

Goddess 1415

Chapter 1415: Tell the reunion (finale)

The heavy, old castle gate slowly closed under the impetus of several castle guards.

The high beam of a car suddenly came from the front, and the beam penetrated the door like a sword, shining on the embarrassed Emory Ann.

At his feet was Nina, who was dragged away by him. She was naked and no longer as gorgeous as she used to be.

The dazzling high beams shone on Emory An who looked back and narrowed his eyes. Then, his pupils clenched fiercely and roared loudly, "Close the door! Close the door! Damn it! Close the door!"

The guard pushed the gate, and a bullet hit the gate with a bang.

With the sound of gunshots, the castle at midnight poured into the air with icy chills and chills, covering the entire castle.

Anxia got out of the car and walked step by step into the castle where she and her mother once lived.

"It's you!"

Emory An took a step back, with the fear on his face when he first saw An Xia.

He was surprised by An Xia's arrival, but it wasn't particularly surprising. It seemed like he had been waiting for a long time.

"You're still back." He smiled. The elegant and elegant man in the past gradually grew old as An Xia progressed step by step.

It is the spiritual energy in the body that grows old at a speed visible to the naked eye.

He let go of the hand that grabbed Nina's long head, and looked at An Xia quietly, his vision was a little blank, as if he was looking at another person through the current An Xia.

That, abandoned by him, the very capable eldest daughter.

An Xia walked beside him and looked down at the disheveled face. Nina, who hadn't eaten or slept well for a few days, was beaten countless times.

Need to admit, Nina is really beautiful, coquettish beauty.

And her mother, after countless plastic surgery, is beautiful, but without aura, like a shell, unable to keep other people's eyes.

Including her husband Emory Ann.

It's not Nina's fault for what you want and what she wants, but it's her fault that she shouldn't do anything to her mother.

Take out the bottle containing the hallucinogen pills and pour it out all at once.

He lifted his hand slightly, Tianshu came out from behind and forcibly opened Nina's mouth.

"Hmm..." The confused Nina struggled subconsciously, her wide eyes could clearly see the person standing in front of her, but with just one glance, Nina screamed.

Who is she!

Anxia?

Is that Ansha?

"Well..." A lot of pills were forced into her mouth, and Nina tried to spit it out with her legs kicked. Tianquan handed over a bottle of water and poured it all into Nina's mouth.

Emory Ann chose to stand by and watch the whole process.

He could only watch and do nothing.

"Back then, you watched my mother feed her hallucinogens with your own eyes. Have you ever thought that one day she will also eat hallucinogens?"

The cold voice floated over, and Emory Ann raised her eyes in horror.

What does she know?

"My mother fell in love with you and waited for you to come back every day. You can not come back, but why let this woman kill my mother?"

"Your mistress killed my mother, and you kissed me, Emory Ann, and I killed you here tonight, and we've written it off."

Emory Ann stepped back, and at the same time, shouted, "Kill her, kill her!"

He was ordering the guards in the castle.

At this moment, An Qian's delighted voice came from upstairs in the castle, "Venthyr! Did you come to see me?"

An Qian was standing on the third floor of the castle, not knowing where she was looking, she climbed onto the railing, spread her arms and made a move to run towards others...

"Boom..."

The man fell from a height and landed not far from Nina.

"No! My daughter! An Qian! No!"

Nina frantically broke free from restraint and ran towards her fallen daughter.

This scene is so familiar.

That year, Anxia's mother took too much hallucinogen and had hallucinations, thinking that she had fallen from the height of the castle when her husband returned.

Later, Emory Ann told Anxia that her mother committed suicide.

After coming back, Anxia sent him to the training camp.

Later, An Xia took over the Imperial Domain.

Later, Anxia was hit by a missile on the plane she was in.

And the mastermind behind all this is Emery Ann.

Now, it's finally over.

Three days later, the countries of the Western Alliance jointly announced that the imperial domain would be dissolved.

Emory Ann and Nina were imprisoned for life. The emperor An Qian was guilty of many crimes and was no longer held accountable for her suicide.

An Xia ignored these things and had nothing to do with her anymore.

Fire, devouring the castle that had trapped her mother's life, and it was all over.

Mu Chenyuan told her that her mother was secretly brought to the Imperial Domain by her grandfather back then, and since then, she was raised in the castle and became a bird without wings.

Now, it's finally over.

Anxia set off on a sunny day, and she didn't tell anyone, including the four of them, Tianshu, who was being treated.

And Venthyr, caught by his princess grandmother, is dining with the royal princess of Gaya.

An Xia boarded the plane to Xia Country.

Xia Guo was her homing home.

The man who walked towards her was the man she had been with all her life.

"Mu Chenyuan, I really have a fighter plane, don't you?"

"The gift is too big, can I just have a kiss?"

The gentle-eyed man looked at the returning eagle, "Kiss me ten times, and I will give you a gold mine."

Mu Chenyuan did have a gold mine, which was a wedding gift from the Mu family's uncle.

An Xia rushed over, not to mention ten, she would like dozens of ten.

The sun is just right, the wind is just right, there are lovers bathing in the sun, blowing the wind, hugging each other and telling them that they meet again after a long absence.

Little cuties, God of War is over.

The End