

Chapter 2788 Blow Up Its Anus

In a flash, memories from the past flooded Camp South Master's mind.

Rumor had it that King of Dragons was the ruler of all the beasts on Theos Island back then, and it held all the fire seeds on the Island.

One day, its subordinates, the primordial beasts, betrayed King of Dragons and ambushed it. Consequently, King of Dragons' soul faded, and it vanished.

The primordial beasts then divided King of Dragons' fire seeds and territory among themselves.

Didn't King of Dragons' soul vanish back then? How could it still be alive? Camp South Master was in disbelief.

Meanwhile, Zeke's eyes lit up, and an idea popped up in his mind when he saw Camp South Master. I can ask Camp South Master to use himself as a bomb and blow up Minotaur's anus.

In a cold tone, Zeke said, "I didn't expect you to still be alive, Camp South Master. I've underestimated you."

Camp South Master gritted his teeth angrily when he saw Zeke. "B*stard! How dare you curse me with a cursed parasitic worm?"

Zeke shook his head. "No. I didn't do that. I've only given Sunshade a cursed parasitic worm."

"Haha! You must be kidding." Camp South Master laughed. "Do you take me for a fool? How can I not tell if I was poisoned with a cursed parasitic worm? If you didn't curse me then who did? Sunshade?"

"You're right. Sunshade infected you with the cursed parasitic worm." Zeke nodded. "This cursed parasitic worm is extremely infectious, and it can infect anyone that's within a one-meter radius."

That's impossible! Camp South Master wasn't convinced. "A one-meter radius? Doesn't that mean almost everyone in Camp South has already been infected?"

"Yes. That's exactly the case." Zeke nodded again.

Bullsh*t! Camp South Master still didn't believe Zeke's words. "If you're telling the truth, you guys are also infected!"

"Of course. We're also humans, and we're all infected. Fortunately for us, I have enough antidotes, and we've already been cured."

Camp South Master refused to believe Zeke. "You're bluffing. You're definitely bluffing..."

"If you don't believe me, feel free to contact someone in Camp South and ask."

Camp South Master mulled over it for a while before pulling out a talisman. With a wave, the talisman immediately caught fire.

As it burned, a blurry image appeared in the flames.

Upon a closer look, the image showed the situation in Camp South.

In the image, a lot of the residents of Camp South were lying on the ground in pain.

Even the mass graves near Camp South were full of corpses, and the number of corpses was over two to three times that of before.

Based on the image, it seemed like those residents were all cursed with cursed parasitic worms.

Camp South Master roared, "B*stard! How could you harm my family? Do you not have a conscience? Aren't you afraid of divine punishment?"

Zeke chuckled. "Did those words cross your mind when you dumped those Heavenly Spirit Stones in my territory to attract the primordial beast? I'm merely returning the favor!"

"Zeke, you better give me the antidotes now! Otherwise, if I die, I'll drag you down with me!" Camp South Master fumed.

Zeke laughed in response. "Reality has proven that I'm way stronger than you. What makes you think you can drag me down? Dream on! However, I'm willing to give you a chance to save yourself and your family."

Camp South Master's face went pale because he knew what Zeke said was a fact. I can't even fight him! It's a fact that I'm not as strong as him.

With that in mind, Camp South Master uttered tentatively, "Okay. Let me know how I can save myself and my family."

"I want you to self-destruct your life force and blow Minotaur's anus apart," Zeke replied.

What? Did I mishear him? He wants me to blow up Minotaur's anus? Camp South Master thought Zeke was ridiculing him.
