Evelyn sighed in her heart but she had to face the reality.

She thought about it and said to Bessy, “Bessy, you prepare an office for Designer Bush in a minute. Remember make the office very clean.”

Bessy was reluctant when she knew that she was going to prepare Dale’s office.

But because it was an order, she finally nodded her head.

“I see. I’ll take someone to clean it up later.”

Evelyn nodded and let her go out to work.

In the evening, she returned home from work. Unexpectedly Lucas also came back early.

They ate dinner together then.

During the dinner, Lucas asked, “The designer of RC Company is coming today? How about the person?”

Evelyn heard the words and made a pause.

“I read her past information, and she’s good at designing. But she is a hard bone.”

She thought of the day’s confrontation.

However, Lucas didn’t know that. Listening to her, he asked with a slight frown, “What’s the matter?”

Evelyn saw the situation, not wanting him to intervene.

“It’s okay. It’s just a little problem. I can handle it.”

Hearing that, he saw that she did not feel reluctant, and knew that she did not want him to help. So he did not ask for it.

“That’s all right. Do what you want to do.”

Evelyn nodded.

Then they finished their meal and went to their own business.

Evelyn went back to the room and finished what she hadn’t done. She planned to take a bath and relax.

Since she came out of the bathroom, she felt refreshed.

Just as she was going to rest, the telephone at the bedside rang, a strange number.

She thought about it in a minute and then picked it up.

“Hello.”

“Is this Miss Davis, please? This is the Yemei Bar. There’s a lady named Dale Bush who’s drunk in our bar. Please come and pick her up.”

Evelyn heard this, frowning, but did not refuse.

“I see. I’ll be right there.”

After that, she hung up, changed her clothes and hurried out.

After all, Dale has just arrived. She didn’t want to make any troubles, which would affect the cooperation between the two companies.

After a while, she came to the Yemei Bar and saw the colorful neon lights and decadent men and women around her. She was uncomfortable.

Especially when she walked into the bar, the darkness, the mixed smells of smoke and the deafening music made her feel worse.

She kept looking for Dale with her disgust, and finally she saw her at the bar counter.

Evelyn seeing that Dale had changed her clothes, Dale was more se.xy than she was in the daytime.

Especially the close-fitting skirt, her perfect figure highlighted by the this.

She was surrounded by a number of unkind men, but she seemed not know, and she kept flirting with them.

Evelyn was very anxious when she saw that. She walked towards Dale in hurry.

“Dale.”

Dale heard the voice, doubted and looking sideways. After she found Evelyn, her eyes flashed with surprise: “Uh... Why did you come here?”

As she spoke, the men beside Dale looked at Evelyn, and their eyes flashed with amazement.

They looked at each other with tacitly.

Evelyn naturally noticed their eyes, and came to support Dale in a panic.

“You’re drunk. I’ll take you back.”

When she’s finished, she was going to take Dale away.

But Dale didn’t know her kindness and pushed her away.

“Who wants you to pick me up? I haven’t finished drinking yet.”

As soon as the words faded, the men beside her heckled.

“Indeed, this wine has not been finished. You shouldn’t go back. The young lady also can stay here and drink with us.”

A man with golden hair reached out his hand to Evelyn, but Evelyn patted on his hand quickly.

“Don’t touch me!”

She warned in a cold voice and she did not want to be entangled by these scoundrels. She took Dale’s hand to persuade.

“If you want to drink, let’s go back and drink. It’s not safe here.”

But Dale struggled away again impatiently.

“You are so irritating! It’s boring to go back for a drink!”

As soon as she said, the gangsters followed again.

“Right. It’s boring to go back for a drink. Beauty, do you want to go upstairs with us for a drink? There’s more better wine. How about we accompanying you tonight?”

Dale was already drunk, unable to think about whether these men were not well-intentioned. But she did not want to go with Evelyn, either. She nodded her head and promised directly with intoxication at the moment.

“OK, let’s go upstairs and have a drink.”

The words faded. She staggered toward the elevator.

Several men saw the situation, eyes flashing lust, while Evelyn was more anxious.

“You can’t go, Dale!”

She stopped Dale in a hurry, but before she could pull her away again, several other men surrounded her.

“Beauty, since your friend is going to have a drink with us, you can’t rest assured and can follow us as well.”

They said, also walking behind Evelyn, pushing her toward the elevator.

“What are you doing? Get away!”

Evelyn was so panicked that she regretted not telling what she was going to do to Lucas at that time.

She shouted at several people, but it was no use to these men.

...

At the same time, the Hawk house.

Lucas returned to the room after finishing work and found Evelyn was not here. He called her unconsciously.

Evelyn heard the ring of her mobile phone and saw that it was Lucas's phone call. Her eyes flashed with joy and she immediately answered it.

But before the phone was connected, the cell phone was taken away.

"What do you do? Give it back to me right now!"

She looked angrily at the man who had taken away the cell phone.

The man did not find that the phone had been connected. He laughed and said, "Beauty, it is not amusing to answer the phone. Just drink with the us. Take the beautiful woman upstairs."

As he spoke, several men began to drag Evelyn to the elevator.

"Let me go-"

Evelyn struggled, but she couldn't win these men. She was dragged toward the elevator finally.

On the phone, Lucas heard her voice full of panic, and his eyes became fierce in an instant.

He took the key and rushed out without thinking.

...

In the bar, Evelyn and Dale have been pulled into the elevator almost by several men.

Comparing with Dale's laughter, Evelyn was terrified.

She couldn't imagine what these people would do to her when she got into the elevator.

Even was annoyed at Dale, who was drunk.

If she had known that women couldn't distinguish badness and kindness, she would not have come.

As they were pulled into the elevator, Evelyn was very anxious.

She began to despair, especially to see the elevator door slowly closed.

That despair was even more.

At this time, she had great expectation that Lucas would suddenly appear.

But she knew it was impossible. Even the phone just now, she didn't know whether she was connected or not.

At this critical moment, a hand suddenly placed on the elevator door which was about to close, and a cold voice sounded.

"You... It's not okay, if you want to take them away like that."

When Evelyn heard this, her eyes burst into light.

The others were annoyed.

He wanted to destroy their thing.

"Buddy, I advise you to stop meddling and take care of yourself."

The warning had just finished, and the elevator door had just opened to reveal the face of the outsider.

When they saw the people standing outside, the light in Evelyn's eyes was even more brighter.

"Mr. Collins."

She cried with delight.

Jacob glanced at her, and his eyes darkened. "Miss Davis, I didn't expect our second meeting to be like this."

Evelyn was a little embarrassed when he said.

Several gangs listened to their conversation, guessing that they knew each other. They looked at each other, and still did not want to give up the two beauties.

After all, there was only one person on the other side. They had several men.

“Ah, you are acquaintances. No wonder you have your finger on every pie. But buddy, it’s not so easy to save beauty as a hero. Be careful to fail.”

Jacob raised his eyebrows: “Who said I was going to be a hero?”

Several gangs were stunned, including Evelyn, who looked at him puzzled.

He continued, “I’m not going to fight with you, but... even if I don’t do it, you can’t take them away. Somebody will deal with you.”

When Evelyn heard this, her suspended heart was lowered again.

She glanced the gangs beside her and looked at Jacob. She thought it was safer there. She pulled Dale, who was so drunk that she didn’t know what was happened, out of the elevator and hid behind Jacob.

The gangs were so furious and just felt that Jacob was determined.

“Buddy, I’ll count to three. If you are clever enough, you give the women behind you to us. We can regard as there is nothing happened. Otherwise tonight, we’ll have to show you the consequences of offending us.”

Jacob laughed lightly, apparently not pay attention to his words.

The gang who had blonde hair got angry, clenched his fist and rushed to Jacob.

Evelyn looked that behind him and could not help exclaiming.

“Be careful, Mr. Collins.”

Jacob squinted and saw that his fist was hitting on him. He grasped it quickly and skillfully, and he strengthened, so that the fist could not move a little.

The blonde was surprised.

After all, they have been in the society around all the year round. They had no decent kung fu, but they still had the strength to fight, and they were very good at it.

They were not afraid common people unless the trainers.

But at present, his fist was easily stopped by the man, and his strength was so strong that made him even having no chance to pull back.

Almost instantly, he knew that he might have met the hard bone this time.

“This brother, it is just a misunderstanding, misunderstanding.”

He flattered and tried to make things becoming small. “Since the two beauties are your friends, we can’t bother them.”

He said, trying to pull his hand back again, but Dale still held it.

As for the others who heard this, they also understood what he meant. It was a hard nut to crack.

“Hey, our big cheese doesn’t care about it, and you said you couldn’t do it just now. Just let our big cheese go.”

Jacob glanced at him and the contempt flickered in his eyes.

He laughed and let go. He pushed the blonde hair into the elevator and said in a cold voice, “I said I couldn’t do it. It doesn’t mean I don’t care about it.”

Speaking of this, he looked at the blonde bluff again and sneered, “It’s not up to you. If I let you go, I could not explain to others.”

Just as he said, the security guards he had informed came in.

“Mr. Collins.”

They called Dale respectfully.

Dale nodded his head, pointing to the gangs in the elevator, and said seriously, “Watch them. Don’t let them run away.”

The security guards nodded and immediately arranged several men to block the elevator.

In the elevator, several gangs were annoyed and afraid, but they dared not say anything.

Evelyn was relieved to see that they were watched.

“Thank you, Mr. Collins.”

Jacob said with a light smile, “Miss Davis don’t do that and I am just asked by others.”

As he spoke, he saw the rushing figure coming from the corridor and said, “He comes here.”

Evelyn was puzzled. Looking aside, she saw Lucas, who was late. Her eyes flashed with joy.

“Lucas!”

She cried excitedly, but on the contrary with her surprise, Lucas was full of anger.

As he approached, Jacob quipped, “Well, the gangs are here. I won’t steal the scene as the hero.”

When Lucas heard the words, he didn’t even look at the group of gangsters. He said in a cold voice, “Why could you keep for me? Let people send them directly to the police station. I still feel dirty to deal with them.”

Jacob shrugged his shoulders and promptly signaled the security guards to take the people away.

Lucas didn’t care about the gangs. He looked sideways at Evelyn and scolded her furiously.

“Why don’t you tell me before you go out? And you even come to this bad place? What’s wrong with you?”

Evelyn was reprimanded by him, some confused, some wronged, but more touched.

She could see that Lucas was worried about her.

This could be seen from his home shoes which have not been changed on his feet yet.

Apparently the phone was gotten through, so he was so anxious that he forgot to change his shoes.

“I’m sorry to let you worry. But I was in a hurry at that time so I forgot to tell you.”

She told him the story about Dale, “Anyway, today is her first day to come to Jingdu, and she’s the key person in this cooperation. I can’t let her get into trouble here.”

Lucas listened to her with a straight face and glanced at the drunken Dale.

“Come here.”

He pointed to a security guard waiting aside, drew thousands of dollars from his wallet and said, “This woman is for you. You just find a hotel for her at will. What’s left is tips.”

The security guard was glad to take over and said that he would do this well constantly.

Evelyn thought it was not good to do that.

But Lucas didn’t give her a chance to open her mouth at all. He sided to Jacob and said, “Tonight, I bothered you. I’ll invite you to drink some other day.”

Jacob responded with laughter, “When you invite me to drink, I don’t know who long it will take. Meanwhile, with your body, can you drink with me?”

Lucas smiled: “I can’t but Cater can.”

As he spoke, he looked at the watch and said, “It’s not too early. I’ll take her back and we can get together another day.”

Jacob nodded and waved goodbye to them.

Then Lucas left with Evelyn.

After they left, Jacob was still standing in the same place.

He touched his chin, looked inquiringly at the leaving of Evelyn and thought.

Just now, he had always felt that Lucas's wife's reaction to the bar was very strange.

It was said that she used to stay in these places, but she made him feel like she's never been these places before...

Evelyn didn't know that she arose Jacob's doubts again.

At this time, she followed Lucas into the car, the atmosphere was frozen.

Lucas's face was serious, obviously he was still angry.

Evelyn took several glances and had to admit the mistake again: "OK, I know I was wrong. Don't be angry, OK? I promise that I will never go out alone so late next time. "

She said, still holding Lucas's arm and coquetting: "Don't be angry, eh?"

Lucas froze because of her movements.

After all, no woman had ever dared to do this to him.

That delicate soft voice even made him feel strange, and even his depression disappeared a lot. This was inexplicably useful to him.

He snorted coldly, but his face softened.

Evelyn looked at him, relieved.

Just as she was about to say something, Lucas took the lead.

"What's the matter with the RC designer?" he said rather distastefully. "She screwed it up as soon as she come? "

“Um... Maybe she was in a bad mood”

She thought of what Aaron had said to her in the daytime and sighed.

It was only the beginning, and the harder time was ahead.

She thought to herself that she didn't plan to tell Lucas, after all, she said she could handle it.

Lucas didn't know, but he was still upset.

Then they arrived at Hawk house. Because it was late, they changed their clothes and simply washed and went to bed.

...

The next day, they got up together.

Now that Evelyn was acting director, she can't stay away from the company from time to time as before.

After washing, they went downstairs for breakfast.

During the dinner, Lucas drank coffee and said, “I'll take you to the company later.”

Evelyn was stunned and looked at him puzzledly.

“Is the company going to have a meeting today?”

Because Lucas only went back to the b.ranch when there was a bid meeting.

“Sort of. I need to see your preparations for the establishment of the new brand there, and also make some transfer arrangements.”

Evelyn nodded clearly, thinking that it would be better for him to show up, so as to tell the partners how much they value the new brand.

Then they finished their meal and went to the company together.

Because of Lucas, Evelyn didn't want her identity to be found. She still got off at the street corner.

She went to the company on foot and went to the design department after clocking in.

When she got close, she found that everyone in the design department was there, and the atmosphere was very strange.

As she appeared, everyone looked at her with different looks.

“What’s the matter?”

She frowned and asked, and they turned to Dale.

Evelyn looked at the situation and guessed that it might have something to do with the woman again.

“Miss Bush, what are you not satisfied with again?”

She asked, pressing the impatience in her heart.

Dale heard her words, crossing her hands in front her chest and snorting coldly: “There are many things that I’m unsatisfied with.”

Evelyn bit her teeth. She took a deep breath and said, “Please tell me one by one, Miss bush. I’ll improve it as the case may be.”

Dale heard this and raised her chin proudly.

“Nothing else except you must rearrange the office for me immediately.”

She said, with full of disgust in her face: “Is your company too poor to afford to buy the land. Is that the office I got? Not even a third of my former office. “.

Evelyn’s face sank as she heard this.

Dale, as if she didn’t see it, said to Evelyn with proud: “I’ve seen the pattern of your office. The best office is yours. You clean it up. I want that one.”

As soon as she said this, the faces of all the people were different.

There were indignation and gloating.

Chloe was a schadenfreude.

She stood by silently, waiting for a good scene.

Evelyn looked down and said in a cold voice, "Miss Bush would better be polite. The company has just been set up, and many places are not well organized. If you don't like the previous office, I can ask people to clean up a spacious office for you, but not my office."

"Why am I not polite?"

Dale immediately rebutted, "By the way, is this your attitude towards me? Don't forget, I'm the partner representative!"

When Evelyn heard this, her discontent rose.

She sneered and said, "It turns out that Miss Bush knows that she is here to work, not enjoy."

Dale choked.

Just as she wanted to talk back, she was interrupted before she could speak.

"If Miss Bush really has any opinions about this place, I don't mind helping Miss Bush contact the headquarters and ask them to send another designer to come here, so that Miss Bush won't be wronged here."

The last few words, Evelyn's tone was heavy.

Because of this, Dale's face sank, but she could not retort.

Because she knew that if it spread to the headquarters, it would only be her problem.

She glared at Evelyn, silent.

Seeing this, Evelyn knew that she was compromising. She raised her eyebrows and said, "if nothing else, get prepared and go to the meeting with me."

Then she ignored Dale and went straight to the conference room.

Dale looked at the back of her leaving. Her face was black enough to drip ink. Her assistant's face was not much better.

They unwillingly followed Evelyn to the top conference room.

Because today's meeting was important, people here were senior managers of the company.

Lucas had been in the main seat, and his momentum was amazing. He was so terrified that many of them dare not speak and only sit uprightly and dignifiedly.

Evelyn was about to take Dale to the seat, but she found that the woman stood still and stared at Lucas directly. Her eyes were full of amazement and adoration. Almost everyone found her strangeness.

Evelyn looked at her, frowning.

Didn't this woman like Aaron? How can she stare at Lucas like she never see a man before?

She couldn't understand, and didn't intend to think deeply. Seeing that Lucas's face was becoming more and more impatient, she quickly pulled her to the seat and sat down.

"Miss Bush, please hold back."

She gave a cold warning.

Dale didn't listen to her at all. Instead, she asked for Lucas's information.

"Who is this man?"

She inquired, her eyes shining brightly.

Evelyn looked at her, feeling very uncomfortable. She was too lazy to pay attention to her and pretended not to hear.

Dale pouted contemptuously, then she turned to Lucas.

Lucas noticed her gaze, and there was a flash of disgust in his eyes.

"Is everyone here? Now we'll start the meeting. "

This meeting was mainly about the cooperation of new brands, so Lucas needed to talk with Dale even if he didn't like her.

In the face of his inquiry, Dale answered actively, even after the meeting finished, she still stood at the door.

Evelyn looked at her doubtfully, and immediately found that she has been staring at Lucas. Suddenly, she realized that the woman was waiting for Lucas.

For a moment she felt uncomfortable again.

Before she could react, Dale suddenly lowered her collar, revealed her bosoms half-round, and went straight to Lucas.

"Handsome, is there time for dinner at night? And I've just come. I'm not familiar with the place and people. I don't have any friends yet."

After she finished, she did not forget to make eyes at Lucas.

However, Lucas was indifferent and gave her a cold look.

"There are many people in the company. I'll arrange others to take you hang out."

He said with an indifferent look, and walked away regardless of Dale's stiff face.

Many of them heard the conversation and talked to each other.

"Whether this woman is ill ? She dares to tempt Mr. Hawk. She is really bold."

"Right. She is like a prostitute. It's like she hasn't seen a man for many years."

"This kind of person is a bum at first sight. You didn't see her pulling her collar just now. She thought she can tempt Mr. Hawk only showing her? She is too shallow."

Evelyn listened to their discussions, and suddenly she was jealous and uncomfortable.

Dale did not care about these remarks at all. She glanced around indifferently, seeing Evelyn that she had not gone yet, and went over again.

“Hey, who is that man just now?”

Evelyn saw her firmness and could only respond.

“That’s the president of our Hawk Group.”

After that, she intended to leave, but Dale pulled her to continue ask.

“So he usually works here?”

Evelyn frowned and answered bearing impatience, “He doesn’t usually work here. He comes here once a month.”

At this point, she saw the bright light in Dale’s eyes and said fiercely “If you have any idea, I would advise you to give up. He’s married!”

Dale listened and was stunned.

It was beyond her expectation.

But she didn’t care: “What’s the matter? I don’t need him to marry me.”

She said and was crazy, “I haven’t seen such a handsome man before. It would be nice if he could be my boyfriend.”

Evelyn thought that she would give up but she didn’t expect to wait for such a sentence. She was speechless and had an incredible face.

What kind of strange woman was this?

She blurted out, “Don’t you like Aaron?”

Dale was stunned when she said that.

“How do you know?”

Evelyn heard that, and she was very regretful.

Why did she slip her tongue?

Although Dale didn't get her answer, she didn't care. Dale recovered and laughed heartlessly. "Yes, I like Aaron, but he's just one of my favorite people. I change my boyfriend almost a month."

Evelyn opened her eyes wide in surprise and couldn't believe what she had heard.

Instead, it was her appearance that made Dale laughing.

"What? Surprised? Actually, it's just a small thing. Everybody just plays for fun. Don't be so serious."

After listening to her words, Evelyn only felt that her values had been subverted.

But she remembered that Dale had been abroad all the time, and then she understood why she had such a thought.

Although she understood, it did not mean she agreed. She didn't intend to say this to Dale. She said frankly, "It's your private business, but I hope you still separate the work from the private. It's working time now. I hope you don't do private business during working time."

After that, she turned and left.

Dale watched her leaving, pouted her lips, and went to the design department.

Later, she also showed her work side, very professional.

However, with the deepening of the work, she and Evelyn always disagreed each other on design.

"As I said, what are latest fashions can be used as the popular elements. Don't add anything from the old classical era. It's just very strange."

She insisted on using her own ideas obstinately, refuting the plan of Evelyn's completely.

Evelyn didn't want to argue with her. She answered, "Okay, I'll erase them."

Dale heard it and said nothing. She looked at the other manuscripts and found a lot of problems. Naturally, they all pointed out, but the words were a little mean.

Chloe and Helen also saw Evelyn endured it. They did not say something. They went to revise their manuscripts with a long face.

But when the contradiction broke was in the afternoon. Dale looked at the manuscripts they had corrected.

“What rubbish things? Do these things can make clothes?”

She threw away the design manuscripts and scolded with disgust.

Chloe and Helen saw that their manuscripts which were made so hard were thrown on the ground, and they immediately became very furious.

Plus the anger in morning, they outburst directly, “ Can or not, you can’t see by your eyes?”

Chloe, who had not suffered this kind of thing since she became famous. She directly mocked back: “Ha, I forgot that Miss Bush’s eyes are on her chest. Otherwise, how could you think of seducing our president with the bosoms?”

Dale listened to she humiliating her with the thing in the morning. Although she didn’t care, it was a personal attack, and Chloe said that when they talked about work. She immediately retaliated.

“How do I want to seduce is my business. At least I can guarantee my ability to work, but you even can’t revise the manuscripts. Do you think you have the qualifications to make a lot of comments in front of me?”

She finished, and no matter how angry Chloe was, she directly turned the fire on Evelyn.

“If all your company has produced are this kind of garbage, then I don’t think we need to continue our cooperation!”

Evelyn heard Dale said garbage many times. She also very angry.

Even if they didn’t do well enough, Dale should not humiliate them like this!

“Miss Bush, I don’t know whether you said it from a fair professional point of view or with personal grievances. First of all, all our drawings have been corrected according to what you said. Now you tell me that these are garbage, which makes me suspect that you are deliberately finding faults. Secondly, even if our designs are not good enough, there is no need for personal attack?”

She said, taking a deep breath and glancing at Chloe and Helen who were gloomy.

“Yes, I admit that they had a bad attitude just now, but it was also initiated by Miss Bush. If Miss Bush is not satisfied, I can apologize instead of them. But they are also the chief designers of our company. They have made a lot of achievements for the company. Miss Bush’s words just now have seriously humiliated my designers. I ask Miss Bush to immediately apologize to them! “

Evelyn said a series of words and looked at Dale with a strong attitude.

Chloe and Helen were also shocked by her strong attitude.

Especially what she had just said for them, which surprised them and also made them feeling relieved.

But Dale was the opposite of them.

She was angry. After all, she never felt that she was wrong.

“Who are you and you dare to ask me to apologize?”

She then stood up, grabbed the coat on the chair, and left.

“Since you are not subject to my management. There is no need to cooperate. You can find whoever you like.”

Evelyn looked at the back of her leaving. She was serious. Her chest was fluctuating, and she was obviously angry.

Helen saw her departure, frowned “Designer Davis, now she left and what should we do?”

Evelyn didn't care what she called her. She compressed her lips and said “Go back to work. Do what you should do. I will explain to the company there.”

Helen and Chloe nodded and left the office.

As they left, Evelyn tidied up the office.

After a while the inside telephone on the table began to ring and she answered

“Director Davis, come to the General Manager's office.”

Freya's voice sounded from the phone.

Hearing this, Evelyn immediately put down the manuscript at hand and went out.

“General Manager, why?”

She knocked at the door and went in and asked.

When Freya saw her, she immediately frowned and asked, “I just heard that you had a dispute with the RC designer. Now she is on strike. What's the matter?”

Evelyn heard that. Although she did not know who told the story to the general manager, she still told her completely.

“I'll deal with it. If she still refuse, I'll try to contact RC Headquarters and see if they would send another designer.”

Freya listened to her and frowned.

“It is your solution? I don't think you've thought about the consequences.”

She scolded Evelyn in a cold voice, which made her stunned and doubtful.

Freya naturally understood that she did not understand this. She explained: “First of all, this cooperation is our initiative to contact. You know that there is a little of your own social network. You are not satisfied with the designer and ask for another one. What do you think people will think of our company? Secondly, as you said before, there are some shortcomings in our design, so that's our problem. It's impossible for her to guide you."

Evelyn heard this truth. She didn't think about it seriously and she just listened because she was so angry.

When Freya saw she speechless for a long time. She can guess what she thought more or less. Freya simply stopped talking at last, and told her to coax Dale back.

Evelyn was a little angry. Although they were wrong, Dale was not right completely.

If she coaxed her right now, it seemed that they were begging her.

She was angry, staying the office for a long time before she calmed down and thought about it.

Recalling carefully, she also found that the general manager was right.

In fact, if she were Dale, Dale's anger was somewhat reasonable.

It was not her self-depreciation. There were still some gaps between their designs and Dale's, and the design style elements were quite different.

Despite all this, she was impulsive today.

Thinking of these, she calmed down, and intended to re-integrate the design concept of the new brand.

As a result, she stayed in the company at night to work overtime.

She was a little tired in the middle, so she made herself a cup of coffee.

She watched the adjustment on the computer. She was not sure whether the plan would be accepted by Dale, so she thought of Aaron and then called him.

"Mr. Miller, do I disturb your rest at this moment?"

"It's OK. I'm going to get up and go to the company. What can I do for you?"

Evelyn said the purpose of her phone call at once.

“I want to talk to you about Dale.”

Aaron heard it. He didn't hide anything told her all what he knew about Dale.

“Dale, how do I say. Although her private life is disordered, she is very serious in her work, especially in terms of design requirements, who is strict to the extreme.”

When he said that, he chuckled: “I guess you should have a dispute in this aspect.”

Evelyn laughed, “Yes. That's why I called you.”

Aaron comforted her a few words, then the two hang up.

Evelyn sat in her office chair and tapped on the table thoughtfully.

Although Dale was a little annoying, as Aaron said, she has that ability, otherwise she would not get the position of director of RC b.ranch.

She considered it over and over again, and revised the plan again.

Before, she had planned to follow Dale's intention to make the design style fashionable purely, but Aaron's words also reminded her that Dale had been designing abroad before. She probably not knew that the domestic market was different from that abroad.

The classical elements, rising in recent years in China, may not be popular abroad, but they were different at home.

These years, whether Paris Fashion Week or Milan Fashion Week, people could see the existence of classical elements, which was enough to show that the large consumers have begun to accept.

When she has finished sorting out these materials, she sent them directly to the hotel where Dale was staying, intending to take them to her.

“Why are you here?”

Dale opened the door and saw Evelyn standing outside. She suddenly asked in a cold voice.

“Miss Bush, I think about the dispute in the afternoon. Maybe because of our different ideas, the finished products designed are quite different. I have made a new plan here. I hope you can have a look.”

She said, handing over the materials in her hand.

As a result, Dale not looking at these, she threw away and said in a cold voice: “I said, I won’t pay any attention to it and you don’t show me this garbage.”

The words faded, “bang” she closed door, let Evelyn suffer rebuff.

Evelyn looked at the information on the ground, sighed and picked up.

It was impossible for her not to be angry about what happened just now.

But before she came, she was ready but she didn’t expect that when Dale was angry, she lowered the boom.

She had no choice but contact Dale’s assistant.

“Ai Wei, this is a plan I’ve corrected. Please give it to Dale when she is not angry tomorrow.”

Although the assistant called Ai Wei was reluctant, she still took over. After all, she was rational.

The cooperation between the two companies was not up to Dale.

Evelyn was relieved to see that she had promised. And then she was about to leave.

When she came to the gate of the hotel, her mobile phone rang. It was from Lucas.

It turned out that Evelyn had not returned home so late when he was at home. He couldn’t help concerning.

“Where are you?”

Evelyn naturally heard the worries in his words. She felt moved. She responded, “I just came out of Dale’s and I’m ready to go back now.”

Lucas frowned when he heard the words: “What did you go so late?”

Evelyn said the day’s events simply: “It’s not a big problem. You don’t have to worry about it.”

When Lucas knew that she could handle it, he did not ask too much.

He looked at the time. It was so late that if he let Evelyn come back alone, he must be worried. He said, “You stay here. I will come to pick you up.”

Evelyn just wanted to refuse, but the phone was hung up directly as soon as the words were about to slip from her tongue.

She looked at the phone being hung up, the warmth flowing in her heart. And the sweet smile that she didn’t even notice was on her face.

Half an hour later, Lucas stopped in front of Evelyn.

Evelyn naturally sat on the co-driver and said, “Let’s go.”

As she tied her seat belt, she said. However, at this time there was a rumbling sound from her stomach, which made her freezing instantly and she blushed out of embarrassment.

Lucas did not find out her embarrassment, looking at her with slightly frowning. “You did not eat dinner.”

There was dissatisfaction in the words.

“Er... I am too busy to remember that, and when I think about it, I’m not very hungry...”

Evelyn did not know why she was very guilty to see his expressionless face. She could not go on talking about it.

Lucas took a deep look at her and started the car to rush out of the hotel.

Evelyn looked at his bad face and thought he was angry. When she was trying to admit her mistake, the car stopped again.

“Get off!”

Lucas left this sentence and got off.

Evelyn saw the situation and had to keep up with him.

She didn't know when Lucas drove to a Chinese restaurant.

She looked at the distant figure. She was moved again.

She stepped forward and took the initiative to pull up Lucas's arm.

“Well, don't be angry. I promise I'll have a good meal next time. This time is my fault.”

She coaxed Lucas with a wrong face.

Lucas looked at her obliquely. Although he did not speak, his cold face was still soft.

Evelyn naturally found out. She knew this person was arrogant so she coaxed several times before Lucas could talk to her.

Then the two enjoyed the meal in a very harmonious atmosphere.

In particular, when Evelyn talked about the planning of the work, her lively look attracted Lucas for no reason.

He stared at Evelyn with a smile, his eyes full of tenderness.

It was Evelyn, with his attention who was more and more anxious. Her white cheeks also slowly become red, and all the way down, red to the root of the ear.

“What do you look at me? No more eating?”

Evelyn said with embarrassment and shyness.

But she didn't know how she was attractive at this time.

"You are so beautiful and radiant."

Lucas couldn't help teasing, let Evelyn's heart miss a beat instantly.

Her blushing cheeks were more redder now.

She stared at Lucas in a shy voice and ground, "You have a sweat tongue. Just eat!"

After that, she buried her head in eating as if she had escaped intentionally.

Lucas looked at her shy appearance, his eyes filling with laughter. He did not tease her any more and just ate.

After dinner, the two returned to their homes.

During the period, Evelyn did not pay attention. She was tripped by the small stones on the road. She was going to fall to the ground. Fortunately, Lucas was quick to help her.

Evelyn fell into his arms, smelling his unique fragrance. She felt uneasy.

"Are you all right?"

Lucas frowned and asked.

"It's all right... Hissing —

Evelyn was on earth, panicked to stand up. But the wrist was ached so she could not help but breathe deeply.

"Er... I may have twisted my ankle. "

Lucas looked her white feet and frowned, then stooped down and hugged her up.

"Ah!"

Evelyn was frightened by his sudden action, and subconsciously used her arms to be around his neck.

She looked at the man close to her and felt as if she ate the candy flowers. She felt very sweet in her heart.

But she didn't know that this scene happened to be seen by Sophia.

She looked at the two men farther and farther away, frowning.

Now her son and Nora that bitch were more and more affectionate. In this way, the marriage with Morgan was most likely be ruined.

She could not help worrying about it, but she could not think of any good way for the time being.

After all, that day, Lucas was thoroughly displeased at Amelia. If she tried to match them again, she would be afraid of arousing Lucas's disgust.

She thought of it and knew that it was hopeless to let them touch in a short time.

But she was not willing to give up.

Especially at this time, she was worried that Lucas really loved Nora.

She thought, another beautiful and noble face flashing through her mind. An idea gradually occurred to her.

She took out her cell phone and dialed a number with a smile.

"Envy, have you slept yet?"

Envy was somewhat surprised to receive a phone call from Sophia, but she was still calm and greeted: "Not yet. What's wrong?"

"Actually, it's nothing. I just miss you. So I'll give you a call. It's been a long time since you come to visit me. I thought you were going abroad again."

"It's my fault. Let Sophia worry about it. How about I coming to see Sophia tomorrow?"

Envy responded with a smile.

"I don't think it's enough. You have to stay for a few days. When you was a child, you often came to see me. But when you grew up, you seldom came.

You can go to visit me often. Otherwise, I would think you are disgusted with me.”

Sophia took the opportunity to put forward her ask.

Envy could not refuse. She had to promise.

She said something on the phone, so Sophia smiled out of her heart and the melancholy in her heart dispelled a lot.

...

The next day, Evelyn and Lucas were just off the duty. They heard the housekeeper’s notice.

“Young master, young madam, Mrs. Hawk let you come back to the main house for dinner in the evening. There is a guest.”

Lucas said that he knew it, washed with Evelyn and went to the main house.

As soon as they entered the living room, they heard laughter coming.

Envy sat on the sofa with her back straight, and she talked with Sophia making Sophia smiling.

“Mom.”

Lucas greeted and immediately looked at Envy with some surprise.

“Why nobody told me beforehand when Envy came?”

When Sophia and Envy heard, they looked sideways subconsciously. They saw Lucas and Evelyn standing in the living room.

“Can you pick her up, if I tell you?”

Sophia joked with a faint smile. And then she glanced at Evelyn, saying, “Since everyone is here, let’s eat.”

After that, she let Envy to the dining room.

At this time, many dishes were served on the table, most of which were the favorite of Envy.

Evelyn followed Lucas to sit down. Sophia over there had talked with Envy again.

“Envy, when you come here this time, you must stay a few days longer. It is said that you have taken over the company during this time? If you happen to have any problems in your company, you can let Lucas to help you.”

Sophia was really willing to create a chance for the two to get along.

She said, not forgetting to look at Lucas with warning: “Lucas, did you hear what I just said?”

Lucas nodded and said helplessly, “I see.”

Evelyn looked at all indifferently. She couldn't help sneering.

It was just endless.

Even if at first she didn't understand Sophia's intention of letting them come, she understood now.

In particular, there was Amelia.

The irony in her eyes was even greater when she thought about it, but she soon covered and ate quietly.

Sophia, looking at Evelyn who was calm, frowned slightly.

Guessing Evelyn was pretending to be generous, she didn't pay any more attention. She entertained Envy warmly and asked about her family.

“Just now I heard you say you're starting to take over the company. Is your father going to retire and enjoy the life?”

Envy replied with a smile: “Almost. He said he has worked hard for most of his life. It's time to rest and take my mother around the world by the way.”

When Sophia heard this, she couldn't help joking: "your parents are still as affectionate as ever, which makes us envy. When you were a child, you and Lucas also got along well with each other. You often chased him and asked him to take you to play."

Envy was shy to hear her mention of childhood.

"Sophia, it has very long time. How can you tease me now?"

Sophia laughed, and then said a few interesting things about childhood, which completely ignited the atmosphere.

However, comparing with their hot chat, Evelyn's side would be much colder.

After dinner, Lucas originally planned to take Evelyn back. Who knew that Sophia left Lucas with a sentence directly.

"Lucas, it is the first day for Envy to stay here. And you are the master. How can you not accompany?"

After she said that, she deliberately looked at Evelyn and continued, "You two probably haven't been together for a long time since last time. You should have a lot to say to Envy. You should accompany Envy, so as not to let the Envy talk to me the old woman about some nutritious household chores."

Lucas couldn't refuse and looked sideways at Evelyn.

Evelyn did know that was arranged by Sophia intentionally. If she persisted in leaving, she was afraid that Sophia would take the opportunity to say she was narrow-minded.

She curved the corners of her mouth and said with a smile, "since mom said that, let's stay for a while."

Lucas nodded and then motioned Envy to speak in the living room.

Envy nodded and followed him to the living room.

During this period, she passed by Evelyn, and her eyes flashed with meaningful light.

Evelyn didn't find out. She looked at the back of two people one before the other. She was uncomfortable for no reason, but she soon ignored.

But she didn't care. Sophia saw it.

Her eyes flashed with pride.

That was what she wanted.

She walked past Evelyn with a snort. She told to Lucas that he must treat Envy well and then went back to her room for rest.

Evelyn watched her leave, then sat beside Lucas and listened to his conversation with Envy. However, she couldn't insert it.

Because they were talking about finance, which she didn't know at all.

It was frustrating and depressing for her.

It had been said before that Envy was different to Lucas.

Now she could see clearly Lucas's appreciation to Envy.

Although Envy was now the fashion editor in chief, she has also majored finance for family reasons, and she has achieved better achievements than these in fashion circle.

As a result, she and Lucas had no problem to communicate. Even they were more and more appreciated each other.

The handsome man and the beautiful woman formed a harmonious picture which made her a little redundant, and even gave her a kind of illusion.

They were people from two worlds.

Evelyn thought of this, the uncomfortable feelings in his heart became more and more stronger and even she was sad and jealous.

She noticed her different feelings. Looking at the two people who were chatting with each other, she suddenly didn't want to stay here. "Lucas, I'm tired. I'll go back to room and rest."

Lucas didn't think much about it. He nodded and said, "Be careful. I'll come back later."

Evelyn listened and felt some blockage in her heart, nodding randomly and going directly out of the living room.

And all of this was in the eyes of Lucy in the corner. She went upstairs with a smile to reply to Sophia.

Sophia was satisfied when she knew that Evelyn was the first to leave.

This was just an appetizer. Sooner or later, she would let the b!tch know that she couldn't match her noble and extraordinary son.

...

Evelyn didn't know Sophia's intention was. She was absent-minded when she returned to the new house.

The picture of Lucas getting along with Envy just now flashed in her mind. Even when she said she was tired, he didn't care about her as usual.

Wait...

Evelyn, what were you thinking about?

At this time, she finally realized that her mind was wrong.

All her thoughts just now were just like a jealous woman.

Be jealous?

How could she be jealous?

She would be separated from Lucas after a few months. From then on, they were strangers. She should not have these feelings and thoughts.

Wake up, Evelyn!

She kept admonishing herself in her heart, but it had little effect.

Even it made her more and more uncomfortable. Especially when she thought that she would never see Lucas again. Her heart was like being bitten by ten thousand ants, which even made her ache when she breathe.

Evelyn knew that it was not good to let herself go like this. She must find something to divert her attention and let her forget all these feelings.

She saw the drawing board on the worktable. She took it up to continue the unfinished drawing without thinking letting she concentrate on work.

At first, she was flustered and couldn't find the feeling. She even broke several pieces of manuscript paper, and then she gradually calmed down and sank into the state.

As she entered the state, those disturbing thoughts also faded and hid in the bottom of her heart.

However, even if Evelyn calmed down, she did not stop drawing.

Even though she was really sleepy at this time, she dared not go back to bed. Because she was afraid that once she lay in the bed full of memories, the emotions that she suppress hardly would come again.

She forced herself to perfect and colour the design manuscripts one by one.

She didn't know how long it took. Her eyes became more and more blurred, and finally she couldn't insist, so she had nodded off over the desk and slept.

Before she went to sleep, she could not help but complain in her heart.

It was the middle of the night. Haven't they talked enough?

At eleven o'clock in the evening, Lucas sent Envy back to her room, then left his main house and returned to his new bedroom.

He thought that Evelyn had already rested, so he walked quietly into the room.

However, when he entered the room, he saw her lying on the workbench.

The white light hit on her, making her look very petite.

He walked over carefully and saw her sleeping like a baby, he felt so tender.

Because he thought that Evelyn was waiting for him and finally fell asleep.

With that in mind, he bent down and carefully picked her up.

But no matter how careful he was, she was still awakened.

She opened her eyes confusedly and saw the handsome face close by. Her mind was in a state of chaos. She asked subconsciously, "You are back?"

"Yes, just go on sleeping."

Lucas coaxed her gently.

Evelyn nodded and initiatedly hold his neck against his chest. And unconsciously lay on his chest and then fell asleep.

Lucas watched her cunningly shrink into her arms, and became gentle.

He carefully laid Evelyn on the bed, then changed into his pajamas. He embraced her naturally and fell asleep with her.

In the night, their bodies fit so well.

...

The next morning, Evelyn woke up and looked at the flawless side of his face. Even though she had seen it many times, she could not help being stunned.

Seeing that Lucas's eyelashes trembled slightly, she sat up with regret.

How did she fall in the man again?

Just as she was thinking, Lucas's voice sounded: "Wake up? If I don't come back in the night, you don't have to wait for me. You can go to sleep first."

After he said that, he got up and began to take some washing.

Evelyn looked at the direction of his disappearance, she were stunned.

Who was waiting for him?

Wait...

She remembered last night's situation in her mind.

Did the man think she was waiting for him last night?

She opened her mouth and finally did not say anything to explain it.

After all, the topic would make her think too much.

She responded to Lucas's words with a faint reply, then stopped talking and began to wash.

In the meantime, Lucas has been dressed up.

He looked at Evelyn in the bathroom and whispered, "I'm going downstairs first. Today's breakfast is at the main house. Go there later."

Evelyn listened to him, she stopped for a while, and did not say anything, which means she knows it.

There is no difference of the main dining room as for last night.

Mrs. Hawk treated Envy well, and always created opportunities for them two.

"Lucas, Envy has taken over the company now. You can take her to your company around and familiarize the company's business."

When Envy heard this, she smiled lightly.

"Auntie really reminded me that I had planned to visit Lucas company in the morning, but we talked too much yesterday and forgot to say it."

Then she turned to Lucas and asked, "Lucas, don't you mind if I go to the company with you?"

Lucas heard and said with a smile, "If you want to go, welcome."

Mrs. Hawk saw that her son had not refused Envy, she smiled.

“After dinner, you can follow Lucas to the company.”

Envy bowed to her.

Evelyn sat beside Lucas and listened to their conversation. She was very unpleasant.

Especially Lucas did not refuse Envy, which made her feel upset and as last night.

In order not to make herself sad, she ate in a hurry, and left first with saying that she still had something to do in the company.

Lucas originally wanted to send her, but before he said that, Evelyn had run out of sight.

And Mrs. Hawk’s eyes were full of sarcasm about Evelyn’s departure.

Evelyn did not see it.

She took a taxi to the office and Bessy told her that Dale was back.

However, Evelyn was upset at this time and did not react much at all.

“All right.”

She said to her and entered the office, leaving Bessy with a confused face.

How did the editor-in-chief’s attitude towards Dale changed so much after a day?

But she didn’t know. Evelyn is not cold to Dale, she was just thinking about Lucas.

Evelyn couldn’t help wondering if they were in the company now and what they would do.

Because of it, she was in a trance during the whole day’s work.

Even when she was discussing the design with Dale, she was absent-minded.

So, Dale got angry again.

” Nora, what’s the matter with you? If you don’t want to work, you can say it directly. What are you doing now?”

She looked at her, and saw Dale with an angry face. She knew it was her problem and apologized to her.

“Sorry, what did you say just now?”

Dale looked at her angrily and muttered, “I really don’t understand why Aaron would like you as for your personality!”

Evelyn rubbed her nose with affection.

Now she had known that the reason why Dale came back was that Aaron intended to reconcile for her.

Dale rolled her eyes, she pointed to the design on the table, and said it again with impatience.

“You asked the assistant to give me the plan, I saw it, indeed, the foreign and domestic fashion are different, since the classical elements have begun to rise recently in China, then it can be retained, but as for the element, you must listen to me.”

She took out her professional knowledge and rich experience to Evelyn about the follow-up design positioning of the design.

Evelyn also forced herself to abandon miscellaneous ideas and return to work.

...

At the same time, Amelia also received the news that Envy had lived in Hawk family.

“You mean, Auntie invited Envy to go to their family on her own initiative?”

She looked incredibly at the assistant in front of her and questioned again.

“Yes, madam.”

With his words finished, Amelia could not hide her anger.

“Well, that’s good. they use me as a spare wheel?”

She gritted her teeth and her anger was out of control.

Especially when she thinks of Mrs. Hawk, she was not the only one spared.

“Damned it, she used me as a tool, but also want to find a spare tire for her son in order to succeed!”

She said, and the feeling of humiliation rose in her heart.

She had never been tricked like this.

This old woman is really savage.

She vowed that if the old woman dared to cop out on what she promised temporarily and turn to match Envy and Lucas, she would never let her go!

She thought it fiercely, and at the same time she remembered Evelyn. She suppressed her anger and asked, “How about Nora?”

“She is still keeps quiet.”

When she heard this, her eyebrows frowned.

“Keep watching.”

Although she was annoyed by Mrs. Hawk’s change, Nora’s existence was more like a thorn, which stuck in her heart, so she had to pull it out!

Evelyn didn’t know that Amelia had not yet given up on her. She was busy in the company until midnight.

Although she has many differences with Dale this day, everything went well all in all.

She was satisfied and believed that she would be able to get along with Dale soon.

With that in mind, she turned to be happy and began to pack up her things and prepare to leave.

But when she touched her cell phone, she was stunned.

Because she found that at Lucas did not notice that she had not returned, or even called her or sent her a message.

He would have called her earlier in the past.

When she thought of it, the smile on her lips faded away.

Maybe he's busy staying with Envy at this time.

After all, they are so fit each other.

She laughed at herself and felt upset again.

When she realized she was in a bad mood, she shook her head and began to hypnotize herself.

Evelyn, don't think about it. You two have no future.

Rather than suffer in the future, you should give up early.

She didn't know that if it is her self-hypnosis becoming more and more effective. She gradually calms down and then picked up her cell phone and called the driver, asking him to pick her.

Anyway, it is too late now, it's not easy to call a taxi, and even if there's one, it's not likely to be safe.

"Okay, madam, please wait in the company for a while."

The driver responded.

Evelyn hung up the phone.

Then she sat in the office for a while, thinking that it was almost time so she went downstairs and left the company.

However, just as she walked out of the door of the company, she was targeted by some gangsters.

“Lady, it’s so late, if you can’t get a taxi, how about we taking you back?”

Looking at this people, Evelyn knows that these people are social gangsters and she did not intend to ignore them. She turned around and wanted to enter the company and avoid them.

However, she was stopped by them as she just walked two steps.

“Where are you going? You haven’t answered our questions yet.”

The man who is the leader looks at Evelyn with a ruffian face, which is full of bad intentions.

The other men around him also echoed.

“Yeah. Why are you go away, if you don’t have a car to go home, we can call a taxi and take you back.”

“Well... If you are lonely, our elder brother can just help you feel comfort.

“Ha...”

Evelyn listened to their dirty words with anger and fear.

“Get away!”

She snapped, but the gangsters were not afraid at all, and they were still flirting her.

“Oh, it seems that her temper is quite bad. Maybe she acts better in bed.”

Evelyn was trembling with anger, and she also felt nervous.

Fortunately, at this time, she saw the company security patrol coming and she rushed to ask for help.

“Security, there are riots here!”

She waved her hand anxiously to the security guard.

The security guard also found something wrong there and rushed to her.

“Who are you? What are you doing here?”

He asked them.

The gangsters noticed the situation and looked at each other face to face, and finally looked at their leader.

The leader stared at the security guard fiercely and warned, “Hey, I advise you not to interfere!”

When the security guard heard this, he glanced at her again, recognized her label, and immediately took out the walkie-talkie to call out the colleagues in the guard booth.

“There’s a disturbance at the gate. Hurry up and call the police.”

When the bastards heard this, everyone turned to be nervous.

Evelyn looked at it, thinking that she was okay. When she was about to be relieved, her wrist was caught by them.

Those gangsters pull her and wanted to run away.

Evelyn didn’t want go with them, she immediately struggled.

“Let me go! Help! “

She slapped them with her hand and then the other hand was caught.

The security guard saw that and he naturally wanted to help Evelyn, but he was stopped by other gangsters.

Evelyn has no other choice but can only tries her best to break away from the constraint of the gangster.

Who knows the strength of the gangster is so big.

He clutched her tightly, and headed for a business car on the side of the road.

As they approached, some of them opened the door. The black inside made Evelyn very frightened.

“Help!”

She couldn't help screaming, hoping that someone would pass by and help her.

However, at that time, there were few cars, and had no one pass by.

Seeing that she was about to be pushed into the car, the driver of the Hawk family arrived.

The driver saw Evelyn was restrained by the people and then he got off quickly.

"Who are you?"

He sharply questioned, and the gangsters did not know that he was a driver called by Evelyn, and threatened, "If you don't want to die, just go away."

When the driver saw the situation, without saying a word, he squeezed his fist and went to rescue her.

The gangsters watched him start to fight, they became angry, and fought with him.

But they don't know that every driver in Hawk family was selected by strict training of Lucas.

Even if all of them fight with him together, they may not be able to beat drivers.

After a while, the gangsters lay on the ground with a painful face and wailed.

The driver did not hurt but just felt tired.

When he saw them lying down on the ground, he hurried to Evelyn's side and said, "Are you all right, madam?"

Evelyn limped and stood up. Someone pushed her to the ground and worn her leg just now.

"It's all right, I just have a scratch."

She said that, and looked at the bastards on the ground, and became angry.

"Find a rope and tie them up. If the police come, send them to police."

The driver took her order and let the security guard find the rope.

After he tied up all the gangsters, the police also came.

Evelyn went to the police station and made a simple record.

“Go to the hospital.”

She said in a cold voice, not because she was delicate, but that she would go back and be probably taken to the hospital if Lucas saw her like that.

Rather than tossing, it's better to go to the hospital directly.

The driver nodded and started the car heading for the hospital.

After some inspection, there was nothing serious, but the place where the scrape was a little painful.

Especially when the nurse took the medicine on it, the pain caused her tears to flow out.

Her face was crumpled like buns, which made the nurses laugh.

“Well, pay attention it these days. Don't let the wound get wet.”

She told her with a smile, and Evelyn thanked the nurse with affection.

Just as she stood up and was ready to go, she was suddenly supported by an hand.

And she smelled a familiar smell with her nose.

She looked up in dismay and saw Lucas's charming face.

But at that moment, his face was gloomy.

However, Evelyn did not notice it, but looked at him with joy.

“When did you come?”

Lucas heard her voice, glanced at her and said, "The driver said you had some trouble."

It was the driver that told Lucas while she was taking record in the police station.

He looked down at the wound on her feet and asked, "What's the matter? How was your injury?"

Just then, the voice of Envy rose behind them.

"Lucas, is Miss Davis all right?"

Evelyn heard that, she suddenly be shocked, the smile on her face soon stopped.

That's true, they are together.

With this in mind, her eyes flashed through the indescribable complexity mood.

Envy seemed to have seen Evelyn at this time, and asked her again with concern: "Miss Davis, you are here, I just heard that you had an accident, are you all right?"

Evelyn looked back at her, said, "Nothing's wrong. The driver is making a fuss."

She said, limping away from the support of Lucas, and did not want to talk more about what happened this evening.

Lucas frowned and looked at her and noticed her unhappy feeling.

But he didn't understand why she was unhappy.

He simply did not want to think about it, he looked at the nurse waiting aside.

"Does she need to be hospitalized?"

The nurse was stunned and shook her head and said, "She didn't hurt the muscles and bones, so she does not need to stay in the hospital, just change dressings on time."

Lucas nodded and said to Evelyn, "Go back."

Evelyn nodded and went to the door, but before she could take a few steps, she couldn't help stopping and breathing painfully.

She didn't feel much pain before, but after taking the medicine, she felt like being needled as she moved, it caused her take a deep breath.

Envy saw the situation, she kindly asked, "Miss Davis, would you like me to borrow a wheelchair for you?"

Evelyn heard what she said and did not intend to insist. Just as she was ready to nod, her body suddenly rose by someone.

"Ah-"

She exclaimed and subconsciously embraced Lucas, who held her in his arms.

Both Evelyn and Envy were stunned.

Lucas just glanced at the people in his arms and said, "Let's go." He left first.

Evelyn regained her composure, her gloomy face soon turned happy, the upset in her heart also went away.

She looked up at the handsome face that closed to her, and rested in his arms with ease, but her eyes could not help sweeping to Envy behind them.

However, the Hospital's light is not bright, so she can't see it clearly. Envy did not notice Evelyn's eyes. She was stunned for a while and then followed them closely

But a deep feeling flashed across their backs.

Then they got on the car and drove towards Hawk family.

On the way, they chatted unconsciously with each other. The atmosphere seemed harmonious, but Evelyn still felt uncomfortable.

Maybe it was because they chatted for a while, and then the topic came back to the financial topic she was not good at, and she could only listen to it.

Fortunately, it wasn't long before they closed home.

"Lucas, it's not early. You send Miss Davis back first. Let's talk about stg's plan another day."

Envy got off the car and said goodbye to Evelyn: "Good-bye, Miss Davis."

Evelyn heard something strange in her words, just like she made Lucas send her home.

She shook her head in her heart, shaking off this strange illusion, and nodded politely and say goodbye to her.

"Good-bye, Miss Miller."

Lucas nodded to Envy: "See you tomorrow."

Envy also nodded, and immediately watches Lucas leave with Evelyn in his arms.

With their departure, the expression on Envy's face became unpredictable.

It's a pity that none of them had seen it.

When they returned to the new house, Lucas directly took Evelyn back to the room and put her on the bed.

He looked at the wound dressed with affection, which was very obvious on the white leg, and it even more affected her beauty.

Evelyn naturally also noticed his eyes and shyly retracted her legs. "What do you see?"

Only when Lucas heard his words did he regain his sight.

See her face was dyed with scarlet, it's so cute, and let him can't help but approach to her.

Evelyn looked at the nearer face, she became nervous and subconscious closed her eyes.

Sure, the next second, a touch of cold on the lips, followed by endless lingering kisses to absorb her.

They hugged each other tightly and longed for each other.

When Lucas wanted to have the next action, he accidentally touched Evelyn's wound.

Suddenly, the tingling made Evelyn, who was in the mood, took back. She breathed and awakened Lucas's thought.

He looked at the pain on her face, took a hard breath, and grinded his teeth. "This time, because of your injury, I let you go, and wait for you to compensate me next time."

She was stunned, and immediately understood what he meant. Her eyes were filled with shyness.

Lucas looked at her, chuckled, then sat up and saw the time at the head of the bed. "It's late, do you want me to wash for you?" he said with a smile.

When he finished speaking, he glanced at her injured leg.

Evelyn naturally knows that he is afraid of that she was inconvenience, but because of what he said just now, how can she dare to let him help herself, she is afraid that if she recovers, she will be torn to death by him.

"No, I can do it myself."

She shook her head, after said that, she fled into the bathroom.

Lucas looked at her disappearing figure and raised his lips with a laugh.

At the same time, the door was knocked and the housekeeper's voice rang outside.

"Master, the driver came back and said he has something to report to you."

Lucas heard his words and got up and went with the housekeeper to meet the driver.

“Master, according to your instructions, we tracked down those gangsters and found that they were ordered to deal with Miss Davis. As for the people behind them, we checked their remittance accounts and found that the other party had made several transfers and it was difficult to find out.”

The driver told the truth, and Lucas listened with a frown.

He looked at the driver and said in a cold voice, “No matter how difficult it is, I’ll see who dares to hurt my family.”

The driver nodded and took his order and left.

...

Meanwhile, at the Morgan family.

Amelia had just received a call from her assistant and she was told that the gangsters had not succeeded.

“A bunch of waste, even can’t control a woman!”

She was so angry that she almost smashed her cell phone, but the assistant on the phone was worried.

“Madam, this time, we shocked Lucas. Will he find us?”

When Amelia heard this, her emotion of the rampage calmed down.

“Don’t worry, he can’t find it out, and even if he finds something, he will never investigate on us. You just keep looking at Evelyn for me and find a chance to beat her again!”

She gave the order again without any consideration.

It was so lucky that the b!tch can escape this time.

Next time she won’t let her escape so easily!
