

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 261

Seeing Taya let out a long sigh, Harper didn't feel aggrieved but comforted her with a smile. "Don't worry. It's just a little money. I'll make it back at work."

How could Taya not be worried about her? Taya knew how much money Harper had earned over the years.

Although she had become the manager recently and didn't have to work bottle service anymore, she still had to stay up late to earn money.

Taya was afraid that Harper wouldn't be able to take it, but Harper didn't care about it at all.

"What you should be most concerned about now is the relationship between you, Jackson, and Griffon, not me."

"I've broken up with both of them. Now, you're the only one left by my side. I only care about you."

"Don't worry. I'm able to work, and I'm a strong wolf. If anything happens in the future, I can deal with it."

Harper was not afraid of abandonment, and she still trusted Damian now, so she was unwilling to dig too deep.

If one day she found out that Damian had let her down or had other intentions, she wouldn't hesitate to leave him.

Harper might be soft-hearted, but she was tough. Once she was in a predicament, she was much more decisive than Taya.

Harper chatted with Taya for a while and then went to cook for her. After dinner, she was in a hurry to go to work.

Once Harper left, Taya's gentle expression gradually faded away, and she didn't force herself to try to appear to be better than she was.

Originally, Taya had planned telling Harper about her condition, but once Damian called, that thought went out the window. It was more important to talk to Harper about that instead.

If she had told Harper that she didn't have much time left, Harper might not be able to handle it on top of what was currently happening in her life.

Taya thought momentarily and decided to put it off for the time being. With Stella's special medicine, she wouldn't suddenly pass away, would she?

She still had time to tell Harper everything

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 262

Harper hurried downstairs and saw several luxury cars parked outside.

Some of the windows were open, and pack guards in black were sitting inside. She recognized at a glance that they were Jackson's men.

Harper thought that Jackson had left long ago. She admired his persistence.

She knocked on the car window, but there was no response. On the contrary, a Sterling pack guard got out of the car behind her.

"Miss, Alpha Sterling said that he wanted to be alone. Please don't disturb him."

Harper didn't say anything. She turned around and left, but the window behind her rolled down.

"Harper."

She turned to look at Jackson. It was clear that he was upset and trying to hide it. It wouldn't do for an Alpha to show emotion like this in public.

Jackson had always been aloof and stoic in front of others since childhood, even before he knew he was an Alpha. But he was gentle in front of Taya and didn't hesitate to show his true emotions.

As a child he showed hostility most of the time. More hostility than was expected for such a young pup.

His hostility became worse as he grew up, but when he met Taya, it completely disappeared.

Harper knew Taya had hurt Jackson badly, but she could do nothing about it. Jackson "dn't know whether to hate Taya or not.

He wanted to ask her why Taya had rejected him so harshly, but Harper didn't know what to do. She couldn't figure out why Taya spurned Jackson after the misunderstanding regarding the kick to the chest was resolved.

She thought that maybe it was because of Griffon.

Jackson invited Harper into the car. The two sat in the spacious luxury car and looked at each other.

In the end, Harper said, "You've changed a lot in the past few years."

Although Harper had seen him twice before, she had never carefully looked him up and down.

He was no longer as immature as he had been. He had become nobler and more elegant.

Harper used to think he was God's favored one, but she didn't expect it to be true.

Jackson was the most powerful man in Wolverly Capital. What else could he be if he was not God's favored one?

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 263

Jackson chatted casually with Harper for a while. When they talked about Taya, his face slowly darkened.

Griffon weren't actually a couple. It was just a fling between them. But it's true that she fell in love with it. If it weren't for him, she might not have recovered from what happened after she was kicked in the chest and after she was turned away from Wolverly Capital."

Harper didn't hide it from Jackson and told him the truth. There was no point in hiding anything.

Plus, everything had changed because of him. Taya had fallen in love with Griffon because she wanted to forget him.

Jackson couldn't describe how he was feeling at the moment, but the hole in his heart was getting bigger, as if it was devouring him little by little.

"If you miss her once, you'll miss her for the rest of your life. Let her go early..."

After saying that, Harper pushed the door open and got out of the car.

Jackson fell back into the car seat and closed his eyes, trying to settle his wolf down.

The pack guard received a call from Wolverly Capital and hurried forward to knock on the window.

“Alpha Sterling, your father is calling.”

Jackson indifferently took the phone from the bodyguard.

Old Alpha Sterling’s aged and weak voice came from the other end of the line.
“Jackson, it’s time to return to Wolverly Capital.”

Jackson didn’t reply. He just looked out of the car at Taya’s house.

It was because of the Sterling pack, his family, that he had lost Taya.

Back then, Jackson blamed Taya for selling herself and had a big fight with her, which made Taya so angry that she ran away. Then, the Sterling pack found him.

Jackson’s brother didn’t come at that time. It was another packmate who came. Jackson wasn’t willing to go with him, so he tied Jackson up and brought him back.

His only option was to jump out of the car. And even after all that, nothing changed. He was still taken away.

And then he lost his.

Jackson’s brother told him that they were twins. When they were born, there were some changes in the family.

for the Alpha position of the Sterling pack, their tied up their entire family.

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 264

There was an accident during the kidnapping. Jackson’s mother died on the spot, and his father later fell into a coma.

Jackson was picked up by human traffickers and sold to a family. Two years later, his adoptive parents passed away, and he was sent to the orphanage.

Jackson’s brother was lucky. He was protected by his father and escaped the disa: and brought him home.

Later, the housekeeper found him

But Jackson's brother had had brain cancer all these years.

He could only send someone to bring Jackson home by force to protect the Sterling pack, which he had obtained with incredible difficulty.

Jackson's brother knew about Taya's existence, but he felt that her family background would not be able to help Jackson. Not only was she also an orphan who had no powerful connections to offer the Sterling pack, she also couldn't ever be a proper Luna.

Besides that, it would affect his mediation with his uncles, who were eyeing the Alpha position, looking for a chance to take control of the pack. As such, his brother hid the fact that Jackson had lost his memory. He knew he was going to die, and with his father still being in a vegetative state, it was important to make sure Jackson could take over without incident.

However, he didn't expect Taya to bug him at the Sterling pack house. Her words shook him. So his brother had no choice but to send someone to bribe the people in the orphanage and destroy all their photos. That's why, when Jackson investigated, he hadn't found anything.

Jackson believed his brother's words and thought Taya was a scheming liar. He ordered the pack guards to drive her away, off of Sterling pack land.

Later, Taya insisted on looking for Jackson, but she thoroughly angered his brother. In anger, Jackson's brother pretended to be Jackson and tried to kill Taya.

Then, Taya had never come to find Jackson again. Jackson had been sent abroad for Alpha training by his elder brother.

Jackson was gone for three years, receiving all of the training necessary to learn pack politics and laws, both domestically and internationally. Then he received word that he had to come home and take over as Alpha because his brother had died.

Not long after Jackson took over as Alpha, his father woke up.

Now, they were in unknown territory. Jackson had been made the Alpha, but when his father woke up, he would naturally be the Alpha.

His father had only woken up about a year ago, so he didn't know what Jackson's brother had done.

Jackson didn't ask his father about it when he noticed something was wrong.

Not long after Jackson's father woke up, he sent his uncle, who had kidnapped his family, to prison as a witness.

Now, the Sterling Pack was entirely in their hands. However, the family was huge, and Jackson still needed to stay in there and help the older Alpha.

But now that Jackson had regained all his memories, he was in no mood to care about the Sterling Pack.

If he could do it again, Jackson would rather be Silas and stay by Taya's side.

Even though he had been poor and miserable, Taya was with him. But now...

Jason took a deep breath, and the sound of his father coughing came to his ears again. "Jackson, the Sterling Pack can't do without you. Hurry up and go home..."

Back home, Jackson's heart was so heavy that he couldn't breathe.

When Jackson's father had woken up, his body was weak, and he could not move. He could only spend the rest of his life in the hospital bed. He wasn't strong enough to be the true Alpha, but he had been respected and loved, so many in the pack were willing to overlook the odd situation.

In addition, he had lost his mate and pup, which made him depressed. Now he was about to die.

If Jackson didn't go home, the Sterling Pack that his father and brother had risked their lives to keep would fall into someone else's hands.

Jackson tightened his grip on his phone and withdrew his reluctant gaze from Taya's house.

"Fine," he replied.

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 265

Stella put Griffon's coat in a garment bag and carried it to the study. She pushed open the door of the study. The afterglow of the setting sun shone through the French windows and sprinkled on the man's body, covering it with a layer of faint golden light.

Stella glanced at the pile of cigarette butts in the trash can and frowned slightly.

Griffon didn't smoke, and she didn't know when he started.

But she had no right to interfere in his business. She knocked on the doorframe to alert him of her presence.

“Come in.”

The Alpha did not even turn his head, just spat the words out as if he was uninterested.

Stella walked over. “Alpha, Ms. Palmer asked me to return this to you.”

She handed the bag to him. Only then did Griffon turn around and glance at her.

“Throw it away.”

He looked indifferent, as if he had abandoned something he did not care about.

“Yes.”

Stella turned to leave with the paper bag.

Stella had guessed that Griffon would ask her to throw it away, but she still came here. She didn't dare to dispose of his things at will and risk the Alpha's wrath.

When she walked out the door and was about to throw the bag into a large trash can, the man's voice suddenly came from behind her.

“Put it there.”

Stella looked back at him, but he didn't look at her. He still had his back to her.

She couldn't figure out what he was thinking. She walked over and placed the bag on the sofa.

“I'll return to the hospital now.”

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 266

It was just a coat Taya had worn, but it made him, who had always been decisive, hesitate.

He threw away his cigarette ir bly, picked up the coat, and rubbed the fabric between his fingers.

Her scent still infused the coat, which made him reluctant to let go of her.

Realizing this, Griffon's face darkened.

He threw away the coat and opened another pack of cigarettes irritably...

Stella hurried out of the villa. A few patients were still waiting for her to see them, but she had been busy today with Griffon's private affairs.

She quickly got into her car. Turning the steering wheel, she saw a red Ferrari driving over...

The person who got out of the car was tall and carried a Chanel bag. When the woman saw Stella reversing the car, her face suddenly darkened.

"Stella!"

Tara didn't expect to meet Stella in Griffon's private home.

Tara had never been to this place before. It took her a long time to find the address, but Stella could go in and out at will?

Not acceptable!

She was his mate-to-be, but Griffon hid where he lived.

Tara, who felt wronged and angry for no reason, had no time to care her image, to care how she would be perceived as the future Luna of the Knight pack. She rushed forward and knocked on the window.

"Stella, get out!"

Stella rolled her eyes at Tara. "Idiot!"

She didn't want to talk to Tara. She reversed the car and stepped on the accelerator.

Tara didn't expect Stella to be so dismissive of the Alpha's mate. She was so angry that she clenched her fists and glared at the speeding car.

Stella Cobb, the director of the pack hospital, right? She would make Stella unable to survive in Arcadia!

Tara fixed her hair, turned around, and walked into the manor.

However, the pack guards at the door blocked her way.

“Miss, you are not allowed to enter at will.”

This time, Tara learned her lesson. She stopped making a fuss and said confidently, “Alpha Knight sent for me.”

“I’ll need to verify that.”

Tara’s face instantly darkened. She didn’t expect to be questioned.

Tara said there was no need and took out her phone to call Griffon.

She called him several times, but he didn’t answer, making her angry.

Without Griffon’s permission, the pack guards wouldn’t let her in. Tara had no choice but to give up.

Tara felt slighted and uncomfortable. Stella could enter Griffon’s home, but his mate couldn’t? It was apparent that Griffon didn’t take her seriously!

After thinking for a while, she took out her phone and called old Mrs. Knight. “Hello, old Mrs. Knight, this is Tara...”

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 267

Jackson left Arcadia. Before he left, he sent a message to Taya.

[I’m going back. I won’t bother you anymore. Take care.]

When Taya read this message, her eyes turned red. He was still the same as before, never making things difficult for her.

She wanted to reply but felt she had hurt him so much. If she replied, it might give him hope.

Suppressing the sadness, she put down her phone, cleaned herself up, and went out with her bag.

She had cut ties with Griffon and Jackson. They would not come to her again in the future, so she could leave with peace of mind.

But before she left, she had to go to the Midwest Packs Association offices and finish her resignation. Then, she would find a suitable opportunity to share everything with Harper.

Taya arrived at MPC and went straight to the Tara's office. Tara had just come back. She sat on the sofa and played with her mobile phone.

Seeing Taya come in, Tara raised her eyebrows. She crossed her legs and leaned back on the sofa, scrutinizing her.

"Taya, why aren't you entertaining Alpha Sterling? Why are you here?"

Tara's tone was hostile.

Taya ignored Tara's attitude. "Alpha Sterling has returned to Wolverly Capital. It's time for you to hold to your end of the deal."

Taya wanted to wrap everything up cleanly before she died.

Tara didn't expect that Jackson had already returned to Wolverly Capital. After a moment of shock, she looked Taya up and down again.

"Alpha Sterling didn't take you..."

Tara thought that if Jackson took a fancy to Taya, he would take her with him.

When the time came, she would transfer Taya to the MPC branch office in Wolverly Capital and use her to get some benefits from Jackson and the Sterling pack.

But thanks to Taya fooling around with other men, it appeared Jackson had kicked her to the curb and didn't want anything to do with her. Now, there was no point in any of it. Taya was useless to her.

Tara picked up her phone, clicked the approval button in the company's system, and asked Taya to go through the handover procedure with Lila.

All of the awfulness Tara had put her through...and it was THIS simple.

Taya finished going through handover process and left. MPC. All she had to do now was square things away with Harper.

When she entered the subway station to head home, she received a call from Stella.

“Taya, I found some new medicine that I think will be a huge help to you.”

Stella wanted to take them to Taya but was too busy at the hospital to leave.

Taya refused politely. It wasn't that she didn't want it, but medicine like that would be too expensive and she wanted to save all of her money for Harper. Stella seemed to have sensed her embarrassment and said gently, “I don't care about the cost of the medicine. Come here. I'll wait for you at the hospital.”

With that, Stella hung up, not giving Taya a second chance to refuse.

Looking at her phone's darkened screen, Taya was hesitant.

She knew Stella was not short of money for medicine, but she couldn't take advantage of her.

She hadn't paid for the medicine that Stella had given her already. Now she would get more...

She stood at the entrance of the subway station and sighed.

Afraid that Stella would wait for her in the hospital indefinitely, she turned to get on the subway to her.

As soon as she entered the hospital, she saw Damian supporting a pregnant woman and walking toward the obstetrics and gynecology department. Her face suddenly changed.

She hurriedly followed him, her hands trembling. Fortunately, she was rational enough not to rush forward to question him. Instead, she took out her mobile phone and recorded it.

After recording the video, she planned to send it to Harper, but she hesitated.

If Harper saw this video, she might not be able to bear it...

She put down her phone hard and walked towards Damian.

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 268

Male shifters were not allowed to enter the gynecology department.

It could be too much if their wolves were exposed to their mates in pain while delivering or going through contractions.

After sending the pregnant she-wolf in, Damian sat in a chair in the waiting area.

As soon as he turned around, he met Taya's sad gaze. He was shocked and took a few steps back to stabilize himself.

"Taya, why are you here?"

"I thought you had go back to your pack lands to pay off your family's debts. Why are you here?"

Damian looked visibly panicked. He probably didn't expect Taya to know about that.

Harper told Taya everything, which made him a little unhappy.

She was his mate, and she shouldn't be sharing all of their business with her best friend.

After a moment of fear, Damian quickly calmed down and explained to Taya without batting an eyelid.

"I already went back. My sister wasn't feeling well, so I brought her to the big pack hospital to get checked out."

On the surface, this made sense, but...

"Your sister?"

How come she had never heard that Damian had a sister?

"She's pregnant, so it was convenient for her to attend the mating ceremony. You may not have met her before. Harper knows her. I guess she forgot to tell you..."

There was a hint of sarcasm in Damian's last sentence.

Taya didn't ask any more questions. However, how she looked at Damian was no longer as gentle as before.

She walked in the direction of the elevator. After entering, she did not close the door immediately. Instead, she hid in the corner and looked toward the obstetrics and gynecology department.

Thinking that Taya had left, Damian waved to the pregnant woman. The woman immediately came over.

After saying something, the woman shook Damian's hand, acting like a spoiled child. Damian scratched her nose.

Their behavior was very intimate. They didn't look like siblings at all. Instead, they looked like a couple who had been in love for many years.

Taya also recorded this scene and then sent a message to Harper to ask her about Damian's sister.

[He does have a younger sister, but I haven't met her before. What's wrong?]

Taya typed quickly. [Nothing. I saw Damian at the hospital. He was taking her to the obstetrics and gynecology department.]

When Harper saw the message, her face darkened. [The obstetrics and gynecology department? Isn't he with his family on pack lands?]

Taya told Harper what Damian said.

But why didn't he tell Harper he was back and taking his sister to the hospital? He obviously didn't want Harper to know.

It was so strange.

Harper turned off her phone, took out her car key, and went straight to the hospital.

Taya still didn't send Harper the video. She'd let Harper see for herself.

If Damian really betrayed her, the video in her hand would be the evidence, and she would send it to Harper.

Harper didn't arrive very quickly. Taya feared they would leave after the woman saw the doctor, so she chose a place where they couldn't see her and sat down.

About half an hour later, the pregnant woman came out and was helped to the inpatient area by Damian.

Taya immediately got up and followed him. When she saw that Damian had completed the admission procedures, he helped the pregnant woman into the ward.

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 269

Taya quickly rushed down to the gift shop to buy something, picking up the first thing she saw. It was a fruit basket.

Harper rushed into the hospital and Taya breathed a sigh of relief.

“Taya, why are you here? Is it your heart? Is something wrong?”

Harper had rushed over to “catch” Damian, but when she saw Taya, she had a moment of realization. Obviously, something was wrong with her if she had been at the hospital.

Taya felt warm in her heart and said, “I’m fine. Stella asked me to get a few boxes of medicine. That’s why I came to the hospital.”

Hearing this, it was Harper’s turn to breathe a sigh of relief. It was good that Taya was in good health.

Taya handed the fruit basket to Harper. “Since you’re visiting your sister-in-law, you should bring some fruit.”

Harper soon understood what Taya meant. Taya told her not to be too impulsive when she saw them.

Instead, she would visit her as sister-in-law and find out what was happening before thinking of a way to deal with them.

Harper took the fruit basket from Taya and said softly, “Taya, you’re so thoughtful.”

Taya held Harper’s arm to give her strength and support. “Let’s go. I’ll keep you company.”

Taya was not in a hurry to get the medicine. Instead, she stayed to wait for Harper to come and face whatever happened with Damian along with her friend.

No matter what Harper saw or found out, Taya would be there.

With Taya’s company, Harper was no longer as flustered as before. She calmed herself down and followed Taya to the inpatient area.

Before entering the ward, Harper stopped and looked inside through the transparent glass...

The pregnant she-wolf looked very young.

Her figure was a little plump because of her pregnancy, and her face was tender and lovely.

There was a pitiful look on her face, and her eyes were full of innocence.

Even Taya felt pity for her.

At this time, Damian was sitting next to her, holding a water bottle with a straw in it, putting it to the pregnant woman's lips.

It looked...intimate.

"Let's go in."

Goodbye My Alpha Chapter 270

Harper looked uncomfortable, but she temporarily suppressed the feeling under Taya's reminder.

Harper smiled, picked up the fruit basket, and entered the ward.

"Damian..."

Hearing the sound of Harper's voice, Damian stopped holding the water up, and the pregnant woman looked stunned.

The two seemed to have prepared in advance and quickly returned to normal. Damian took the lead in putting down the water bottle, getting up, and walking to Harper.

"Why are you here?"

Harper glanced at Damian indifferently. Usually, he would call her "honey" first, but not today.

Harper's eyes dimmed, and she looked at the pregnant woman. It was as if she had seen her rival in love, which made her reluctant to reply.

Seeing her like this, Taya quickly stood up and explained, "I told Harper about seeing you here, and she was nearby. So she came to see you..."

Taya gently pushed Harper's elbow, and Harper looked away only then. With a smile, she handed the fruit basket to Damian.

"Why didn't you tell me that your sister is ill? I know a doctor at Arcadia University Hospital. If you had told me in advance, I could have arranged for them to see you. And a public hospital is much cheaper than a private pack hospital. Why spend so much money to take her here?"

The latter half of Harper's words were intentional. The implication was that they didn't want to go to the public hospital but secretly came to the private one. They had a guilty conscience.

Damian panicked for a moment, but he quickly covered it up. "My sister didn't pay for her pack medical insurance. It's the same for her to go to a public or private hospital."

Harper smiled faintly. "Yes, but this is the specialized pack hospital in Arcadia that deals with rare issues and high-ranking pack members."
