanted to flatter Darren started to side with him.

A young man who was in his early thirties looked at Gloria sharply and spoke without hesitation, "Miss White, Darren is right. We also think that your way of handling this matter is inappropriate. During the interview, you said that we should examine the candidates' personalities as well as capability. Well, we do agree with this requirement. But today, there was a candidate who is very idiosyncratic. But you keep that person without asking our opinions. You even agree to raise that interviewee's salary, which is very inappropriate."

The man paused deliberately before he continued, "It's not only disrespectful for Darren when you made decisions without asking him, it is even a disregard when you criticized him in front of so many people. We don't think it's Darren's problem."

Darren naturally had the upper hand since he had many back-ups.

After all, he was a senior leader in the company, and his capability earned him a good reputation in the whole industry.

Besides, he was also a senior worker of the Collins Group.

Mr. Collins always kept elites in his company, let alone an excellent vice director of the human resources department.

So that day, everyone was irritated when Darren was criticized by Gloria at the meeting.

Gloria was indeed puzzled.

She looked at the young man who was talking with puzzlement.

"I didn't remember when I had criticized Darren?"

What I said just now was only about how to recruit people for our plan. I didn't mention anything about Darren

I didn't even mention his name. How could he simply think I was targeting him?

Darren seemed to be sulky.

But he was still putting on an air without saying anything.

The young man who supported Darren looked at Gloria directly and resumed, "Miss White, you just said that we shouldn't screen our interviewees with old beliefs, and that we should break the shackles of conservative methods and innovate our thoughts on talents. Aren't you alluding that we are "old and conservative"?"

Gloria was again puzzled.

She was completely at a loss.

He really knows how to distort my words.

"This is not what I meant." Gloria stayed calm, but her eyes were sharp with coldness.

The man frowned. "I am not trying to repeat what you said. I'm reading what you intend to allude to through your words. Everyone is listening here and I'm sure they all want you to give them a proper explanation."

Gloria lowered her head to look down, and then she took out a recording pen.

The young man suddenly quivered.

Gloria transferred the recording into her laptop. Then, with everyone gazing at her, she found out the exact point in the recording when she said those words and played it in front of everyone.

The voice sounded extremely clear.

"The interview is not without minor mistakes today, but anyway, it still proceeds quite smoothly. The people we interviewed today are quite different from what we wanted in the past. Today we need directors and leaders with experience. So we can change our methods of interviewing from those we use for ordinary workers."

After the recording was played, the young man looked quite uncomfortable.

Obviously, those who supported Darren had complicated looks on their faces.

As the young man brought this up, some attendees seemed to be silent as if they didn't remember what happened that day, saying that they were not sure whether the young man was right. Some were obviously misled and insisted on their bad impression of Gloria.

But then after hearing the recording...

Most of the attendees started to think that perhaps they had misunderstood Gloria.

Gloria did not care about what they thought. She just looked at the young man whose face was distorted with embarrassment and spoke calmly.

"Did you say you have problems with what I said?"

Chapter 667 Their Demeanor Were Quite the Same

The young man was so humiliated that he didn't dare say anything

His face turned red. At the next moment, he snapped suddenly, "How could you record our meeting without telling anybody? Miss White, don't you know this is illegal?"

"Illegal?" Gloria pronounced the word clearly.

And then the attendees seemed to be uncomfortable with the coming arguments.

A woman who admired Gloria looked at the young man and criticized, "Hey, are you sober enough to attend this meeting? Why did you talk like a fool? Miss White is very experienced in law, certainly she would know what she can do or cannot do."

The woman was already quite implicit. It was already a mercy that she didn't scold the young man by calling him names.

"I..." The young man could not utter a word.

Darren's face seemed even gloomier.

The recording showed no sign that Gloria was criticizing Darren. But in fact, he had established all the interview methods long ago. So Gloria's criticism was still, in his opinion, targeting him.

Darren clenched his fists under the table, suppressing his anger with great efforts.

Gloria looked at Darren aloofly and said, "Mr. Ramirez, what do you think?"

Darren had vetoed her decision many times at the beginning.

Although he is the deputy director of the department, everyone knew that Darren actually had the power bigger than the director in the department since he was dominant here.

Everyone once again looked at Darren. He bit his teeth and said in a deep voice in a rush, "I don't mean that you've insulted me. I'm just quite confused about what happened today. There are problems in the interview. For example, I don't know why you must keep the idiosyncratic interviewee. I just wonder do you think he is morally qualified?"

Gloria was calm enough to answer his question. "He is just a little stubborn, and he has quite a righteous personality. Besides, we don't need tactful people for a role as machinery manufacturer. The information he provided during the interview was all qualified up to our standards."

This battle between Darren and Gloria was a battle of status.

If it were Jordy who agreed to accept this interviewee, no one would dare to raise any objection.

But when Gloria said she wanted to give him an offer, there were immediately many objections.

If she had been Mrs. Collins like she used to be, people might not dare to challenge her. But her status had changed. So people naturally treated her differently.

Darren sniffed and said, “whatever you say.”

His tone was particularly perfunctory, which clearly showed that he did not actually mean it.

Gloria did not look at Darren any more. She turned to others calmly and said, “I just came to this company for a short time. I know many of you are still quite skeptical about me. I don’t care what you think of me and I will not retaliate against you personally. But you work for me, so you listen to what I command.”

Speaking of this, she was gathering a tough and graceful demeanor, which was quite familiar to everyone present. It indeed gave them a quiver.

At the next moment, the attendees realized that it was Gloria who was speaking, not Mr. Collins.

It could show that Gloria’s demeanor was very similar to that of Mr. Collins! For a moment, they even felt that they didn’t dare to breathe out of nervousness as if they were strangled.

Suddenly, no one dared to speak. Even Darren seemed to be restrained by something and forgot to fight back.

The room suddenly became deadly silent. Gloria hadn’t finished her words yet.

While everyone was holding their breath, Gloria suddenly gazed at Darren coldly.

Chapter 668 What An Arrogant Woman!

“Mr. Ramirez, I don’t care how you have managed this department in the past. But now, I am the leader of the department. All the staff must listen to what I say.” Her words sounded indisputable.

Darren’s face looked grim and Gloria turned to the attendees coldly.

“Jordy has ordered you to obey my command unconditionally. I hope you can remember this. Don’t worry. I won’t drag you down. But even if this plan didn’t work out, Jordy has enough money to solve it. If he is willing to believe me, you have no choice but to do as he said.”

This actually sounded a bit arrogant.

But no one would remember that Gloria was using Jordy to threaten them,

On the contrary, they were shocked and arrested by her powerful demeanor.

They even felt a little complicated when they saw her calling Jordy's name or saying that Jordy would be silly enough to help her solve the problems if it didn't work out.

Besides, the point is Harold was still there "spying".

Wouldn't Harold tell Jordy what Miss White has said about him?

Thinking of this, most of the attendees started to look at Harold calmly.

But they were shocked as they found Harold was nearly laughing at Gloria's speech.

They couldn't understand why he laughed.

What happens between the two of them?

Just as everyone was looking at Harold, Gloria noticed something wrong. She looked over and found that Harold was suppressing his laughter so hard when he thought of Gloria and Jordy's "personal grudge".

Gloria was somehow annoyed.

She stopped looking at him and said, "Whenever you have any suggestions, you can bring it up to me. But to put it clear, I don't like people who talk behind my back or make up false criticism out of nothing. If anyone does this again, I will not let him or her go away with this easily."

How would she deal with it then?

Just as everyone was wondering, the door suddenly opened.

All of them spontaneously looked over and suddenly they were all surprised. But the next moment, they couldn't help thinking it was a man who could rescue them from this deadlock situation.

The man was clad in suits. He was nearly 1.9 meters tall, which made others marvel. He had broad shoulders and a slim waist, forming a perfect proportion of his profile and curves. Many women would fall for him immediately after seeing his handsome face.

He had a pair of aloof eyes. But they wouldn't make people think he is arrogant.

After all...he simply had that kind of charm.

Just when the people were so daunted by Jordy's handsomeness, he walked closer to Gloria, striding calmly with his slender legs. He then sat beside her.

Even if Gloria was presiding over the meeting, she did not take the seat that Jordy was sitting in. Instead, she would always take the first seat on the right of the central seat.

Jordy went to the central seat to sit down. He looked at Gloria indifferently and said, “how are you going to do it then?”

They were all surprised.

Does Mr. Collins want to fight back against Gloria?

If so, he can just drive her out of the company. Oh, just get her out of the Collins Group!

Darren was expecting something big to happen. But he didn't dare to complain to Jordy about Gloria, fearing that he might not guess what Jordy thought.

Someone who didn't want Gloria to be driven out was all a little worried about her. But most of them had such a low status in the company that they could say nothing but watch.

However, many people were gloating over Gloria's fate. They wanted to see how Gloria could tackle the situation next.

Under the gaze of everyone, Gloria looked at Jordy calmly and said, “Accompany me to the finance department, get my salary paid and I'll leave right now.”

They were all shocked!

What an arrogant woman!

Chapter 669 Rich and Stupid

People somehow admired her for her courage.

Some sneered in their hearts. She is talented, so what? Does she think Mr. Collins would care about that?

Without a word, Jordy stared at Gloria. No emotions could be seen in their eyes.

The crowd started to feel like receding into the background, and the two people were no longer approachable.

The air was stifling. No one could tell the man's mood,

Some people even feared that he'd vent his spleen at them.

While they were brooding, Jordy turned to the crowd and asked with a poker face, “You heard her.”

Everyone was stunned, thinking it was a hallucination.

They soon snapped back to reality. So, Mr. Collins agreed with Gloria's approach?

My goodness!

How is that possible?

Darren was the last one to figure out the situation. His heart was trembling.

How come Mr. Collins acts like this?

Jordy arched his bushy brow. His voice was icy cold. "You heard her?"

His eyes fell on Darren's face.

Darren shook and nodded in a hurry. "Yeah, I did."

ren

His authority was bruised, and a cold sweat broke out on his back. He was afraid of getting fired in the next second

Working as the deputy director of Human Resources, he was admired by a lot of people and fawned upon by his relatives and friends. They all hoped to gain his favor.

He couldn't imagine the life after he was fired. It would be a nosedive.

Looking to Darren like the bellwether, the others no longer dared to make any comment.

They behaved and even echoed, "We did."

Jordy turned back to Gloria and said, "I'll leave everything to you. What you said is true. I am rich and stupid."

Gloria was stunned, wondering how much he had overheard her speech.

The others wondered if this was a display of affection.

What is going on between them?

Noticing their strange gaze, Gloria got up and said, 'This is it for today's meeting. Get things ready as I said and meet me here at the same time tomorrow.'

She grabbed her laptop from the desk and strode away without another look at Jordy.

People wondered if she had been bummed out.

Did she leave Mr. Collins behind because his attitude had embarrassed her?

Or she could ignore the man and does whatever she wants.

This was different from what they had seen on TV.

Miss White had pleased Mr. Collins in every way. She had been gentle and glued to him.

And now?

Although they were still in the same world, they seemed to be clashing.

They wondered if it was a false impression and looked over at the man.

Chapter 670 Begging for Remarriage

He didn't look away and get up until Gloria went out of sight. Nothing was said to anyone in the conference room.

Harold stood up, checked his wristwatch, and said, "Alright, time to go back to work."

The crowd was unresponsive. Harold then followed Jordy to leave.

Those left in the conference room went on slow motions,

They exchanged looks till someone said, "From now on, we'd better follow the orders, or there will be consequences."

Darren's face further darkened. His reputation had been damaged. Jordy had challenged and embarrassed him in front of everyone for what? A pretty face?

He took a deep breath and left in a huff.

The others looked at the leaving man with ridicule in their eyes.

This is a prelude to his downfall.

He deserves it.

The young man, who had spoken up for Darren just now, was shaken. By the time he went out, he was at a loss.

Jordy's action caused a sensation. The news spread in the office, and rumors snowballed. People were that close to saying that Jordy had begged to remarry Gloria.

The rumor spread outside, and a tweet stood out among the trending topics.

Gloria was absorbed in work when her best friend called her.

As soon as the line went through, Nydia's scream came from the other end.

Gloria put the phone away and asked till her friend calmed down, "What is happening?"

"What's going on with Jordy and you? Are you getting back together?"

Gloria was confused.

Her other hand was still typing fast, and more content appeared on the slide.

"What are you talking about?"

"You're on trending topics!"

Gloria stopped typing and asked, "Trending topics?"

"Yeah, check it out on Twitter. Those comments are exaggerated."

Gloria frowned, set her work aside, and logged onto Twitter.

[The headline of the first trending topic was jaw-dropping.]

"Mr. Collins begged to remarry Gloria"

"Am I right?" Nydia sounded thrilled.

Gloria felt helpless and checked out the details.

She read the content and got goosebumps.

Girl Scout, "I'm the relative of an executive working with Collins Group. She was in the same meeting with Mr. Collins and Miss White. Attached, the couple displayed their affection in the presence of everyone. Mr. Collins even announced that he would hold a perfect wedding for Miss White. He kneeled on the floor, begging her for remarriage and forgiveness. Guys, what do you think of this?"

TeSS

Girl Scout, "What a coincidence! My relative is also an executive working with Collins Group. He told me pretty much the same thing. Miss White is a lofty woman who throws her weight about in the office. She called a veteran employee incompetent and claimed to fire him. That is too much."

Then...

The netizens started to fabricate stories about the conversations between Jordy and Gloria. Remarriage was the theme.
