Chapter 1147 Insufficient Funds

"I don't care what your doctors are doing. Call them here now. I'll tear this entire building to the ground if I don't see any of them in sixty seconds."

The menacing look on Kaze's face scared the two nurses stiff. Pale in the face, they could not get a word out.

"Hmph! That's a bold statement to make. Victoria International Hospital is only for the rich and powerful."

The door with the signage "Doctor on duty" next to the nurses' station opened.

A bespectacled woman with freckles walked out with sleepy eyes. She put on a lab coat. Kaze glanced at the woman's name tag. Her name was Lianne Fowler.

Lianne sized Kaze up. Judging by his clothes, he was not someone important.

She sneered, "How is a nobody like you going to tear the building down?"

Ignoring the woman's taunts, Kaze said curtly, "Weren't you on your lunch break? Why were you sleeping in the office instead?"

"Don't you know there are several patients with severe injuries waiting for treatment? Where are your medical ethics?"

The family members glared at the woman.

The doctor on duty was catching some sleep in the office, ignoring the patients' medical needs.

It was absurd.

"Can't I take a quick nap after lunch for a pick-me-up? Is there a problem with that?"

Not at all embarrassed, Lianne turned her nose up and replied, "Don't talk to me about medical ethics.

"I guess you didn't know Victoria International Hospital is a private hospital.

"It's all about the money, not ethics.

"I provide immediate medical treatment with the right amount of money.

"Since I have not, the problem lies with you.

"You didn't pay enough."

Lianne's argument made the patients' families shake with rage.

It was rather astonishing how Lianne would make such a shameless claim so eloquently.

Will's wife uttered furiously, "My husband is a high-ranking officer of the Southend police station. I will file a formal complaint if you keep delaying treatment."

"A high-ranking officer of the Southend police station? Oh, I'm so scared."

Lianne patted her chest with a fake terrified look before jeering, "He's just a tiny police officer. Who is he trying to scare off?"

"You'll wet your pants when you find out the people on the board of Victoria International Hospital.

"Go ahead and file a complaint.

"Feel free to seek the health department, the pharmaceutical department, the commerce, and the local councils.

"I'll apologize if any of these departments could do anything to us."

Lianne looked haughty.

Though furious, the families could do nothing about the situation.

Victoria International Hospital was a high-end private hospital, unreachable by everyday citizens.

Nevertheless, Lianne did not scare Kaze.

Having enough of Lianne, Kaze went up to her without another word.

Smack!

Knocked over, the woman screamed.

Lianne crashed into the cabinet behind, toppling the items on it. The falling objects struck Lianne, causing her to scream again.

Chapter 1148

Chapter 1148 Angry Attack

"Dr. Fowler!"

The two nurses screamed and rushed to pull Lianne out of the pile of junk. Lianne was a mess.

Her glasses flew off, and loose strands of hair dangled over her face, which was marred by a bright red handprint.

The nurses helped Lianne up, and she glared at Kaze. "How dare you hit me, bastard!"

Her tone was filled with disbelief.

Victoria International Hospital's clientele was only the rich and powerful.

Despite their prestige, they treated the hospital staff with courtesy and respect.

The appreciation from the clients fueled Lianne's and the hospital staff's arrogance. The way they saw it, they only engaged with the rich and powerful.

They did not give a damn about the general population.

The hospital staff did not think there was a problem in the way they confronted Kaze and the others.

Victoria International Hospital did not need to expand its clientele anyway, so the hospital staff could approach the patients however they liked.

Besides, the patients before them now were just a bunch of poor people.

It was not as if they and their families could do anything about it.

To the hospital staff's surprise, Kaze attacked Lianne.

"You have the nerve to assault the medical staff in Victoria International Hospital, jerk!"

"You're a brave man. I will make you pay for that slap."

Lianne put her hand over her swollen cheek and shouted, "Security! Where is the security? We have an assault here. Get here now!"

"You're dead meat, asshole."

The nurses pointed at Kaze menacingly.

Since no one had caused trouble at the hospital before, the hospital staff believed Kaze was asking for it.

"The hospital is a place for treatment, but you demand more money. This is not a hospital. It's a disgrace!"

"Come with me. Take Will and the others with you to get treatment at another hospital."

Without looking at the three women, Kaze informed the family members and headed to Will's team in the trauma room.

Kaze's assault on the medical staff worried the family members. However, they knew Will called Kaze, so they nodded and followed him.

"Where's the offender? These people are trying to leave with the patients after one of them hit me. Don't let them leave!"

Lianne and the others led the security personnel.

The security guards were burly and roguish. They seemed to dabble in the criminal world.

Truth be told, Victoria International Hospital hired hooligans to intimidate anyone from causing scenes at the hospital.

"Freeze! You can't leave."

"Don't think you can leave after attacking the medical staff. You have to go through us."

The security officers blocked the emergency room, so nobody could get out.

"Get out of my way!"

Wasting no breath, Kaze mowed down a few security guards with a kick

Even the door to the trauma room rammed open.

Will and the others lay in bed, moaning in pain.

Leigh inflicted superficial wounds on them, but the pain was a lot for Will and the others to take.

They had been lying there for an hour, but the doctor here would rather sleep than attend to them.

Kaze narrowed his eyes dangerously.

"Wheel them out of here. I'll take care of those who come in our way," Kaze told the family members.

It was easy to transport Will and the others because the beds they were lying on were equipped with wheels.

"What's the meaning of this?"

A woman with golden frame glasses appeared on the other end of the hallway. Flanked by the hospital administration, the woman approached in a flurry.

Chapter 1149

Chapter 1149 Miriam the Hospital Director

The woman was beautiful but aloof. She gave off vibes to keep away.

With the woman approaching, Lianne stopped yelling and expressed fear.

The woman was Miriam Loop, the director of Victoria International Hospital.

*There you are, Ms. Loop. This man is causing a scene here."

Lianne drew close and pointed at Kaze, who was in the trauma room. She said wickedly. "He stirred trouble the moment he came and he hit me. The security guards were attacked when they stopped him from taking the patients away.

"The worst thing was, he said we have no medical ethics and wanted to tear the building down."

Lianne embellished what Kaze had done.

Kaze singled Lianne out, but Lianne changed the story to include all the medical staff in the hospital.

She hated Kaze's guts and wanted him dead.

Miriam glanced at the security officers scattered across the floor before turning to Kaze grimacingly.

"I don't care who you are, but Victoria International Hospital has never come across a reckless troublemaker like you."

"Your behavior is unforgivable."

Miriam acted and talked to Kaze like she was above him.

Sensing the woman's aggression, the family members were terrified.

Will's wife took a step forward anxiously and explained, "Ms. Loop, we are not trying to cause a scene, but your staff crossed the line.

"My husband and his colleagues are badly injured. They have been registered as patients, and the bill has been paid in advance.

"But they received no attention for a whole hour.

*The nurses were busy on their phones, and the doctor was asleep in her office. Is this the kind of service to expect here?"

Kaze stood there without a word. He was curious to see how Miriam would respond to Will's wife.

Miriam snapped an angry look at Lianne and the two nurses.

The trio shuddered and lowered their heads restlessly.

"Are you the patient's family?"

Miriam's gaze fell on Will's wife, and she said indifferently, "I admit that we could've handled things better at the hospital. I will punish my staff, but..."

She made light of the medical staff's behavior and redirected the subject.

*The staff's medical ethics were questioned due to a minor issue.

*The staff was also attacked, and what's this threat about demolishing the hospital?

"Isn't that slander?"

Miriam turned strict. "I have reason to suspect that you are here to cause trouble.

"You came here looking for trouble to damage the hospital's reputation.

"If I let you go today, the hospital will lose respect in the city when word gets out."

Lianne and the other staff nodded.

Like Lianne, they looked down on the general population.

An individual started trouble at the hospital and accused them of betraying their medical ethics.

It was unpardonable from their perspective.

Without looking at the others, Kaze was fixated on Miriam and uttered coldly, "Ms. Loop, I guess your patients' health is far less important than your hospital's reputation."

Chapter 1150

Chapter 1150 Unnecessary Existence

"I guess I was right before, and I was only scratching the surface.

*Lianne is not the only one without medical ethics. From the top stands you, the director, to the bottom-all of you are unscrupulous.

*You are a bunch of money-minded trash without any conscience.

"I don't see the point of having this hospital around anymore."

Miriam grimaced.

The medical staff of Victoria International Hospital was not having it.

"Who do you think you are, jerk? How dare you say that about us!"

*Don't let these troublemakers get away with it, Ms. Loop."

"Get the guy who thinks he's tough. Punish him and make him an example."

*Make him get on his knees and compensate us. Break his limbs! He will think twice before stirring trouble here again."

The medical staff unleashed a tirade of abuse on Kaze.

If Kaze had not defeated several security guards with a single kick, the medical staff would have gotten physical with Kaze a long time ago.

Miriam raised her arm, shushing the clamoring crowd.

She looked Kaze dead in the eye and said solemnly, "I don't care who you are, but you have taken things too far. "An apology won't cut it now."

She waved at the security guards. "Take him down all at once. He stands between you and a bonus check."

Miriam knew that Kaze could fight, but she was not alarmed.

The hospital hired two dozen security guards. It should be enough to sort a young man out.

Following Miriam's orders, the security personnel surrounded Kaze.

The family members turned pale.

Will's wife said angrily, "What are you trying to do? I'm warning you. My husband is a high-ranking officer of the Southend police station-"

Smack!

Miriam interrupted Will's wife from finishing with a slap.

"So what if he's a high-ranking officer? Anyone on the board can make your loser husband kneel and beg for forgiveness."

The face of Will's wife had a clear imprint of a palm.

She covered her face in agony and tears while looking at Miriam in fear. She could not believe Miriam could be so ruthless.

Kaze could not put up with Miriam's brazenness anymore.

Pow!

He went up and kicked her in the stomach.

Miriam cried in pain and fell back.

*Ms. Loop!"

Lianne and the others went as white as a sheet. They knew who Miriam slept with to get to the position of hospital director.

Besides, the senior partner of the medical center adored Miriam.

If the senior partner knew his woman was beaten, he would unleash hell.

*How dare you hit Ms. Loop! You're going to get it!"

Sharing the medical staff's thoughts, the security guards charged toward Kaze with bloodshot eyes.

*Stay back!"

Kaze pulled Will's wife behind him and faced the guards without hesitation.

Smack!

Bang!

Even Lyon, Leigh's hired protection, was no match for Kaze, much less an untrained group of hooligans-turned- security-officers.

As the room echoed with harrowing screams, the two dozen security guards rolled on the ground, holding their limbs.

The emergency room was filled with wails and agonizing cries.
