

The Gorgeous Substitute Wife of Mr. President Chapter 111 - Tips

0 5 minutes read

Come to Evelyn's side. She leaving from the club, her stomachache.

She squatted on the side of the road with pain, and her eyes were filled with unbearable grievances and misery.

Especially when she thought about what happened just now, her heart ached like being pricked by needles.

She looked at the street with neon lights and suddenly felt like she had nowhere to stay.

Lucas said so many mean words just now that she didn't want to come Hawk's.

And she dared not come Davis'.

She squatted on the side of the road for a long time, and the pain in her stomach became more and more intolerable.

Anyway, she couldn't ignore her body.

Eventually she chose to return to Hawk family.

Originally, she planned to go back to her room and find some medicine to take. But as soon as she entered the room, she could not bear any longer. She was black and she fainted because of pain.

It was not the reason that she was tender.

She had a bad stomach, and she was forced to drink. And also she squatted on the road for so long. She could bear so long which has been her limit.

Meanwhile, Lucas followed her back to their wedding room.

He did not know that Evelyn fainted. He could not help sighing relieved when he saw the room lights on in the garden.

He thought Nora would not come back after a quarrel with him, and he was worried all the way.

But when he arrived at the door of the room, his worry turned into hesitation.

After all, what happened before was that he wronged Nora and he also said so many excessive words. At this time, he always felt uncomfortable to get into the room.

And he never apologized to anyone in his life. He was always catered to by others.

For a while, he could not put down his face to apologize.

After hesitating, he planned to spend the night in his study.

He thought that until tomorrow that woman's anger should be less, then, he let Cater give some gifts she liked to her. These gifts presented his apology.

With this in mind, he intended to turn around and leave.

After taking two steps, he couldn't help stopping.

Because he suddenly found himself doing so, as if he was afraid of the woman.

That was his room. Why did he take shelter in his study?

Moreover, at first it was the woman who did not explain clearly, and his misunderstanding was justifiable, wasn't it?

The more he thought about it, the more wrong he felt. In his opinion, he didn't have to be afraid of the woman at all. He turned sharply back and walked towards the room.

But he forgot that he had never given Evelyn an opportunity to explain before.

When he reached the door, he hesitated to put his hand on the doorknob, though he had cheered himself.

He was thinking about how to say to Nora when he went in later.

How about saying he was back?

What if Nora ignored him?

He thought for a long time at the door, but did not think of a good idea. At last, he simply ignored it and went ahead.

With this in mind, he pushed the door open. He could not help but be shocked.

He thought that when he entered the room, he would see a angry Nora. But he saw Nora, who fell unconscious on the ground.

“Nora!”

He panicked and went up to held up the woman from the ground.

Evelyn’s face was gray. She frowned and her forehead was sweaty.

Even in a coma, her expression was painful.

When Lucas saw the situation, he called the housekeeper to prepare the car. And then he immediately called the hospital and took Evelyn to the hospital.

This action was not small. People in the main house side were also awakened by this.

Mrs. Hawk called the housekeeper and asked, “What’s wrong? Why it is noisy? Should not it be Nora who did some bad things that make Lucas annoyed in the middle of the night?”

At the end of the conversation, she had some pleasure to see this.

“Mir. Hawk, the young master did not quarrel with the young lady. As if the young lady was ill, and the young master sent the young lady to the hospital.”

The housekeeper answered respectfully but Mrs. Hawk frowned.

“Why is she sick again? It’s strange to be sick so often.”

She muttered. Although, she did not believe it, she did not ask any more questions. She let the housekeeper leave.

And Vivian also got the news. She did not believe that Nora was sick either.

But she heard that after they left, Lucas taught the woman a hard lesson.

The woman must want to pretend to be sick and gain the pity of Lucas. And then she would not be punished by Lucas.

She couldn't help snorting when she thought about it.

Nora was such a calculating woman.

No. She had to make a good plan and never let this woman cheat Lucas!

...

In the hospital, Evelyn did not know that the scheme against her was not over yet.

Lucas drove fast to send her to the hospital and she went to the emergency room.

Lucas was waiting outside the door.

He didn't know how long it took for the lights in the emergency room to turn off. Doctors and nurses pushed Evelyn out of the room.

"How is she?"

Lucas saw them and went forward to ask.

"The patient is fine for the time being, but the life habits should be changed. The patient has a very serious stomach disease. This time because of excessive drinking which damaged the stomach, caused acute gastritis. If you do not pay attention to these, it will evolve into gastric cancer. At that time, it becomes more troublesome."

The doctor simply talked about the condition of Evelyn, but it let Lucas stunned.

Before he could think deeply, the doctor said to him again, "She should be in hospital for two days."

Just then, Cater came in a hurry.

“President, is young lady OK?”

His politely inquired.

“She is fine. You check the hospitalization procedure first.”

Lucas ordered in a cold voice, and then he followed the nurses to the VIP ward to settle Evelyn.

When the nurses left, he stood at the bedside, looking down at the woman on the bed. His deep eyes made people didn't know what he was thinking.

At this time, Cater also made it and came back with the case.

“It's strange that young lady should have caused gastritis because she drank too much. Is it said that young lady can drink very much?”

He looked strangely at the person on the bed. “And I asked them before that they didn't drink any high-concentration alcohol, just a few bottles of c0cktails.”

Lucas heard this, and his eyes flashed.

He looked at Evelyn thoughtfully. Suddenly he remembered that at the dinner party yesterday, the woman seemed be unconscious after drinking three glasses of white wine.

“Are you sure you have the right information from your previous survey?”

He thought of the information about Nora that he had seen before, but he felt that there were too many different points, which made people felt doubtful.

“President, you asked me to investigate twice. Both are the same results. How can it be wrong?”

The assistant also found the odds. He understood his president's meaning, saying helplessly.

Lucas frowned when he heard.

“You go to investigate again. The information is not right in the twice investigation. Obviously, there is something wrong with it.”

When he finished, he seemed to think of something. Then he said, "You can start from Davis family and the school where Nora used to study in as well as her classmates. You must check everything and every detail for me!"

He always felt that Nora, that woman, hid some secrets and she gave him a strong sense of queerness.

Cater did not understand why his president had to find out, but he took orders to leave.

As he left, Lucas sat down on the sofa in the ward, keeping his eyes closed.

He didn't know how long it took for Evelyn to wake up in the hospital bed.

She looked at the unfamiliar room for a moment.

As she was about to get up, Lucas, beside her, noticed the movement and opened his eyes.

"Wake up?" he said, flashing a faint light in his eyes.

Evelyn heard this, only to find his existence. It seemed that she did not react in time and she was stunned.

Lucas pretended not to see the strange expression on her face and asked with concern, "How's feeling? Is the stomach still painful?"

He didn't mention that Evelyn fainted after drink.

Evelyn get back to herself and asked with a slight frown, "Where am I?"

"What? Have you forgotten what happened before so quickly?"

Lucas did not want to say that.

But somehow, he said something sarcastically, so that Evelyn was frozen.

Her thin lips were pressed tightly, and she seemed to have no intention of answering.

But with his words, she thought of what happened before she fainted, and her eyes flashed with complex emotion.

Apparently, it was Lucas who saved her after she fainted.

Despite she wanted to show the disregard for the man, her upbringing did not allow her to do so.

So she reluctantly said, "Thank you."

After two words, she did not intend to ignore Lucas, but to lay down and regard him as air.

Lucas stood at the end of the bed, squinting at her movements.

Knowing that the woman was still angry, he stood still and did not leave.

While, Evelyn, lying in bed, listened to the room for a long time without any sounds, she was doubtful.

Did the man leave?

When she thought about it, she could not help turning over in a fit of anger, and she saw someone standing at the end of the bed.

"Why haven't you left yet?"

She was surprised and delighted, but she didn't find it herself. Instead, she said awkwardly, "I'm fine know. You can go back and rest."

Lucas looked at she disguising her true feeling constantly. He curved his lips slightly.

Originally he couldn't pocket his pride. At this time somehow, he suddenly felt that there was nothing difficult.

"Don't be angry. You're still sick, and I've made it clear that it is not your fault. You're also deceived. I shouldn't be so impulsive to scold you."

Evelyn was stunned when she heard his apology.

She never thought that Lucas would apologize voluntarily.

After all, he was such a proud man. Every day he was flattered by others. He needn't apologize at all.

For a while, she was in turmoil.

There were throbs, joys and grievances.

Anyway, she was his wife, but he didn't believe her in the first place.

Thinking of this, her complex feelings instantly vanished, becoming depressed.

However, she dared not reveal these thoughts in front of Lucas.

She snorted coldly and did not look at Lucas, pretending to have a rest.

Lucas did not care about what he saw.

After all, he knew how mean he was last night.

It was impossible to let someone calm down for a while, so he didn't say anything and stayed quietly with her.

In this way, they spent two awkward days in the hospital.

Evelyn's gastritis was much better.

On the day of discharge, the doctor reminded her, "When you go back home, you must pay attention to your diet, eating insipid food, instead of spicy food and alcohol."

Evelyn nodded to show that she understood.

It was Lucas who remembered something when he heard this.

He has been taking care of Evelyn in the hospital for two days, and hasn't settled the scores with his youngest aunt yet.

With that in mind, he had an idea in mind.

Then they returned to their new house.

“You have a good rest at home. I’ll go out.”

He has taken of Evelyn and said.

Evelyn said “oh”without emotion, and then ignored him.

Although Lucas accompanied her these two days, she was upset and felt like her heart was stuffed with cotton when she thought that the man didn’t believe her.

Lucas knew naturally that she hadn’t cooled down so that he didn’t get angry. He told the housekeeper to take good care of her. He turned to the main house and went straight to Vivian.

Vivian was the old Mr. Hawk’s favorite little daughter that her courtyard was naturally the best of the whole family.

There were good pavilions and beautiful house and even the gardens were delicate. There were many rare and exotic flowers and plants, but Lucas did not have the mood to see.

“Where is your young lady?”

He grabbed a servant and asked her coldly.

“Miss Hawk is in the living room.”

The servant answered timidly. Lucas let go of her and strode toward the living room.

“Miss, Master Lucas is coming.”

In the living room, the housekeeper saw Lucas and reported to Vivian.

Vivian never thought that Lucas had come to settle scores with her, so she saw him and said to him warmly.

“Lucas, how did you come to my place today? Come and sit here.”

Lucas approached to her. He did not sat down, but stood calmly in front of her.

Vivian found something wrong when she saw his reaction. She was disturbed by the gloomy eyes of Lucas.

“Lucas, what’s wrong? Who’s irritating you?”

She asked with an awkward laugh, but Lucas just sneered.

“Who makes me unhappy? Shouldn’t my little aunt know it?”

Vivian froze and said, “What do you mean, Lucas?”

Lucas did not intend to circle with her when he heard what she said and told her directly about that night.

“I know you don’t like Nora, so I never asked you to get along well as long as you can pretend to be nice on the surface. But as an elder, do you look like an elder when you help outsiders calculate your nephew’s wife and alienate us? Couldn’t you know it’s wrong?”

At the end of the conversation, his voice became harsh.

Vivian shivered, and she were frightened by him.

But soon she reacted. Lucas criticized her so much that he was settling scores for Nora. She could not help but be annoyed.

“Lucas, are you blaming me for that woman?”

She complained and said, “And what did I do wrong? That woman cheats you from beginning to end. I’m helping you see her real face! You didn’t know chalk from cheese.”

Lucas frowned when he heard this.

He knew what his little aunt meant, but he chose to be partial to Nora.

After all, he knew better than anyone how much differences there were in this period of time, comparing Nora herself with the information of Nora.

“What’s the true face and what’s the false face? What are you talking about? Aren’t you aware that Nora is not what you said these days?”

Vivian couldn’t believe what she heard.

“Lucas, I think you’re obsessed. These are all the superficial phenomena that the woman deceived you. You even believe it.”

Lucas compressed his lips. He didn’t want to argue with her on this topic. The conversation turned back to the drink party in that evening.

“I have my own thoughts whether she cheats me, but you were wrong that night. You should apologize to Nora.”

After he finished, he looked at Vivian coldly.

“Are you crazy? Let me apologize to Nora?”

Vivian stared at him incredibly. “Don’t think about it. I can’t apologize to that woman.”

She fiercely refused, and at the same time did not forget to argue with Lucas.

But they each held their own ideas. They could not make a agreement. They soon quarreled, and many people were shocked.

Cindy got the news and went upstairs to report to Evelyn.

“Mistress. Our young master and Miss Vivian have quarreled.”

She pushed the door in, saying anxiously.

Evelyn was shocked when she heard this. She immediately calmed down and asked, “What’s the matter? Why did they quarrel?”

When Cindy listened to her questions, she said what she had heard.

“It was said that the young master wanted Miss Vivian to apologize to the Mistress. Miss Vivian disagreed and they quarreled.”

Evelyn was surprised. She didn’t think of that Lucas was looking for Vivian to stand up for her.

It was impossible to not be touched.

Originally she was still unhappy in the heart, but because of this her unpleasantness completely disappeared.

Even so, she was somewhat depressed.

In fact, this was not her original intention of being angry with Lucas.

What she wanted was his trust.

There was still a long way to go in the future, and she was so annoying that it was impossible for her to be able to guard against one by one.

Especially the two people in Hawk's, she couldn't protect herself very well.

So she needed his trust. As long as he believed in herself, even if they trapped herself, she actually felt no more difficult.

Of course, she did not want Lucas to conflict with his family and destroy their feelings.

In that way, he would be very tired. And the people in Hawk family just hated her more and more. Then she even lived more hardily in Hawk family.

Just as she thought about it, the door was opened from outside and Lucas came in with an uneasy face.

She knew that Lucas and Vivian must still make a same agreement.

Thinking of this, she cleared her throat and called his name.

"Lucas."

Lucas stopped and looked up at her as if waiting for her next step.

"Cough... I heard about it just now. Thank you for helping me, but I'll handle it myself later. Otherwise it will hurt the harmony of your family."

When she finished, she looked back at Lucas. "I know little aunt doesn't like me, and I'll try to avoid her in the future."

It could be said that her words surprised Lucas and even made him look at her with new eyes.

He had thought that according to Nora's character, she would entangle with little aunt. After all, in the materials, she had many conflicts with her before.

He shook his head off the idea just as it appeared.

There were so many different places between information and reality. He was afraid this information was not necessarily true.

He thought and responded quietly, "I see."

Meanwhile, in the main house.

When the dispute between Lucas and Vivian came to Mrs. Hawk's ears, she was even more angry and thought it was so ridiculous.

Nora went to the nightclub, Mrs Hawk's sister-in-law should have learned a lesson, but what did Lucas do?

He helped that woman to seek justice and ask her sister-in-law to apologize? What kind of drugs did the woman give him, and let him can't distinguish the right and wrong!

Amelia was as angry as Mrs. Hawk.

After the dispute, she was secretly contacted by her little maid and she told her the story.

"Nora!"

After hanging up the phone, Amelia could no longer resist the jealousy in her heart, smashing her cell phone and everything in the house that could be smashed.

After a long time, she stopped breathlessly and calmed down a lot.

But she was also more anxious.

When that happened, Lucas still was partial to that b!tch, and he even argued with Vivian. Did Lucas really like the b!tch?

The more she thought about it, the more likely she felt that it was possible. Her face changed sharply and she could not sit still and walked out of the door.

“Dad.”

She hurried all the way to Mr. Morgan’s study and screamed.

“What’s the matter? Why are you so panic like this?”

Mr. Morgan looked at her with a slight frown and was dissatisfied with her rudeness and scolded her.

Amelia did not care about it, but she spoke frankly about her purpose.

“Dad, you said you would discussed Uncle Devin about the marriage between Lucas and I. Why haven’t you begun for so long? Did you not take it seriously?”

Mr. Morgan felt a little uncomfortable when he heard this. It seemed like they b.uttered up Hawk family.

“Amelia, have you forgotten that your Lucas married? How do you let me discuss it?”

When he said this, his eyes flashing with discontent.

Not for his daughter, it was for the family

Amelia listened and clenched her teeth. “Sophia said that sooner or later she would let the woman leave Lucas. Dad. I don’t care. I want to marry Lucas. You have to help me, and it will be good for you if I marry Lucas.”

Mr. Morgan did not speak, but looked down as if he was thinking about the feasibility of this matter.

Originally, when he learned that Lucas was married, he desisted.

But he didn’t think that that Mrs. Hawk was still thinking about it, which had to arouse his mind.

Of course, it was the last sentence of Amelia that made him waver. Marriage with Hawk family had endless benefits for him.

“I understand what you mean. I’ll find an opportunity to find out what Mrs. Hawk means someday. If that’s what you said, I’ll help you.”

He had an idea and responded quietly.

Amelia got the answer she wanted and left happily.

Vivian looked at her leaving behind, laughed, and immediately asked the housekeeper to call his wife to come here.

“What’s wrong?”

Mrs. Morgan entered the study, wondering.

“What do you think of your daughter’s desire to marry Lucas?”

When Mrs. Morgan heard this, she knew what had happened.

After all, the servant had already told her about Amelia’s visit to the study just now.

“You’re not right. What’s desire? Our daughter should have married Lucas. It’s the old Mr. Hawk stopped this and destroyed our Amelia’s marriage.”

Vivian listened to her dissatisfaction, but did not want to say more. He went straight to the point and said, “According to Amelia’s words, Mrs. Hawk still wants Lucas to marry Amelia. You can test her tone some other day. If she had the same thoughts, giving her some advice so that she can get rid of that woman earlier. The later, the worse. It is good for our Amelia.”

Mrs. Morgan nodded, “I know, I will ask Mrs. Hawk.”

Mr. Morgan nodded his head, and then they talked for a while before Mrs. Morgan left.

She went back to her room and contacted Mrs. Hawk directly. Then she made an appointment with Mrs. Hawk for a few days and planned to go shopping together.

The next two days were peaceful.

Evelyn, recovering at home, returned to work.

At the company, as for Envy's endorsement, it's all done.

These days were full of publicity, which looked like a raging fire.

Because the company focused on Haute Couture, and its customers were all celebrities and stars. After the promotion of Envy, it could be said that the reservation phone in the company has been overwhelmed at the first time when the work was promoted.

That's not enough, because it's clear to all that most of those customers were admiring Envy and they mainly aimed to flatter Envy.

Even so, the company's ready-made clothes were in short supply. They couldn't even meet their intended demand. The company needed to rush out the next batch of ready-made clothes.

There were offline stores, and they also needed to start inventory. They couldn't just do it online.

None of this had anything to do with Evelyn, of course.

Right now she's looking at sales data, and she couldn't hide her delight at the popularity of her designs.

"Evelyn, you are so popular now. Many foreign designers on BBS are praising you that how ingenious you are and how unique your design."

Bessy Roy looked at the smile on her face, and Bessy couldn't help but be happy.

She praised, pointing to the BBS on the computer.

Evelyn was stunned to hear this.

She has been busy with design and ready-made clothes recently, and there has been a lot going on since then. She hasn't been to BBS for a long time.

Thinking of this, she followed Bessy's hand and looked at the computer. She saw someone on BBS retweeted her company's promotion, prompting many people to leave comments below.

"God, long is like a treasure trove. I never thought anyone would be able to combine several elements so perfectly without any sense of disharmony!"

"Yes, it has a vintage style that makes it a pleasure to look at, and I could hardly imagine how it would look on me."

...

"Luckily I bought it fast enough, and now the ready-made clothes are out of stock."

"Pity me. I wanted to buy one for my birthday party, but it was out of stock. I don't know when I'll have it."

The further back in the line of comments, the more off topic.

Still, Evelyn was happy. She was in a good mood for several days.

The company's sales were gradually on the right track, and everything in the company was going smoothly.

It was also the day Amelia's mother had made an appointment with Sophia.

They came to the agreed spa early.

After the technicians had done everything, Amelia's mother waved them all out.

"Sophia, I asked you out today. I actually have something personal to tell you."

Sophia heard this and her eyes flickered. She said with a smile, "Mrs. Morgan, that's very kind of you. The relationship between our families is so close. You can say whatever you want."

Amelia's mother knew Sophia was being polite, and Amelia's mother complimented Sophia. After that, Amelia's mother then said what she really meant.

“Sophia, you really hit it off with our Amelia. When she got home, she used to miss you and Lucas. If I may say so, it is a pity that we didn’t become in-laws. She has always wanted to marry Lucas since she was a little girl. Who knew the affairs of the world are inconstant. Will she ever get a chance to marry Lucas?”

When she finished, she looked over at Sophia.

Sophia knew the meaning of Mrs. Morgan’s words. She had a rough idea of what Mrs. Morgan was asking her out for. A smile flickered in her eyes.

“Amelia certainly has the chance. Mrs. Morgan, you can rest assured.”

She responded, making Mrs. Morgan a promise.

But that wasn’t the promise Mrs. Morgan wanted.

She wanted an exact time, or would her daughter have to wait forever?

She was afraid that when they got rid of the woman from the Davis family, Lucas’ grandfather, he would find another woman to be his granddaughter-in-law from the Li family.

“We are quite at ease with your words, but Amelia has grown up that she cannot afford to be delayed. I wonder if you could arrange a specific time for us, so we can be prepared.”

Sophia frowned when she heard this.

She could not make an appointment with them now.

Lucas and Nora were still married, and Lucas liked Nora, so it was impossible to separate them for a while.

If they set a date, but Lucas and Nora don’t divorce, wouldn’t they have offended Morgan family?

As she thought this, she spoke out her misgivings.

“It’s not that I don’t want to make an appointment with you. In fact, I really don’t know how to get them divorced. And Lucas’ grandfather, who didn’t agree to their divorce, made it difficult for us.”

Amelia's mother heard that, and she knew it wasn't Sophia's excuse.

As for Hawk family, she knew as much as she could from her daughter.

She looked down and thought. She tried to give Sophia some advice.

"Indeed, this marriage was arranged by Lucas' grandfather, so it is difficult for us to part them. But..."

She said, and then she changed her subject. She looked at Sophia and said with a smile, "if one of them commits an unforgivable mistake, I guess even Lucas' grandfather will have the overall situation in mind and let them divorce."

Sophia, when she heard this, she squinted thoughtfully.

"You reminded me, and I'll go back and talk to my husband. I'll ask you out after my husband and I decide."

Amelia's mother, of course, she wouldn't turn Sophia down.

Then they changed the subject, and they talked of the trifles of their circle.

After finishing all the SAP treatment, they went home separately.

When Sophia returned to the main house, she couldn't hide her smile.

She was spotted by Devin Hawk, who just came back, and asked her why.

"What happened today? It's rare to see you in a good mood."

Sophia heard him, and she told him about her meeting with Amelia's mother today. Then she remembered what they had talked about, and the smile on her lips widened.

"You're back just in time. I happen to have something to discuss with you."

She said, and she waved the servants away.

Devin looked at her, and his eyes were full of wonder.

When Sophia heard him, she smiled and walked over to him. She asked, making him sit, "how do you like Amelia to be our daughter-in-law?"

After hearing her words, Devin frowned.

“What do you mean? Did you forget that Lucas was married?”

Sophia sniffed, “how could I have forgotten, but I don’t like Nora. Did you see how much trouble she has caused us since she came into our Hawk family? Before Lucas came back, she was out there fooling around. For a woman like her, does she deserve my son ?”

At the end, she became more and more angry.

Devin did not contradict her. He seemed to agree with her.

“You’re right, but don’t forget that this is Lucas’ private matter. Since he had said nothing, it was assumed that he had not cared. If you impose your own interference in their affairs, it may be counterproductive to do so.

After Sofia heard that her face was dark.

Devin looking at her, he knew that she was not satisfied, but he could not help nagging.

“Anyway, it’s all about Lucas and Nora. You shouldn’t interfere.”

Sofia listened to him. The more she listened, the worse she felt. it

” Well, in your opinion,It’s my fault to get in charge of these things?”

Responding to him, then she did not give Devin a chance to talk but continued, “Besides, I was angry at that time. Would you not be angry, or would you prefer that woman to be your daughter-in-law?”

Devin frowned”Even if I don’t like her, you want to change Lucas’ wife, but Lucas’ attitude has not been seen clearly for so long? According to his character, do you think he will agree with it?”

When Sofia heard this, she was suddenly quite .

How didn't she know or understand?

It was because she knew that she had nothing to say.

Thinking of this, she could not help recalling the idea Mrs. Morgan had told her before.

Let Nora make mistakes... Making unforgivable mistakes is the only way.

She was meditating and her eyes were deep.

...

Evelyn didn't know that she was making a conspiracy for her.

On this day, it was time for her to make an appointment with John.

Evelyn didn't want to go at all.

But reporting regularly was what they had agreed on before and she had to do.

So she left Hawk family carefully and went to the agreed cafe.

John was already seated in the box.

He was dissatisfied when he saw Evelyn who was late.

"You're late."

Evelyn listened with an irrepressible sneer in his heart.

Sure enough, in her good father's eyes, she is not his daughter, but his tool, a subordinate.

"You should know that it's not easy to get out from Hawk family as you think."

Her indifferent reply made John unable to find fault.

"Tell me about your recent situation!"

John snorted as if he didn't want to talk with her but go straight with her.

Evelyn also hoped to end the meeting earlier and did not delay the report.

“Nothing serious has happened recently... Now I’ve stabilized in the company.

She gave a brief introduction of what had happened, but John only listened to what he wanted to hear.

Because he only cared about whether she had exposed.

At present, it was full of flaws.

“Didn’t I let keep silence in the company? Who made you brilliant in the company? Besides, when Amelia and Vivian targeted you. Why don’t you fight against them? How many times have I told you about Nora’s temper?”

He frowned and said that he was unsatisfied with Evelyn’ performance.

Evelyn listened and couldn’t help defending for herself.

“Before the things started if you had not wanted to seal up the shares of the Hawk family, would I have been trapped in it? Now it is easier to suspect that if I leave from it. What’s more Amelia and those people in the family are Nora’ future mother-in-law’s family. If I follow her temper then do not have to wait for her to come back, the people they will drive me out.”

What Evelyn said was all reasonable.

John could not refute even if he was not satisfied.

“I don’t want you to be 100 percent as Nora,” he warned, frowning. “But you must try to be similar or you will be suspected. “

“How could they suspect? They hasn’t doubted it for so long?”

Evelyn did not care what he said. After all, it’s such a long, if some people really doubted that they had already investigated her.

Of course, John also told out her idea.

He responded with a sneer: “How could it be impossible? Just a few days ago, I found that someone was investigating Nora.”

Evelyn was stunned when she heard this.

“Who is investigating?”

She was shocked and asked, and her mind flashed through Lucas’ face.

“Is it Lucas?”

She spoke again, after all, she had exposed several times in front of the man.

John shook his head: “Should not be him.”

He thought about it and responded, “Maybe someone else in the Hawk family. Of course, Lucas is not excluded. After all, this person can not be underestimated. He is calm and sophisticated. Even if he has doubts, he is still quiet. So you just need to guard against it, but others in the family, you should pay attention to it!”

Evelyn listened to it and felt it was reasonable. She nodded and said, “I know.”

John warned again then the two fell into silence.

Evelyn looked at it and offered to leave. “Since there’s nothing to say, I’ll go back first.”

When she finished, she was about to leave, but John stopped her.

“Wait a minute.”

“Is there anything else?”

Evelyn frowned and turned around. She was impatient and you could know it obviously from her eyes.

She really didn’t want to stay with John because she felt very depressed with him.

“I’ve heard that you’ve been hospitalized with injuries recently. What’s the matter?”

John did not seem to see the expression on her face and asked directly.

Evelyn was shocked to hear his seemingly concerned words.

What did this man mean?

Was it conscience that found out and cared for her?

She thought and knew it was impossible.

After all, if he really cared about her, how could he never go to see her once when she was in hospital?

She thought, and the ripples that rose in her heart faded away.

“Nothing, maybe it’s because I was too busy and my body was out of work. That’s why I always got sick.”

She responded with indifference.

John frowned. “I don’t care what you are for. In a word, you should remember that everything you have now is Nora’. Don’t rely on Lucas to regard you as Nora and get close to him now. These are not what you should get. You’d better put away your bad idea!”

When Evelyn heard this, her eyes were full of mockery.

She knew that the man would not care for her.

“You can rest assured, I remember clearly. I don’t need your repeated reminders!”

She gritted her teeth in response. Regardless of whether or not John had anything to say, she turned around with her bag and left.

John watched her leaving back, his eyes flashing with dissatisfaction and uneasiness.

Firstly, it was for the sake of Evelyn’s growing disobedience to discipline, and secondly was for the sake of Hawk family.

Hearing what Evelyn said Lucas and this woman are in harmony. He didn’t know if Lucas will find anything when Nora came back.

After all, they were couple. No matter what changed he must find it firstly.

The more he thought about it, the more uneasy he felt.

He had to make some other arrangements.

He made up his mind and left the cafe.

Evelyn did not know that after she left, John thought a lot of things alone.

She returned to her family angrily all the way but her mood had calmed down a lot.

Thinking in this way, she felt better, but she was still tired when she saw the big Hawk family.

Evelyn returned to the room wearily. She just wanted to lie in bed and had a good rest after washing.

She didn't know how long she slept. It was until the housekeeper knocked on the door for dinner that she woke up from her dream.

She changed her clothes and went to the restaurant without any appetite.

She simply ate some and let the housekeeper clean up.

She went to the garden, intending to relax.

Otherwise, when Lucas came back in the evening, he would surely be aware of it. She was fearing that it will arouse his suspicion.

She thought of John Davis telling her in the afternoon that someone was investigating her.

She didn't know who this person was. Why did he come to investigate her?

Her eyes were deep in thought, and she thought over all the possible people. She could not guess who they were, but felt that everyone was possible.

After all, people in the family like Sophia all didn't like her. They must be anxious to find her fault and drive her away.

As for Lucas, she made several mistakes in front of him. According to the man's wisdom, she would not be deceived by her.

She was so absorbed that she did not notice the footsteps that were slowly approaching behind her.

The man went directly behind Evelyn and hugged her directly without even noticing it.

"Nora, my heart aches."

Austin embraced Evelyn and spoke with a mournful face.

Evelyn was shocked by his sudden appearance and action.

She struggled hurriedly and took a step backward, only to find that the man standing behind her was Austin. She was frightened and angry.

"Mr Wilson why are you here?"

She frowned and questioned, knowing that this was the back garden of Hawk family, not the park outside.

The silent appearance of this man several times was really suspicious.

Austin looked at her resistant expression, his face flashed through the pain, but still forced to respond: "I heard you were hospitalized. I'm worry about you so come to see you, I brought you a lot of tonic,. Please remember to eat."

Evelyn looked at the tonic in his hand, and her eyes flashed with complexity.

Seeing those tonic were purchased for her physical symptoms, she could knew that the man made it by heart.

It's also because of this that she felt powerless.

She did not know what relationship he had with Nora exactly but the man's concern really made her unable to bear it.

"Thank you Mr Wilson. I'm much better now. If Mr Wilson don't..."

She wanted to open her mouth and let Austin leave quickly. Otherwise, Lucas would come back to see him later, then she didn't know what to explain.

Unfortunately, before she had finished she was interrupted by the excitement of Austin.

"Nora , do you still want to help Lucas hide it?"

Evelyn was confused by his words.

"What did I hide?"

She asked subconsciously.

Austin hear it and looked at her sadly: "Since you married him, you have never lived a peaceful life. I don't know how many times you had went to the hospital. He can't take care of you at all."

Evelyn frowned.

Indeed, her admission to the hospital was related to Lucas, but...

"Mr Wilson, it's our husband and wife's business. Don't you think you have too much control over it?"

She retorted coldly and felt the man was mad.

Even though he loved Nora but she had told him her attitude more than once and told him that they were impossible.

But this fellow, liked he couldn't understand the human language. He came to entanglement again and again.

Austin knew that her impatience had reached its climax, and it was very painful to hear her indifferent and stinging words.

He knew that if he went on talking, he might hear more desperate words.

So instead of continuing, he handed over the supplement again.

"Well, I don't care about your husband and wife, but you still take this tonic, and make it up by yourself. Look at you, your face is not as good as before."

Evelyn listened to his retreat but did not change.

Because she knew that once she received these things, it's going to be endless, and it's going to make this guy misunderstand.

"Take these things back to your mother. I don't lack them at Hawk family."

She said, and proposed to leave again: "Mr Wilson, it's late. You should go back. I just I have something to do so do not send you."

Austin could not help being annoyed when listened to her to let him go again and again.

"Nora , do you really hate me so much?"

Evelyn frowned slightly.

Before she could respond, she listened to Austin continued to ask, "Is Hawk really that good?"

Meanwhile, Lucas had returned from the company.

When he returned to his room, he found that Evelyn was not there. Subconsciously, he came to the housekeeper for inquiry. When he knew that she was in the garden, he went over.

However when he just walked to the intersection that he heard such a sentence. His face suddenly sank.

He looked coldly at the two men in the garden, frost gathering under his eyes.

The two in the garden didn't know.

Austin also pestered Evelyn to ask her to give him an answer.

"Yes, he's fine."

Evelyn looked steadfastly at Austin, intending to put more emphasis on this time.

Otherwise, the man came to her every few days and she thought she would be crazy!

Austin did not know what she thought in her heart. When he heard Evelyn's answer, his eyes were full of pain. He seemed to be unable to bear it and staggered back a step.

Evelyn looked and did not come forward to help. She pretended not to see the continued way: "Mr Wilson, I have said we can get together. I hope Mr Wilson could self-esteemed and do not entangle again, otherwise our friendship will end here."

After that, she looked at Austin and turned to leave immediately.

However when she just walked to the garden entrance, she saw a complex face of Lucas. She was frightened immediately .

"Lucas... When did you come here?"

She asked uneasily, wondering whether the man had seen what had just happened.

However, Lucas did not answer her.

However, from Lucas' terrible face, it was obvious that he had just seen something happened.

She thought of it, panicked, and hurried forward to explain.

"Lucas, don't misunderstand. Mr Wilson and I..."

Before she had finished speaking, Lucas interrupted her.

"Have you taken the medicine?"

Evelyn was stunned by what he said that she didn't understand what the man really thought.

But she answered honestly, "Not yet."

"In the future, remember to take medicine on time and don't get sick again."

Lucas turned around and left after said that, leaving Evelyn standing alone.

Was that over?

She thought the man would laugh at her again.

She would never know that Lucas really wanted to do so in the beginning.

However, since Evelyn said so much, his anger turned into complexity and contradiction, that's why he didn't get angry at last but asked the inexplicable question and left.

Evelyn's eyes were full of tangles looking him leave away.

She didn't know what the man meant.

Was he angry or not?

After thinking about it, she finally gave up the idea of catching up.

Since he did not intend to pursue, she didn't need to explain or it will make the things worse.

With this in mind, she followed Lucas back to the room.

Lucas was not in the room, but went to the study.

After all, he had just returned home and had a lot to deal with.

Just as he was reviewing the company documents, the cell phone next to him rang.

He scanned his eyes and picked them up.

"What's the matter?"

"Young Master, the latest survey on Mistress has got the result."

The voice of Cater came from the phone.

Lucas gave a "Hmm" and asked, "What's the result?"

“There’s nothing strange on the other side of the school, but there’s still one thing very strange.”

Cater paused: “The Mistress’s classmates say that the Mistress is not drunk but the Mistress’s performance of the last two times...”

In the end, he did not speak out.

Lucas knew what he wanted to say.

It was rumored outside that Nora was not drunk in a thousand cups, but this one got drunk after three cups.

Or, not even three cups she would be drunk.

When Lucas thought of it, his eyes were dark.

“How about physical problem? Is there something wrong with the stomach?”

He asked again.

Cater did not hide it, so he hastened to reveal his investigation.

“Mistress has been doing regular check-ups, and the information from the hospital also refers to the Mistress’s health was good. She didn’t have stomach disease.”

After he finished speaking even himself felt incredible.

The on on the data of the survey and the one they met exactly like two people.

And this idea was not only his, but also Lucas’.

“Is this information correct?”

His frowning inquiry seemed to have no idea why there was so much difference.

” Young Master you can rest assured that the information I have personally stared at to be checked out. It will not be wrong.”

Cater answered with certainty that he knew what his Young Master meant, and immediately speculated, “But these materials were all before we returned home. Would there be any problems with young ladies after we returned home?”

Lucas was silent.

This guess was not impossible.

After all, after he returned home, she had a lot of problems, and the woman was sent to the hospital several times because of this.

It was not excluded that stomach disease was caused at that time.

But what about drinking? It could be changed because of stomach disease.

Cater didn't know what to say.

“This... I think it's possible because have to to drink less after stomach disease. Maybe she's not drinking all these time. Maybe she's giving up drinking. I heard that some people will have some uncomfortable reactions when they give up drinking. Maybe that's the case with Mistress.

He thought for a long time about such a lame excuse.

Didn't mention that Lucas really thought it could make sense.

But he still felt something was wrong.

He always felt that Nora was hiding a big secret.

“This is the case for the time being. You can stop there.”

“Yes”

Cater took orders, and then they talked about something else about the company.

...

Meanwhile, on the side of the main house.

Vivian was cleaning her skin in her room. However her maid rushed in at this time.

“What’s the matter?”

She glanced and frowned.

“Miss, just now I saw our Mistress and the young master of the Wilson family dating in the garden secretly.”

The servant responded quickly, but let the movement of Hawk Vivian stop.

“What did you say? Nora b!tch dating in the garden?”

She got up from her chair in shock, and her heart was filled with ecstasy.

She was worried that she had no chance to clean up the b!tch, but she came to the door on her own initiative.

“Come on, follow me to catch the r.ape!”

She walked towards the door without thinking.

But she was caught by a servant just two steps away.

“It’s no use, Miss. When I came back, they broke up.”

When Vivian heard this, she couldn’t help concealing her disappointment and complaining, “Why don’t you let some to tell me when you see it? You let me lose a good chance.”

When the servant heard this, she felt grievance, but dared not refute it. She bowed her head and let her say it.

Vivian didn’t find out. After spoke few sentences, she had an idea in her mind.

“Go, follow me to find my sister-in-law.”

When she finished, she brought the maid to the house and asked the maid to call Sofia down.

“Vivian, do you have anything to do with me?”

Sofia went downstairs and sat opposite Vivian and asked.

Vivian repeated what the servant had just told her.

“Sister-in-law, you servant said to see the niece and daughter-in-law having a tryst with a man in the back garden. I think it’s a big deal. So I’ll tell my sister-in-law and ask you how to deal with it. If it’s passed on, I’m afraid that our family will lose face because of Nora.”

As she added, Sofia shivered with anger.

“That b!tch!”

She gritted her teeth, subconsciously asking the housekeeper to call her in.

However, when she spoke, she was oppressed by herself which made Vivian confused.

“Sister-in-law, don’t you go to deal with the daughter-in-law .”

How did Sofia not understand what she meant, but now she may not be able to deal with Nora .

“Vivian, after all, we have no proof of this. At that time, the woman argued that Lucas would believe the woman. Then we will have a bad relationship with Lucas but they will get closer. How could we help her in this way?”

Hawk Vivian listened. She also felt reasonable, but she was unwilling.

“Then watch the woman do that?”

Sofia shook her head. “I’ll try my best not to let that woman ruin my family’s reputation and implicate Lucas.”

Vivian heard the words and nodded in agreement, which prompted her to think about what she had promised Amelia before.

At present, sister-in-law was also impatient with Nora. Why didn’t she do something and drive the woman out of the family directly?

Thinking of that, her eyes flashed with bad intentions: “Sister-in-law, rather than trying to target Nora , we might as well return her back once and for all.”

“I want to do so, but I have no way.”

Sofia said with her lips pursed, and then she looked at Vivian as if she had noticed something.

“Do you have a once-and-for-all solution?”

Vivian listened and weirdly arched the corners of her mouth.

“There’s one way, but it’s up to if you are willing or not.”

Sofia frowned: “Could you tell me your method first?”

Vivian saw the situation, then told her the idea.

“Simple, as long as you hold a charity party and invite John to join us. We let someone to do some tricks. That evening there will be many people. As long as Nora loses face and we have a stronger attitude. John dare not take her back?”

The Gorgeous Substitute Wife of Mr. President Chapter 118 - Tips

Sophia listened to Vivian’s idea with some hesitation on her face.

It was not strange that Vivian could say whether she is willing before.

After all, Nora was still the eldest daughter-in-law of the Hawk family now. If she lost her face, it would affect the whole Hawk family.

And if the thing got too terrible, she was also worried that it would have a bad end.

Especially the side of the old man, in any case, Nora was chosen by him. If the thing got embarrassing, it was not easy to explain to the old man.

She thought of these and said out.

“There’s nothing to worry about. When father see Nora, that bitch, is entangled with other men, do you think our father will still protect her?”

Vivian said with her eyes flashed with malicious light.

When Lucas found her trouble because of that woman, she couldn't bear that woman to stay at Hawk house any longer.

She looked at Sophia, who was still hesitant. Her eyes dimmed and she thought that it needed a more effective medicine.

"And, sister-in-law, look at Nora's skittish temperament, can you guarantee that her pregnancy is really the child of our Hawk family? Forget about what happened before, Lucas was not in the country at that time. Now Lucas is back, she is still incorrigible. She actually carried on a clandestine love affair at home, do you think if the child was born, will the child be Lucas's?"

When Sophia heard this, her mind suddenly wavered.

Nora betrayed Lucas, this had touched her bottom line, not to mention that she wanted to confuse the bloodline of Hawk family.

She absolutely forbade that woman to do anything harmful to Lucas's reputation.

"Just do what you say. I'll start arranging things for the charity."

She responded quietly, Vivian was happy and talked to her about the details of the charity.

.....

On the side of the new house, Evelyn didn't know the danger was approaching.

When she returned to her room, although she said that she didn't care about the thing that she met Austin Wilson, which was seen by Lucas, she couldn't help thinking about it in the heart.

She didn't know what that man meant, he hadn't questioned her yet.

She sat on the workbench with making blind and disorderly conjectures, but she had never made a mark on the rough sketch in her hand.

Meanwhile, she also looked at the door from time to time.

But it was quiet outside the door, which made her vaguely expectant eyes become frustrated.

Suddenly she found herself in a wrong attitude and shook her head immediately.

Why was she frustrated? It was right that Lucas didn't care about it, this also prevented them from quarreling.

Besides, that man didn't like her either. He married her just to fulfill his grandfather's mission.

She couldn't help laughing at herself and raising the corner of the lips when she thought about it.

She forced herself to calm down and concentrated on the design drawing in her hand.

In this way, she didn't know how long it took, the housekeeper came to inform her that dinner was ready.

Evelyn nodded, she simply tidied up and went out the door.

Unexpectedly, as soon as she reached the stairway, she ran into Lucas, who was going downstairs.

She paused and subconsciously looked at Lucas's face, it seemed that she wanted to see how he was feeling at the moment.

Lucas did not know that she was still concerned about what had just happened. When he saw her stop, he frowned slightly and wondered: "Why not go?"

His tone was calm and natural, there was no sign of anger, which made Evelyn relaxed and somewhat dreary at the same time.

She couldn't say why she felt that way.

"I'm on my way."

She compressed her lips and responded.

Soon,they went downstairs,as soon as they sat down, the servants put the rice and dishes on the table.

During the meal, they dined in silence.

After dinner, the servant brought the tonic soup again and put it in front of Evelyn.

Evelyn also took the soup and drank it as usual.

It was only this time that she had just taken a sip, the full-bodied smell of the medicine spread in her mouth and made her feel nausea.

“Hmm.....”

Her face was so bad that she put her hand over her mouth,got up and ran to the bathroom.

“Mistress, are you okay?”

After seeing it, the servant followed her with concern.

Lucas watched them leave, his eyes flashed with faint light,he also got up and walked quickly behind them.

Before he came near, he heard the vomiting coming from the bathroom.

After a while, the voice stopped and she walked out with the pale face.

It was not strange that she felt so upset,it was the bad smell that caused her stomach upset.

Lucas looked at her pale face and said with compressing his lips: “Later, I’ll ask Cater to make an appointment with a doctor and you’ll have a check-up.”

“Sorry to trouble you.”

Evelyn thought he would let the doctor check her stomach and thanked with a smile.

But she didn’t know that Lucas thought differently from her.

What he was thinking at this time was that it was almost a month since this woman's menstrual period passed, it was almost time to get pregnant.

And now this woman vomited again, which was just one of the symptoms of pregnancy, so he had to think more about it.

Evelyn didn't think about this aspect at all. She relaxed for a while, ate a little more and went back to her room to rest.

The next day, she woke up naturally and went downstairs for breakfast, but she found that Lucas was at home.

It seemed that he was waiting for her to have breakfast together.

"Are you better?"

Lucas did not see the surprise in her eyes. He saw her go downstairs and asked with concern.

"Not so bad."

Although Evelyn felt strange, she did not think much about it and sat down at the table.

After all, he was a big boss, it was also possible that he wanted to give himself a holiday.

With thinking like this, she was also at ease with her meals.

As she was eating, the words of Lucas rang in her ear again.

"After breakfast, you go upstairs and change your clothes. I'll take you to the hospital later."

Evelyn was stunned, her beautiful eyes looked at him in surprise, as if she had not expected him to do so.

"No, how can I trouble you to take me personally for such a trifle? I can go by myself. You go to the company to work?"

She didn't want Lucas to go.

Or she didn't want to accept any good intentions from this man, otherwise, she would forget her identity and develop the strange feeling to herself after accepting too much good intentions.

Lucas didn't know what she was thinking, when he heard her rejection, he stopped and looked at her coldly.

Evelyn originally wanted to insist it, but she was stared at by his deep and bottomless eyes, she felt only a fit of numbness in her scalp.

In the end, she could not resist and could only bite her lip to promise.

"Well, you can take me if you want."

Seeing her consent, Lucas continued eating after a cold snort.

But Evelyn ate without tasting the food.

Before long, Lucas finished eating the food in the bowl. He watched there was some food in her bowl, he frowned and nor did he urge her.

"Eat slowly, I'll wait for you in the car outside!"

After he said, he turned and went out.

Evelyn looked at him leaving, her eyes were full of complexity, she also lost her appetite.

But when she thought of Lucas outside, she finished eating breakfast quickly and went upstairs to change clothes.

"I'm all right. Let's go."

She changed into a casual suit that was convenient for checking, as she got into the car, she opened her mouth.

Instead of telling the driver at once, Lucas looked her from head to foot.

"What's wrong?"

Evelyn looked at this and asked unclearly. She thought there was something wrong with herself and looked down to check.

“Nothing, let’s go.”

Naturally, Lucas would not tell her, he was looking to see if she wore makeup and dangerous shoes.

After all, those things possibly put the pregnant women in danger.

The Gorgeous Substitute Wife of Mr. President Chapter 119 - Tips

On their way to hospital, Sophia also got the news at the main home.

“What did you say? Evelyn gets pregnant?”

She looked at the servant in surprise and asked again in disbelief.

“she looks like getting pregnant, Mistress vomited everything she ate last night, and young master also personally take her to the hospital this morning, he takes it seriously, may be pregnant.”

The servant replied again, but Sofia did not think it possible.

After all, she brought soup to that woman every day. That woman couldn’t possibly get pregnant!

Just as she was trying to understand she waved the servant leave, the butler came in.

“Here comes the old master, madam.”

As he spoke, Yody Hawk came in, leaning on his stick.

“Dad, why are you here?”

Sophia saw him, she can only smile and say hello.

“I heard Evelyn vomit these days, Lucas took her to the hospital, so come over and wait for good news.”

Yody also did not hide his intention why he came over, hearing the reason, Sophia’s face sank.

“Ha ha, so, I’ll accompany daddy to wait together.”

She smiled mock and assented, the old master also didn’t refuse.

.....

At the same time, Evelyn and Lucas also arrived at the hospital.

She followed behind the Lucas, originally thought to go to the gastrointestinal department, but she found that this person took her to the gynecology clinic.

“Lucas, are we on the wrong way?”

She could not help stopping the man.

Lucas heard her, stopped and looked at her.

“No, come with me.”

He said, and went straight to the doctor’s office.

Evelyn looked at his fading back, she froze.

But when she came to herself, she had a rough idea that this man might have misunderstood what happened last night.

She was afraid of her stomach upset last night made him think she was pregnant.

For a moment she was unspeakably complicated.

She wanted to stop him and told him she wasn’t pregnant.

But she also knew that even if she said it, the man didn’t believe it.

With that in mind, she ran after Lucas.

The doctor had made an appointment so that people could be examined as soon as they arrived.

Within half an hour, the results came out.

“Mr. Hawk, I’m very sorry, Mrs. Hawk is not pregnant, vomit should be caused by the stomach discomfort, I suggest you should go to the stomach section to examine.”

The doctor read the examination report, carefully reported it to Lucas.

Lucas seemed to be not satisfied with the result, frowning.

“Not pregnant, why?”

The doctor looked at his unhappy face and trembled. “If you want to know the reason, you may need further examination.”

She said, looked toward Evelyn, said with professional habits: “I don’t know if there is something wrong with Mrs. Hawk’s body?”

Evelyn heard this, she was some speechless.

Why did this sound like her problem?

“There’s nothing wrong with my body.”

She answered questions without thinking.

“Have you been examined? Pre-pregnancy?”

The doctor never gave up.

Evelyn frowned, but still honestly answered.

“No”

The doctor heard words, tension on her face was also relaxed: “If Mrs. Hawk did not do an examination, that root of the problem can’t be sure.”

The implication was that they should be examined first.

Lucas was naturally understood, immediately let Cater to arrange it.

Evelyn, although felt some uncomfortable, but also did not refuse.

An hour later, the checklist came out.

“All the indicators of Mrs. Hawk are in the standard range, there is no problem at all.”

The doctor read examination report and explained to them.

Lucas listened to this, and his face sank.

“So it’s me who has the problem?”

The doctor could not help but shuddering.

She looked embarrassed to Lucas, she didn’t know how to say, what she can do was only looking for help of Evelyn by the side.

When Evelyn tried to help her, Cater didn’t notice it.

Hoping to defuse the frozen atmosphere, he was the first to interceded:
“Doctor should be assured that our boss was checked regularly every season and that he is in good health and will not have any problems.”

The doctor listened, rubbing her nose to show she knew this.

But Lucas did not want to let her go simply.

“Now that we’re both okay, why can’t we have a baby?”

The doctor heard words, suddenly speechlessly looked at him.

But watched his face, she knew she didn’t give him satisfy answer and he would not leave, she can only suppress displeasure in the mind, explained.

“Mr. Hawk, the pregnancy, in fact, you can’t be hurry, sometimes you more want it, the less it will come.”

She pressed her lips in response to this, she saw Mr. Hawk frowning, he seemed to be not satisfied with the answer and she kept on trying: “otherwise, Mr. Hawk can have more intercourse with your wife, maybe Mrs. Hawk will get pregnant, health is important, also pay attention to diet which is helpful to this aspect.

Evelyn heard so straightforward words, really wish there was a crack on the ground she can hide in.

Her face was bashful red unceasingly, stood on the side and dared not to say something, stared at Lucas with hidden bitterness.

How could the man be so persevering?

But she did not know Lucas felt not better than her.

He didn't expect the doctor to be so explicit.

He uncomfortably turned his neck, did not want to look at the woman with a shy face by the side, he suddenly thought of the doctor's words, the corners of his mouth involuntarily curved.

Make more intercourse?

It looked like he needs to work harder!

Evelyn did not know his thought. After the doctor had said what to pay attention to, she fled out of the office like a fugitive and walked quickly towards the hospital door.

Lucas looked at her stride away, knew that she was shy, the smile on his face gradually expanded.

Seeing this, Cater could not help saying, "Boss, you and your wife seem to be very close to each other. It seems that you are not so opposed to the marriage."

Lucas heard this, a smile on his face froze.

He glanced at Cater and asked him, "Are you very idle?"

Cater watched his changes and did not react.

"No, I'm going to the company to arrange a meeting later."

He answered in a daze, Lucas chilly hummed.

"In that case, why don't you go back now, or do you want to work double?"

“Um...I’m going company now.”

Cater said, striding away.

He just noticed it until he got out of the hospital.

Their boss’s reaction was a clear cover.

Especially when he thought about the recent president’s behaviors that he clearly cared more about the mistress, otherwise he would not care about what others did.

And he cared if she looked the same with the information.

Thinking of this, he thought he would have a show to watch.

Besides, Lucas also didn’t know his mind, or he will give him double work.

After Lucas left the hospital, he returned home with Evelyn.

Two people returned home, and when they just entered the door, the housekeeper came over.

“Young master, young lady, thank god, you come back finally, the old master is coming, he has been waiting for your news with madam in the living room.”

Evelyn heard this, frowned subconsciously.

Naturally she knew what the housekeeper had said.

Thought, sarcasm could not help flashing in her eyes .

They went to the hospital without telling anyone, but she didn’t know how it went to these people.

There were no secrets in this family.

Lucas did not think so much.

But he didn't look so good either.

He and Evelyn thought the same, knew what news grandpa was waiting for, but this thing just a mix-up.

"I'll go with you. Nora, Go back to your room and rest."

He thought and made the arrangements.

Otherwise if let Evelyn follow, when they tell the truth, he was afraid of his mother will say something unpleasant. They will quarrel again.

Evelyn originally did not want to go, listened to his words, she naturally felt happy and relaxed.

But she still pretended to care and questioned: "Can you go alone?"

"No problem, I can go there alone."

Lucas responded.

Evelyn was waiting for this sentence, then nodded and turned to leave.

After she left, Lucas went to the main house.

"Here comes Lucas."

Yody Hawk was the first to find him and greeted him with a smile.

Lucas nodded and walked to his side, respectfully called: "grandpa, mom."

"Why are you alone, Evelyn?"

Sophia looked at him, but she can't see Evelyn coming in, frowned and inquired in discontent.

"Evelyn still felt a little uncomfortable, I asked her to go back to rest."

Lucas watched her and responded with a smile.

"Uncomfortable, what's wrong? Right, you went to the hospital, what the doctor said, whether she is pregnant?"

The old master listened to his words, and asked a series of questions.

Sophia also looked at Lucas, she was waiting for his answer.

“Grandpa, this matter is actually a misunderstanding, Evelyn is just having a bad stomach, it’s not what you think.”

Lucas said the general situation, and it made the old master disappointed.

“I thought she is pregnant.”

He muttered, and soon seemed to think of somethings else, looked to Lucas again.

“Isn’t Evelyn fine all the time? How can she suddenly have a bad stomach, Is the company too busy for her to eat well?”

Sophia listened to the old man blame her son for Evelyn, she immediately looked bad.

She opened her mouth and wanted to say something, but Lucas said first.

“There may be this reason, but I’ve already cut out her work, and I’ll take note of that in the future.”

He promised, and the old master let it go.

Sophia was not satisfied with what she was listening to, but she could not say anything in front of the old man.

Then the three talked for a while before they left.

After they all left, Sophia sat on the sofa and couldn’t help breathing relaxed.

She was glad Nora was not pregnant...

And on the new house side.

After Evelyn came back, she did not return to the room immediately, but sat in sitting room sofa to wait for Lucas.

She didn't know why, she waited and felt upset gradually.

It was particularly irritating to see the servants moving around.

Also she did not know what Lucas said to the old man and Sophia.

She was sitting alone on the sofa, went off into wild flights of fancy.

After a while, Lucas came back.

She saw him, hurriedly got up from the sofa and asked: "Lucas, what did they say?"

"Nothing, you needn't worry."

Lucas looked at the expression on her face, how could he did not know what she was thinking.

"I'm fine, but grandpa will be disappointed."

Evelyn sighed and worried.

Lucas said with a smile: "There will be disappointment, but doctor has said it can't be forced, don't worry, we'll make it."

Evelyn listened to his words and felt comfortable, in a daze, suddenly felt a little sorry for him.

She knew why she couldn't get pregnant. After all, she took the drug all day since it appeared.

And neither the Hawk family nor John wanted her to have child.

She knew she couldn't have the baby.

Thinking of this, the guilt in her heart can't help but increasing some, but Lucas was still her, so she can only force a smile.

"Yes, we'll make it."

Lucas was not aware of her difference. Hearing her said this, he nodded with approval and said, "Don't think too much. Take a good rest."

After that, he went up to her and kissed her on the forehead lightly and left.

Evelyn looked at his back, she inexplicably felt some sour.

She shook her head and thought she was ill.

Like what John said, everything here did not belong to her, she was sad because of the man's words.

She kept hypnotizing herself not to take it all seriously.

She also did not know whether her hypnosis was useful, not for a moment, her mind calmed down.

She took a deep breath and got up from the sofa.

She was going back to her room, but somehow she thought of the old man.

In this family, the old man is the best to her. He has been expecting her to give birth to a grandson. Now he is disappointed, for fear that the old man will feel sad. She should go and see him.

She thought, and went to the old man's yard.

"You girl, Lucas said you are uncomfortable, you should rest at home, why come over to see me?"

Yody learned that Evelyn came, quickly came out from the study.

There was a burst of warm current flow in Evelyn's heart by that concern of tone.

"I'm fine, it's Lucas fussing, but grandpa, this time I didn't... get pregnant, let you down."

She spoke sadly.

It's not insincere, but really sad.

Because she knew that as long as she was in the family, she will not have baby. The wishes of the old man could not be fulfilled.

Yody was unaware of her inner remorse.

He saw Evelyn was sad, smiling, patting her shoulder to comfort: "You don't have to blame on yourself, this is not a simple thing, you can't get pregnant by expecting, we let nature take its course, maybe you will get pregnant one day, isn't it?"

Evelyn listened and the guilty in her heart increased more.

She forced herself to behave normally, smiling and nodding. "Grandpa is right, maybe one day I'll get pregnant."

Seeing her show her smile again, Yody also felt relaxed: "Yes, don't have too much pressure, just take it easy."

Evelyn listened to his concern and moved.
