

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 686-690

Chapter 686 It's Fate

Carlos smiled. Since George didn't believe it, there was no point in trying to convince him.

Jordy frowned. Carlos' words were like a thorn in his flesh. Jordy was still pondering over it.

"Think about it. Look at Jordy. You were him like before."

Jordy could see how George's feelings for Nydia changed each time he made fun of her.

What about me?

Does my attitude towards Gloria change...?

Jordy's face hardened at this thought. He sneered at what he read on Twitter. How could he possibly fall in love with that woman?

She made Jonathan and Bryson look like fools.

Jordy would never fall in love with her.

Gloria was going home after her dinner with Jonathan. As much as she wanted to go to Corey right now, she had to give him a heads-up and check up on what had happened before. She was afraid Corey would not tell her, so she had to do some research.

Just after Gloria turned on her laptop, her phone rang.

She was a little tense, fearing that it would be Bryson again. She was slightly relieved to see that it was Jennifer,

Jennifer?"

"Gloria, you're a trending topic again." Jennifer's voice was laced with concern.

Gloria's face changed. "Again?"

Gloria clicked on her Twitter feed. Her face clouded over with shock when she saw the video of her and Jonathan making out together. "The camera was angled. Our lips didn't even touch."

"I know... but people say you're two-timing Jordy with Jonathan. It's all over Twitter. I'm worried that Bryson..."

Gloria pressed her lips together. "Bryson called me after he saw Jordy and me on Twitter, but I didn't explain anything to him. I just said I would not allow any accidents to happen on my way to get revenge, and that I would remove all the barriers, including him."

Jennifer was shocked. "Oh my. You said that."

"I had to say that in case he would not be too shocked when that day came. Maybe... the Twitter thing is not so bad for him. He may find it easier to let go when he finds out I'm a faithless woman."

Jennifer sighed, "We have known each other since childhood and have been friends for so many years. Gloria, how could he think of you as a woman who loves to play the field? He will understand the reason behind this. I am afraid he will love you more and even want to protect you all the time..."

Gloria's face changed, and for a moment she didn't know what to say. Mingled feelings surfaced under her eyes.

Jennifer held her phone and paused for a moment before whispering, "I'm on my way to him right now. I'll go check on him."

"Thanks..." Gloria felt a growing sense of guilt inside her. She was responsible for this, but her friends would like to give her a hand all the time.

"Don't thank me. We can't decide who we love. Bryson can't forget about you, and I still can't get over him even though I know he loves you so much. No one should be to blame. It's just a strange twist of fate."

Chapter 687 She Held Back Tears

Jennifer sounded resigned as if she were telling her own story.

Gloria was silent, not knowing what to say.

Jennifer smiled, "Alright, I'm not talking to you. I'll let you know how Bryson is doing later."

"Thank you."

"Not at all."

They said no more and hung up.

Gloria had mixed feelings and didn't know how to deal with them.

She took her laptop, drew a deep breath, and got on with her work.

About half an hour later, Jennifer arrived at Bryson's house.

Melissa was very welcoming when she saw Jennifer. She talked with her for a while and sent Jennifer off to Bryson.

After all, Bryson's condition was not good.

Melissa was really at her wit's end.

Top trending hashtags popped up one after another on Twitter. Bryson dared not to call Gloria again.

When Bryson knew there was a visitor, he thought it was Gloria who came to explain herself.

But unexpectedly...

Bryson looked up expectantly and saw... Jennifer.

Bryson looked away disappointedly and said, "There you are."

Jennifer's eyes fell on Bryson. He looked thinner and paler than usual, and even his eyes were not loving as before.

Bryson never showed much affection for her, but the light that had shone in his eyes seemed to dim.

And... there was stubble on his chin. He looked gaunt.

It pained her to see him like that. Her eyes overflowed with concern. "Bryson, what did you do to yourself?"

Bryson smiled faintly and felt sad uncontrollably. He thought he was fine. He didn't even try to drown his sorrow.

"What have you come to see me about?" Bryson was reluctant to bring that up in front of Jennifer.

With a twinkle in her eye, Jennifer went to sit down in the chair next to Bryson.

She looked at him worriedly. "Look at you. How can we not worry about you?"

"I'm doing fine. Don't worry about me," Bryson pursed his lips and said, not looking at Jennifer.

Bryson usually spoke softly to Jennifer with a smile.

But now, Bryson was troubled deeply by the comments and the video on Twitter.

Gloria was his girlfriend, but he couldn't show up with her in public. And he might even become a barrier on her way to getting revenge and be left behind at any time.

Once Bryson thought of this, words could not express his sadness.

“Bryson, you have to stop beating yourself up,” Jennifer said softly.

Bryson turned to look at her and smiled gently, “Why would I beat myself up? I trust Gloria.”

Jennifer fell silent.

At this moment, Jennifer could tell that Bryson was deluding himself.

With his head down, Bryson didn’t want to talk to Jennifer. They were friends. He didn’t want to give her the cold shoulder. A tumult of feelings inside him fought for supremacy, which made him feel bad.

Jennifer knew what was going on, but she couldn’t breathe a word to Bryson. She could only watch him suffer in a fantasy world.

Bryson felt bad, and it made Jennifer’s heart ache to see him like this...

She couldn’t bear to see the man she loved suffer.

She was trying so hard to fight back tears.

But before she could continue thinking about this, Bryson stared up at her as if he had just remembered something.

Jennifer’s heart trembled.

The look in his eyes...

Chapter 688 Do You Know Why?

Why is it so scary all of a sudden?

Why does he become so deep?

Does he sense anything wrong or know the truth already? Or does he want to know something from me?

Jennifer became nervous, and Bryson said slowly, “Gloria...”

Jennifer’s heart thumped when she heard this!

As she held her breath and pricked up her ears, Bryson suddenly stopped talking

Jennifer looked at him with a puzzled look. “What’s wrong?”

“Nothing.” Bryson hung down his head, pressed his lips together, and said – nothing

How awful he looked! It was so obvious that he was not cheerful as usual.

Jennifer was not strong enough for this. She walked over to Bryson, took a deep breath, and said, "Pull it together, please. Is love really that important to you?"

Bryson laughed, "Jennifer, you don't understand. I've had a crush on her for so long. I'm afraid to lose her... This is really hard for me. Maybe you'll experience this one day. I hope you find happiness with someone else."

Jennifer's eyes twitched. What does he mean? Does he know I adore him?

Is he giving me a broad hint that I should give up?

Jennifer's heart was beating very hard, which reminded her to say it aloud!

Say it all!

Let him know everything!

Perhaps Beneath his sad exterior, he would like to find an outlet for his emotions.

The more Jennifer thought about it, the more tempted she became to make a move.

Bryson was silent with his eyes down. Jennifer took a breath and said, "I have a crush on someone. Bryson, we're friends. Don't you care about that?"

Bryson looked up at her in surprise. "You have a crush on someone?"

Jennifer looked him straight in the eye and nodded. "Yes."

She only said one word in response, but she couldn't tear her eyes away from him. She was wondering if Bryson... could notice something...

Her heart was pounding, and her face was etched with panic. She looked very torn. She wanted him to notice something, but on second thought, she hoped he wouldn't

She was tortured by the complicated feelings.

After a while, Bryson chuckled.

"I think you understand very well how I feel since you have a crush on someone. You don't have a boyfriend, so I guess..."

Bryson did not finish his sentence, but the meaning was quite clear.

Jennifer gave a bitter smile. "Yeah...."

How could she not understand? Maybe she did better than Bryson.

Or maybe Bryson didn't understand her.

Jennifer dropped her eyes and suddenly was in no mood to talk.

She came here today to soothe Bryson. She must say something.

After a pause, she whispered, "Bryson, I think I know more about what you're going through than you do."

Bryson's eyes flashed, and he looked up at her.

Jennifer held her hand over her heart and said in a trembling voice, "It aches a lot. It's like I can't breathe for the next second, and it keeps thumping, Sometimes I wish I could die right away so that it might not hurt anymore. But I don't want to."

Bryson's face changed slightly, but he didn't say anything. What Jennifer was talking about was really something he had experienced before.

Jennifer couldn't help but draw a deep breath, her eyes burning. "Because I want to see him all the time. I feel more miserable than you do. Do you know why?"

Chapter 689 A Lot of Suffering

Bryson's eyes flickered. He thought the look in Jennifer's eyes was weird.

Bryson pressed his lips together and looked at Jennifer in confusion.

Jennifer let out a deep sigh and spoke again, "I've got a crush on someone as long as you adore Gloria, even longer."

Bryson was surprised. "You..."

All these years?

She's been in love with a guy for years?

How can I not know about this?

According to Jennifer, it must be a man I've known for a long time.

But Jennifer is never particularly close to a guy.

While Bryson was lost in thought, Jennifer spoke again, "And I often see him show his love to that girl. He loves that girl as much as I love him. I have to hide my feelings for him and see him lying his at the same time. He and I are suffering."

Bryson's face changed slightly.

He saw deep affection in Jennifer's eyes, and her eyes never left his...

For a moment, Bryson panicked.

The guy Jennifer likes...

Suddenly Bryson fell silent.

He was afraid if he kept asking her questions, he would face more difficulties. And he feared that this feeling would come over him again.

In an instant, he felt like he understood Gloria's feelings.

And he realized who Jennifer's crush might be.

Gloria knows I've had a big crush on her all these years, and that bothers her, right?

She's even a little scared, isn't she?

Just as Bryson was contemplating his own thoughts, Jennifer smiled and spoke again, "Do you know how bad it makes me feel? I love him so much, but I can't be selfish. I know he doesn't love me. I can't tell him about my feeling for him but only keep it to myself. At least you can say it out loud. Bryson, do you know what that feels like?"

Bryson opened his mouth but could not utter a word.

He didn't know what to do.

He was in no mood to talk just now, but now he felt that if he didn't say anything, it would make Jennifer feel worse.

Jennifer told him everything, though she didn't put it very explicitly.

Bryson should have realized that Jennifer had never been around a man except himself. It was pretty obvious that she liked him.

Jennifer couldn't help but sigh, "Bryson, sometimes people can't decide their fates, but if two people love each other, there's not so much drama."

Bryson pressed his lips together and remained silent.

Jennifer, sitting next to Bryson, chuckled, "Sometimes I wish the girl he likes was me. How I wish I could spend the rest of my life with him! But striving so hard for this only gets me nowhere. Even if I hope it'll happen, I know that it won't. An act of true love is to let go."

Jennifer spoke with emphasis on the last words.

Bryson's pupils dilated a little.

An act of true love is to let go...

So I'm supposed to let go, right?

Jennifer looked down silently, trying to resist the urge to tell him her true feelings.

I've said everything I need to say.

And I can't tell him more than that.

Chapter 690 Days and Nights

Bryson frowned. He thought about it and felt something wrong.

Is Jennifer trying to persuade me to give up Gloria by saying something obscure?

After all, I never...

Bryson froze at this thought.

He suddenly remembered three years ago when they went out together and Jennifer got drunk.

She smirked and pulled at his hand.

She was gibbering with her eyes glued to his face.

Bryson didn't think much of it at that time, but now he recalled the state of her and how she had been acting around him all these years...

He found some clues.

For a moment, he didn't know what to say.

As Jennifer said, one couldn't decide who he fell in love with.

Bryson adored Gloria, but it seemed unlikely that they could be together. Jennifer knew that and never brought it up. But today, she did. Did she want to get him to give up?

Bryson dropped his dark eyes and said nothing.

He didn't know what to say, and he didn't want to dwell on it either.

Jennifer stared at him and said, "Bryson, give it up."

Bryson's heart skipped a beat.

Give it up?

No way!

He loved to spend his time with Gloria, even though... there wasn't a sweet moment between the two of them.

She said yes when he asked her to be his girlfriend. At that moment, he could hardly believe his luck.

"Give it up, Bryson. You're not only hurting Gloria but also yourself."

Bryson's face changed as he looked up at Jennifer. "Was it because I was in a car accident that Gloria...?"

He left his sentence hanging.

Even though he knew the answer, he didn't want to believe it. He thought Gloria was touched by his romantic advances.

Jennifer let out a sigh.

"Bryson, you have to spoil your fantasies at this point."

Bryson's eyes dimmed. He wished he hadn't survived the car accident.

How else could there be so much pain?

For a moment, Bryson's face was contorted with an assortment of emotions. His eyes from which all the calmness had fled were now filled with sadness, disappointment, and gloom.

Tears welled up rapidly in Jennifer's eyes. She did not know whether it was because she told him her true feelings boldly or because she felt sorry for him. Tears were rolling down her cheeks.

Bryson looked slightly flustered. He immediately got to his feet and handed her a box of tissues,

"Don't cry, Jennifer...."

Jennifer took some tissues, wiped away her tears, and turned her head away from him.

She didn't expect such gaffes.

She was sobbing uncontrollably, too embarrassed to speak.

With a look of mingled emotions, Bryson spoke again, "Jennifer, don't cry. I'm sorry to make you feel bad."

They were friends, and Jennifer had never done anything out of line before. Bryson didn't show respect for her feelings. Instead, he showed his love for Gloria and even pursued her madly in front of Jennifer...

God knew how painful it was for Bryson to see Jonathan and Jordy run around Gloria these days! Jennifer must feel even worse to see Bryson hover after Gloria for days and nights.
