

211 DISCOVERED BUT NOT SOUGH

Yuan Liangtuo and Yuan Li obviously understood that Lu Shu was just toying with them. Which youth could tolerate this?

With a natural temper that's not the best, coupled with the pride gained from entering daoyuan class, their university classmates had always given in to them. Occasionally, when they got into arguments with other students in school, others would usually give in the moment they know they're from daoyuan class...

In reality, when normal students got into arguments, they would get into brawls easily as everyone's physical abilities were similar.

But daoyuan students were different. Even novices with an increased strength of 100 pounds could cause devastating damage to their opponents, with their opponents having no chance of retaliation.

When there's such a huge disparity in physical abilities, normal students would realize that giving in wasn't so embarrassing... they indeed stood no chance against these practitioners!

212 INSTANT NOODLES

So the 100 dollars were gone just like that!

If Li Xianyi was there to witness Lu Shu striking the glass through the air without opening up his chi reserves, he would probably be stunned with his chin on the ground!

At this instant, how could he not be happy and care about that 100 dollars instead?!

When Lu Shu returned to their bunk, Lu Xiaoyu was sleeping under the comfort of the white blanket provided by the train.

Little Fury was also sleeping quietly and sweetly beside Lu Xiaoyu's head.

Lu Shu suddenly remembered something... Didn't Little Fury make use of the uncertainties of being on a train for the first time to not learn new words?!

As he thought of this, he noticed Little Fury yawning on the bed before turning to continue with its deep slumber...

213 BLACK MARKE

Now Lu Shu had five magical stones in his possession. Two from daoyuan class, and three more when he was appointed as a Lieutenant.

If one stone could be sold at the previous valuation by Jiang Shuyi of 120 thousand dollars, it would mean he could get 600 thousand dollars of cash!

Lu Shu was doubtful, "One for ten thousand dollars?"

Back then, Jiang Shuyi had explained everything to him very clearly. Private sales in the market had already inflated to about 150 thousand dollars per stone but most people weren't familiar with the market. Only those truly rich tycoons could afford to buy these resources for their children.

People always said that only the rich could train, or else their physical state wouldn't be able to keep up with their improvements.

In the path of training, this was indeed the truth. A rich person could purchase resources, be it magical land or magical stones, both of which were important factors in training speed and quality!

214 STALKING

The sky turned dark rather late at Xijing market. It was summer and the sun would only gradually set beyond the horizon at approximately 9 pm.

It wasn't to say that the altitude here was extremely high, but the difference in longitude between this place and the capital was extremely great. The land of China covered a really vast area, an area so great that citizens have trouble visualizing it in its entirety.

Lu Shu gazed at the speck of red light behind some infrastructure far away. The darkness of the night was impending.

He brought Lu Xiaoyu to hide behind a group of people as they waited for the appearance of those four daoyuan students. It would be alright if he didn't know about the existence of the black market. But since he knew of it, he should naturally pay it a visit.

Wouldn't it be great if he could sell his magical stones off secretly?

215 IDENTITY VERIFICATION

The car wasn't traveling quickly and it was already 12 am. As they hopped around on top of roofs, Lu Xiaoyu found it quite fun, as if they were flying about in the sky.

It was the first time Lu Shu and Lu Xiaoyu came to Xijing City in Qingzhou so they weren't sure where they were following that car to.

But they were still within the city and they weren't headed towards the countryside.

Could it be hidden right within the city? The heavenly network, in reality, cannot be underestimated.

But Lu Shu was thinking if the heavenly network began to close an eye towards the black market here, would more black markets appear elsewhere?

In handling the black market, it was wiser to allow it in moderation rather than let it happen without any information on it.

Lu Shu stood at the top of the building as he watched the car stop behind an alley. The five of them then got off the car and walked into the alley.

216 THE STREE

The dim yellow light outside the alley gave off a warm and fuzzy vibe.

Zhu Bishi gave Lu Xiaoyu a confused look. All he could think of in his brain were the numbers 12.44...

He was suddenly suspicious. Normally, it wouldn't be impossible for someone to ask the time. But for two people to come over and ask related stuff, it indeed raised suspicion within Zhu Bishi.

But Lu Xiaoyu was too young to be considered as a threat. Only upon reaching 16 would a person's body be suitable for training. This was already an open secret within the realm of training, and Lu Xiaoyu's age did nothing to raise his suspicion.

After all, this wasn't Africa or Southeast Asia where child soldiers were common.

Zhu Bishi controlled his thoughts and emotions before continuing joyfully, "Thank you, young lady. Go home quickly now."

"Ok," Lu Xiaoyu nodded her head vigorously and left without turning back.

217 TESTING

A stall could be set up just by finding an empty spot? No one is managing the entire black market?

That also meant that no one from the heavenly network was meddling in this affair. Everything was developing naturally, was it because... they didn't have the capacity to?!

After all, the management of a black market should be handled by someone who was in the business? If the government meddles in these affairs, a bunch of people would definitely be scared off within moments.

Lu Shu felt that such a black market probably wouldn't exist for long. Sooner or later, someone would see the benefits of this place and rules and regulations will be set up.

At least don't let such a disco-running scammer here. At least have some morals when scamming!

218 SOLD FOR CHEAP

This shophouse was made up of approximately two units, and it was narrow yet long. Who knew what the designer was thinking when he designed this shophouse.

Lu Shu followed the boss and suddenly realized that as he moved through the house, he could feel magical waves pulsating. He was stunned for a moment, was there a practitioner or metahuman in this shophouse?

He focused on the magical wave, the person inside was probably on the upper tier of class E. If whoever was emitting these waves was a daoyuan student, then he would be one of the top students outside of Yuzhou.

No wonder this shop owner dared to sell magical stones and had no fear of being robbed. Lu Shu even felt that he already knew the origins of the magical stones of this shop owner.

The shop owner knocked the door and it opened, revealing a wooden box. This box looked antique but prestigious and upon opening it, there were two small magical stones.

219 SLIPPED THROUGH THE CRACKS

With a creak, the doors within the shophouse opened and a gleaming young man in black-framed spectacles walked out. Through the light rays within the house, the old yet thoroughly antiques could be seen. There were porcelain items as well as antiques made of bronze, there was a really wide array of them.

Zhang Guohua pointed to some crushed wooden bits on the floor, "He crushed it, can you do it?"

The teenager shook his head. He might be one of the best daoyuan students of Xijing City, but he definitely couldn't crush the wooden ball to such a state.

Zhang Guohua said softly, "Son, didn't you say there aren't many people stronger than you in Xijing City? Then he should be quite famous. Is it that prodigy with tier A aptitude?"

220 THE PURPLE GOLDEN GOURD

To Lu Shu, it was not a good thing to have many magical stones in possession. Back in the shophouse, even though he had reached a consensus with the shopowner, he only dared to sell one.

There were many factors he had to consider. Firstly, a shopowner might not have that much cash. Also, Lu Shu didn't dare to reveal so many of his magical stones to an unfamiliar shopowner he barely knew.

But this Li Dian in front of him seemed different. He was someone left out by the heavenly network. Naturally, he feared and was suppressed by Lu Shu's identity as a member of the heavenly network. To put it bluntly, one was a soldier and the other a fugitive.

And the other party had been training on his own in secret. Even if he manages to find a magical stone, he'd have to use it in secret. He, of course, wasn't from any prestigious or large household or he would have easily gotten the money to purchase magical stones, why trade?"