Chapter 181 Kneel And Bark Like Dog

Kaze no longer wanted to leave.

Xion might be young but he was arrogant and disrespectful.

If Kaze left without doing anything, Xion might bully Sky.

The room was strangely quiet except for Xion's heavy panting.

He pointed at Kaze and bellowed, "Just because you slapped me, you won't be just crawling out of here!"

A gathering of friends turned into an ugly confrontation. The others were not happy with how things turned out. "Sky, tell your brother-in-law to apologize to Xion. Xion's father is the manager of this hotel. You can't mess with him with your background."

All of Sky's friends knew about his background.

Even though it was Xion who started it, they wanted Sky to apologize.

"Why should my brother-in-law apologize? Xion started it! He should apologize!"

Sky refused to back down. "Besides, the manager of the hotel is nothing compared to my brother-in-law! Even people from the first-tier family are afraid of him!"

"Afraid of him? Kaze Lee? Are you joking?"

"Sky, I know it now. Your brother-in-law must have lied to get your sister.”

All of Sky's friends did not believe him.

Sky adored Kaze, so when his friends questioned him, he flustered. “I

um nuttymy: | Juw it with my um cyco

Seeing Sky's determined expression, his classmates ceased debating whether he was boasting or not.

One of the guys said, “Fine. Is he as powerful as the owner of the Lily Garden Hotel? He is so powerful that he can summon the Garo Spec Ops Team to arrest top celebrities and have them write apology letters to share online.”

“Yeah! It's said that the owner of the hotel is a high-ranking officer in the military. Your brother-in-law slapped his man's son! He's dead!”

Sky's expression shifted.

Kaze might be able to deter the first-tier families, but he might not be powerful enough when compared to someone related to the military.

Conflicted, he looked at Kaze. Then, he clenched his teeth and bolted 1. “Xion, I'll apologize on behalf of Kaze! Is that okay?!”

Xion hummed arrogantly and said, “He slapped me and you just want to apologize? That's not enough. If you get on your knees and hands and bark like a dog, I'll consider forgiving your brother-in-law!”

He wanted to humiliate Sky. "Xion! This is too much!" Sky clenched his fists and glared at Xion.

After what happened at the Socialite Club, he became braver and more dignified, so it was difficult for him to accept such humiliation.

"I am humiliating you. What can you do about that?"

Xion walked up to Sky and said, "My father is the general manager and his boss is related to the military. Even the gangster bosses, Gold

Ne puppies in the hutch

"I just need to make one call and say someone is causing trouble here in the hotel and you and your dear brother-in-law are dead meat!"

"FINE! I'll bark! But Xion, know this! It's not that I am afraid of you, I just don't want Kaze to be in trouble!" he stammered. Kaze found it amusing and infuriating at the same time. He dragged the boy back and said, "Sky, let him make the call."

"Sky, your brother-in-law is more childish than you. Apologizing and barking like a dog are better than messing with people that he could not afford to.

"He hasn't learned his lesson. He doesn't know what power can do to him."

The guys and girls looked at Kaze as if he was a dead person.

They might be young but they thought they were mature enough to know the rules of the society. "Seems like he will not grieve before he sees his own coffin!"

Chapter 182 A Bunch Of VIPs

Xion grinned as he pulled his phone out.

Right before he made the call, the door was opened.

“Dad! Someone slapped me!”

Xion was thrilled when he saw the man at the entrance. It was the manager of the hotel, Richard Keegan. Richard was infuriated when he heard his son. “Who? Who slapped my son?!”

The man was enjoying the peak of his career in the past few days.

After his boss summoned the Tiger Fangs to lock down the hotel and capture the two top celebrities, no one dared to cause trouble at the hotel anymore.

All the VIPs from different fields behaved when they checked into the hotel and dared not voice ridiculous requests. Now, someone broke his comfortable streak and hit someone in the hotel. It was not just someone, but his son.

He knew his boss’ brother-in-law and his friends were having a gathering at the VIP room and his boss was also present. Yet someone resolved in violence in front of his boss, which infuriated Richard.

“I did it.”

A familiar voice came from the couch.

Richard narrowed his eyes and strode over to have a better look.

Then, his eyes widened and his body trembled.

“M-Mr. Lee?!”

Richard bowed immediately and nervously wiped the sweat that covered his forehead.

Fortunately, he was able to recover his composure immediately and said, “Mr. Lee, I- | came here to talk to you about something. And | overheard there was an incident involving a guest at the hotel, and | didn’t expect it to be you! You must have reasons, please carry on!”

Everyone in the room was shocked as they stared at Kaze.

The manager of Lily Garden Hotel bowed and called Kaze Mr. Lee!

Xion failed to react to the situation.

He bellowed, “Dad, what is the meaning of this? What did you mean to carry on? I’m your son!” “You little wretched child! Mr. Lee should slap you more!”

Richard glared at Xion.

His son had always been arrogant and a bully, which gave him a headache. He knew Kaze attended his son’s friend gathering and the wretched boy must have done something to anger Kaze.

As for the slap, he instinctively ignored it. His words shocked the others even more.

Who exactly was Kaze? Not only did Richard forget about the slap, he even requested Kaze to carry on. Then, several men came into the room.

“Gold Tooth, Dan Niners, Captain Ronald Hagg of the Traffic Department, Nick Guard, chairman of the local government financing platform, and Donald McFree of the McFrees?!”

Xion recognized the powerful VIPS at first glance.

Ever since the owner of the hotel was revealed to be someone powerful, many other powerful VIPS liked to dine and gather at the hotel.

“Master Lee, we are having lunch here and we heard you are here too, so we dropped by to say hi. Are we interrupting anything?”

Gold Tooth and Dan knew Kaze the longest, so they stepped forward and greeted him first.

The others did the same and greeted Kaze.

Judging from their expressions and tone, they wanted to make an impression on Kaze.

Xion fell on the floor and almost passed out. Devastated, he looked at his father and asked, “Dad, who is this Mr. Lee?”

Richard knew something must have gone wrong judging from his son’s reaction. He bellowed, “You wretched boy, what did you do to offend Mr. Lee?!”

"|... L.." Xion stammered.

Kaze said, "Just because his father is the manager of the hotel and works for someone powerful, he wanted me to scuttle away like a dog and wanted my dear brother-in-law to kneel, apologize, and also bark like a dog."

Richard's soul almost left his body when he heard Kaze. He went up to Xion and beat him up.

"You little piece of shit! | never used Mr. Lee's name to do anything, yet you used my name to bully others?! Mr. Lee is the owner of Lily Garden Hotel!"

Xion's mind went blank and stopped resisting, allowing his father to slap him again. 35

"Am | hearing this right? Sky's brother-in-law is the owner of Lily Garden Hotel?!"

"The man who summoned the Tiger Fangs to arrest Andrew Shawn and Liv Ackerman, forcing them to post their apology online?!"

"He's so young but he's already a high-ranking officer?! How much did he do on the battlefield?! Oh my god!"

The boys and girls looked at Kaze with utmost admiration. The zeal in their eyes was stronger than they saw their idols. "| said that Kaze is powerful, but none of you believed me! Now look!"

Sky lifted his chin and looked at his friends. He was proud of Kaze.

Richard then went up to Kaze with his legs shaking and bowed. "Mr. Lee, it's my fault for not teaching my son well. Please name your punishment, | will accept it willingly."

Kaze knew Richard had been dutiful on his job and he never used his name to do anything bad. He waved and said, "You are fine. As for your son, tell him to bark a few times and then crawl out of here."
"Thank you, Mr. Lee! Thank you!"

Richard wiped his sweat away and was grateful for Kaze's mercy. He turned around to his son and bellowed, "Stop sitting there! Bark!"

"Woof! Woof! Woof!"

Xion barked a few times as he crawled out of the room.

"You guys can go now." Kaze signaled Gold Tooth and the others. The others immediately left.

"Richard, what did you say you wanted to tell me?"

Kaze got up and left the room as well.

Chapter 183 I'll Drink With You

Sky became the center of attention back in the room.

All the guys and girls surrounded him with questions, curious about his brother-in-law, Kaze.

Then, Celine went up to Sky with teary eyes and said meekly, "Sky, I think Xion isn't as mature as you, I've decided to break up with him..." "Celine, you breaking up with Xion is none of my business. Go talk to him.

Sky was an innocent boy. He looked at Celine, confused, and did not understand why she would tell him about her breaking up with Xion.

The other guys and girls looked at her strangely. In the end, she got embarrassed and angry and ran out of the room. Richard followed Kaze out of the room.

After he closed the door, he said, "Mr. Lee, your wife is here as well. She's here to meet the director of Lilyrose Bank, Liben Radar, and his people. I noticed they look at your wife strangely, and I worry they might have other thoughts in mind."

He had been in the hotel business for many years and became good at observing people's expressions. When Liben and his men came into the hotel, Richard noticed them.

looking at Darcy pervertedly.

He then quickly ran to Kaze's room and informed him of the situation.

Kaze's expression turned grim. "Where are they now?"

"VIP room, No. 888," Richard said.

When he looked up, Kaze was already gone.

Meanwhile inside VIP room No. 888.

“Director Radar, I've drunk a lot already. | wonder when you can approve the loan for Quintessential Group.” Darcy was tipsy after multiple glasses. She looked at the director of the bank and the other executives with an exotic look. Another woman was sitting beside her, tipsy. She was Darcy's university friend, Joy Soothe. She was currently working in the bank as well.

Darcy asked her to arrange the meeting and promised to reward her if she got the loan.

They originally agreed to meet at the bank's main branch but after a few chats, Liben suggested continuing their discussion over lunch.

Since Joy

by was there with her, Darcy agreed to have lunch and even took care of the bill.

When they sat down in the room, Liben and the others joked about an unspoken rule of the bank. One must drink to win their acknowledgment and only then one could get the loan.

Darcy was not a drinker, but she was one step away from getting the loan of two hundred million. It could solve the urgent funding problem of the company, so she bit the bullet and started drinking.

Fortunately, Liben did not take advantage of her. Other than Darcy and two of her employees, the director placed Joy on her side as well and they started drinking.

After more than a dozen rounds, Darcy, Joy, and the other two were done, yet Liben and the other men were more energetic than before.

Darcy was on the verge of passing out. One or two more glasses and she would be knocked out cold, so she skipped to the most crucial part of the meeting.

“Yeah, Mr. Director, can you give Darcy your word? You are the director of the bank, you can’t break your promise,” Joy said in defense of Darcy but she was barely conscious.

Having two beautiful and tipsy women in front of them, Liben and the men got greedy and aroused.

“Ms. Quint, we are not even halfway there. Come on, it’s not that easy trying to get the loan. One more glass!” Liben said with a grin.

He was a careful man. He decided to get Darcy drunk first, planning to use her information to book a hotel room. This way, after he ravaged her, there would be no evidence.

Even if he was held responsible, he could argue that he got Darcy’s consent while she was drunk. As for Joy, his men had eyes on her already.

It would be difficult for the ladies to escape.

“But Mr. Director, I can’t drink anymore. This is the last glass!”

Darcy forced herself up.

Liben chuckled but his eyes gleamed coldly. He said with a fake smile, “No, if you lose this little drinking game, I won’t approve your loan.” Darcy clenched her teeth. She wanted to go wash her face before continuing. She could not give up on the two-hundred-million loan!

Then, someone barged into the room.

“Mr. Director, why don’t | take her place and drink with you?”

Chapter 184 Impossible Loan

“Who are you, who let you in?” Liben glared at the uninvited guest and bellowed.

“Get the hell out!”

Kaze?

Darcy was surprised to see him at the door.

“Mr. Director, this is my husband, Kaze Lee. | asked him to come get me since we are drinking.” She quickly came up with an excuse to justify his entry.

Kaze said, “Mr. Director, Darcy is at her limit. I'll take her place.”

Liben’s eyes gleamed coldly.

He almost got Darcy drunk but then her husband came out of nowhere and ruined his plan. He could not just ask him to leave or else it would expose his ulterior motive.

Then, one of his men whispered in his ear, “Sir, just drink with him. There are e a few of us with the medicine so we are not afraid of him. Once he is drunk, we can continue with our plan. No one will know what we have done!”

A great idea indeed!

Liben nodded. "Kaze, is it? Let's drink then. Let me be straight: if you can't beat us, we won't approve the loan." "Sure."

Kaze smiled and picked up two bottles of whisky. He uncorked them, poured them into a bucket, and lifted it.

"Since Mr. Director has drunk some, I don't want to take advantage of you, so I'll finish this bucket first."

He then chugged down the entire bucket of whiskey.

Liben and the others were shocked.

He must be a fool to drink whisky this recklessly!

Darcy stopped him. "Kaze, you can't drink like this! You'll get drunk!"

Gulp! Gulp!

Kaze drained the bucket of whisky. He put the empty bucket down and said with the same expression, "Darcy, look. I'm fine." Darcy looked at him, speechless.

He then looked at Liben and the others. "Mr. Director, let's begin."

Liben and the others were slightly frightened but after a quick thought, they assumed Kaze was trying to scare them. His stomach might be exploding soon.

Even if Kaze could drink, chugging down an entire bucket of whisky without pause was something outrageous. Besides, Liben and his men had taken hangover medicine to stay clear. They believed they could win!

“Alright, let's drink!”

Liben and his men poured themselves a glass each and started drinking.

Kaze poured three glasses for himself and poured them into the bucket before he drained it again.

“This is more interesting. Small cups aren't my thing.”

Kaze unintentionally provoked them, which worked.

Liben and the others felt challenged.

“We are not afraid of you!”

They each got a bucket and poured a whole bottle of whisky inside.

Each of them drank one bottle but Kaze drank three just to match their number.

After a few rounds, Liben and the others started to get tipsy. “Sir, I can't drink anymore! I'm going to explode!”

One of his men started to wobble around mindlessly.

“Let's just surrender, sir!”

The other one collapsed on the chair like a dead person. Liben was at his limit as well.

He looked at Kaze, who looked fine. He was still standing straight and steady, unlike them who had either collapsed or held o chair to keep standing.

Kaze's mind remained clear. He said with a smile, "Mr. Director, up so soon? Then | supposed we are getting the two-hundred- milli loan?"

"Loan? What loan?" Liben got so drunk that he did not know what he was talking about.

"We are just trying to make your wife and Joy drunk so that we can fuck them. There's no way Lilyrose Bank will approve a loan for Quintessential Group..."

Darcy and Joy were woken up by Liben's accidental revelation.

Chapter 185 If You Like It, Drink More

Darcy and Joy glared at Liben after the revelation.

They did not expect he was such a vile and filthy person, especially Darcy when she realized she was toyed. She slammed the table, bolted up and shouted, "Mr. Director, what is the meaning of this?"

"Aren't | clear enough? Lilyrose Bank isn't going to approve the loan to Quintessential Group. Your company previously received a loan from us and hasn't repaid it!"

Liben decided to be honest since he was completely drunk.

He sized up Darcy from top to bottom pervertedly and grinned. "If you let me fuck you today, I can extend your loan period." Darcy got so frustrated that she teared up.

First Henry, then Eliot, now Liben. All these filthy men tried to get body by using filthy methods.

"Keep on dreaming!" she said, clenching her teeth.

She grabbed her jacket and wanted to leave the filthy place.

Liben got angry. He shouted, "You're leaving? I know your company funds are hitting bottom low. If you can't meet the deadlines for the loan, your company will be over!"

Darcy froze on the spot.

Liben grinned and continued, "Tell your useless husband to leave and you stay. Let's drink more!"

He wanted the proud woman to succumb to his power before Taruying non.

"If you like to drink so much, drink more," Kaze said coldly.

He stood there expressionlessly throughout the entire confrontation. and had been pouring whisky into the bucket. When the bucket was full, he picked it up and went over to Liben.

"What are you trying to do?!"

Liben got scared. He instinctively stood up but then a kick to his knee forced him to kneel on the spot.

Kaze's sudden kick made Liben scream like a dying pig, but it stopped abruptly when Kaze clamped his jaw and forced the bucket of whisky into his mouth.

It poured down into his mouth like a waterfall.

Gulp! Gulp! Gulp!

The spicy drink became burning lava when it passed through his throat.

Liben screamed in a muffled voice. He tried to shake his head but he could not escape Kaze's clamp.

The whisky got into his eyes and made him scream louder.

After the whisky shower, Liben collapsed on the floor like a dead body.

His body twitched as he threw up the whisky that was forced into his stomach. There was blood mixed in the whisky that he threw up. His stomach was hurt.

The whisky shower almost took his life. It was his punishment for insulting Darcy.

Kaze grabbed the other two men by their hair and tossed them on the table. He did the same and forced more whisky into their mouths.

He did not speak a word throughout the entire execution as if he was the cold executioner.

Joy was afraid by his ferocity.

Darcy, on the other hand, had gotten used to it since it was not her first time seeing her husband like this.

“Kaze, stop. You are going to kill them.”

She went up and stopped him.

“They are pieces of shit. Just let them die.”

Kaze finally stopped.

Darcy was still drunk after all the drinking and she could barely stand still.

Then, Kaze carried her up like a princess and left the filthy room that reeked of whisky. “Come on, let's go home.”

Darcy's face was red. It was either from the excessive alcohol consumed or she blushed. She felt an unprecedented sense of safety and it lulled her to sleep.

Chapter 186 Revenge Is Here

“Mr. Lee!”

Richard had been waiting outside the VIP room and he came over to Kaze as soon as the door opened.

“There's a girl called Joy Soothe in room No. 888. Arrange someone to send her home,” Kaze said before he went downstairs. Sky and his friends were still playing.

Since the boy was having fun, Kaze decided to leave him be and send Darcy home first.

After he left, the irritating noise of sirens echoed across the street. Multiple ambulances stopped in front of Lily Garden Hotel. When Liben and his men were carried into the ambulance, they were panting heavily and barely conscious.

Darcy went home and slept for the entire day before regaining consciousness.

As soon as she thought about what happened at the hotel, she felt scared.

“Kaze, what have you done to the bank director and his men? They are powerful and influential, they'll come after you!” She knew Kaze did it because of her, so she did not blame him for his actions.

Kaze remained casual. “If they want, let them come. Don't worry, no one can hurt me.”

Darcy remained worried and she could not sleep at night. She worried that Liben would take revenge on Kaze and her. 13

The next morning, Darcy dragged her exhausted body to work. She was afraid, so she brought Kaze along too.

When she arrived at her office, she saw Master Quint and the extended family at the door.

Rudy, Samus, Deborah, and even Vincent, who was not even part of the family.

They were all blacklisted by the Skylar View District's management and could not enter the neighborhood, so they could only wait for Darcy at her office.

They surrounded Darcy and glared at her. "Darcy, how dare you show up to work! The company is doomed because of you!" Master Quint bellowed. Darcy's heart skipped a beat. "Grandfather, you've heard about it?"

"It's all over the news! How could we not know about it? Director Radar and his men are still in the ICU and they might not even make it!" Samus said angrily.

If he was not afraid of Kaze, he would have slapped Darcy already. "Huh?!"

Darcy did not expect Liben and his men to be hospitalized.

It was just a few buckets of whisky.

"Darcy, you've really done it this time. They are the executives and the director of Lilyrose Bank! Do you know who is the chairman of the bank?!"

Deborah glared at her and added, "Maurice Taon! The son-in-law of the Everias! We cannot afford to mess with them! You and your family are a bunch of ratshit! How could you fuck up worse than

Two days ago, Sky broke the legs of Howl and Daniel and almost doomed the entire family.

Strangely, the Vikroms and Logmans did not hold them responsible. Sky even came back in one piece. Before they could catch a breath, Kaze somehow sent the bank director and his men to the ICU..

He certainly had offended the Everias!

The Quints were frightened when they got the news.

Master Quint even took several pills to calm himself down and prevent the risk of a heart attack.

Why the Everias again?

Darcy turned pale.

If her grandfather found out that they did not just send the bank director to the ICU and even beat up Eliot, he would probably strangle her to death. Then, an executive came running to them.

“Mr. Chairman! Lilyrose Bank and the other banks suddenly announced that they will stop working with us, effective immediately! They will never approve or release any loan to us anymore!”

Chapter 187 Risk of Having No Loan

The news devastated the entire family.

Darcy called the director of the Industrial and Commercial Bank, Yusoff Lewis.

They had been working together for a long time and were always on good terms. “Hello, Director Lewis?”

Before she stated the intention of the call, Yusoff said, “Ms. Quint, I know what you want to say but we can’t do anything either. Our hands are tied. Maurice Taon, the chairman of Lilyrose Bank, has made it clear. We will be opposing him if we release a loan to Quintessential Group.”

As mentioned before, Maurice was the son-in-law of the Everias.

Due to his status and position, he was able to rise to prominence in the banking field rapidly.

His words represented the Everias and the entirety of the top three families to a certain extent.

Darcy suppressed her fear and said, “But the Industrial and Commercial Bank is the top four banks of the country, why are you afraid of the top three families?” “The bank is not afraid of them, but my colleagues and I are! We are Lilyrosean, Ms. Quint. I believe you know what I mean.” Yusoff hung up the phone.

Darcy refused to give up. She called the other banks that she had been visiting and contacting lately but she got the same answer.

No matter how close the bank worked with them before, they were all afraid of Maurice.

Some of them politely explained it would be difficult to clear loans, some of them hung up the phone immediately, and some rejected her.

With all the big banks rejecting them, there would be less hope for the smaller banks. "Darcy, it's enough! It's over! You and your idiot husband have doomed us all!"

Darcy put her phone down as her extended family criticized her.

The despair in her heart made her teary.

Quintessential Group currently faced an unprecedented crisis-having no loans.

They lost the support of not just one but all the banks.

Maurice was ruthless and he was determined to seal the Quints' fate this time. Their funds were running low and they were in tens of millions of debt.

Once the cash flow stopped, the first to be affected would be the presale project. They would not be able to sell a single unit. Eventually, the entire company would go bankrupt.

"Darcy, you and your idiot husband are ratshit! You are sinners! Our family is dead because of you!"

Everyone in the Quints drowned in despair.

Then, Kaze came up after parking his car. He saw the grudge on the Quints' faces and their angry glare.

"What happened?" he asked after he noticed Darcy's pale look.

Darcy clenched her teeth and explained, "What happened? Lilyrose Bank has taken revenge!"

Kaze found out about what happened but he simply smiled it off.

"No loans? And here I thought it's something serious. It's fine. It's no big deal."

The family assumed he was abandoning them since he was not part of the company. They were infuriated by his frivolous attitude.

"Kaze Lee, I wish I could strangle you to death!" Master Quint glared at him viciously though he knew Kaze's death could not solve the problem at hand.

Then, another piece of bad news arrived. Maurice sent his lawyer over to the office.

"Ms. Quint, Chairman Taon wants an explanation about the incident? regarding Director Radar and the other executives. If you are willing to settle it without going to court, you will have to pay a compensation of three hundred million.

"Otherwise, we will sue you and your husband for intentional harm. Although your husband has records of mental disability and it will be a difficult case, we will continue to pursue it."

The lawyer grinned and added, "Ms. Joy Soothe, your university classmate, has agreed to testify against your husband, Kaze

Lee. Joy Soothe wanted to testify against Kaze? Darcy was stunned by the news.

Darcy refused to believe that Joy would betray her!

They used to be good friends in university. Although not as close as her with Miru, they were still friends.

If not for Kaze, Joy would be drunk raped by the executives.

She was furious. How could Joy testify against Kaze?

Darcy called her immediately.

“Joy, there’s a lawyer at my office saying that you are testifying against me and my husband for intentional harm, is that true?” “Yeah, what’s the problem?”

Joy sounded lazy as if she had just woken up.

The confirmation stunned Darcy like a bolt of lightning.

“Joy, how could you do this? Don’t you remember what happened yesterday? They forced you to drink!”

Darcy suppressed her anger and tried to clarify the matter with her friend. She still refused to believe Joy would betray her. She must be forced or coerced to do so.

“Darcy, I agreed to testify because it’s the right thing to do. Please don’t make assumptions.”

Joy raised her voice and added, “You wanted to bribe the director with sex for the loan. The director doesn’t want to be involved, so you get mad and ask your stupid husband to break his leg and force him to drink.”

“Darcy, I was wrong about you. I didn’t know you were such a dirty L

Joy then hung up the phone.

Darcy was shaken. Joy’s confession devastated her because she wished her friend was instigated by some higher power, but it turned out to be different.

Kaze saved her but she betrayed him and sounded so righteous about it. She even called Darcy a dirty person. Darcy then realized Joy was afraid of her reputation being ruined, so she decided to take sides.

“Ms. Quint, you better think about it. If you refuse the offer, you and your husband will be jailed.”

The lawyer threatened Darcy with jail before he walked away.

Darcy turned pale. Once behind bars, her life would be over.

“Darcy, divorce Kaze immediately and put all the blame on him! Only then you won't be jailed!”

The Quints suggested for Darcy to divorce Kaze.

They were not suggesting the divorce because they cared about Darcy but because they wanted her to handle all the problems of the company. Once she was behind bars, they would have to deal with the problems.

"I will never divorce Kaze," Darcy said without a second thought.

"Then bring that stubbornness to your grave! You are solving this on your own! Don't drag us into this mess!" Master Quint and the others left.

They decided to cut ties with Darcy.

Kaze joked. "Darcy, it's a good idea to divorce me now. I have a mental disability record so it's going to be hard for them to sue me. "Kaze, one more word of divorce and I will grant you that wish!"

Darcy glared at him.

Kaze did it because of her. How could she divorce him and put the blame on him? What would she become then? "Darcy, I'm sorry. I won't say it again."

Kaze apologized immediately.

He was just teasing Darcy, trying to lighten up the mood. He knew Darcy was not a heartless person. "Ms. Quint, this is my resignation."

Then, the HR director, Dean Anstar, came over and tossed his resignation letter at Darcy. He then walked away without turning back.

“Ms. Quint, I’m resigning as well.

“Me too.”

Several executives and other employees submitted their resi

Abandoned by her family, betrayed by her friend, and her empl quit on her. Darcy did not expect to experience such a terrible day in her life. It felt like the world turned on her in an instant. She was devastated and hurt by the consecutive bad news.

“Darcy, even if the world turns on you, | will never leave you.”

Astrong and warm hand held her chilly hands.

Kaze looked at the leaving executives and said coldly, “Anyone else are quitting the company now won't be welcomed back, no matter how much you beg or cry in the future.”

LI July,

Chapter 189 Horizon Mirror Was Sold

Kaze was loud when he made the announcement and it stopped the employees on their tracks. They turned around and looked at Kaze with a frosty grin.

Dean, the HR director who was the first to resign, scoffed. “You messed with the top three families, there is no future in this company anymore! We'll have to find our next job, or else it will be too late. Guys, am | right?”

“Yeah!”

The executives and employees who already made up their minds adhered loudly.

“Ms. Quint, don’t forget to pay us what is due, or else we will take the necessary actions as well.” Dean then led the group of employees away.

The executives and employees heartlessly left the company at a time of crisis and even threatened to take legal action if they were not duly compensated.

Kaze ignored them and turned to the other employees who stayed. They were also worried and concerned but they did not leave immediately.

Kaze said loudly, “To those who stay, your salary will be raised three times and bonus doubled at the end of the year. That’s all I have to say. If you still want to leave, go ahead.”

Darcy frowned.

The company was facing a huge financial problem yet Kaze was trying to keep the employees with more money.

The employees did not resonate with Kaze’s words.

A portion of them left and those who stayed simply did not want to hurt Darcy.

They knew Darcy worked hard and treated them well, so even if the company was doomed, they had decided to stay with her to the end.

“Thank you, everyone. I'll think of a way and I'll never give up until the end!”

Darcy teared up as she bowed to the employees who stayed. She then left the office with Kaze.

When they returned to Horizon Mirror, they saw several suited men standing in front of the entrance, looking arrogant. Agnes and Sky were moving things out of the house. Hector watched quietly in his wheelchair.

“Dad, Mom, who are they? Why are you moving things out?” Darcy asked.

Hector sighed and said, “We are moving back to our old house. Thi expensive mansion is not suitable for us.” “Move? Why?” Darcy was stunned.

Then, the suited men came over.

The leader, a middle-aged fat man, said arrogantly, “I am Toffle Toan, the chairman of Bersina Group and the brother of Maurice Toan, the chairman of Lilyrose Bank. The Quints have sold Horizon Mirror to us, so | am here with the bank and the court personnel to claim the property.”

“Horizon Mirror is our house! How can others sell it?” Darcy was angry, which was rare.

Toffle pursed his lips and said, “That | don't know. | just know that | paid the money and this mansion is mine. A one billion house with a price of just two hundred million! What a bargain!”

Darcy was infuriated. She called Master Quint immediately. She bellowed, "Grandfather, how could you sell Horizon Mirror without our permission?" She was curious why her grandfather could sell the mansion if Kaze was the owner.

Master Quint said with a hint of delight, "Darcy, a while ago, I made you the legal representative and the CEO of Quintessential Group. Kaze is also named the legal representative of several other subsidiaries.

"I have declared bankruptcy for one of them and since Horizon Mirror is his property, it is frozen by the bank. As for the two hundred million, Mr. Toan gave it to us, tax-free."

Chapter 190 New Owner? Did I Approve? Darcy widened her eyes in disbelief. She was shocked by how shameless her grandfather was.

Before this, the man thought of every possible way to stop her from taking control of the company. He would rather leave the CEO's seat empty than give it to her.

Now that the company was on the brink of collapse, he shoved it into her hands just to make her take full responsibility.

Even Kaze became the legal representative of multiple subsidiaries. A penniless, jobless man became the boss of a multimillion company in just a few hours.

How ridiculous was that? "Grandfather, when did you get your hands on Kaze's identification? Have you gotten his permission?" Darcy bellowed.

Displeased, Master Quint grunted and said, "Don't forget that we are feeding the idiot for free! If not for us, he is dead already! We do not need his permission to do things with his identification!"

Darcy took a deep breath to keep herself sane. She knew her grandfather had planned this for a while and it was inevitable she would be losing Horizon Mirror.

She said, "Then put the two hundred million you got into the company's account. We are in dire need of money! Two hundred million can get us through some difficult times!"

"No! That's your problem! The two hundred million is mine!"

Master Quint hung up the phone immediately.

Messing with the top three families had sealed the fate of Quintessential Group.

Even if Master Quint put in the two hundred million, it would never bring it back to life... The Quints were doing everything they could to cut ties with Quintessential Group. They were abandoning ship!

The two hundred million was the last dignity they could salvage from this wreckage! As for Darcy and her family, they did not care at all.

"They are greedy for benefits but abandon the company when it's facing a crisis. Why would I have such a family?!" Darcy almost broke down in tears. The Quints were more divided than ever. It was impossible to rise in social status anymore.

Kaze hugged her shoulder and consoled her. "Darcy, don't give up yet. I think this is a chance for you to take control of the compa

Since the Quints had abandoned the company, then he would take it for Darcy. He wanted to give the Quints a surprise.

“Ms. Quint, now that you believe that we have bought Horizon Mirror, please move out immediately. The new owner is moving in!” Toffle said arrogantly.

Legally speaking, Toffle was not the new owner of Horizon Mirror yet.

Horizon Mirror was just frozen from Kaze’s assets, while Toffle made an under table deal with Master Quint to get the lease of the mansion.

Though he did not care because it was just some simple procedures.

He was eager to move into Horizon Mirror, a mansion that was worth one billion! A place that all families wanted and he and his brother got it! “Move in? Did you get my permission?” Kaze grunted. He made a call and said, “Send someone over to get rid of the pesky troublemakers in front of my house.”

Toffle looked at Kaze with disdain.

“Who are you? Why do I need your permission to move in? What a joke

Before he even finished his sentence, a group of soldiers came out from every direction and surrounded Toffle and his men. “Tiger Fangs?!”

Toffle immediately recognized the badge on their uniforms.

He suddenly remembered that Chief Commander Lang also had a unit in Skylar View District.

Gold Tooth was tossed into the lake because he messed with Ch Commander Lang in front of his mansion.

Toffle got scared when the soldiers had him and his men surrounded. He shouted, "Hey! I am the new owner of Horizon Mirror, the new neighbor of Chief Commander Lang... Ah!"

Thud! He was struck in the face by the buttstock and the words that he could not finish were shoved back into his throat. The leader of the squad said coldly, "You are not worthy to become the chief commander's neighbor!"
