

Chapter 260 Qbot Appeared

The entire lab was in total chaos. All the research and development personnel were working hard to find out the cause of Qbot's disappearance. Even Allen joined in and gave them a hand.

Meanwhile, Loraine was looking thoughtfully at the screen from which the usual light was absent.

After a while, she walked over to a surveillance camera and looked up at it. "Qbot, I know you are here and can hear me. Am I right?"

The red light on the camera continued to blink, but Qbot still did not respond.

Loraine used a softer tone. "Qbot, please don't take that woman's words seriously. Other people's comments don't matter. What matters is your own thoughts, okay?"

When she saw Loraine talking to the camera, Laura couldn't help but sneer, "Loraine, what the hell are you doing? Do you really see that AI robot as a child? I've told you that this whole thing is our business. It's of no use for you and your boy toy to stay here. You'd better leave."

Loraine turned to look at her and retorted angrily, "If you had not stopped me from leaving, I would have gone back much earlier."

Laura could not deny this. So, she just kept her mouth shut.

After silencing her, Loraine turned back to continue talking at the camera. "Qbot, don't you want to talk to Mommy?"

The light now came on again, but it was dim.

"Yes, yes! Thank God!"

The researchers shouted in excitement. They were so happy and relieved.

But Laura was surprised at the celebration. "What's the big deal? Why so much noise? It's just a coincidence. There might have been something wrong with the system and it automatically repaired itself."

Marcel looked at her and shook his head.

"Laura, can't you just stop squawking for once. If you keep pissing off Qbot, I'll report it to the board of directors!"

"Marcel, I..." Though she was very angry, Laura didn't dare say anything more than that.

Now, silence reigned in the lab. After they had waited for a while, the muffled sound of Qbot finally came through the speaker.

"Mommy, do you also think of me like that bad woman does?"

Loraine was overjoyed to hear its voice and she quickly responded, "No, no, of course I don't. On the contrary, I love you very much."

But Qbot wasn't convinced. "I don't believe it! This is the first time that you've seen me. You can't just love me so easily like that."

All the researchers turned their pleading gazes to Loraine, silently begging her to help convince the robot.

Loraine sighed and tried to think of something to say. After thinking for a moment, she said, "I didn't know that you were so powerful! You even locked your daddy and me in a room. Why are you upset because of some nonsense?"

Instantly, the lab lit up from the bright lights of the walls. "I'm not upset!" Qbot denied. "Since Mommy praised me, I'm now very happy!"

Without any doubt, if Qbot had a tail, it would have wagged it in ecstasy.

Loraine couldn't help but grin widely. Qbot was like a wonderful little child!

But Marco, who was standing right next to Loraine, scolded the robot. "Qbot, you locked the lab door without permission. Are you proud of such a behavior? You shut the door and cut off the electricity. How could you think of such a crazy thing? What if your mommy got hurt?"

Qbot suddenly became depressed.

Marcel couldn't help but feel sorry for it. "Please, Qbot is still a child. Don't be so strict with it!"

Marco looked at him and retorted, "If you hadn't made that call, we wouldn't have had any trouble."

Marcel looked down in embarrassment and mumbled, "I'm sorry. I know it's all my fault. Your mother told us that she didn't trust Loraine and asked us to keep an eye on her."

Hearing this, Marco turned to his mother and fixed her with a cold glare.

After a while, he turned his attention to Loraine.

"Loraine, thank you so much. If you hadn't comforted Qbot, we would probably never have solved this problem."

Loraine replied, "You don't have to thank me. I did it for the common interests of our families. It is undeniable that Qbot will make a brilliant contribution to the development of our CBD."

Marco shook his head. "No, you're lying. You obviously care much about Qbot."

Loraine couldn't deny it. Instead, she just tried to change the topic. "You'd better strengthen the security here from now on to avoid a recurrence of what happened today. I won't lose money and investments just because of someone's personal behavior."

Laura, knowing she was the one being referred to, quickly responded, "Loraine, why are you so arrogant? It's alright now, isn't it? You don't have to be so fussy about it given the partnership between our companies, do you?"

Loraine didn't say a word. She only gave her a cold glance before leaving with Allen.

Looking at her retreating figure, Laura became flustered.

"You don't you understand, do you?" Marco asked, fixing her with an angry glare. "Even if Loraine and I don't want to blame you, the directors and shareholders of the company will take it very seriously."

Laura's face turned pale.

She now understood why Loraine had left without confronting her.

Apparently, she was very confident that there were others who would deal with her!

If Laura was held accountable by the shareholders, Marco would never help her.

She had to do something now. She couldn't just sit still and wait for her doom.

