Chapter 66: Punishment

Selene's eyes turned red with grievance and she put her arms around her chest, partly covering her chest, "I didn't. You have a dirty mind. How can you think of me like that?"

Grandma saw Selene standing there all wet when she came out of the room and her face suddenly turned gloomy.

Selene raised her head to look at Grandma and said in an aggrieved tone, "Grandma, I fell into the pool when I went to call Jill just now. She didn't pull me out and now she is scolding me. Grandma, I..."

Grandma interrupted her angrily, "Shut up. Why don't you wrap a towel around you and go back to your room when you're wet like this? Don't you feel ashamed?"

Selene, "I..."

Grandma shouted in anger, "Go to the fourth floor and kneel in front of your grandfather."

On the fourth floor was Grandpa's memorial tablet.

Selene knew Grandma's temper, so she didn't dare to say anything but ran upstairs crying.

Grandma felt extremely embarrassed. She shouted at Selene's back, "Your sister has just become a good girl and you're here to piss me off. Don't get up until you've been on your knees for three hours!"
