Chapter 861 Something Happened to the Company

"Mr. Collins, something's wrong!" Harold sounded panic.

Gloria frowned slightly and held her breath.

"What's the matter?" Jordy's sultry voice was calm.

Harold seemed to have calmed down a bit, but he was still nervous. He immediately said, "Our company's secrets have been stolen!"

Jordy turned extremely cold in an instant, and he immediately said, "Look into it, and use the second plan."

"We're on it, and the first plan must have been used by the person who stole it."

Jordy kept silent with a cold face.

They had just come out of the old mansion and were about to take a turn. The left road led to the company, and the right one led to Gloria's house.

He turned left directly.

The technician was startled and turned pale. What did Mr. Collins mean by staring at him like this? He was suspecting him?

No, he wasn't the mole!

But...

Before he could explain, Harold had come over and said to him, "Offer your seat to Miss White."

The technician responded before thinking about it, and hurriedly got up, but... he was still in confusion. Why did they ask him to give his seat to Miss White?

What could she do by sitting in front of the computer?

With such doubt in mind, they all looked at Gloria, and then saw her tapping on the keyboard.

Their eyes became more complicated, but none of them said anything. No matter whether Gloria was Black Rose or not, they didn't dare to talk about it.

Otherwise, Mr. Collins would probably kill them.

Mr. Collins and Gloria were not just the boss and the subordinate. Even if they had got divorced, they were entangled. They felt that Gloria would go back to Mr. Collins at any time, and she would still be their boss's wife.

And they had already treated her like that.

While they were thinking, Jordy looked at them, "Watch over it. If there is a problem, report it at any time."

They said okay quickly, and Jordy looked at Gloria and walked out without saying anything.

Gloria kept up with him.

They attracted the attention of the others in the restaurant when they walked in. Some people had picked up their mobile phones to take pictures of them with surprised faces.

They actually saw Jordy and Gloria here!

How lucky they were!

Jordy and Gloria often appeared on TV as a sweet couple, so many people thought that they were perfect for each other. Even if they had got divorced, they still expected that they would get back together.

When the waitresses saw them, they were overjoyed and rushed to serve them.

Jordy and Gloria went to a position at random. They did not take the private room.

None of them wanted to miss the opportunity to be so close to Jordy and Gloria.

Jordy and Gloria quickly returned to the car. Neither of them spoke on the way. When they arrived at Gloria's home, Jordy did not leave directly, but followed Gloria in.

Gloria frowned slightly, "Would you like some water?"

Her implication was that "you should leave after a cup of water".

Jordy said calmly, "I want to spend the night here."

Gloria was confused.

It was not something he would do.

Someone said, "So you mean your cousin can write codes, right? And she is very good at it."

Angela immediately said, "I don't know what you're talking about. Gloria doesn't know those things. I mean she could only do simple things with computers. I don't know what happened, but don't try to levy unfounded accusations about her."

Angela acted like a real elder cousin. She had been defending Gloria and refusing to tell these reporters anything about her.

In fact, she was trying to tell them that Gloria was very good at using computers and was an excellent hacker!

These reporters got her reply and then would let her go. Sometimes, people were more curious about such an ambiguous reply.

They asked Angela a few more questions, which sounded like a trap for Angela, but Angela seemed to be on guard all the time. She was cautious with her speech, which proved that what they guessed was right.

After the reporters were all dispersed, Angela went home.

Angela sneered, "That mysterious man called me again and asked me to reveal something to the media. The Collins Group's secrets were stolen again. They said that there was a mole in their company. That mysterious man asked me to mislead the public into suspecting that the mole was Gloria."

“What does that have to do with Gloria cheating me out of two billion dollars?”

“Because Gloria has excellent hacker skills as Jordy does! Because the people in the Collins Group’s technology department suspected that Gloria was the expert who broke into the 20th floor that day! Because after the hacker broke into several floors, Jordy asked them to leave the hacker alone and ignore it!”

Angela was angry and gave him these reasons.

Claude was extremely pale!

Comments were surging the internet one after another. Most people were saying that Gloria had some connections with the hacker. They satirized her, saying that Gloria was so wicked and ungrateful. They even said she was too cruel for everyone to pity her.

While some of the netizens were defending Gloria, they were finally dominated by the polemic, radical netizens and spammers.

Nydia and others already knew about it and they discussed it in their group chat.

Nydia asked, "Gloria, what was going on? What happened to the Collins Group?"

Soon Gloria replied, "It's alright. You don't need to worry."

Nydia doubted her, "Nonsense. You've been scolded wildly on the internet now. Just tell me what happened!"

Jennifer joined in, "Gloria, when will you finish your work there? I just wish you could get out of the Collins Group as soon as possible. Or otherwise, I'm afraid bad things will happen to you."

Bryson added, "I'm going to buy some fans online to support you."

Jennifer's tears trickled down her cheeks without her noticing it.

But the next moment she cleared her nose and suppressed her tears, continuing to type.

In the study of Collins old house, people were arguing.

Karen's face was distorted with anger, "I don't believe it! Gloria can be Black Rose. She would never do such a thing to the Collins Group!"

Joseph immediately snorted coldly and looked at Karen. Then he said in a deep voice, "Look at your precious girl you have always defended. Look what she has done! She is such an ungrateful and merciless girl. She will never be satisfied no matter how nicely you treat her. What's the use of being so good to her? Look at what people are saying about her on Twitter!"

Karen grew even worse with anger at that moment. "Nonsense! I'm good to Gloria, and she also pays me with kindness and a good heart in turn. If it weren't for her, I would still sink into my pain or I would have died long ago. You all know I am weak but you never take good care of me. You only knew how to make me mad. I knew it. If without Gloria, I would have died."
