

The Gorgeous Substitute Wife of Mr. President Chapter 6 - Tips

1 6 minutes read

Because of the requirements of Lucas, Evelyn was ashamed to refuse.

About half an hour later, they arrived at the Qianxi Building.

This was a Chinese restaurant with unique design and high-end atmospheric garden-style exterior landscape. The inside was an antique loft balcony with classical and luxurious texture. It was the preferred place for many famous and wealthy families to meet and gather.

Not only that, the dishes here were all made by international chefs. If people wanted to make a reservation, they needed to book it three months in advance.

Evelyn had heard of the place, but it was her first visit and she had some cautiousness in her heart.

Amelia knew the way intimately and showed the way ahead, smiling and whispering to Lucas.

"Lucas, you haven't come back for a year. You should miss it here, right? After all, we used to come here for dining."

Lucas responded carelessly, "It is just a place to eat. What is it worth remembering?"

Originally, Amelia wanted to make advantage of the opportunity to show off her 'intimate' relationship with Lucas so that made Nora Davis angry and expose her true face.

Unexpectedly, the sentence from Lucas blocked her.

Her face had some awkwardness at this moment, she just smiled and said: "That is also right, many places abroad are also very good. But this time, you should carefully taste the dishes of the Qianxi Building. Their new chef's dishes tastes better than before. You should like them."

During the conversation, they arrived at the elegant seats.

The seats here were separated by screens. The big table was more than enough for seven or eight people, but only three of them.

After sitting down, the waiter came to serve for ordering.

Amelia ordered three or four dishes without asking.

Evelyn sat quietly and looked at the menu. She glimpsed the price above it and each one was tens of thousands of dollars. Her heart was churning violently.

This was the world of the rich! Eating one meal would cover her previous months' expenses.

The complaints in the heart were complaints, but her face was still calm. She ended up with nothing at all and handed the menu to Lucas, "You order it."

Before Lucas opened his mouth, Amelia said, "I have booked your favorite food just now and add a few new dishes. Miss Davis, you also should have a good taste later. It is rare to come!"

How could Evelyn not hear the hints in her words?

She was telling Evelyn in disguise how much she knew about Lucas.

She could not help sneering secretly in her heart, but she answered with calm face: "Miss Morgan, you really did it with your heart. It is really extraordinarily fortunate that Lucas has such a sister as you."

Originally, Amelia was still full of pride in her heart. However, her face changed when she heard the word 'sister'.

What she hated most was that people used this word to describe her relationship with Lucas.

There was nothing about 'sister'. They clearly have no blood relationship at all!

This damn Nora Davis really was not so simple!

Amelia gritted her teeth, a glimpse of cold flitted through her eyes.

Today, she must tear down her hypocritical face in front of Lucas in any case!

Soon, all the dishes were ordered by them were served.

Amelia gallantly introduced the special dishes of the restaurant to Lucas. Evelyn did not speak and silently ate her own.

Halfway through, she tasted a steamed fish that tasted good. She gave Lucas a piece of fish. It can be said to fulfilling obligations as a 'wife'.

"The taste is light and the smell is handled properly. You can try it."

Lucas was stunned and twisted his eyebrows slightly.

Amelia was also startled. Then her face was filled with schadenfreude.

You knew that Lucas had a serious cleanliness habit. In general, he was extremely disgusted with dirt on clothes. Didn't even say that chopsticks were stained by someone else's saliva.

She could already imagine the scene that he threw away the bowl directly.

Sure enough, Lucas stared at the piece of fish in the bowl and frowned a half. Then finally he got an action.....

But, it was not Amelia's expected scene that Lucas threw the bowl. Instead, as she stared at him, he slowly picked up the fish and put it in his mouth.

Amelia's face was full of astonishment and the chopsticks in her hands did not hold steady and fell directly on the table.

Evelyn looked at her and didn't seem to understand why she was this reaction.

Lucas ate as if nothing had happened.

Amelia clenched her fists and scolded constantly in her heart.

Bitch! Bitch!

But soon she suppressed her anger and looked straight at the restaurant door.

It happened that a man in a suit came in from outside.

He was very handsome, and extraordinary elegant, but he was a little cynical.

When Amelia saw the man, the corners of her mouth arched slightly unconsciously at once, and she had a glance at Evelyn. She thought, "This time, I see how you can turn over!"

When she was thinking, the man had strode to them, and said to Evelyn with a very surprising tone, "Nora, what a coincidence. I didn't expect to meet you here."

Evelyn looked at the man with a slight amazement.

She had some doubts first, and then she understood the person's identity.

Nora's friend, Noah Field, the young master of Field family, was idle and often wandered around in major entertainment places.

Before, Nora did not go home every day. She just went out with these people who were bad friends.

Evelyn didn't expect to meet him here. She didn't know how to react for a while. She just said, "Er, it's a coincidence."

Noah Field did not realize that she was wrong. He smiled and put his arm on her shoulder and said, "How is it going? Would you like to go out tonight? I've got a new batch of wine here. You must like it. You can drink as possible as you can. How about getting drunk?"

Evelyn threw his hand away and said, "Please respect yourself!"

Noah Field looked at her in dismay and said, "What's wrong with you? I haven't seen you say anything like that. Why are you so intense today? Can't you have a fever?"

When speaking, he reached out her hand again, and wanted to touch Evelyn's forehead.

However, before the hand touched Evelyn, it was grabbed and wrenched to his back violently.

Then, a voice of bone dislocation came from...

Noah cried out in pain and said angrily, "Who is it?"

Just now everything happened so quickly that he didn't respond.

Evelyn saw it clearly.

It was Lucas!

At this time, he was indifferent, with one hand pressing Noah Field. His eyes was cold without any temperature, "If you dare to touch her again next time, it is not just dislocation. I will directly break your hands!"

After that, he loosened Noah Field and pushed him hard.

Noah Field was not on guard for a moment, and he fell down instantly.

It was then that he realized who he was.

Lucas Hawk!!!

Lucas was favoured by God of Hawk family, who usually acted in a low-key manner, had a rigorous style, and had a lot of rights. Almost 80% of Jingdu's economic lifeline was in his hands.

Noah Field sweated with fear.

To think of he put a hand on Nora's shoulder in front of Lucas, he was trembling.

"Mr. Hawk, I'm sorry. It is just a misunderstanding. I... I didn't mean to. Nora and I were just having fun."

He tried to explain, but what he could say was even more misleading.

Evelyn listened to his words and wished to seal up his mouth.

Lucas looked down at him with a grim and said coldly, "One minute, get out of my sight immediately!"

Noah Field was so frightened that he dared not say a word. He got up from the ground in a hurry and ran away.

With his departure, the atmosphere here was frozen.

Evelyn dared not pant for fear that Lucas would suddenly burst out.

Amelia saw this, and her heart was very happy.

She let Lucas see the real face of this bltch finally, and it did not waste her efforts to call Noah Field!

She believed that from now on, Lucas would never be deceived by Nora again!

As if to prove her thoughts, Lucas suddenly Looked at Evelyn.

His eyes were cold and he warned, " Nora Davis, I don't care how you used to fool around, but now when I come back, you should keep my rules. You should know who can be deeply acquainted with. Do not get involved with riff-raff and blacken the family! I hope what happened today won't happen again! ___

Having said these words, he left without expression.

When Amelia saw the situation, she quickly picked up the bag and said, "Lucas, you wait for me."

Then, she strode to catch up with the past. When she passed by Evelyn, she had a winner's gesture and she was so pride.

Evelyn watched the two men leave. She just sighed deeply.

She did not expect a Noah Field could mess up everything.
