```
Chapter 81 I Am Never Going To Divorce
```

Moreover, her father repeatedly reminded her not to show anyone the birthmark on her waist.

Cathy never dared express herself after she was betrayed by Xavier and Willow.

But Adrian was her husband.

He had done so much for her...

She could tell him if he really wanted to know...

"Actually... Um..."

Cathy took a deep breath. She slowly opened her mouth to speak when she was finally ready.

Before she could continue, Adrian sealed her lips with a kiss.

The lights could blur one's vision and the surrounding was misty.

Cathy was completely unable to think straight in this extremely romantic atmosphere.

Her words were swallowed by him.

He lifted her jaw and kissed her hard.

took out his phone and called Adrian.

"Good girl."

It was a chaotic night.

No one picked up.

He called Adrian again. The call went unanswered again.

On the first floor of the hotel, Yoel glanced at the spy that was caught by the security guard. He

He spent a lot of effort in catching the spy and prevented Adrian from losing millions. How could this man go missing at this time?

The manager coughed, "Mr. Bolton has gone to the suite on the top floor."

He frowned and glanced at the hotel manager and asked, "Where did Adrian go?"

"To sleep?"

Yoel was furious. He was about to go upstairs when he was stopped by the manager.

"Mr. Bolton brought his wife up." Yoel: "..."

been married for a month and now he is showing off his relationship?

Dammit.

The man threw his arms in the air in exasperation and left.

"I'm going to another place to calm myself down."

He had given Adrian treatment for his phobia of women over the past five years. This guy had just

The next morning, when Cathy woke up, her back was sore.

She felt as if her body was about to fall apart.

A man's low voice could be heard from a distance.

"Are you awake?"

morning."

morning."

"Ten in the morning."

She frowned and looked towards the direction of the sound.

Adrian was sitting beside the French window.

"Doctor Bailey, where are you going?"

The shirt was a little wrinkled and the top few buttons were undone. The man's strong chest was quite revealing.

He was dressed casually. He sat comfortably with his legs raised.

The man's mellow and magnetic voice made Cathy's heart stop a beat. It is undeniable that this man looks extraordinarily... attractive today.

To stop herself from being enchanted by his appearance, Cathy turned her face away. "Good

At this moment, he was looking at her contentedly. With a smile on his lips, he greeted, "Good

He was wearing the same white shirt from the day before and did not have a tie on.

"What time is it now?"

The man's deep voice seemed to have magic power, entwining Cathy's heart.

The woman bit her lip and spoke. "Why are you still here? It's already ten."

If she was well rested, she definitely wouldn't be able to resist him!

and asked, "Do you still feel uncomfortable?" "Pardon me?"

Adrian stood up and walked gracefully towards her. He glanced at her with his bottomless eyes

She blushed and turned away. She didn't dare to meet his eyes. "It's ... It's okay."

This topic must stop.

"I'm on leave."

"You kept screaming in pain last night."

"On leave?"

Isn't he the boss of Bolton's Group?

"Don't you have to go to work?"

"The CEO needs to ask permission for leave too, or the key management personnel will be unhappy."

Cathy looked back at him in shock. "Do you still need to ask for permission to take leave?"

Adrian sat by the bedside. His tone was gentle. "I tormented you for quite some time last night, so I was worried that you wouldn't sleep well. I was afraid that you would think of me as an

For some reason, she had a feeling that the man was deliberately... flirting with her.

She took a deep breath and suppressed her urge to press him down. "Well, I'm fine."

There was deep affection and some anxiety in his eyes. But they were most of all, mysterious. Cathy silently swallowed as she watched him.

"How can I do that?"

"Adrian."

"Don't go!"

irresponsible person if you do not see me when you wake up."

He kept staring at Cathy with his bottomless eyes as he spoke.

"You should go to work... You don't have to accompany me."

But... She seemed to be a woman who could not resist temptation.

The woman blushed and turned her head away. "I'm exhausted."

But since she said she was tired, he did not want to force her.

The man stood up. "I shall let Evan prepare some food for you."

Adrian's eyes darkened as he watched the woman's petite and thin back.

The man raised his hand and stroked her cheek. He rubbed them gently. "You cried last night." She raised her head and looked at Adrian.

"Well then."

Cathy quickly turned around and grabbed his hand.

The next second, she was pressed down by the man.

"So... Can you make the first move..."

He bit her earlobe. "You little imp."

Cathy kissed him back daringly. "You too."

He was certainly flirting with her on purpose.

She was sure that this man was flirting with her.

The woman raised her head and glanced into his eyes with a twinkle in her eyes. "I mean..." "I'm exhausted."

In the evening, Cathy's body still felt limp. She received a call from the chief director.

"Cathy."

shooting?"

"I'm so sorry, director."

"Cathy."

Cathy smacked her forehead as she just remembered that she had a shooting!

not in good terms with you and Penelope."

future..."

This was all Adrian's fault that she forgot that she had work!

Cathy quickly apologized in a low voice. "I will definitely..."

"Yes."

"Will Xavier continue to be the hero in White As Snow after yesterday's incident?"

Before she finished speaking, something suddenly popped into her mind.

The chief director sounded very courteous at the end of the phone. "Did you forget about today's

"The whole crew has been waiting for you all day. I had no choice but to call you..."

"Love is dangerous."

After he finished speaking, he advised Cathy. "Cathy, as a person who has experienced this in the shooting, and will complete it well." "The most important thing is that he does not have any other income other than White As Snow, so..."

The director sighed at the other end of the phone. "We have contacted Xavier and expressed our intentions to terminate our contract with him. After all, his image is already tarnished, and he is

"But Xavier promised me that he will never create any conflicts with you or Penelope during the

The director sighed. "Xavier could have flourished in this industry after getting the Academy Award. But now he is completely ruined..."

"Don't worry."

past, I must remind you to keep your eyes and mind alert when looking for a boyfriend in the

"I'm married." "And I am not going to divorce."

Cathy smiled and responded. "I won't be looking for a boyfriend anymore."