Chapter 1134 Not Over Jun's eyebrows twitched. His expression turned grim and then pulled out his phone for a call.

"Bro, someone started a fight here in my hotel and he's not apologizing. I need you here to help me with the situation. I'll buy you a beer after this." The man Jun called seemed to be someone with power.

"I see. No problem. It's a piece of cake. I just came back from the hospital and the doctor told me to stay clear of alcohol for a few days.

We'll drink another day. I'm on my way to your hotel now, give me around ten minutes." A bold and strong laugh came from the phone.

"Alright. I'll mark that down!" Jun then put his phone down and grinned at Kaze. "Hear that? My bro is coming in ten minutes. He's one of the most powerful people in the police force.

"I'm giving you a chance to make whatever call you can get and use all your connections to get help." The other customers present at the coffee shop were surprised.

One phone call and Jun was able to bring forth a powerful police officer. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

He must be influential! Based on Jun's description, the police officer that he contacted must be one of the most powerful people, not just in the police force but city-wide. Even the big families might not dare to oppose someone like him.

Could Kaze handle the situation? Many of the customers shot Kaze a compassionate gaze.

Someone even said, "Friend, you hit the guy in the coffee shop, his hotel. Why don't you just give in for once?" "Yeah. That bastard is despicable for CL harassing your wife but you chose violence and if the police are involved, you might not get away from this." "Your wife seems like a good person, why not be more considerate? You don't need to stand up for your ego and destroy yourself like this."

“This hotel manager seems powerful. Why are you even opposing him?” I The customers were trying to dissuade Kaze.

They saw what happened from start to end I and they had a good impression of Kaze for standing up for Darcy, so they did not want I anything bad to happen to him. I Darcy looked worried as well. “Kaze, why don't we just pay him?” 2 Jun felt smug when he heard the customers trying to dissuade Kaze.

He had the status and power to stand tall in Lilyrose, and he wanted others to be afraid of him.

I He wanted to make an example of Kaze and warn other Tom, Dick, and Harry to refrain from causing trouble at his hotel, or his turf.

“Hear that? Even your wife is telling you to back down. I'll give you a chance since your wife is so beautiful but you still have to pay for what you said to me just now.

“Why don't you slap yourself for each time you provoked me? I'll let you go after that,” Jun said condescendingly.

“Darcy, others might not trust me, but you should trust me with your heart. Don't worry, it's going to be fine.” Kaze tapped Darcy's hand to calm her down and then looked at Jun. “I said I will crush you today and this isn't going to be over before I do it. I don't need to call anyone. No matter who you call, I'll crush them as well.” He sounded absolutely confident.

Some of the customers were in awe of how arrogant Kaze was.

Was he really powerful or was he full of himself?

“You're going to regret this.” Jun's grin faded as he grunted heavily.

Chapter 1135 In the Crosshairs

Ten minutes flew by in the blink of an eye.

Wrrr!

A sharp siren of a police cruiser came from outside the coffee shop.

Then, more and more sirens, and police cruisers, arrived. A mini motorcade of police cruisers arrived in front of the coffee shop in Starocean Hotel.

A group of uniformed officers came down from the cruisers. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Under the lead of a strong man, the group of police officers strutted into the coffee shop.

"Jun, I'm here!"

The strong man came in with a loud voice and pushed the surrounding customers away.

"Bro! You're here already!"

Jun went over with a delightful laugh. Just before he could give the man a cigarette, he had a close look at the man's face and was surprised.

"Bro, what happened to your face? Did you get hurt on some mission?"

Jun could already smell antiseptic from the man from a distance.

The man was none other than the deputy chief, Pierce Woodcock.

Pierce shook his hand and said, "I was slapped."

Jun was stunned. "Who?! Who slapped you? I heard that you are going to replace Don Braders soon and become the police chief. Who has the balls to slap you now?"

The other customers were surprised when they heard Jun.

The police chief position was going through a transition and the man before them would be the new police chief soon.

It was huge news.

What was more shocking was that someone hit and slapped the future police chief.

Who in Lilyrose had such power?

"I don't know if he really has that big pair of balls but I've already sent my men to check his background. I'm still waiting for an update."

Pierce did not know what happened at the mansion after he left and he was waiting for an update from Trent. "Hmm. If that guy is just a piece of shit, tell me and I'll go smack him as well!" Jun said.

He sounded righteous as he offered his willingness to help.

"Forget that for now."

Pierce took the cigarette from Jun and asked, "Where's the bastard? I'd like to see who is that ballsy to start a fight in your hotel. I'll show him there are laws to abide by!"

Jun lit Pierce's cigarette and then pointed at Kaze further away. "He's there. He's a ballsy and arrogant one. I just need you to scare him, I'll wreck him later myself."

"Oh? Let's see who this bastard is."

Pierce spat a cloud of smoke and then strutted in the direction that Jun pointed. He wore a fierce and vicious look.

"So, you are the one who started a fight in the hotel? Why are you sitting, get the hell up... What?"

Pierce was stunned before he could finish his sentence. His swollen face twitched as he was horrified.

"M-Mr. Lee?! W-What are you doing here?"

He could not believe it was Kaze and Darcy.

He went to the hospital after he left the mansion and had just gotten his wounds treated.

It had only been a while.

Based on his calculation, Kaze should still be at Leigh's mansion, yet Kaze was sitting in front of him right now, looking fine and healthy.

Kaze tortured Leigh terribly but he was able to leave in one piece, unscathed.

Pierce sent Trent over but it seemed like things did not turn out as expected.

Trent was not able to oppress Kaze as well.

Chapter 1136 Slapping Spree

Pierce's mind went blank.

A moment ago, he was bold and arrogant, trying to hold the bastard responsible.

Now, however, he was like a rat before a cat, shuddering and struggling to piece his words together.

Jun was stunned by the strange scene. His lips shuddered and his mind went blank as well.

Pierce was the deputy chief of the police force and soon-to-be police chief; even the Joestar family had to respect Pierce.

Yet Pierce was stuttering and shaking in front of Kaze as if he had seen a ghost.

"Deputy Chief Woodcock, we've met again so soon," Kaze teased.

He had just slapped Pierce back at the mansion, and now Pierce came to confront him because Jun called for the man.

Even Kaze started to feel pity for the guy.

"Uh..."

Pierce's lips were shuddering, not knowing what to say.

"What's wrong? You know this bastard?" Jun asked, seemingly annoyed.

Pierce ignored him. He stared at Kaze blankly.

"Come here."

Kaze waved his hand at Pierce.

"Mr. Lee, I.."

Pierce wore a terrible look on his face as his body was shaking terribly.

Kaze said, "I don't want to repeat myself."

Pierce bit the bullet and went closer. He bent over. "M-Mr. Lee..."

Slap!

Kaze slapped him on the right cheek without saying anything.

Pierce faltered backward due to the impact.

His face was covered with a fresh new handprint, covering the cream he had just applied after the earlier slap. While everyone was stunned, Kaze said, "Left side."

Pierce clenched his teeth so tightly that his gum bled, but he did not have the courage to disobey Kaze.

He took a deep breath and stepped up to bend over and presented Kaze with his left cheek. He even adjusted his body for Kaze's convenience in slapping him.

Slap!

Kaze slapped him on the left side of his face.

The slap sent Pierce flying, crashing on the ground with blood spewing from his mouth.

Blood splattered on the floor together with two fallen teeth.

The scene stunned everyone in the coffee shop.

Jun stared at Kaze blankly as if he was looking at the Devil.

The soon-to-be police chief acted like an obedient dog in front of Kaze. SEARCH THE WEBSITE to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Not only did he let Kaze slap him on one cheek, he even surrendered the other side of his face.

He did not grumble or make a noise in the process.

Who exactly was Kaze Lee?

Jun's eyes twitched as he stared at Kaze. His expression shifted multiple times.

A sudden realization struck.

The man who slapped Pierce might very well be Kaze.

Kaze ignored Jun. He looked at Pierce and said, "Come here."

Pierce got up from the floor and went over to Kaze, surrendering his face once more.

Slap! Slap!

Kaze slapped him a few more times.

"You asked someone to check me? That means Trent Fuller was there on your order. You really think that old man can hold me down?"

"If you find out I'm not as powerful as you thought, you'll try to get rid of me? Now, I'll give you a chance to do that. I'm not going to fight back, so give me your best shot."

Chapter 1137 Unreasonable

Pierce lowered his head in silence, allowing Kaze a slapping spree on his face.

His head was buzzing in pain but he clenched his teeth to endure all the slaps without making a noise.

He was able to hold on because of his iron will.

"What's wrong? Say something."

Kaze tapped Pierce's face and said, "You came in here like a lion looking for prey. You have a gun, don't you? Use it and put a bullet in me-do it! No? I think that's a toy to scare common citizens away."

He spoke with the most insulting tone.

"Back at the mansion, I gave you a chance to turn over a new leaf and didn't hold you responsible but now you come to me again, trying to hold me responsible before finding out what really happened. You even tried to abuse your power to help your friend.

"You didn't bother looking for the truth, and you tried to curry favor with the rich and powerful. Do you really think it's that easy?"

"You've run out of chances. I'm not sparing you this time. I'll tell Don to relieve you of your duty, investigate you, and throw you in jail so you can learn your lesson."

Pierce was devastated when he heard this.

Thump!

He was on his knees immediately and started crying, "Mr. Lee, I was wrong! Please give me another chance! I'll live as an upright citizen from now on! I won't make the same mistake again!"

Pierce even kowtowed to Kaze.

Based on Kaze's words, he knew that Trent had failed to hold Kaze down.

Even though he still could not confirm whether Kaze was the new mayor or not, he knew Kaze would not simply blabber on something like telling Don to relieve him of his duty.

This point alone frightened him.

His career was at stake. His future and his family were involved, so he had to put his pride away and beg for forgiveness.

Even if Kaze wanted him to hang himself, he would do it without scruples.

The coffee shop was filled with Pierce's cries.

Everyone's jaw dropped, including Jun's.

Now he realized his actions and provocations at Kaze were nothing but child's play.

Kaze was not joking. He truly possessed the power to be arrogant and it was never personal.

"Mr. Lee, I was wrong. Please, forgive me!"

Pierce continued to hammer his head on the floor, causing his forehead to bleed.

Kaze kicked him away and said, "Don't you think it's a little too late? Before you are stripped of your power, make use of yourself. Tell your men to shut down Starocean Hotel. Find out if they are involved in any illegal activities and I want it done meticulously!"

Everyone was silenced and shocked.

Kaze was practically telling Pierce to continue working even though he was going to be fired soon.

Kaze was being unreasonable and arrogant! Like a tyrant!

"Yes! Yes! Right away!"

Pierce nodded vehemently. SEARCH THE \( website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Even though he was pushed over the ledge and would be losing everything, he still dared not defy Kaze.

Chapter 1138

Chapter 1138 I'm Serious Now

Jun, who heard Kaze, was shaken.

Starocean Hotel was the Joestar family's property and if it shut down, his family would wreck him on top of him losing face.

Knowing the odds were against him, Jun decided to surrender.

He took a deep breath and went up to Kaze with a cigarette, "I am so sorry about what happened today. Please spare us this time and we can talk. Whatever terms and conditions you have, just name it. There's no need to resort to extreme methods."

Kaze took the cigarette and let Jun light it up. He took a drag and then smiled. "You are a smart one, knowing when to back off."

Jun held his emotions back and forced a smile on his face. "You must be joking here. We are friends-brothers! It's normal for little squabbles to happen. So why not just wipe it off and we can..."

Slap!

Kaze slapped him in the face. The sudden slap caused the cigarette to fall off his lips. SEARCH THE website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Jun fell on the floor. He glared at Kaze and bellowed, "Kaze Lee, you!"

He thought Kaze would simply mock or tease him to regain his superiority, so he decided to lower himself.

Being mocked or teased would not hurt anyway.

However, Kaze slapped him in the face without a second thought, catching him off guard.

"I'm not your friend, or your brother."

Kaze blew a puff of smoke at Jun's face and said, "You were asking me to kneel and apologize to your friend and compensate with twenty million dollars."

"You even said if I can't handle the person you called, you will make me pay even more. What were the terms again? Oh, right! You will make me kneel on the floor and slap myself, is that right?"

"If that's how you treat a friend, then fine. You can do the same. Kneel before me and slap yourself ten times. Then, I'll be your friend, your brother..."

Jun's eyes were burning with rage.

Kneeling before Kaze and slapping himself ten times would be worse than killing him.

However, knowing that Kaze had a mysteriously powerful background, he decided to endure the insult for now.

He got up from the floor and forced a smile on his face. "C'mon brother, I was just joking just now. Don't take it seriously..."

Bang!

Kaze kicked him to the coffee table and toppled it.

"I don't care if you were joking, I'm very serious now."

Kaze's frosty voice filled Jun's ears.

Being merciful to the enemy would be brutal to oneself.

Jun would crush anyone and their family if they could not oppress Pierce.

He endured the insult now because he saw what Kaze could do, and the submission was just temporary.

Once Jun got stronger support, he would definitely come after Kaze once again.

It was proven many times before, recently with Leigh and Tao.

Therefore, the only way Kaze could deal with them was to beat them up and carve it in their memory so they would not come after him in the future.

"Kaze Lee! This is too much!"

Jun lay on the ground for a while before he managed to pick himself up.

He wiped the blood off his face and glared at Kaze fiercely. "You think I'm afraid of you? The Joestar family is never afraid of anyone!"

Chapter 1139

Chapter 1139 The Top Three Families Are Nothing

No one expected Jun to bare his fangs at Kaze again after being defeated.

He brought his family's name to the table.

Some of the customers already knew he was a Joestar from the hotel mentioned while some just found out.

Regardless, when the name Joestar was brought up, everyone felt pressured.

The Joestar family was a first-tier family in Lilyrose, having more than a hundred years of history in this city.

Almost everyone in Lilyrose knew them.

The entire coffee shop was silenced.

Kaze struck a member of the Joestar family inside the coffee shop, owned by the hotel operated by the Joestar family.

The Joestars would never spare him for this.

Kaze raised his brow at Jun. "You're a Joestar?" search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"What's wrong? Scared now?" Jun scoffed.

He glared at Kaze and continued, "I gave you enough chances, trying to solve this amicably because we still have to do business here, but you crossed the line. Now that you know about my family, you are scared. It's too late.

"If you are able to walk out of his coffee shop alive, that means I have failed my family's name and I do not intend to let it happen!"

The customers were nervous when they heard Jun.

Jun was obviously infuriated.

If this escalated, blood might shed.

Darcy's expression turned pale. She had a few meetings with the Joestar family before.

A while ago, Ren harassed her and she knew what the family could do.

Now, she crossed paths with another Joestar.

Kaze calmed her down by tapping on her hand and then looked at Jun.

"Are the Joestars that strong? The top three families were extremely powerful before but they were uprooted overnight, and their wealth disappeared instantly. Do you think the Joestar family is greater than them?" Kaze asked.

Everyone looked at Jun.

The top three families used to be the strongest factions in Lilyrose.

A first-tier family was like an ant before them.

The three elites of the top three families used to live a glorious life, admired by many.

Due to their presence, no one had ever heard of Jun.

Following the downfall of the top three families, all three elites-Eliot, Frank and Tiffany-faded from the spotlight. Tiffany was still working as a maid at No. 9 Springville District.

Kaze's meaning was obvious.

If the top three families were no longer relevant, what made a first-tier family so powerful?

Even though he stated facts, the customers were impressed by his courage in saying those in front of Jun.

"The top three families are nothing!" Jun scoffed.

"The top three families were uprooted because they were stupid and they messed with the God of War! The Joestar family isn't that stupid! We will never mess with the wrong people!"

"In the future, the Joestars might even be one of the new top three families alongside Vikrom and Logman families!" Jun said confidently.

"New top three families?" Kaze looked at him with a grin and a frosty gaze. "Like the old ones, the new ones plan to reign over Lilyrose like tyrants, oppressing the people?"

Chapter 1140

Chapter 1140 Head of the Joestars

Kaze did not know if it was the idea of the three families' heads or the rest of the members.

It had only been a short while since the top three families were taken down.

Would history repeat itself?

Kaze knew it was not just an idea. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

When he got rid of the Lee and Vinland families, the Vikrom, Logman, and Joestar families took his side and reaped many benefits from the incident.

The new top three families were slowly taking shape.

"Hmph! No matter what you say, you can't change the fact that the Joestar family would soon become one of the top three families."

Jun looked at Kaze wickedly and added, "I'll give you a chance. Kneel and slap yourself until your face falls off, or I will break your hands and legs!"

He then signaled his hotel security to surround Kaze.

One word from him and the security guards would charge at Kaze.

*Jun Joestar, you just like Eliot, Frank, and Tiffany when they were still the elites of the top three families. Taking advantage of people as you wish."

Kaze's gaze grew colder as he looked at the familiar scene.

He did not want a new generation of top three families to succeed the ones he took down.

They would surely walk the same path as the old, sucking the city's resources dry and oppressing the people.

He wanted Lilyrose without the top three families!

With that, Kaze pulled his phone out to make a call and even turned on the speaker.

"Mr. Lee, hi! I did not expect you to call me yourself! To what do I owe the pleasure?"

A man's voice came from the phone and he sounded absolutely respectful.

The moment Jun heard the voice, the grin on his face froze.

Kaze said coldly, "Jack, there's someone named Jun Joestar in front of me right now and he claimed to be one of your family members. He threatened to break my arms and legs. What should I do about it?"

Gasp!

The moment Jack heard Kaze, he gasped in horror and chills went down his spine.

Without further hesitation, Jack timidly said, "I am terribly sorry about that, Mr. Lee! He's my brother's son! That little bastard is spoiled! I'll make him apologize right away..."

Slap!

Kaze did not let Jack finish his sentence. He slapped Jun in the face and then broke one of his legs with a powerful stomp.

"Aaaargh!"

Jun held his broken leg in pain as he twisted and twirled on the floor.

The entire coffee shop was horrified by his excruciating cry.

Even Jack heard it clearly through the phone.

He dared not take another breath, let alone stop Kaze from teaching Jun a lesson.

No one expected Kaze to be so violent.

He not only disrespected Pierce, the deputy police chief, but he even broke Jun's leg in front of everyone.

On top of that, he even called the head of the Joestar family before he broke Jun's leg.

Jack clearly said he would make Jun apologize but Kaze broke Jun's legs regardless.

Everyone looked at Kaze in shock.

Who exactly was Kaze Lee?

How dare he break Jun's leg in front of Jack Joestar?

Was he not afraid of retaliation from the family?
