Benson Leach asked her again, "Really not?"

Juliana Lewis shook his head. "No, really not."

Benson Leach asked her uncomfortably, "Is something wrong? Need my help?"

Juliana Lewis said: "No, it's just that all of a sudden you are handsome. Indeed, a serious man is the most handsome."

When Benson Leach was pleased, he smiled and said, "The mouth of wine is getting sweeter and sweeter. Well, the wine that reads carefully is also very beautiful, the most beautiful in the world."

Juliana Lewis snorted, threw down the magazine and went upstairs.

Benson Leach looked at the back of landing wine and chuckled.

Juliana Lewis was angry, the kind Benson Leach couldn't coax, because she was angry and went upstairs, and he was still reading the newspaper indifferently downstairs, which made Juliana Lewis even more angry.
