Chapter 82 Serves Him Right

Cathy arrived at the shooting scene early the next day because she missed the shooting the day before.

She thought that she had arrived very early. But she was surprised to find someone earlier than her.

It was Xavier.

studio. It was as if he was trying to minimize his sense of existence.

The early morning sky was still a little dark. Xavier was curled up on the chair in the corner of the Serves him right.

Cathy frowned. She felt a little pitiful towards him, but she did not wish to sympathize with him.

If he did not betray her in the first place and got together with Willow, he would have achieved his dreams. He would become a star actor, with huge resources in his hands and would flourish in the entertainment industry.

But there was no turning back anymore.

Cathy frowned and turned around to leave.

"Cathy!"

Xavier hurriedly stood up from the chair and stopped her.

him.

He spotted Cathy the moment she entered the shooting scene.

For the sake of their five-year relationship, he thought Cathy would come and have a chat with

He deliberately sat in the corner and curled himself up in order to look pitiful.

But he did not expect Cathy to be so cold-hearted as to not bother to look at him even once!

"Is something wrong?"

"I..."

Xavier hesitated for a while, then slowly raised his head. "Cathy, can you forgive me?"

"I was enchanted by Willow before."

The woman frowned and looked back at him.

"Also, I wasn't your first, but I was her first. So, I have to be good to her for the rest of my life..."

The man's words caused the corners of Cathy's lips to rise coldly.

continued to explain. "Actually, I still love you..."

The man was grabbing around futilely.

"She told me that you were a disgrace, and she was purer than you."

In the end...

When Xavier saw a change in Cathy's expression, his eyes were filled with joy. He quickly

She had panicked and agreed to Willow's proposal that time when Xavier had the accident.

"It is all Willow's fault!"

It was also because he was dazzled by Willow, that he had entered the room.

"I don't care!"

"Cathy, can we start over?"

Xavier rushed over in a single step. He tried to hold Cathy's hand, but she quickly dodged.

Cathy narrowed her eyes slightly. "Xavier, have you forgotten that I'm married?"

Xavier took back his hand awkwardly, "I don't care if you're married."

"You can divorce!"

"Besides, didn't you have an affair after getting married? I wouldn't make a difference, would I?"

"I do not like you anymore."

become impossible for us to have a future."

After she finished her words, she turned to leave.

"Cathy, I only care about you. As long as you still like me..."

Cathy frowned. She took a step back and kept a safe distance from Xavier. "Stop dreaming."

"It took me five years to find out that I was foolish. But I will not forgive you."

"From the day you got together with Willow five years ago when I was in a car accident, it has

Cathy did not want him anymore.

Xavier stood in place. He watched Cathy leave, and he felt crushed.

Willow had betrayed him and did not want him anymore.

Didn't Cathy love him the most?

Now, even Cathy didn't want him.

Why?

Flames of anger in the man's eyes multiplied. He was about to lose his sanity.

At last, he took huge strides forward and grabbed Cathy's shoulders. "Why do you not want me?"

She must want him, she has to want him!

Cathy never expected that Xavier would actually force himself on her.

This was her last warning to him.

"Didn't you like me the most?"

"Cathy, ouch!"

"Why do you refuse to give me a chance?"

Indeed, she was usually a good-natured person. She had never fought or hurt anyone.

But this did not mean that Xavier could take advantage of her!

There was a hint of coldness in the woman's eyes. "Let me go."

But how could Xavier, who was close to being insane, really let go?

She frowned and scanned the environment around her, and a sneer formed on her lips.

He grabbed onto Xavier's shoulder tightly. "Cathy, give me a chance!"

The woman stood up and looked down at him condescendingly. "Don't simply touch me."

"Are you? Seems like you don't really like me then, and do not really wish to reconcile with me."

Cathy pursed her lips gently. Her voice was cold. "Xavier, you're just angry because you're being

"So, after you were betrayed by Willow, you immediately thought of me. You were eager to regain

Before Xavier could continue, he was thrown to the ground.

Xavier rolled in pain on the ground while clutching his wrist.

Cathy knelt on his wrist. "Crack!" The man's wrist got dislocated.

"I'm going to sue you!"

Xavier gritted his teeth.

your self-confidence through me.

you're despising me."

betrayed by Willow, right?"

"You're too conceited. You feel that you're so good that every woman has to like you."

Every word she uttered was like sharp needles stabbing Xavier's heart.

His face grew dark as he glanced at her, and he was dumbfounded.

Xavier's eyes widened. He could not believe his ears.

"You might have forgotten that you were a piece of trash when you first met me. You couldn't even get into art school. It was me who helped you improve your acting skills and raised money for you throughout the five years. You are where you are now because of me."

Cathy looked at him coldly. "I was too foolish. My selfless sacrifice made you conceited, and now

After finishing her words, Cathy took a deep breath. "Xavier, I want you to know this. If I can help you climb to where you are now, I can also cause you to collapse."

"By the way, do you remember the gown I wore last night? It was beautiful."

After speaking, the woman raised her head proudly and turned to leave.

Xavier was left lying on the ground, and his soul seemed to have left him.

"I bought it with the 1.2 million that you gave the Navy company."

The woman who only had him in her eyes five years ago had really left him...

As he watched Cathy leave, he suddenly understood what he had lost.

After leaving Xavier behind, Cathy planned to go to a nearby breakfast shop for a drink while waiting for the rest of the crew to arrive.

He had a fresh cigarette in his right hand, and there were two finished cigarette butts by his feet.

But she did not expect to see Flynn at the entrance of the shooting scene.

He seemed to have arrived for quite some time.

"Your skills in taking down Xavier just now were pretty good."

He could hear and see what happened between her and Xavier from this position.

Cathy panicked.

Flynn smoked his cigarette. And he smiled maliciously. "Where did you learn it from? It looks familiar."