Chapter 401 Indirect Killing

Greatly shocked, Han Fei asked, "Why are there so many monsters here."

The Hexagon Starfish said, "Human being, I find it a dreadful endeavor to go treasure hunting with you! I want to go back to the Seaborne Prairie!"

"Shut up! You would only end up as someone's contractual spiritual beast if you go back, do you believe me?" After Han stayed for only a couple of seconds, a crab dozens of meters long waved its pincers and attacked him.

More importantly, different from the crabs outside, this crab was completely black, and its pincers were more like a pair of sharp, double-edged scissors.

Behind him, the hero soul was attacking too. Han Fei felt that he would've been killed if he were anyone else. None of the creatures he saw were weak, including this crab. <Name> Blade Edge Spiritual Crab <Introduction> This is a mutated crab that has absorbed the deathly vibe in the forsaken city. It's very aggressive due to the influence of the hero souls. Its shell can be forged into armor.

Han Fei simply chose to go for the Blade Edge Spiritual Crab, and the Blood Drinking Knife glittered in his hand.

This was not the time for a prolonged battle. He needed to get away from the battlefield as soon as possible. The people behind him would catch up to him soon. He would be in a dilemma if he hadn't escaped yet by then!

Crack!

Using the Drawing Art, which was Han Fei's best battle technique at this point, Han Fei cut through the crab shell. The saber aura did not stop until thirty meters later.

At this point, Han Fei had stepped on the Blade Edge Spiritual Crab and charged at the unknown darkness.

Three seconds after Han Fei ran into the darkness, a lot of peak-level Dangling Fishers had swarmed into the inner city.

The hero souls and sea creatures who intended to hunt Han Fei, distracted by the intruders, immediately attacked them.

“Damn it... I’m tricked! I’m going to cut my way through.”

Han Fei cut a couple of sea creatures in a row, including a crab, an octopus, a sea snake, and, most surprisingly, a huge conch.

Having seen Xiao Zhan’s Eight-Armed Conch earlier, Han Fei knew that some conchs could be tough and tricky, but he had to cut that particularly conch three times to break it.

Han Fei’s face was dark, and his arm was shaking. It was really hard to deal with the creatures with hard shells! If he ever met an opponent who had a contractual spiritual beast similar to the Eight-Armed Conch one day, that opponent couldn’t be weak.

Passing those creatures, Han Fei simply covered himself in a Stealth Array, but it was practically useless. He was immediately spotted by a serpent. Thankfully, the Hexagon Starfish, as free labor, dropped another array on Han Fei and managed to hide him in time.

The Hexagon Starfish said, “You need to learn arrays more. You’re not good at them except the Spirit Gathering Array...”

Han Fei said gloomily, “Do you think I don’t know that? But do I look like someone who has the time to study arrays?”.

He was lost for words. I’m a Heavenly Talent, and I’m despised by a starfish! When I’m finished here, I have to spend some time on arrays after I leave the level-three fishery...

Since the Seaborne Prairie, Han Fei had realized the importance of arrays. He did not feel so back in the level-two fishery, but here, he felt that he could hardly resist the ferocious hunters of the level-three fishery without a few handy arrays.

The outer city had already turned into hell, and fierce battles were going on at the gate to the inner city.

The hero souls were much stronger than regular undead creatures. Holding their spears, they drew such intense circles of light in the water that they almost wove into nets.

At the gate to the inner city, the contractual spiritual beasts were raging, and the human fishers were fighting crazily with glowing weapons.

The hero souls were shattered by the peak-level Dangling Fishers one after another. Since Han Fei could kill the sea creatures like Blade Edge Spiritual Crab, it was even easier for the hundreds of peak-level Dangling Fishers.

Gradually, the advanced Dangling Fishers broke in and joined the battlefield too.

Han Fei frowned, wondering how many people Yang Huan had intercepted in the outer city. At this moment, the gate of the inner city had almost been cleared, and only a handful of peak-level Dangling Fishers as well as a few dozen advanced Dangling Fishers were killed. The situation was being stabilized.

Suddenly, the Three Turn Dragon Drool Grass at the gate exploded.

Han Fei learned the dreadfulness of poison at this moment. The infinite poisons around the Three Turn Dragon Drool Grass burst out at the game like strange fireworks that were flashing in the night sky.

Han Fei was quite shocked that Yang Huan detonated such a precious spiritual grass without any hesitation. He quite admired Yang Huan for that.

Not everybody had such resolve. After all, the Three Turn Dragon Drool Grass could possibly increase the capabilities of the user and might be even more valuable than the Venomous Tulip. The moment the Three Turn Dragon Drool Grass exploded, Han Fei sensed an earthquake. He felt that something was pushing through the soil.

A moment later, he saw an infinite number of hermit crabs under his feet.

Reading the information of the hermit crabs, Han Fei was quite horrified.

<Name> Soul Eating Crab

<Introduction> This is a mutated hermit crab. Because of the nurturing of the hero souls, they can feed on soul power.

<Level> 13

<Quality> Mutated

<Spiritual Energy> 111 points

<Effect> Inedible

<Absorbable>

Han Fei immediately jerked and swam up. Those creatures were now swarming out. Even though he considered his soul to be steady and powerful, he would rather not risk his life.

He heard Yang Huan's telepathic voice. Han Fei, it's time for you to show your sincerity in our cooperation! I've done enough! I've poisoned thirty percent of them as I promised, and I've detonated the Thousand Kilometer Redness, making all the creatures within a hundred kilometers delirious. There's nothing more I can do now. It's up to you.

Han Fei frowned. How did you find me?

Yang Huan said, Hey! You're still carrying my poison. I can track you down as long as the poison remains.

Han Fei knew that Yang Huan was negotiating with him. So far, he had done nothing except for attracting the undead creatures as a bait. Obviously, Yang Huan was unsatisfied.

But Han Fei was not an idiot to join the battle immediately. Something would be wrong with his head if he did that.

Han Fei said, Let's wait a moment while they fight.

Yang Huan said, Someone will escape after a few moments at most. I can't lock the outer city down on my own. If they run into the inner city, neither of us can catch them. This is the only opportunity for us.

Han Fei was lost for words. You think I'm a god? Do you expect me to fight a thousand people while dealing with all those creatures?

Yang Huan asked, Aren't you capable of the power of thunder?

Han Fei said gloomily, Why do you think that? You think I'm Thor?

Who's Thor?

Han Fei said impatiently, Don't bother who he is. Just keep picking your Sea Swallowing Seashells. I will take action when I think I should.

Then, Han Fei went to where the Soul Eating Crabs were coming.

He was not worried that Yang Huan might run. There were so many people and so many Sea Swallowing Seashells here at the gate to the inner city. Unless Yang Huan gave up all of them, he had to continue the cooperation with Han Fei.

"Ah!"

"Soul Eating Crabs!"

The overwhelming Soul Eating Crabs marched forward. Though tens of thousands of them were crushed instantly, still, more Soul Eating Crabs swallowed soul power. Many advanced Dangling Fishers fell in the middle of the fight.

There was nothing they could do when their soul was eaten.

Someone exclaimed, "Abort the hunt! Abort the hunt! Run!"

Han Fei saw that many people squeezed their Flash Stones and disappeared. The number of the people here was shrinking.

After only a short while, a third of them had squeezed their Flash Stone and escaped.

Apart from those who fled, hundreds of people returned to the outer city. They were already horrified of what happened to them at the gate to the inner city. They didn't know what lay ahead, and too many of them had been killed. After realizing that it was hopeless for them to hunt the demons, they believed that escaping was the most sensible choice.

While those advanced Dangling Fishers were trying to escape, Han Fei was exploring the depths. At this moment, he was standing outside of an underground cave.

Just now, he saw a swarm of Soul Eating Crabs coming out of the cave. Also, he perceived something even more dangerous down below.

Therefore, Han Fei "accidentally" dropped a spiritual fruit and broke it...

Chapter 402 Demon Han's Action

By the time Han Fei returned, he found that half of the messy crowd was missing, and the remaining half managed to deal with the situation.

Yang Huan was lurking in the crowd. Sensing that Han Fei was drawing near, he glanced at Han Fei.

"S*it..."

Greatly shocked, Yang Huan had no time to care about his secret identity. He simply yelled, "Are you crazy?" Han Fei grinned and shouted, "Your grandpa Han Fei is here. Who dares to fight me?" It all happened too fast. Yang Huan had been paying attention to Han Fei, not believing that he would simply leave these guys here. He was not concerned even when Han Fei ran away a moment earlier.

But his face couldn't have looked more awful at this moment. He could sense the overwhelming tide behind Han Fei.

How could there be a tide in the Undersea City? It could only have been a certain powerful creature...

After Han Fei's telepathic announcement, everybody looked at him, and he simply showed himself without hiding anymore.

"Damn it! Take him down!"

"Seriously? There's something behind him!"

Someone noticed Han Fei's follower, but Han Fei had already come close. In the meantime, he threw hundreds of spiritual fruits to the crowd.

Many people thought that the spiritual fruits were weapons. But on a closer look, they found that they were spiritual fruits full of spiritual energy.

Han Fei had thrown out hundreds of spiritual fruits? Who would do that in a battle?

Bam! Bam! Bam!

The spiritual fruits all exploded. For a moment, intense spiritual energy and fragrance was spreading out from the bottom of the sea.

Han Fei dare not delay at all. He suddenly took a turn in another direction.

"Not good! It's the Soul Eating Crabs!" "Run! Not just the Scavengers! What's that? A Scavenger?"

"Hum..."

Flash Stones were squeezed, and people were disappearing. The Soul Eating Crabs were charging at the battlefield like a swarm of locusts.

Those who failed to escape in time were eaten alive. Those who didn't have a Flash Stone unleashed spiritual energy crazily. Han Fei saw that someone cut everything within dozens of meters in one slash.

Some peak-level Dangling Fishers refused to run, because if this team fell apart, they would hardly be able to survive Han Fei, Yang Huan, and Xia Xiaochan if they ran into them as individuals.

Someone roared, "Calm down and hold your position! Gather! Gather!"

Grinning, Han Fei wandered at the edge of the battlefield and threw spiritual fruits or balls of spiritual energy at the crowded places.

"Gather? You still want to gather?"

Someone punched through the dense Soul Eating Crabs and spoke telepathically, Peak-level Dangling Fishers, come with me. Let's kill Han Fei.

Han Fei was not panicked at all. He simply stood at the broken hole and performed the Drawing Art. One of the peak-level Dangling Fishers was slashed back, with blood all over his body, before he made it out.

Han Fei shook his head in dissatisfaction, as he failed to cut the peak-level Dangling Fisher apart when the man was on full alert.

In the next moment, dozens of peak-level Dangling Fishers marched and surrounded Han Fei.

Han Fei chuckled, and a purple array appeared out of nowhere, followed by a Spirit Forbidding Net.

"Damn it. It's the Spirit Forbidding Net! Break this array!"

However, Mr. Hexagon Starfish was a level-43 mystic creature anyway. It might be cowardly, but not everybody could break his Six Gate Array.

All Han Fei needed was the little time that they were delayed.

When the Spirit Forbidding Net covered them, Han Fei's thirty Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers cut the dozens of peak-level Dangling Fishers in the blink of an eye.

Everybody felt cold to see that. Those victims were not beginner Dangling Fishers but the peak of the level-three fishery! Yet, they had been killed so easily?

Canceling the Six Gate Array, Han Fei picked up dozens of Sea Swallowing Shells and roared again, "Your Grandpa Han is here! Come on and kill me!" Some peak-level Dangling Fishers began to evacuate, as too many people had died! They never anticipated that half of their team would be lost before they could pass the inner gate of the Undersea City.

Some advanced Dangling Fishers were fighting hard, but there were simply too many crabs. Barely any of them survived when the Soul Eating Crabs approached them.

Even Han Fei was surrounded by dozens of Soul Eating Crabs now and then. However, Han Fei did not give them any chance, so he simply crushed them with his overwhelming spiritual energy.

Seeing that most of the enemies were escaping instead of pushing forward, he sneered at them.

"Fuse."

It was the first time that Little White and Little Black were fused after level 30.

Many people were awed by Han Fei's strange eyes at the moment of fusion. His face was slightly twisted, and the gray hazy sheen over his body eclipsed the colors of Little Gold. "Chila..."

Yang Huan broke out of the crowd. He also covered himself in poison to avoid the attack of the Scavengers and the Soul Eating Crabs.

At this point, his eyes constricted quickly as he looked at Han Fei, impressed by Han Fei's formidableness.

Just now, he felt that Han Fei was a peak-level Dangling Fisher, but much faster than the regular peak-level Dangling Fishers. The man ripped apart the chaotic mass of Soul Eating Crabs in one attack.

Then, thirty Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers flashed in the seawater, with black and white colors spreading on every one of them.

Pu... Pu... Pu...

After each attack, one of the advanced Dangling Fishers would fall. Both them and their spiritual beasts would be minced as long as Han Fei touched them.

Of course, Han Fei was attacked too. But to everybody's shock, Han Fei did not bother to defend himself at all. His body was so sturdy that the spiritual weapons caused nothing but a clinking sound when they hit him.

"Demon Han is on a rampage! Let's go!"

Including the peak-level Dangling Fishers, no one wanted to hunt demons anymore. That man was too strong! Even though he seemed to be covered in bloody wounds, he hadn't suffered any critical wounds.

Maybe, the remaining peak-level Dangling Fishers could kill Han Fei if they attacked him together. But they didn't have a chance, not with the assortment of hostile creatures that had been attracted to this place. Besides, there was still a Yang Huan who was lurking in the dark

"Let's go!"

The peak-level Dangling Fishers squeezed their Flash Stones one after another.

As for the advanced Dangling Fishers, they had already run if they were capable of running the moment Han Fei marched into the crowd. They certainly didn't want to be cut to pieces by Han Fei.

After a long time, the gate to the inner part of the Undersea City had become empty.

Nobody was here to kill Han Fei anymore, but Han Fei was still slaughtering the Soul Eating Crabs, showing no intention of stopping. "Hey! Enough! Stop killing! There's nobody around!"

Yang Huan spoke to Han Fei from the dark. He felt that something was wrong with Han Fei. The man was weird and powerful, but what surprised Yang Huan most was that the spiritual energy was surging into Han Fei's body from all directions.

Too many creatures had died in this battle, leaving tremendous unowned spiritual energy. It was actually not Han Fei but the Demon Purification Pot that was absorbing the energy.

At this moment, Han Fei was in fact still, and the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers were doing the killing.

Han Fei's eyes were closed. He sensed something mysterious that was trying to pop up in his head, but it failed again and again. He didn't know what it was, but he yearned for it.

After a long time, Han Fei suddenly lost strength and nearly fell on the ground, and the fusion of Little White and Little Black automatically ended.

He opened his eyes in a hurry, only to see nothing but bodies in front of him. He asked, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, what happened just now?"

He looked at his shoulder, but the Hexagon Starfish was nowhere to be seen. Had this guy disappeared? "Mr. Hexagon Starfish?"

From a lobster shell a thousand meters away, the Hexagon Starfish crawled out and rolled its six big eyes at Han Fei. "You've woken up?"

Han Fei was puzzled. "What happened here?"

The Hexagon Starfish replied with a shivering voice, "Just now, an extremely powerful force seemed to be escaping from your body. Naturally I had to run, didn't I?"

Han Fei's eyebrow was furrowed. "An extremely powerful force? From me?"

After a brief silence, the Hexagon Starfish replied, "It might not have belonged to you, but to your spiritual beasts."

"Little Black and Little White?"

Suddenly, Han Fei darted a Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Dagger to the void on his left. Then, a person flashed and appeared from stealth mode.

Yang Huan was rather stunned. "You're not crazy?"

Chapter 403 Treasure Trove of Prison

Han Fei's original purpose was simple. He had wanted to intimidate everyone in this battle.

But after he fused with Little Black and Little White, he felt that something was wrong. Everything was fine at first, and his power in every aspect was significantly boosted. But then, as the battle went on, something seemed to be growing in his head, until he woke up in the end.

Han Fei asked Yang Huan, "What did you see?"

Yang Huan waved his hands. "I didn't see anything."

Han Fei said coldly, "What did I do?"

"You don't know what you did?"

Han Fei: "???"

Yang Huan looked at Han Fei with a complicated expression. "Just now, your spiritual weapons all became black-and-white wheels that killed every person who hadn't run away yet. There's also them..."

Yang Huan pointed at the bodies of sea creatures on the ground, many of them had been squished violently and died with miserable looks.

Yang Huan was pretty sure that he should never make Han Fei his enemy.

He was confident that he was the best in terms of poison in the level-three fishery, but in terms of fighting, Han Fei could've killed dozens of him in his previous state.

Han Fei was rather confused. Was I so awesome just now?

Yang Huan waved his hand and tossed hundreds of Sea Swallowing Seashells to Han Fei.

Staring at Han Fei thoughtfully, Yang Huan said, "Many people escaped. The four entrances to the Undersea City will probably be blocked in ten days, so I won't explore it anymore. It's time to say goodbye."

Han Fei picked up 208 Sea Swallowing Seashells in a row. Plus the dozens that he picked earlier, he had 260 in total at this moment.

Yang Huan smiled casually. "We cooperated well this time. We slew more than five hundred enemies. Haha. I can finally make it to the top five on the wanted list now!" Han Fei's lips cramped. "Then wouldn't I be first place?"

Yang Huan shook his head. "Hardly. You only eliminated a dozen peak-level Dangling Fishers with the Spirit Forbidding Net this time. Mo Qianshang, who ranks first, killed more than sixty by himself. If you can kill so many peak-level Dangling Fishers sometime, you may be able to compete for first place with him."

Han Fei: "..."

Yang Huan left. He was a smart guy. Han Fei was not scared of poison because of the treasures he found, so it was impossible for Yang Huan to beat him. In case they were surrounded later, Yang Huan might as well escape sooner.

What was inside the Undersea City exactly? Yang Huan didn't really care. After all, nobody had obtained anything remarkable from there since ancient times.

Han Fei didn't stop him, or check if the number of the Sea Swallowing Seashells was right. He had already earned a lot from the battle, including not just the Sea Swallowing Seashells but also the deaths of those who intended to hunt him and Xia Xiaochan.

After Yang Huan left, Han Fei's eyebrow flashed, and Little White and Little Black appeared again.

Han Fei looked at them weirdly, sensing that there were great secrets in them. If Yang Huan wasn't lying just now, his Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers must've been transformed into mini Supreme Yin Yang Wheels!

Han Fei understood the power of the Supreme Yin Yang Wheel, but wasn't it a fatal move when Little White and Little Black were combined? How could his weapons be transformed into Supreme Yin Yang Wheels?

Resting a moment, Han Fei pet Little White and said, "Search for Xia Xiaochan. She should be here."

Little White craned its little head and wandered a moment, before it swooshed away.

Han Fei grabbed the Hexagon Starfish and threw it on his shoulder. "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, why are you such a coward?"

The Hexagon Starfish rolled its eyes. "You were so brutal. I might have been killed by you if I hadn't run away."

Han Fei scoffed and asked, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, are you the best treasure hunter among the starfish? Where do you think the treasures are hidden in this forsaken city?"

The freezing currents appeared now and then, but Han Fei simply changed his swimming posture accordingly. The Shadow Swimming Art allowed him to roam this dark place gracefully and casually.

To get a better view of this place, Han Fei took out the lights he collected from the lantern fish and connected them.

So, in the dark Undersea City, a white little fish was swimming ahead, and a young man holding a series of brilliant lights was following, with bubbles popping up from his mouth now and then.

Those who were familiar with Han Fei would realize that he was saying "shoot" everything when bubbles came out.

Han Fei discovered, to his surprise, that there were many more caves of Soul Eating Crabs like the one he saw before. He had seen the Scavengers from the Seaborne Prairie too.

But back then, the Scavengers erected their bone stings and simply lay at the bottom of the sea. Han Fei tried cutting them but failed to kill them.

The Scavengers here were clearly different! They were not aggressive either, but they were much bolder. At this moment, Han Fei saw that many of them were devouring the Soul Eating Crabs like candies.

Not just that, he even saw a conch that had been bitten by the Scavengers with hundreds of holes in it. Even a spiritual weapon couldn't have broken that conch easily!

Under the light, Han Fei finally saw part of the city clearly. The buildings here were similar to those on the floating island, and some were founded on bones.

However, the buildings on the floating island couldn't have stood after such a long time... Which meant that the buildings here were made of better materials.

If the buildings of this city were of such a remarkable quality, how powerful must it have been in its heyday? It must've been even more prosperous than the Blue Sea Town. Then, what power reduced the city to its current conditions?

More importantly, why was this city established at the bottom of the sea?

Han Fei had been puzzled by these questions for a long time. Could this city have been on a floating island too, until the floating island fell into the sea, resulting in the crash of the city?

The deeper he swam, the more splendid Han Fei found the city was.

Little White changed its course every once in a while. It must've sensed dangerous creatures and circumvented them. So, Han Fei did not run anything tricky on his way. "Huh?"

Three hours later, Han Fei came to a halt and stopped Little White.

He had found a treasure trove, which was surrounded by seven pillars and covered by an array.

“Mr. Hexagon Starfish, do you think there are treasures inside?”

The Hexagon Starfish said excitedly, “There must be! How can there be no treasures in a treasure trove?”

Han Fei said, “Why don’t you go in first?”

The Hexagon Starfish: “???”

Han Fei said with a smile, “Forget it. I know you are a coward. Let’s go in together. However, this array seems to have been broken. What do you think?”

The Hexagon Starfish said, “Yes, it has, or we wouldn’t have noticed it just now.”

“Let’s go in!”

Han Fei recalled Little Black and Little White. He took out the Blood Drinking Knife and squeezed into the array. A moment later, he found a cave beside one of the pillars.

Han Fei secretly cursed. He hated the treasures that were buried underground, because there might be unexpected dangers.

But of course, Han Fei still jumped in after the cursing.

Creak...

Out of Han Fei’s expectation, it seemed more than easy for him to enter the treasure trove! He felt that he just stepped on rotten wood.

Illuminating the place with his lights, Han Fei found a door below his feet. It was not a regular door, but a prison door made of certain mysterious iron.

Han Fei was rather surprised. Have I come to the prison of this city? Han Fei grew curious immediately. He didn’t think he could find any treasures in this place, but it was possible for him to learn the history of the Undersea City here.

Holding the lights, Han Fei pressed on in the dark aisle. But after only several dozen meters, he found three corpses on the ground. They weren’t fully rotten yet and couldn’t have been dead for more than ten years.

Judging from the posture of the bodies, they had been trying to escape from the treasure trove, but for some reason, they died after they ran to this place.

“Attach.”

The Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp was attached to himself, and he raised the nine-star chains as a precaution.

Han Fei passed several rock walls and rooms. Inside the rooms were rotten desks, chairs, and occasionally weapons that had been randomly left on the ground. Han Fei stepped on them and poked them. Those weapons were easily perforated.

After taking multiple turns, Han Fei finally entered the prison. It was even more ragged than Han Fei had imagined. Barely any doors were left here, and more than half of the walls had collapsed too.

Han Fei came to a random prison cell and saw bodies in them. "Huh? There are still remaining bones?"

Chapter 404 Undead Merman

Under certain circumstances, bones could exist millions of years and turn into fossils, but obviously, the forsaken prison in the Undersea City did not meet the harsh requirements.

The creatures here were different from those in the sea. Regular bones couldn't stand their biting at all and might become incomplete after several years. But why were the remaining bones here still intact? Han Fei was rather shocked.

Crossing the rotten threshold, Han Fei even ran to the bones and squeezed them. He found that the bones were rather hard. There was no telling whether it was because of long-time cultivation or for other reasons...

With confusion, Han Fei examined other prison cells. Molds and moss were everywhere on the wall because of the passage of time. Some mosses were even growing on the bones.

Passing hundreds of prison cells, Han Fei found that not every one of them had remaining bones. It might be related to the capabilities of the prisoners inside. When a catastrophe fell upon the city, nobody set them free, and some of them were caged and died in their cells.

After multiple turns, Han Fei found nothing special. He did not even spot any sea creatures.

"Hey, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, is there a place without any animals at the bottom of the sea?"

Han Fei was rather puzzled as it didn't make sense. This place might be secluded, but it was at the bottom of the sea. By common sense, there should at least be crabs even if there weren't any fish or prawns.

Rolling its eyes, the Hexagon Starfish said, "I sense that this place is dangerous."

"Dangerous?"

Han Fei frowned, not knowing what could possibly be dangerous about this place. He hadn't seen one living creature yet.

Suddenly, Han Fei came to a stop after a turn.

It was a dead end. But after the turn, there was a channel that led downwards.

Raising the lights, Han Fei had a look around and walked down the stairs.

"Hula..."

When Han Fei was about to reach a lower level of the prison, he saw a pair of glittering eyes, and then a person flashed by.

“Who is it?”

Because it was too fast, Han Fei only caught that the man seemed to be much shorter than himself. Then, the man fled away in a weird posture, half running and half swimming.

Han Fei summoned his fishing pole and cast the hook. But after two turns, the creature simply disappeared.

“Huh? Is someone else here?”

The Hexagon Starfish spoke telepathically, Something here is very familiar.

“Familiar?”

Han Fei was lost for words. “Do you know anything in this place? You were caged in the regular fishery for three hundred years. Were you here when you were little?”

Rolling its big eyes, the Hexagon Starfish said, “I don’t know, but something here is just familiar...”

Han Fei recalled the fishing pole and summoned dozens of Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers. If there were living creatures here, did they have any secrets?

He did not recklessly chase the stranger. Instead, he focused his attention on this level of the prison, which was better preserved than the upper one.

Going down the aisle, Han Fei came to a prison cell. The door of the cell was broken, and there was a skull inside.

Han Fei felt goosebumps all over his body. You could’ve kept the entirety of the body! Why did you only leave the skull? Where’s the rest of the body?

He was more and more uneasy. He had sensed that something was wrong since he came in.

He suddenly turned around, only to see nothing. His mind did not perceive anything either.

Going forward, Han Fei found that most prison cells were empty, and those which were not empty had nothing but a skull in them. The rest of the bodies were nowhere to be seen.

Han Fei’s lips cramped. Was there a monster here who had the habit of collection? Or was it a custom in this city to throw the heads of prisoners into prison cells after they were executed?

After a long time of exploration, Han Fei didn’t make any discoveries. He only found another passage that led downwards.

Damn it. How many levels does this prison have?

Han Fei suddenly shivered. Don’t tell me that this prison has eighteen levels, and I’ll see a pot of boiling oil down below. If so, I’ll go back right now...

This time, Han Fei saw another pair of eyes staring at him from a dark corner. He was rather crept out, but the eyes ran off after glancing at him.

But Han Fei stepped out and quickly came to the third level of the prison this time.

The moment he entered this level, he was embraced by a stinky wind. Instantly, he slashed out the dozens of Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers. Controlling the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers and straightening them into a line, he cut the darkness.

Then, he heard clangs, and a weird shadow was waving its tail on the floor, fending off the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers.

“Lizard? Salamander? Serpent?”

Han Fei did not need to speculate anymore, because he had seen a head on the floor. He almost felt the urge to flee when he saw the hideous head.

To be more exact, it was a human-shaped head, with two holes on the part where the nose should’ve been, and sharp teeth all over the mouth. The creature also had two skinny hands.

This creature moved using those two hands. Apart from the web on those hands, they were exactly like the hands of an extremely slim man.

What shocked Han Fei most was the body of that creature, which looked like a fish and had a long tail behind.

At this moment, the creature bent its tail, revealing the sharp bone stings on it.

Data popped up in his eyes.

<Name> Undead Merman

<Introduction> This is the lowliest sea primate. It’s a regular merman that has evolved in the special environment. It has extraordinary sight, and its teeth are sharp enough to bite through mid-quality spiritual weapons.

<Quality> Exotic (Ultra-Quality)

<Quality> Mutated

<Spiritual Energy> 3,358 Points

<Effect> Inedible

<Collectible> None

<Unabsorbable>

Han Fei was immediately stunned. You call this a merman? It evolved from a regular merman? This is how it looks after a long time of evolution? Then how ugly must it have been before the evolution?

The Undead Merman jerked and bared the sharp claws on its hands. In the meantime, it opened its mouth widely as if it was going to swallow Han Fei alive.

BAM!

Han Fei exerted eighty percent of his strength and slapped it with his seal, because it was too ugly. He would be disgusted if the creature lunged at him! So, he simply slapped with the Water Dividing Seal without using the Blood Drinking Knife.

The Undead Merman rolled on the ground and crashed into a prison cell. Han Fei immediately followed, ready to attack again.

In the next moment, a human-shaped body was thrown to him, and Han Fei subconsciously slapped it apart with the seal.

What caught Han Fei's attention was that this body had a tail too. It was more complete than other bodies, with everything from the skull to the pelvis.

But right below the pelvis, it was one long bone that was in many sections.

"Sweet mother of God. Is this a merman or a mermaid?"

Han Fei swallowed. Earlier, rumor had it that there were mermaids in the sea.

Han Fei had never seen any mermaids after roaming the sea for years, or he would've tried to marry one.

He felt that he had to update his knowledge now. It was possible that merman and mermaids did exist, except that they were not as beautiful as described.

At this point, the Undead Merman was staring at Han Fei in fright from a corner, gnarling and baring its crooked teeth at Han Fei. Han Fei was almost throwing up.

This Undead Merman had been paralyzed by Han Fei's seal. Now, it could only crawl with its hands while it roared at Han Fei.

Han Fei looked at it in despite and hit it consecutively with the Water Dividing Seal until it was dead.

"You're undead? You think you're really undead when you have such an awesome name? Damn it. What is this place? Why are there mermen here?" "Hiss..."

The Hexagon Starfish warned, "Watch out."

Han Fei waved the Blood Drinking Knife back, cutting another Undead Merman into two pieces.

He said awfully, "Is this s*ithole full of those things?" Now, Han Fei did not expect any treasures in this place. So, not every treasure trove contained opportunities...

When Han Fei walked out of the prison cell, he found several pairs of cold eyes gazing at him from the end of the passage. However, instead of charging at them, those creatures were gradually falling back.

Han Fei hesitated a moment. He looked back, but he eventually decided to push on because he was too curious about the merman. They hadn't been completely transformed into fish, like Yang Ruoyun was; they were real mermen! What would he find at the end of this prison?

The Hexagon Starfish pulled Han Fei's shoulder and asked, "Are you going on?"

Han Fei said, "I'm just taking a quick glance. I'll leave after that."

Chapter 405 Inferior Man-Fish

This time, Han Fei simply evoked all the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers and replaced the Water Dividing Seal with the Needle.

“Lulu...”

Han Fei laid the rod on the ground and hauled it forward step by step. The noises when the Needle rubbed the floor was particularly ear-splitting in the quiet prison.

Han Fei heard the squeaks from the darkness clearly, but he didn't care. Those Undead Mermen weren't strong. He wouldn't have pressed on if he had just come to the level-three fishery, but now that he had broken the obstacles in the Indestructible Body, Han Fei was not scared of the peak-level Dangling Fishers anymore. Those Undead Mermen couldn't be a problem for him at all.

As Han Fei pushed close, those Undead Merman finally charged at him.

When dozens of Undead Mermen charged at him, Han Fei tilted his head and snapped his fingers, sending forth the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers which cut the seawater apart magnificently. Clank, Clank, Clank...

Those Undead Merman did not give in. None of them were slow. Some crawled on the floor and some on the wall while they resisted the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers with their sharp claws.

Some of them were shaking their tails. The bone stings on their tails seemed even more powerful than the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers.

However, while holding the Needle in one hand, Han Fei simply shot the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers back when they were flung away.

After no more than one minute, three Undead Merman had been chopped into pieces.

“Hiss...”

An Undead Merman leaped and jumped at Han Fei. Smiling, Han Fei surrounded the Undead Merman with the nine-star chains in the blink of an eye.

As the nine-star chain was tightened, the Undead Merman was strangled under the surging spiritual energy. All its bones were broken.

Han Fei slightly shook his head. “Your level is not low, but you're too bad at fighting.”

If all the Undead Mermen were as good as this, they could only compare to regular intermediate Dangling Fishers in terms of comprehensive combat ability. They weren't a challenge for Han Fei at all.

“Hehe. Enough fun.”

Han Fei suddenly waved the Needle, which was thickened dozens of times momentarily and almost filled up the whole aisle.

Boom...

Han Fei hurled the rod forward, and an intense stink of blood spread out in the seawater after a few screams.

After Han Fei recalled the Needle, three Undead Mermen had been pushed into the wall on his opposite side. He had killed four earlier, and three escaped.

But Han Fei didn't care. He was interested in what was in the depths of the prison. If there was nothing but these Undead Mermen, he could deal with a hundred of them easily.

Han Fei accelerated and walked forward.

After many zigzagging aisles, Han Fei finally came to a gigantic prison cell. To Han Fei's surprise, though the prison cell was broken, there were six iron chains that were dangling in it as if they were still shackling something.

Han Fei lowered his head and saw bones all over the ground. He couldn't help but frown. The bones did not just belong to human beings but also to the Undead Merman.

Apart from the bones, there was also a mess of shells and furs.

Altogether, the remains in this place suggested that those creatures had been eaten alive.

Han Fei was quite shocked by what he perceived. Was it a merman, or a man-fish?

He saw a weirdo standing at the center of the prison cell that had legs and a tail. But different from human beings, he had a fish face. His eyeballs were so huge that they were popping out. His feet had webs and only three toes.

The Hexagon Starfish said, "It's a demon! The vibe of a sea demon... I remember it now. The woman who was with you had this same vibe when she turned into a fish."

Han Fei squinted. A sea demon? He had run into a sea demon in this place?

Han Fei stepped forward and raised the lights, illuminating the person inside.

Han Fei subconsciously snorted when he saw the guy's face. It was really hideous even for a demon and not nearly like Yang Ruoyun, who was beautiful as a woman and as a fish.

This thing before Han Fei's eyes had a fish head, but it had a mouth, eyes, and a nose. His ears and nose were very small, and his mouth was exceptionally huge and nearly stretched out to its ears.

That might be acceptable if it was all. After all, Han Fei had just seen the hideous Undead Mermen. However, this creature here was greasily green. Because it was slim, the scales on his body had mostly dropped, making him look like a dried fish.

A string of data appeared in front of Han Fei's eyes.

<Name> Inferior Man-Fish (Lowly Sea Demon)

<Introduction> This is a sea demon who hasn't matured yet. It's brutal and bloodthirsty. Its inferiority makes it impossible to tell which creature it evolved from. Because of the long-time imprisonment, its capabilities have significantly declined.

<Level> 40 (Declined)

<Spiritual Energy> 1,221/4,661

<Demon Heritage> Level-Three, Low-Quality

<Level > Awakened

<Associated Spirit> Unknown

<Note> Presumably possessed

<Unabsorbable>

Han Fei couldn't help but laugh. "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, you call this a demon?"

The Hexagon Starfish rolled its big eyes. "Huh? It doesn't seem too threatening. But I really sensed danger a moment ago."

Han Fei was deep in thought, Is there a tougher sea demon here? I could kill any demon of such a level easily.

Han Fei shook his head. This creature's level, demon heritage, and storage of spiritual energy suggested that it was just a weakling.

However, Han Fei did not ignore "presumably possessed". Possessed? Was there something inside this man-fish?

Bypassing the sea demon, Han Fei looked back and saw the Undead Mermen that had just escaped hiding in a corner, as if they were terrified of Han Fei.

Han Fei did not consider it a big deal. The three lucky survivors were not a threat. This sea demon, on the other hand, was shackled with its eyes closed. So, it couldn't be the danger that the Hexagon Starfish mentioned.

Suddenly, Han Fei heard a vague telepathic voice, Set it free, and I'll give you treasures.

Han Fei looked around and saw nothing. Eventually, he focused his eyes on the lowly sea demon again, "Were you talking?"

That voice did not respond.

But Han Fei suddenly laughed. "So it was you. Though I'm new here, I know that this thing is alive but dying. Are you the one possessing it? Are you a human or a demon?"

After a long time, the voice replied, I'm a human.

Han Fei curled his lips. "How can I trust you? What if you are a demon? I would be sorry for mankind if I set a demon free and let it do evil things, wouldn't I?"

After a brief silence, the voice said, I can prove it.

Han Fei said with a smile, "Then prove it. I'm really curious. How did you possess this demon? That's a weird technique. Can you control this sea demon?"

The man seemed to have been shocked by Han Fei's calmness. He couldn't help but ask, Are you not scared?

"Scared"?

Han Fei said with a smile, "You think that thing can scare me? Is there something wrong with your head?"

The man asked, How did you know me?

Han Fei scoffed, "I found it weird that there's nothing here when I was still outside. It's because this inferior sea demon needs food, and you can only survive in it if it has food, right?"

The man was silent, and Han Fei continued, "This city has been abandoned for I don't know how many years, and you're telling me that a mediocre sea demon has survived such a long time? You created a lot of sacrifices to look for food for you, didn't you? Also, considering the human bones on the ground, you're a cannibal too, aren't you? I don't want to talk to you anymore. Give me a reason not to kill you."

After witnessing Yang Ruoyun's transformation, Han Fei believed that nothing was impossible in this world. Maybe there were indeed mermen and mermaids in this world, but in this level-three fishery, the Man-Fish here could only count as an inferior demon. Han Fei was not scared of it at all, not to mention that it was still tied up.

After a long time, seeing that Han Fei was about to attack, the man finally said, I have secret techniques of reincarnation.

Han Fei roared angrily, "Get lost! Like the one you've used? Don't describe that piece of garbage like it's a treasure."

The man said, This is an art of reincarnation?

Han Fei sneered. "Reincarnation? You just took someone else's shell like a hermit crab. But fine. If you insist on offering it, I have no choice but to reluctantly accept it. What else have you got?"

Han Fei didn't know how frustrated the man inside the man-fish was. He couldn't feel great when the secret technique that he was so proud of was mocked.

The man said straightforwardly, The art of reincarnation is already the best treasure, as can be proved by this Man-Fish.

Han Fei said, "Why don't I kill this Man-Fish, and you reincarnate yourself elsewhere? As it happens, there's a couple of Undead Mermen back there."

The man shouted, "Wait, wait!"

Chapter 406 Secret Battle Technique

The man was panicked. He had no doubt that Han Fei would kill this Man-Fish. Having met too many talented young men, he knew that he couldn't fool them with a few words.

"I have a battle technique that's of a high level. That's the reason why I survived."

Han Fei smiled casually. "Oh? Can you still use it?"

"Yes."

Tilting his head, Han Fei stepped back and said, "Then show me."

"I can't! My battle technique requires tremendous spiritual energy, which I'm running out of. Does this Man-Fish look energetic to you?"

Han Fei raised his finger, and a pillar of spiritual energy was instilled into the man-fish. Then, he threw a random fish over and said, "Show me it now."

"You are a spirit gatherer?" The man was lost for words. Aren't you supposed to be a soul warrior?

Han Fei said, "I'll give you twenty seconds to finish the fish. If you can't show it to me after that, I'll kill you."

Han Fei gazed at the Man-Fish curiously.

He believed that, even if reincarnation techniques existed in this world, the man here couldn't possibly have it, because the level-three fishery was too lowly compared to the infinite ocean. If such remarkable techniques were shown here, it would only mean that whoever possessed the Man-Fish used to be a great expert.

The Man-Fish gobbled up the food. A moment later, it suddenly opened its eyes, with a bright blue sheen emanating from its body.

In the next moment, the Man-Fish began to expand, and its muscles were rising, indicating its increasing power.

"Huh? Is this an explosive secret technique? What's the side effect after you use it?"

Han Fei saw that the Man-Fish rose from level 40 to level 45, and that it was still climbing "Heh. You gave me spiritual energy? You're asking to be killed."

"Hum..."

A shadow burst out from the Man-Fish's eyes. It seemed to be mental power, but it also seemed to be something a level higher than mental power.

Waving the Needle, Han Fei smashed the shadow. Immediately, he felt a blast on his mind, but it didn't hurt him. He simply retreated his mental senses and defended his mind.

"Pu..."

Blood oozed out of Han Fei's nose and ears, and he had a strong headache.

He was quite surprised at the mental shock.

That was not right. He didn't give much spiritual energy, and a fish did not contain much nutrition. How could this man have become so strong?

After three heavy smashes, Han Fei discovered, to his amazement, that he failed to break the thing.

“Huh? This is a high-level secret technique.”

Han Fei had his own secret techniques, including Fury. But it was too deeply flawed. He tried deducing it but it wasn't very helpful, so he gave it up.

Back in the Thug Academy, he came across similar techniques. However, those secret techniques all had strong side effects, and the more advanced they were, the greater the side effects would be. It was also why Han Fei never deduced the secret techniques like Fury.

Now, the only thing that Han Fei was curious about was the side effects of this technique after the man showed it to him.

Han Fei had been curious about it before. A level-40 Man-Fish could've been killed by any random peak-level Dangling Fisher, and it shouldn't have survived so long.

Now, Han Fei finally realized that the man's secret technique was rather powerful, and he might be defeated if the man was not shackled.

“Fish Sorrow Stab!”

Hiu! Hiu! Hiu!

Han Fei saw hundreds of stings being darted at him fast and ferociously.

Instantly, Han Fei pulled all the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers back and hid behind them.

After a while of clinking sounds, Han Fei looked at the dozens of fish stings that pierced half an inch into his body in surprise. “It's quite good. I'm actually hurt.”

Han Fei was very surprised. Even a peak-level Dangling Fisher might not be able to hurt him with regular attacks, but this crippled Man-Fish had wounded him?

The Man-Fish was stunned, as if it had just swallowed a smelly crab. It looked at Han Fei in shock. “You... How is it possible? How could an intermediate Dangling Fisher have resisted the Fish Sorrow Stab?”

“Hum...”

Han Fei unleashed his spiritual energy and knocked away all the stingers. Then he asked, “What else have you got?”

As he spoke, Han Fei stabbed the Needle, sticking it to a weapon that looked like a harpoon.

BAM!

Han Fei was blown a dozen steps back, and the harpoon was broken due to its poor quality.

Han Fei waved his hand. “Very strong. It's even more powerful than a fully-blown attack from a peak-level Dangling Fisher. Is this the effect of your secret technique?”

Han Fei glanced at the Man-Fish with great interest. “Anything else? Your body must be sturdier than before now that you're both mentally and physically stronger, right?”

“Don't...”

While the man-fish cried in fear, Han Fei drew out the Blood Drinking Knife and cut. The intense saber aura instantly passed the man-fish's body.

"Puchi..."

As he expected, though the Man-Fish was fortified, it failed to block his Drawing Art. But to Han Fei's surprise, the man-fish was not killed. Its chest had been cut open, but it was not chopped into halves.

"Huh? You're sturdier than a peak-level Dangling Fisher too, but not by too much. Is it because this Man-Fish was too weak in the first place?"

Han Fei nodded. "It's very possible. After all, this thing is neither a fish nor a man. But it's already impressive that you can take one attack from me."

The man was almost crying. I used my secret technique! How could I have failed to defeat an intermediate Dangling Fisher? Even a peak-level Dangling Fisher would've been killed!

Han Fei asked, "How long will the secret technique last?"

Seeing that the man was silent, Han Fei threatened him. "I'll cut you again if you don't talk. Let's see if you can resist it again."

Heaving a sigh, the man said, "Twenty seconds. The energy that I just acquired can only support that long."

Han Fei's eyes glittered. "That's long enough. What's the consequences? Are there any consequences?" Han Fei was more interested in this secret technique than the art of reincarnation. He would take it as long as it did not have great side effects.

The man seemed to have given up resistance. He said, "The side effect is that you have to eat food and replenish your energy. It's very hard."

However, Han Fei was overjoyed when he heard that the side effect was that he must have food. "Wait, the side effect is the need for food? Not exhaustion, meltdown, etc.?"

The Man-Fish lowered its head. "That's the side effects of regular secret techniques. Actually, all secret techniques are supported by nutrition. But some people confuse nutrition with energy. The secret techniques they create are naturally flawed."

Han Fei was quite happy. There might be people he couldn't defeat in a fight, but he could never fail an eating contest.

He immediately asked, "Give the art of reincarnation and the secret technique to me, and I will spare you."

"Why should I believe you?"

Han Fei said with a smile, "There's nothing you can do anyone. I don't have to kill you. Even if I set you free, do you dare to go out? Do you know how many peak-level Dangling Fishers are out there? I'll wager that you will be caught before you reach the outer city with your current look."

A moment later, when the duration of the secret technique was over, the man controlled an Undead Merman to walk to him and he disgustingly swallowed the Undead Merman alive.

“Ew!”

Han Fei cursed, “Can you be more disgusting?” The man said with a miserable smile, “You will not find this disgusting anymore when you’re starving.”

Han Fei snorted and slashed his saber on the chains. However, while sparks splashed out, the chains remained intact.

“Huh?”

The man sighed, “If the chains could be cut so easily, I wouldn’t have been trapped for such a long time.”

Han Fei ran to the chains and examined them carefully, only to see nothing but a shallow mark on them. They were truly hard.

Han Fei said, “Give me the secret technique and the art of reincarnation first. Then I’ll save you.”

The man was silent for a moment. “Do I look like an idiot? Why would you save me after I give them to you?”

Han Fei said solemnly, “You’re not an idiot. I’ll definitely save you, because those chains are more valuable than you.”

III

The man would’ve fought Han Fei again if he weren’t chained. What are you talking about? I’m not as valuable as a few chains?

Han Fei took out a saw and unattached the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp. Then he said, “Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, time to work. Let’s cut the chains off. They’re as good as ultra-quality spiritual weapons.”

In the meantime, Han Fei looked at the Man-Fish. “Give the secret technique and the art of reincarnation to me first, or I can kill you and tear down this prison cell. That would be easier for me to get the chains.”

The man considered for a moment and decided that he could give the techniques first. He had other things to tempt Han Fei after he was unchained, and he was sure that such a greedy man wouldn’t turn them down. Eventually, Han Fei got what he wanted.

Han Fei chuckled for a moment. Then, his Blood Drinking Knife suddenly glittered. Dumbfounded, the Man-Fish roared, “Don’t! I still have...”

“I don’t care what else you have.”

He slashed the knife, and the Man-Fish, without the enhancement of the secret technique, was cut into halves.

The man died a confusing death. Didn't he agree to spare me? If I offered the art of reincarnation and such a technique, how can I not have better things? Are you an idiot?

Looking at the body of the Man-Fish, Han Fei slightly shook his head. "I wouldn't have killed you if you were slightly better-looking and hadn't eaten so many people. Look at all the bones here. You think I would really set you free? What's wrong with you?"

The Hexagon Starfish remarked, "I feel that he has more treasures."

Han Fei grinned, "I know, but I don't care. He must've been a sophisticated man who lived too many years. I may be killed because of his tricks later. So, it's enough that I have the secret technique."

Chapter 407 Majestic Mystic Spell

Han Fei looked at the so-called art of reincarnation first.

Grand Soul Hosting Technique (Heaven-Level, Mid-Quality)

Note: This can shatter the enemy's soul with overwhelming mental power and possess the enemy's body. If you don't return to your own body in time, you will never be able to come back again, and you will die when the possessed dies.

Shortcoming: It requires tremendous spiritual power, or your soul may be crumbled, never to be restored again.

Deduced Art: Unknown

Deduction Cost: 0/20,000,000

Han Fei was quite surprised after reading the information. It seemed really fancy, and could indeed enable someone to reincarnate in another body.

However, the technique did not mention if one could possess someone again after the first possession, or if the soul and the new body could be perfectly melted after the possession.

Also, the technique had a high demand on spiritual power, and one might be dead for good after one moment of carelessness. Han Fei was not interested in it at all. He wouldn't have deduced it even if the cost was one million instead of twenty million. Why would he possess anyone when his own body was excellent on its own?

Then, Han Fei looked at another technique.

Mystic Turtle Secret Technique (Demon-Level, High-Quality)

Note: This is a technique created based on the observation of turtles. By consuming tremendous energy, it can trigger body potentials and temporarily increase combat ability.

Shortcoming: The body will be overly exhausted if the energy is consumed too much.

Deduced Art: Unknown

Deduction Cost: 0/5,000,000

Han Fei's lips curled after he read the technique. As he expected, it was impossible that a secret technique to improve combat ability didn't have side effects. That guy didn't mention the over exhaustion to him.

But up until now, the Mystic Turtle Secret Technique was the best secret technique he had seen. It could be used as long as he had abundant energy, and his body wouldn't be really hurt.

Considering the Man-Fish's level that had declined, Han Fei speculated that the man had exhausted the Man-Fish too many times, which resulted in the retrograde of the body.

Han Fei decided that he could cultivate this secret technique. Unlike the Man-Fish who didn't have any food, he had a ton of food in Forge the Universe.

For example, he never had a chance to finish the Yellow Blood Sea Cucumber, a great food to replenish energy and build up the body. He felt slightly hungry when he thought about it. It seemed that he hadn't enjoyed a meal for a long time!

He decided that he would definitely have to enjoy a good meal after rescuing Xia Xiaochan.

Han Fei turned his head and looked at the two Undead Mermen that were hiding in a corner. They seemed even more frightened after the Man-Fish died.

Han Fei shook his head. "You wretched bastards should go to your next life now! If you have a next time, either become a fish or become a man. Don't be a creepy humanoid like this..."

Finishing off the two Undead Mermen, Han Fei and the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp began to dismantle the iron chains.

The iron chains were good items. Han Fei suspected that the Man-Fish must've been of a high level before it was possessed, or it wouldn't have been tied by such excellent chains.

After the Undersea City was abandoned, nobody came to the prison anymore, and the Man-Fish couldn't escape, until it was possessed in the end.

It took Han Fei four hours to tear off the iron chains as well as the wall made of unknown materials that they were attached to.

After that, Han Fei glanced at the Mystic Turtle Secret Technique and decided to deduce it. Since the technique could use energy to offset the side effects, there shouldn't be a problem to deduce it.

"Deduce."

Majestic Mystic Spell

Note: This is a secret technique created based on the observation of turtles. By offering tremendous energy as sacrifice, you can summon the Mystic Turtle, which can multiply your combat ability according to your level.

Current Improvement: Five times

Shortcoming: The body will be overly exhausted if the energy is consumed too much.

Deduced Art: Unknown

Deduction Cost: 0/10,000,000 "Shoot..."

Han Fei was instantly stunned. An improvement of 500%? That was unbelievable.

Though the name of the technique didn't sound good, the improvement was really unbelievable. Han Fei would've believed that it was a heaven-level, divine-quality technique.

Han Fei swallowed in shock. He had never expected to find any treasures before he explored the prison.

If he hadn't been curious after he saw the Undead Mermen, he would've left the place a long time ago.

This Mystic Turtle Secret Technique was merely a windfall. So far, the Indestructible Body and the Big Red Trunk were the only treasures as valuable as that. He couldn't possibly imagine that he would run into it in a random treasure trove.

Instantly, Han Fei got excited. He recalled the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp and ran into Forge the Universe.

The first thing he did after entering Forge the Universe was to pick up a Yellow Blood Sea Cucumber and clean it up.

Han Fei was not in a rush to look for Xia Xiaochan. The Undersea City was so huge with so many treasure troves and creatures that the hunters could find her easily even if they all got in.

At this moment, Han Fei found ginger and garlic. Then, he cut the bamboo shoots and carrots from his stock into pieces. Rolling all of them in a wok that contained boiling oil, he added vinegar and some cumin to increase the taste.

In the end, he cut the one-meter-long sea cucumber into sections and enshrouded them in flour, before he rolled them in the wok too. Finally, he threw all the seasonings into the wok, and fragrance immediately spread out.

Han Fei was smiling.

One had to be careful when they were making sea cucumber! Many people often found it tasteless, but Han Fei knew how to add flavors to it. The sauce was the key.

A moment later, the sea cucumber was cooked.

<Name> Sauced Sea Cucumber

<Introduction> This is a food made of the Yellow Blood Sea Cucumber and the essence of many ingredients. It tastes smooth and elastic and contains tremendous spiritual energy. It's a rarely-seen great food. <Level> 29

<Quality> Rare

<Spiritual Energy> 9,852 Points

<Effect> This can provide massive energy and increase sturdiness by thirty percent for an hour.

It was one of the special, effective foods that Han Fei could make, mostly because the ingredients were great. The effect would've been very different if he had it raw.

Han Fei bit the food, and juice immediately spurted out. The food couldn't have tasted better.

Han Fei was never more exhilarated since he came to the level-three fishery.

Eventually, Han Fei simply reached his hand for the food. After half of the Yellow Blood Sea Cucumber was eaten, he felt that he was brimming with spiritual energy. His neck was also red as if he were drunk.

"Huh! The energy is really strong."

Han Fei stopped eating. This was different from swallowing the spiritual fruits. The Demon Purification Pot could store the redundant spiritual energy, but not the nutrition!

Han Fei felt that he was almost exploding, as if he had just taken the Candle Dragon Blood. He believed that he would probably be bloated if he were to finish the whole Yellow Blood Sea Cucumber.

"Fine. I'd better not go too far. I'll just save it for the next meal."

Han Fei's body was boiling when he left Forge the Universe. He felt great in the cool seawater.

He searched the prison for a while and didn't find other creatures. On the Man-Fish's side, there were nothing but bones and shells. He didn't think he could find more treasures.

Those who had come in earlier probably all ended up as the food for the Man-Fish who was capable of a secret technique.

After they were out of the prison, Han Fei summoned Little White. He turned his neck and stomped on the floor. "Daughter, keep looking for Xia Xiaochan. But let's go straight this time. I'm eager for a fight."

Little White: "???"

There was no telling if Little White understood him, but after only several thousand meters, Han Fei ran into a sea serpent following Little White. Then, to the Hexagon Starfish's shock, Han Fei tore the sea serpent alive barehanded.

The Hexagon Starfish asked, "Where did you go after you left me aside just now? Why do I feel that something is wrong with you after you came out?"

Han Fei was too lazy to explain. So he simply didn't. After all, the Hexagon Starfish had asked it many times. "Don't ask. I'll beat you up if you keep asking." The Hexagon Starfish: "..."

The Hexagon Starfish naturally didn't have a chance to go to Forge the Universe, but it speculated that Han Fei had an independent space like its Six Gates.

It didn't find it odd. Why couldn't Han Fei have his space if it had the Six gates?

On his way, Han Fei moved like an ADHD young man. The most dreadful enemy he ran into was a level-38 exotic scorpion.

The scorpion was quite innocent. It did not plan to fight anyone! However, it was plucked out from the soil by Han Fei. It tried to poke Han Fei but failed. Eventually, even its stinger was torn off.

Thankfully, it had broken its own tail and fled into its cave, or it would've been killed.

After another hour, Han Fei met three peak-level Dangling Fishers, but they squeezed their Flash Stones without thinking and fled quickly.

At this moment, standing before a cave, Han Fei remarked, "Another treasure trove?"

Chapter 408 Drawing Circles

In fact, it was not the second treasure trove that Han Fei ran into in the Undersea City, but the ninth one. However, they had all been exploited by other people except for the prison, and Han Fei found nothing but collapsed walls in them.

Han Fei almost missed this one. Thankfully, he paid extra attention when he passed the area because the Hexagon Starfish said that there were arrays set up in this place.

Han Fei didn't think too much. He simply jumped into the cave.

He did not have any special experience this time. His senses had hit the bottom of the cave before he reached it.

But when he perceived what was down there, he turned back and swam up as quickly as possible.

He saw dense layers of worms inside the cave. He didn't know what the worms were, but their numbers were astonishing. He had sensed an infinite number of them.

Han Fei cursed, "Damn it. That's a treasure to you? What kind of treasure trove is that?"

The Hexagon Starfish ran even faster than Han Fei did. Fleeing like a dart, it shouted, "It's really scary!"

The Hexagon Starfish and Han Fei ran out of the cave crazily, one after the other.

There were enormous creatures in the sea, but they might ignore the petty-sized human beings. The worms were actually more threatening

For example, Han Fei was sure that he would've been drained if he wandered in a nest of the Dry Leaf Worms in the Seaborne Prairie even though he was as strong as a peak-level Dangling Fisher.

He didn't see what the worms just now were exactly, but they were as numerous and repulsive as the Dry Leaf Worms. He certainly did not dare to trespass.

After they ran several thousand meters, the entrance of the cave was filled with worms. However, finding no creatures, the noodle-like worms entangled each other and returned to the cave.

Dozens of kilometers away, Han Fei was still frightened. It seemed that he should probe with his fishing pole before he jumped into the next cave.

Han Fei said, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, you're really ungrateful. Why didn't you call when you escaped?"

The Hexagon Starfish, "Didn't you notice the danger yourself?"

Han Fei said, "You were definitely malicious! I will squeeze your essence blood if you do that again!"

The Hexagon Starfish rolled its six big eyes and almost wanted to slap Han Fei for threatening it with its essence blood every time. It decided that it would do that the day it obtained its essence blood.

But the Hexagon Starfish immediately dropped the thought, as Han Fei was growing too fast and it probably wouldn't be able to defeat him by then.

Han Fei summoned Little White and kept going. He met other people three times in the next six hours, but they all squeezed their Flash Stones and escaped the moment they saw Han Fei.

SSU.

Han Fei was lost for words. He realized that he had to assume Li Hanyi's look again, so that whoever came later wouldn't recognize him.

Half an hour later, Han Fei ran into a peak-level Dangling Fisher.

The peak-level Dangling Fisher was surprised to see Han Fei. Wasn't this the Li guy who was eager for battles outside?

Immediately, the peak-level Dangling Fisher roared, "Come here."

Seeing him, Han Fei put on a different expression and swam close. "Bro, what a coincidence!"

The man frowned. "How did you get here?"

Han Fei said in fright, "It's all Han Fei and Yang Huan's fault. Yang Huan, in particular, poisoned a large number of people. I would've been poisoned too, if I hadn't been at the front of the crowd and ran into the inner city in time."

The man stared at Han Fei coldly. "I'm asking you how you could've made it here as an intermediate Dangling Fisher."

Pondering a moment, Han Fei realized that he had swum almost three thousand kilometers though he hadn't been fast. It was indeed suspicious.

Blinking his eyes, Han Fei said, "I have Flash Stones! I flash every time I meet a scary monster..."

"Huh? You have many Flash Stones?"

Han Fei stepped back hurried, as if he was going to run.

The man sneered and said, "You're not holding a stone, and you would be dead by the time you take it out. Now, give me your Sea Swallowing Seashell."

Han Fei hesitated and said, "Bro, let's talk nicely, shall we?"

"Who's your bro? Where's your manners? You think you can be my bro when you're merely an intermediate Dangling Fisher? Give it to me in three seconds, and I might set you free."

The man looked at Han Fei proudly, and Han Fei gloomily and reluctantly reached for his pocket.

The man scoffed, "You think you can explore the Undersea City because you're talented? What an idiot."

But while he was scoffing, something glittered in Han Fei's hand. The man immediately tried to flee, but he had already been hit with a knife.

The man hadn't even activated his spiritual energy protective cover or turned around yet, when he felt that his vitality was fading.

Standing before him with a smile, Han Fei said, "Li Hanyi's identity is really useful."

Then, Han Fei searched the man and found his Sea Swallowing Seashell.

The man was not dead yet and was still looking at him in fear, so he said, "You robbed me first, or I would've let you walk away!"

Han Fei didn't know if he meant that, but after another push, the man was dead.

The Hexagon Starfish's big eyes rolled as it watched Han Fei examining the Sea Swallowing Seashell. It was truly horrified by the demon who had killed a peak-level Dangling Fisher in one go. It wondered if he would do the same to him someday.

Petting Little White, Han Fei said, "Daughter, let's continue."

On the way, Han Fei killed another advanced Dangling Fisher and explored two treasure troves futilely, until Little White led him to a battlefield.

Yes, it was a battlefield.

The buildings here had all collapsed, with bricks and pebbles scattered everywhere. Some of the rotten spears and swords were lying on the ground, some buried in pits, and some stabbed into rocks.

Han Fei asked in confusion, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, is there an array here?"

Rolling its eyes for a long time, the Hexagon Starfish said, "I don't think so! But this place feels dangerous."

Han Fei swam forward, only to find that this place was even gorier than the battlefield at the outer city and many people must've died here. So, there should be hero souls here.

There were no lowly undead creatures in the inner city anymore. All of them were hero souls.

Han Fei did not touch the rotten weapons. Instead, he circled the place and touched Little White's head. "Daughter, is she really here?"

Little White swam down and stopped before the rotten swords and sabers.

Han Fei grew solemn. There were many more rotten weapons here than there were in the outer city. Besides, it would be hero souls instead of the lowly undead creatures that would be woken up. If hundreds of them appeared, even a peak-level Dangling Fisher might not survive!

Considering for a moment, Han Fei simply attached Little Gold to himself and recalled Little White and Little Black.

In the meantime, he summoned the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Pole. If anything were to happen, he could run faster with Little Gold and the pole.

At Han Fei's command, dozens of Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers were darted at the rotten weapons.

Hum...

When the weapons were broken, pale hero souls emerged everywhere around Han Fei.

Han Fei's eyes cramped, and he felt that something was wrong.

The Hexagon Starfish spoke telepathically, There's an array here. Those hero souls are the array.

re

Han Fei felt that his blood was freezing. "Do you know where the entrance is?"

The Hexagon Starfish shook its head. "I can't find it. Do we have to break the array first?"

Looking back at the hero souls who were raising their weapons, Han Fei couldn't have looked more awful. Break the array? I'm going to be killed by them.

Though panicked, Han Fei drew out the Needle and pointed at the hero souls. "Clear the way, or I will beat the s*it out of you..." Han Fei thought that, since he had plenty of energy after having a pot of Yellow Blood Sea Cucumber, it was a good chance to test the Majestic Mystic Spell. He even looked forward to it.

But in the next moment, to Han Fei's surprise, those hero souls did not attack him but made the same movement with their spears: they were drawing circles in the water.

Han Fei: "???"

Chapter 409 A War Is Coming

Han Fei did not know whether or not the hero souls counted as undead creatures, but each of them were as strong as an advanced Dangling Fisher, if not stronger. Now, there were hundreds of hero souls, and the number was climbing.

A peak-level Dangling Fisher, or even a group of them, wouldn't have the courage to stay here instead of running away.

Han Fei was not an exception. He was holding a Flash Stone, ready to run the moment these hero souls showed any anomaly without caring about this treasure trove.

However, the seemingly dangerous hero souls did not attack, but rather drew a circle for Han Fei.

This circle was created from the void and gradually expanded into a gate.

After the gate took shape, the hero souls aimed their spears at Han Fei and pressed on, trying to force Han Fei to step into the circle.

Han Fei gritted his teeth. Had Xia Xiaochan really gone into that? What tricks did the girl have to surmount all the obstacles and find this place?

After a moment of hesitation, Han Fei stepped into the circle.

He didn't know if it was the right choice, but he knew that this treasure would be among the most dangerous ones in the Undersea City. The regular treasure troves couldn't compare to it now.

Looking around, he found that he was caught in a haze.

When Han Fei finally had a clear view of this place, he discovered, to his shock, that he was standing on a street, and all kinds of people were passing by.

He thought that he might have fallen into a dream. The prosperity of the Undersea City dated back to an infinite number of years ago. How could there still be a city here?

The Hexagon Starfish asked, "Where are we?" Han Fei's eyes widened. "Don't talk."

"Hey, kid. Don't block the way."

A man, holding a saber that was as tall as an adult, nudged Han Fei to a side of the street when he passed by.

While Han Fei looked around in shock, a man and a woman were talking to each other when they walked past him.

The man said, "Xiao Yi, this grand fish tide is not a joke! You shouldn't go."

The woman replied, "No, I'm very good too. I can fight. Hundreds of battles have happened since the crash of the main city. I've taken part in a dozen of them."

"Listen to me. It's different this time. I'm told that the fish are particularly ferocious."

The woman shot back, "No, I want to go. I want to stay by your side."

Han Fei only caught a few simple words before the man and the woman walked away.

The crash of the main city? The grand fish tide? Hundreds of attacks?

Deeply confused, Han Fei was about to tail the couple and continue eavesdropping on them, when a team of soldiers yelled at him and asked him to get out of the way.

Those soldiers were fully armed and armored. The spears they were holding were as tall as themselves.

But what shocked Han Fei most was that the dozens of soldiers were exclusively peak-level Dangling Fishers.

When the team passed, a soldier stayed and climbed on a roof. He spoke loudly from the roof, "Attention, everyone! The 187th grand fish tide is coming. Everybody should be prepared for battle by tonight. Every Dangling Fisher will be gathered in the outer city. Whoever disobeys will be executed!" After the speech, the soldier jumped off from the roof and caught up to his team.

Everybody exclaimed to each other after hearing the soldier's announcement.

Someone shouted, "Damn it. I've waited such a long time. I'm certainly going to earn some battle credit this time."

Someone squeezed through the crowd. "I'm going home. I have to make another baby with my wife."

Someone complained, "Son of a bi*ch, the grand fish tide comes every year. Do we even have a life?"

Someone roared crazily, "Kill them all!"

Someone was scared. "So soon? Didn't they say that it wouldn't happen until a couple of days later?"

The once quiet street became noisy and obstreperous.

Han Fei gasped hard. This did not seem to be a dream or an illusion! Everybody was extremely real, so real that he could see the sun in the sky and feel its warmth.

Han Fei asked, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, can an illusion be so lifelike?"

Hiding on Han Fei's shoulder, the Hexagon Starfish barely had the courage to open its eyes. It subconsciously replied, "I don't think it's an illusion!"

Han Fei stepped away from the street. He happened to be approaching a booth that was selling shrimp dumplings. The owner of the booth was an old man and a great fishing master. He asked, "Young friend, would you like some shrimp dumplings? You have to be full in order to perform well in the battle."

Rolling his eyes, Han Fei asked with a smile, "How much does it cost?"

The boss replied, "It's only one mid-quality pearl. My shrimp dumplings are made of level-25 Red Feather Shrimps. You will definitely be satisfied."

Han Fei paid a mid-quality pearl and had the shrimp dumplings in front of the booth while the boss stared at him with a smile.

After a bite, Han Fei ascertained that this couldn't be an illusion! The flowing shrimp sauce on his tongue that he sensed couldn't be more vivid.

He couldn't help but ask, "Boss, do you think I can survive tonight?"

Stunned, the boss replied with a smile, "You certainly will! Nobody should die anymore! We've almost lost all our men after two hundred years of war!"

Han Fei's heart shivered. For some reason, he felt the deepest sorrow at the bottom of his heart after hearing what the boss said.

He chuckled and said, "Then I certainly won't die! I don't even have a girlfriend yet! Boss, why are there so few girls in our city?"

The boss said teasingly, "You want a girlfriend, don't you? But it's really difficult to find a girlfriend nowadays. The girls of your age are either dead or married. Since pro-natalist policies were adopted a hundred years ago, most girls are engaged by the time they were twelve. You should fight harder and try to be admitted by the City Guards. That way, you can definitely get yourself a wife."

Han Fei: "..."

Han Fei only asked the question because he didn't see a lot of girls on the street. But the boss's reply was quite surprising.

Hearing what the boss said, Han Fei almost felt that he was really a man doomed to singleness.

“Pa!”

Han Fei suddenly slapped his thigh. He just realized something. The boss asked, “Young man, what’s wrong? Are my shrimp dumplings bad?” Han Fei said quickly, “No! The shrimp dumplings are great! I just realized that there’s something I have to do.” The boss said with a smile, “Then off you go! With the grand fish tide coming, not everybody will see the sun in the morning.”

Han Fei’s face changed quickly. According to this boss, the girls here could be married by twelve. Then, wouldn’t Xia Xiaochan be the only girl who was fifteen and unmarried?

Wait, Xia Xiaochan was too beautiful, and she definitely had a bunch of pursuers in this place. Han Fei, who just walked away, ran back and asked the boss of the booth, “Boss, is there any fifteen-year-old girl in our city that hasn’t been married yet?”

The old man said with a smile, “Of course there are! But they are extremely rare.” Han Fei asked, “Have you seen any? Which of them is the most beautiful one?”

The boss shook his head. “Why would I know? Are you trying to get laid before you go to the battlefield? You might as well hold a sign and try to sell yourself out. Your odds of success will be higher that way.”

Han Fei realized that it did make sense.

Since this place was so short of girls, and a grand fish tide was coming on, everybody must be madly preparing for the battle. So, anything they did was probably excusable.

Saying goodbye to the boss, Han Fei left and summoned Little White.

“Little White, can you find Xia Xiaochan?”

However, Little White proved useless this time. It looked at the crowded street in a daze, as if it had lost its sense of direction.

Han Fei was lost for words. Did he really have to wander the city with a sign above his head? Then how long must he hold it in this vast city?

After much deliberation, Han Fei decided that holding a sign was a bad idea. This city was too big and crowded. It was impossible to find any person in such a way.

Han Fei asked, “Mr. Hexagon Starfish, do you think someone will shoot me down if I fly into the sky?” The Hexagon Starfish scratched Han Fei and said, “Certainly!”

Squeezing in the crazy crowd for a long time, Han Fei finally came to a store that sold fish skins.

The female shopkeeper smiled at Han Fei. “Young brother, would you like some fish skins?”

Han Fei pointed at the street. “You’re still in the mood of selling fish skins with all the pandemonium outside?”

The female shopkeeper laughed hard. “I have to live my life, don’t I? War is war, and business is business. Young brother, I can see that you don’t even have a battle suit. Do you want me to make one for you? Since a battle is about to happen, I’ll only charge you two hundred mid-quality pearls.”

Han Fei waved his hands quickly. "Forget it.

I...!!

Suddenly, Han Fei was dazed. "Boss, I'd like all the fish skins in your place."

Chapter 410 This Is A Crazy Time

In a corner of the Undersea City, a group of teenage boys was chasing a girl. The youngest was probably only ten and the oldest fifteen at most.

"Girl, I have participated in two big fish tides. Will you marry me? I promise this time I won't die."

"Girl, don't listen to him. I have killed more than 30 Mess Swallowing Worms. I am the strongest in terms of combat power."

"Xia Xiaochan, marry me... I really love you..."

"Xiaochan, I am the most handsome. In terms of appearance, they are all Iron-Headed Fish."

"Girl, as long as you stay with me, I will never let you suffer any harm."

"Girl..." Xia Xiaochan was going crazy! Since she came to this damn place, she had been pursued all the time. No matter where she went or who she met, people seemed to have never met a woman before, insisting on marrying her.

She didn't even know these people at all, but they just cheekily approached her, bragging about their strength or appearance. Even boys as young as 8 years old and old men as old as 80 had proposed to her, covering almost all the ages.

Xia Xiaochan turned around and said angrily, "All of you, get lost! I won't marry anyone. I'm still young."

Someone responded, "Girl, you are not young. I have a cousin sister who has already given birth to three children at your age."

Xia Xiaochan turned around and kicked the guy, sending him flying. Is your cousin a pig? At the age of 15, she has given birth to three children? Then will she have 30 or 40 children by the time she is fifty?

The boy was not annoyed. Instead, he said with a chuckle, "Haha, I like a girl like you, a bit spicy."

Another boy seemed to try to prove his strength and was about to take Xia Xiaochan into his arms and take her home directly but ended up being stabbed twice in the stomach by Xia Xiaochan. He lay on the ground and screamed, "Any spirit gatherers? Come on, heal me."

However, behind Xia Xiaochan, several spirit gatherers looked contemptuous. "Scum, how dare you hug her? Don't you know how ugly you are?!"

A spirit gatherer even sneered, "You f*cking deserved it."

Most people didn't take it seriously. This guy was out and then they would have one less competitor.

In the hearts of these people, it would be the happiest thing in this life to marry Xia Xiaochan.

Xia Xiaochan felt that she was going crazy. These days, she almost went around the entire city but didn't find any possibility of going out.

"Swish..."

Xia Xiaochan flashed and appeared on the roof a hundred meters away, and watching the people behind her chasing her quickly, she couldn't help but shout, "I don't even know you! Go find someone else!"

Just as Xia Xiaochan was throwing her tantrum, her eyes suddenly widened and she was stunned.

In the sky at least dozens of miles away from her, a few big characters were floating.

"Xia Xiaochan, here I come."

Xia Xiaochan was dumbfounded, so were the teenagers chasing her, and many people in the city.

At the moment, the one who was most shocked was the woman who sold fish skins to Han Fei. She watched Han Fei stitch the fish skin into letter characters.

Each of these characters were at least 30 meters large. Han Fei was afraid that if they weren't big enough, Xia Xiaochan wouldn't see them.

In fact, an ordinary person without a cultivation base might be unable to see these characters clearly indeed.

The woman asked Han Fei, "Did you buy my store just to make these characters?"

Han Fei had a cheeky grin. "That's right! If it weren't for the fact that your fish skin wasn't enough, I could make it bigger."

The lady boss exclaimed, "You must like that girl very much, right?" Han Fei grinned. "Her? Well... Kind of!"

Han Fei dragged the huge fish skin balloon with the nine-star chain and ran around the city for a long while. Every once in a while he would be surrounded by many people.

Many people had been amazed by Han Fei's creativity and commented on the balloon. A man said solemnly, "This is a good method! No girl can resist such a hot confession of love!"

A woman pinched the arm of the man next to her. "Look at him! And look at you!"

Someone sighed. "It's a pity that this boy already has someone he likes. Otherwise, I would definitely marry my daughter to him."

Someone sneered, "Are you kidding me? Your daughter is only 7. Can she give birth to a baby?"

The originally bustling crowd and the nervous atmosphere were immediately diluted by Han Fei's behavior.

After running for about two hours, under the public stare, Han Fei finally met... A group of girls. When a girl who was only eleven or twelve years old saw Han Fei, her eyes immediately lit up. "So it's you?"

Han Fei: "???"

The girl suddenly ran up, hugged Han Fei and said, "I can marry you."

Han Fei: "???"

Before Han Fei spoke, two other girls ran over, each of them grabbing an arm of Han Fei.

"I'm better looking. Pick me."

"No, I'm prettier than you. Me first."

"You all get out of the way. I am the hottest. He is mine."

"Get lost! I met him first."

Han Fei hurriedly pushed the girls away. "Girls, don't touch me! I won't marry you."

However, the next moment, a girl shouted, "You don't have to marry me! I just want to have children with you."

"Ouff..."

Han Fei was dumbfounded. What the hell are you talking about? How old are you? You're still a kid and you said you were going to have a baby with me?! Are you serious?

But the onlookers laughed. "Boy, are you overjoyed? But you can only pick one from these girls because you don't have enough time."

Someone laughed. "For the sake of the fact that there is going to be a big battle today, you can choose up to three girls." "Ohhhh..."

Han Fei immediately screamed, grabbed the balloon and ran wildly.

Damn you! These little girls are still under age! This is illegal!

Han Fei almost cried. What kind of era is this? These people keep giving birth to children just because they have to fight? That's ridiculous. Living in this era is so f*cking...

However, Han Fei couldn't run fast at all due to the huge balloon in his hand. Before he ran out a hundred meters away, he was caught up by these girls behind him.

Some girls held his waist and some held his arms.

Han Fei said angrily, "Let go, let me go! I'm not interested in kids."

Han Fei shook these girls away with spiritual energy. And he hung on the balloon line and floated to the sky with the balloon.

However, before Han Fei floated 100 meters away, he found that his feet were caught by vines.

He looked down, only to see a tall girl standing holding her head high and pointing at him, saying, "I think you can be my man."

Han Fei scoffed. "But I don't think you can be my woman."

The girl frowned. "Why? I am going to be a Hanging Fisher. After this battle, I will definitely make a breakthrough."

Han Fei grimaced in embarrassment. "I, I, I... I already have someone I like." The girl looked at the balloon in the sky and asked, "Is that Xia Xiaochan better than me?"

Before Han Fei answered, an agile figure jumped over from the roofs in the distance. She flashed and flitted a few hundred meters, a kilometer in the blink of an eye.

Han Fei was overjoyed and said to the girl on the ground, "Look, the girl I'm waiting for has come. Girl, let go!"

However, the girl stepped on the vines, stood in the air, and glanced at Xia Xiaochan. "She is only an intermediate Dangling Fisher."

Han Fei was helpless. "I'm also an intermediate Dangling Fisher, so I should pair with an intermediate one also."

A hundred meters away, Xia Xiaochan flashed and disappeared, and the next second, she suddenly appeared in front of Han Fei.

Xia Xiaochan was very excited. The moment she saw Han Fei, she cried and laughed and tears flowed down from her face.

Xia Xiaochan hugged Han Fei with a jerk and tears and nasal mucus flowed down.

"Boohoo... I can't find a way out! I thought I was going to be here forever!"

Han Fei spread his arms and looked at the girl standing on the ground who was still looking at him. "Look, this is the one I'm waiting for."

Han Fei hugged Xia Xiaochan with both hands and let go of the balloon line. Then he tiptoed and landed on a roof.

Xia Xiaochan was still crying and laughing, but Han Fei saw the teenagers who ran after Xia Xiaochan. Upon seeing this scene, the teenagers were furious. "B*stard, let go of that girl." A boy shouted in rage. "Asshole, come at me if you can. You're really shameless to deceive such a little girl."

Someone directly drew their sword. "I want to challenge you."

"What's your name? Today, I will make you regret this..."

The group of teenagers all yelled and glared furiously at Han Fei.

Han Fei looked at the teenagers blankly and then at the girls who were staring at him.

Suddenly, he made a move.

Smack!

Han Fei tilted his head and kissed Xia Xiaochan on the cheek.
