Chapter 20

Chapter 20 Audacious Ned Brooks

“Mr. Lee, Sky High Investment Group is massive. It'll take time for Ms. Quint to believe you. It's normal.

“How about this? Since the Construction and Material Society has just been dissolved, we can form a new company for the former board members and you can be the new chairman. Even though it's not a fitting title for your status, at least you can have an official position and it will be much more convenient...”

Kaze thought and nodded. “Sounds good. Sky High will provide the funds and the former board members can bring their resources to this new company. Sky High will be in control with a majority stake. Let's call it the Perfect World Group.

Ray was thrilled to learn the new name of the company. With that, the former board members of the Construction and Material Society would form a working relationship with Sky High Investment Group.

Kaze glanced at Ray and said, “Ray, why don't you be the new company's manager? I'll just be a nominal chairman.”

“My pleasure!” Ray nodded happily.

Right after the birthday party, the news of the former board members of the Construction and Material Society forming a new company named the Perfect World Group spread like wildfire.

The Sky High Investment Group also invested a huge amount into the new company. Once operations began, it would immediately become a titan in Lilyrose City.

The other shocking thing was that the chairman was a mysterious young man. The richest man in the city, Ray Forester, was only the new company's general manager.

The identity of the mysterious chairman sparked a heated discussion.

At night, Darcy received a call from Ned Brooks, asking for a meeting.

The meeting place was not the office of the Housing Department, but a private business club, the Platinum Club.

In the VIP room on the second floor, Ned was watching a video on his phone.

The content of the video was steamy. It was him having sex with different women in a particular room.

He had made a collection of sex tapes of himself and a plethora of women.

The video he was watching was him having sex with the general manager's secretary of the Quintessential Group, Jean Lander.

The Quintessential Group sought his help to acquire the pre-sale certificate, so the general manager's secretary got to him and pleasured him in bed.

However, Jean embezzled money from the company and the pre-sale certificate was held back by Ned.

“Jean is really a slut. She's great in bed! But Darcy Quint is a well known beauty in the city. I guess I'm in for a treat later.”

While he was enjoying his previous masterpiece, knocks came from the door.

“Chief Brooks, I'm Darcy Quint from Silver Wind Group.”

Ned put his phone down and invited her in.

The door opened and Darcy entered.

The moment he laid eyes on her body, his heart pounded.

He swore to ravage the woman's body tonight!

“Ms. Quint, it's quite easy to acquire the pre-sale certificate.”

Ned got up and extended his hand to grab her. “You just have to come here every day for the next month, accompany me, and I will give you the green light.”

In shock, Darcy took a step back. A hint of anger appeared on her face. “Chief Brooks, I'm not that kind of woman. Please show some self-respect!”

Ned missed his grab.

Angrily, Ned shouted, “Darcy Quint, stop pretending! You won't do it because of the price? I'm telling you, the only way you're going to get that pre-sale certificate is if you let me fuck you! Otherwise, I will make sure your company goes bankrupt!”
