Chapter 59 I Adopted Ariel

"Luckily she did not drink much alcohol so she does not have any irritation or allergic reactions."

After the doctor finished examining Ariel, he sighed lightly. "There's no need for gastric suction, but I'll recommend her to drink some yogurt to relieve her hangover. It's not advisable for such a small child to get drunk."

Adrian raised his eyes and glanced at Evan, who was standing at the door.

Evan quickly turned around. "I'll go buy yogurt now!"

Cathy squatted down and gently patted Ariel's back. "Ariel, are you alright?"

The little girl opened her eyes. She was still in a daze. She looked at Cathy and murmured, "Mom..."

Cathy's body froze slightly.

"I really want to have a mother..."

The little girl who was still confused by the alcohol held Cathy's hand and said, "Uncle Flynn said that my parents are definitely still alive, and waiting for me to go home..."

"But where are they..."

Tears rolled off the girl's face as she spoke, "Beautiful lady, can you be my mother?"

After she finished speaking, she raised her big, misty eyes to look at Adrian, "You be my father."

Adrian frowned slightly. He did not speak.

For some reason, he suddenly felt that... This little girl looks like Cathy from a certain angle.

She looks a little like Arius and Abner too.

"Mom..."

Little Ariel buried herself into Cathy's arms. She cried, "Ariel has a mother too now..."

The little girl shoved her warm and soft body into Cathy's arms. Cathy pursed her lips and hugged her tightly.

"Mom..."

She said and fell asleep in Cathy's arms.

Cathy let out a deep sigh of relief when she finally heard the even breathing of the little girl. She put Ariel back to the hospital bed.

Just as Cathy was about to take her hand away, Ariel reached out and grabbed her hand. "Mom, don't leave me..."

Cathy pursed her lips and comforted her with a soft voice. "Mom will not leave you..."

After she finished speaking, she sat helplessly at the head of the bed. She turned her head and glanced at Adrian. "Can I... stay here with her?"

"Mmm."

Adrian pulled a chair from the side and motioned Cathy to sit down. "I'll accompany you."

The man's deep voice made Cathy's face red unconsciously.

She pursed her lips and lowered her voice. "Will you be mad?"

After all, this little girl has nothing to do with them. She was just a stranger.

Adrian should have had his meal and be back at work at this time.

But because of her, he had to waste his time and accompany her here.

"No."

The man glanced at Ariel with his deep eyes and replied lightly, "Actually, I really like the idea of having a daughter."

Cathy was startled. She looked back at him blankly, wondering why he would say this all of a sudden.

Adrian saw her confused expression. He raised the corner of his lips slightly and said, "Abner and Arius want a sister too."

Having said that, he turned his eyes towards Cathy's stomach and said, "That agreement... You have signed it, haven't you?"

Cathy was stunned for a moment. Then, she suddenly remembered the agreement Arius had given her last time.

The content of the agreement was that she had to give Adrian a child in a year.

Cathy's face instantly turned red when she thought of this.

She quickly turned her face away. "This..."

Cathy's mind went blank instantly. She became tongue-tied. "I..."

Just as the atmosphere between the both of them got extremely awkward, the door opened with a loud 'bang'.

Flynn rushed into the room, still in his acting clothes. "Ariel!"

Cathy quickly made a quiet sign and whispered, "She's asleep."

Then, she raised her head and greeted him, "Flynn?"

Flynn nodded lightly and strode over. He squatted down and looked at Ariel's little face carefully. "How is she?"

"She's fine already."

Cathy pursed her lips, lowered her voice, and explained the whole situation to Flynn. "We did not pay attention at that time, so..."

Flynn frowned. The expression on his face was serious and indifferent. "This does not rid my suspicion of you intending to kidnap children."

Cathy was stunned.

Kidnap?

Flynn pulled Cathy's hand away from Ariel's and declared, "We have already called the police."

"Mom..."

Just as the woman's hand was pulled away, the little girl on the bed cried out pitifully.

Flynn's eyebrows knitted against each other tightly.

Adrian walked over and pulled Cathy into his arms. He sneered, "It isn't a surprise that a simpleminded person could lose sight of his own child."

The man's words made Flynn furious.

No matter his wealthy family in Europe or in the entertainment industry, he had a noble and arrogant existence. No one has ever dared to speak to him like that!

He stood up and looked back at Adrian coldly. "I was just too busy with work."

There was a music festival in Ocean World that night. He had arranged for his manager to take care of Ariel when he was at the event. But as soon as he took the stage, his manager lost Ariel.

Flynn was actually surprised to learn that. Ariel is always well-behaved and sensible. Why did she suddenly run away?

"Really?"

Adrian stared at Flynn nonchalantly with his deep eyes. "I'm also very busy with work."

"But I have never lost any of my sons."

Cathy sighed quietly inside as she listened to his proud voice.

Those two quirky guys at home wouldn't get lost even if he lost them.

Wouldn't it be a little unfair to compare those two with this little girl, Ariel?

Flynn frowned. He was silent for a while before he snorted coldly. "Who knows whether you are speaking the truth?"

"Let's wait for the police then."

Adrian glanced at him lightly. "If we are not kidnappers, then you'll be slandering us."

"Whatever."

Flynn hugged Ariel. His voice was cold. "As a father, I would rather be wrong about who you are than let you go like that."

The man's words made Cathy shudder.

Is Flynn Ariel's father?

So does this mean that Ariel, who has been a trending topic the last few days, is Flynn's illegitimate daughter?

Who then is the mother of this child?

Cathy was very curious.

Flynn seemed to have noticed Cathy's weird gaze at him. He frowned. He suddenly realized that this woman had recognized him as soon as he had entered the room...

He sighed, "I adopted Ariel."

The man caressed Ariel's back lightly, "The doctor said that she was too small. She was the smallest child among her younger twins, so she was given up."

"She is not in good health, so I have been doing my best to protect her over the years. I don't want her to get hurt."

After he finished speaking, he looked into Cathy's eyes and said, "I'm telling you this because I know you have recognized me."

"But I hope you won't tell the press about Ariel."

"Of course, even if you exposed this, I wouldn't worry about it."
