

Guardian-In-Law by Five Generals

Chapter 15

Chapter 15 Kaze the Chairman?

Everything went silent at the gate.

Everyone was looking at Kaze and Darcy.

It was Darcy's birthday party after all?

Did it mean that the Chairman of Sky High Investment Group was Kaze?!

The Quints were frightened as if they had seen a ghost.

Deborah felt like her world was collapsing.

"Impossible!"

"Mr. Forrester, are you mistaken?"

Deborah almost fell on her knees. How could Kaze be the Chairman of Sky High Investment Group?

"Shut up!"

Ray slapped Deborah, displaying his long-standing dominance Deborah was instantly frightened, her face turning deathly pale fell to the ground.

Ray then looked at Darcy and said respectfully, "Ms. Quint, this please."

"..."

Darcy was nervous and confused. She stood there, feeling surreal and unbelievable.

Then, a Rolls-Royce Phantom Extended drove out from the estate and stopped in front of Ray's golden Rolls-Royce.

+25 BONUS

The man then opened the door for Darcy and Kaze himself.

The richest man serving the young couple shocked everyone.

"Hold on."

Kaze turned around and looked at Deborah. He said, "Shouldn't you return the necklace on your neck to my wife?"

Everyone looked at Deborah, pressuring her.

"W-What are you talking about? This is the present Vincent gave me!" Deborah answered guiltily.

Then, Jasmine, the owner of Sixth Eye Jewelry, stepped forward and slapped Deborah's face.

"You idiot! The Goddess' Heart is a present for Ms. Darcy Quint. You are not worthy of it!"

Deborah covered her swollen cheek as she looked at Jasmine in disbelief. Her body was shaking terribly.

She was slapped twice in front of a crowd. It was humiliating, and may not be the socialite she used to be anymore.

However, she was slapped by the richest man in the city and the tycoon of the jewelry industry. She dared not argue or fight back a

"Vincent, they slapped me... The Goddess' Heart is mine. How could be Darcy's?"

She turned to Vincent for help.

Vincent looked at Deborah in disgust and scolded her impatiently, "Stop crying! I've never said I bought the Goddess' Heart for you! You! are the one being delusional!"

He then glanced at Kaze and realized Kaze did not even look at him. He breathed a sigh of relief.

2014

+25 BONUS

Master Quint grew flustered. He shouted and urged, "You fool! Don't just sit there! Take it off and give it back to Darcy!"

The other family members echoed and scolded Deborah, urging her to return the necklace. They were afraid Kaze might hold them responsible.

Deborah reluctantly removed the Goddess' Heart and handed it to Darcy.

"Kaze, this..."

Darcy was at a loss. It was so shocking that she did not know how to react.

Kaze tapped her hand and said, "Darcy, it's okay. There are more surprises waiting for you."

He then held Darcy's hand and entered the Rolls-Royce.

"Come on, let's follow them!"

Master Quint pounded his walking cane on the ground and exclaimed "The Quint family finally has such a powerful son-in-law. This is the most significant event for us in the past century!"

When they finally entered the estate, everyone was in awe.

The interior was extravagant as if they entered the palace of so medieval lord.

Someone even pointed out that the chandelier hanging in the hall was worth sixty million.

"If any man could hold a birthday party for me here, I would marry him!" one of the female guests said.

Darcy rubbed her eyes, unable to believe what she saw. Everything felt surreal.

14

The Novel will be updated daily. Come back and continue reading tomorrow, everyone!