Chapter 117 Do You Dare to Compete Against Me?

Milan's Confectionery in CBD.

Cathy disembarked with Arius and Abner side by side, one with a depressed expression and another grinned ear to ear as they walked towards the store.

"I used to love this store."

Before people realized she was misunderstood by Ember, the Shaw family truly treated her dearly.

Cathy glanced at the flashing signpost as countless memories flooded her.

Dorian and Marion were willing to give her anything under the sun.

Including desserts.

When she was still the princess of the family, she patronized Milan's Confectionery exclusively.

Now that her real identity was exposed, she did not have the luxury to do so again.

"Mom you have the same taste as I do!"

Abner was full of smiles as he held Cathy's hand tightly, "Let us splurge on dessert!"

His tone turned as he cheekily proclaimed to Arius, "For those who are not desserts fans, feel free to leave!"

The trio entered the store.

Arius returned the favor with a fierce glare, "It is not as if this store has only sweet stuff."

Abner was immediately attracted to a decadent cake.

"I'm sorry."

"That is certainly unfortunate."

The waitress was apologetic, "This has been pre-booked by someone else..."

Cathy helplessly turned towards Abner, "Should we pick a different slice?"

The little guy was pretty annoyed, "But mommy, I really want this!"

She pleaded to the waitress, "Is it possible to make another one?"

A second later, she suggested, "Let me ask the customer, perhaps they are willing to split in two."

"The pâtissier is currently away for business matters..."

The waitress was also in a difficult situation.

"She is also a kid, it is a little big for her."

With that, the waitress made a phone call.

This voice...

"Miss Shaw?"

"She is our mommy!"

princess is more than willing to share."

"Uncle, you are not a man of your words."

Cathy nodded in agreement.

me!"

"Zane?"

Soon, a brawny man bellowed, "Who wants to have a slice of our princess' cake?"

Cathy quickly turned around. When she saw him, she was startled. And the guy was equally startled.

Who else was it except for the leader of Ariel's Escort Team, Zane?

He frowned and pointed at the cake, "So this cake... your brother wanted it?"

eagle extending its wings before Cathy, "My mom is already married with kids, you will not have a chance with her!"

His gesture amused Zane greatly, who was chuckling at this moment,

Abner rolled his eyes, "What brother? We are mommy's sons!"

it and Mr. Jasper is not a big fan of cakes."

"Why don't you bring the two kids up, we can share a table as I am quite sure Mr. Jasper and little

"The waitress was right, this is quite a big piece of cake, little princess would not be able to finish

He looked towards Cathy, "I was unaware that Miss Shaw's kids are already this grown up."

With that, the little guy stepped forward, raised both of his arms, and did his best impression of an

With that, she led the sulky Abner and the reticent Arius up alongside Zane.

Upstairs, Ariel was evidently gloomy as she laid all over the table and glanced at Flynn bitterly,

Ariel and the twins were similar in age, perhaps they might even be good friends!

"It has been so long and you have no good news at all!"

Flynn was evidently helpless and loss for word, "Aunty Cathy has been really tied up."

Even though he was busy burning the midnight oil, through Zane, he was aware of what occurred.

Cathy and Penelope had quite a good relationship going on. Cathy was definitely caught up with what happened to Penelope, it was better to avoid troubling her with such small matters.

"Didn't you promised me that you will introduce Aunt Cathy's amazing hacker to me as a

"No way."

Zane had his hands full with the little girl who was unwilling to eat anything.

Ariel rolled her eyes, "Most of the fabled hackers on the Internet do not hold a candle against

He sighed, "Why don't I get you someone from the Internet?"

At this moment, the room's door was opened.

"Little princess, guess who I brought you?"

Ariel reluctantly lifted her head.

mommy, you cannot hug her!"

Thus —

The waitress pushed in a cart with the cake on it.

Behind the waitress, Zane was tailing with a wide grin.

Ariel did not bother to lift her head, "Apart from Aunt Cathy, I don't want to see anyone else."

The little girl leaped down from the chair and rushed towards Cathy with her arms wide apart.

Before she could hug Cathy, a little boy who was half a head taller than her stood in her way.

His appearance was so sudden that Ariel could not respond to it and crashed right into him.

Abner had his arms folded around his chest with cheeks puffing and eyes wide open, "This is my

Who else was it but Cathy who stood at the door, wearing a white flowing long dress?

"Aunt Cathy!"

Zane laughed, "Then little princess, why don't you see who's here?"

Ariel was running so quickly that she brought great momentum. As Abner was about to go down, he grabbed Arius instinctively.

"Bang!" With a loud sound, the trio had a great fall before Cathy.

Even Arius who was usually so elegant was part of the act.

Zane gently helped Ariel up, then supported the two little guys.

Arius had a quick glance at her and then remained silent.

Abner imitated her stance and retorted, "Who are you then?"

"Don't you know you are not supposed to simply hug someone's mom?"

With her hands on her hip, Ariel stared at Arius and Abner with a hostile glare.

The way the trio fell was simply hilarious.

"Who are you guys?"

She couldn't help but bow over as she attempted to stop herself.

Cathy knew that she should not be laughing, but the comical scene was simply unbearable.

"She is my Aunt Cathy! That is up to me!"

The two kids got into quite a heated argument.

"She is my mom, I wouldn't allow it!"

"Duchess of the Hackers?"

"If so don't be a little chicken!"

Arius snickered.

"I'm Ryzan's youngest hacker, otherwise known as Duchess of the Hackers!"

"Do you dare to compete against me? Or else look out for your tone!"

In the end, Arius pulled Abner aside, "Stop arguing with a lady."

Ariel was agitated, "What's the problem of being a lady?"

He scrutinized her from head to toes, "Are you serious?"

His belittling mannerism roused Ariel, "Are you looking for a fight?"

"If you don't have the skills, stop blocking me from my Aunt Cathy!"

Ariel refused to back down, "Zane, get my laptop here!"

"Uncle, you are footing the bill today right?"

Arius only returned a cold stare.

With that, her eyebrows raised as she was clearly challenging Arius.

As the two kids were ready for the fight of the century, Abner had already tugged Cathy to the table and sat besides Flynn.

He looked at the cute little being before him and nodded, "Yeah, it's on me."

Arius calmly took out his phone and called, "Chauffeur, bring up my laptop"

Flynn just got distracted from the scene between Ariel and Arius.

"Good!"

Abner was all smiles at this point, "Get me two slices of all of your expensive cakes!"
