Chapter 271 Stupid “Mom, what's wrong?” Darcy asked.

Sky said Agnes had been praising Kaze on the way back but based on what Darcy saw, her mother’s attitude toward Kaze did not change at all. Agnes looked upset. She said, “Your aunt just called and scolded me! She said Kaze snatched Samus and Deborah’s car! “They booked it for five million! Then, Kaze made the seller give it to him because he knew someone powerful!”

Karen, Samus and Deborah’s mother, was a feisty woman. She had never taken Darcy and her family seriously and always bullied Agnes when she got the chance.

Karen heard about the car from Samus and Deborah so she called Agnes and scolded her for being cheap. Darcy then realized it was not Miru but Kaze who brought back three expensive cars.

“Mom, Samus used the money he got from selling our house to book the car. Kaze was just taking back the car!” Darcy defended Kaze.

Sky adhered, “Yeah, Mom! You were not there at Taurus Automobiles! Samus and Deborah were frustrating! They looked down on us and even tried to throw me and Kaze out!”

Agnes’ grim expression eased up. She glared at Kaze and continued,” She also told me that Kaze saved someone from the Queen family. They wanted to reward him with a billion dollars but he rejected it!

What an idiot!” She was shocked when she heard of the amount. One billion and Kaze rejected it!? What was he thinking?

Darcy was slightly surprised. She then smiled and curled Kaze’s arm with her own. “Mom, Kaze did the right thing. That means he’s not a money-face. It’s okay if he rejected it.”

People called Kaze stupid for not taking the reward but Darcy thought he did the right thing. To her, spending her own hard-earned money felt better.

Agnes grunted and added, "I didn't say he should take the money. The thing is, he should have just said no, he didn't need to mess with Mathias Queen. I'm just afraid he will drag us down. Your aunt said your grandfather and the others are criticizing him for being stupid."

The Queen family was a top-tier family from Butterworth, stronger than the top three families in Lilyrose.

Agnes was anxious, afraid that the Queen family would come after them.

Darcy looked worried as well. She asked, "When did you save someone from the Queen family? Why haven't | heard of it?" "When | went after Joy..."

Kaze briefly recounted.

The others were shocked. They did not expect Kaze to bring the police to arrest Joy and save Sandy from an underground organization.

"Then there's nothing to worry about. Kaze saved them. If they come after us, it's just not right." Darcy breathed a sigh of relief knowing the relationship between Kaze and Mathias.

Mathias wanted to give him money, but Kaze did not want it.

It was not a big deal.

After that, Darcy had lunch and a nap before she drove the new car back to the office.

Kaze did not follow her. He wanted to purchase the mansion that the White family used to stay in and return it to Camry, Teresa, and little Brenda.

“Kaze, are you heading out? Want a lift?”

Sky came out and volunteered to drive Kaze.

He wished he could eat and sleep in his new car.

Kaze waved and shook his head. “I have legs. You don’t get too carried away with your car. If you waste time on it, your sister will thrash it and I won’t be able to help you then.”

Chapter 272 No. 9 Springville District Sky was shocked.

Given Darcy’s temper, she might really thrash his new car, especially since she became the CEO of Quintessential Group, her aura got stronger, and she could do things she never did before!

Being her brother, Sky felt scared and guilty.

“Just think about what you want to do after you graduate.”

Kaze tapped his shoulder and walked away.

Sky squatted in front of his new car and pondered.

Then, a Maybach stopped by the house’s entrance.

Jessica, who accused James of plagiarism back in the day, was in front of the car.

She just found out that Kaze stayed at Horizon Mirror.

When Kaze came out, she went up to him immediately. "Kaze, have you eaten lunch? Why don't we go to lunch?" "I had lunch," Kaze simply said and walked past her.

Jessica dared not speak another word and went up to her car to open the door for him.

"Are we going to Springville District?"

Jessica got into the driver's seat and asked as she fastened her seatbelt.

The White family's old mansion was located in Springville District. Kaze hummed and said, "Snow said you've gotten the deal."

"Yeah. I am familiar with Dagon Conery. He's the person in charge of Springville District from the South Bank. We'll go have a look at the house, and if it's okay, I'll buy it immediately."

Kaze nodded.

He told Snow to check where the White family's house was as he was trying to buy it back for his goddaughter. Jessica was doing the same to flatter the White family and also make up for what she had done to James back then. She contacted Snow and said she could take care of everything.

Snow dared not relinquish her responsibility to others so she called Kaze for an opinion.

Kaze learned that Jessica would visit Camry and Teresa at Old District multiple times a week and Brenda was happy with her presence, so he decided to give her a chance.

Awhile later, the car entered Springville District. Kaze was looking around from inside the car.

He originally wanted to buy one more house in Skylar View District for the White family. It was closer to his house and it would be more convenient for him to take care of them.

However, Brenda wanted to move back into her old house, so he decided to satisfy the girl.

Springville District was not as luxurious as Skylar View District but it was quite a decent place to live in.

Jessica parked the car in front of the mansion.

“Ms. Summer, you are finally here. I’ve been waiting for you!”

A middle-aged bald man was waiting at the door. He came over eagerly and welcomed Jessica.

The man was Dagon Conery, the person managing this district from the bank and was in charge of dealing with recovered properties.

Two years ago, Shangrila Group declared bankruptcy and owed South Bank a lot of money. The mansion here in Springville District was reclaimed by the bank.

The mansion had not welcomed a new resident for two years.

The lustful eyes behind Dagon’s shades sized up Jessica from head. to toe as if he had seen through her Chanel clothes. Then, he frowned because he noticed Kaze coming out of the car.

“Ms. Summer, who is this? Your boyfriend?” Dagon asked with slight displeasure.

He had met with Jessica many times and he had always desired her body. He thought he could finally get the chance to ravage her, so he did not bring anyone with him.

He hinted at Jessica to come alone and he believed the smart woman would pick up on his hint.

And here Kaze was.

Kaze was around the same age as Jessica. If he was her boyfriend, then his perverted plan would be foiled.

Chapter 273 | Am More Interested in Ms. Summer Dagon’s words scared Jessica.

She dared not associate herself with Kaze, so she quickly explained, “ Mr. Conery, this is my friend. | am buying the mansion for him.

Jessica knew Kaze wanted to keep a low profile, so she did not reveal his identity as the chairman of Perfect World Group, or else Dagon would be shocked.

Dagon felt relieved. He sized up Kaze carefully and noticed there were no branded items on him. He immediately looked down on Kaze.

How could a poor person like Kaze afford the mansion?

It must be a joke.

Could he be Jessica's sugar baby?

He might.

Jessica might look like a virtuous and professional lady but it seemed like she was quite playful in private.

Dagon grew more confident in getting into her pants.

"Well then, let's go in and have a look."

Dagon brought them into the mansion.

After a brief tour, Kaze was quite happy with what he saw.

The mansion was idle for two years but it was well maintained and cleaned regularly. All the decorations remained as they were when the White family lived here.

Maze even saw the little pond that James built for Brenda, but it was dry at the moment

When Brends moved in with her grandparents, he could buy some polation for the gir How is it Ms. Summer? Happy with the mansion?"

Dagon's eyes were glued to Jessica's slender figure. He wished he could sneak into her shirt and sniff her body scent. Jessica looked at Kaze and saw the nod. She felt an instant relief.

"Ainght. What's the price, Mr. Conery?"

Thank you, Ms Summer. Then | won't beat around the bush. The rice is a hundred and fifty million. We'll take care of everything while you just need to move in. You don't need to worry about a thing."

"One hundred and fifty million? Mr. Conery, it's seventy million higher than the last quoted price."

Jessica's expression shifted.

She checked the pricing before and found out the mansion was reclaimed by the bank at 80 million two years ago.

The 70 million increase was ridiculous and she did not have that much money at the moment.

"Ms Summer, | made you an offer based on the current market price. It's reasonable," Dagon explained.

If not for Jesscai's urgency, he would not name such a high price.

"Mr. Conery, we want to buy this mansion but a hundred and fifty million is too expensive," Kaze said with furrowed brows. He had the money but he did not want to be taken advantage of “Yeah, Mr. Conery. I believe the bank also wanted to sell this mansion as soon as possible. Money is better than property to the bank. Why don’t we discuss and see if we can reach an acceptable price?”

Jessica said.

She heard the banking industry was shaken up two days ago and the directors of many banks were relieved of their duties. Now with the new batch of directors, all banks wanted to expand their businesses.

The price Dagon quoted must not be the final one; there must still be room for negotiation.

Dagon feigned a troubled look and nodded. “Alright, just for you, Ms. Summer. I can proceed with the price negotiation but I would like to talk to you alone. As for him...”

He had a contemptuous glance at Kaze and said rudely, “Please tell him to leave.” Jessica’s heart skipped a beat.

Dagon was poking the hornet’s nest!

How dare he disrespect Kaze!?

She thought Kaze would be mad but strangely, Kaze simply looked at Dagon and did not say a word. “Yuys proceed.”

rogant.

He closed the door, locking Kaze outside, and then said to Jessica, Ms. Summer, now we can talk.”

Jessica frowned but did not overthink.

She thought Dagon simply wanted to ask her for a cut and did not want Kaze to know.

“Mr. Conery, I'll be honest with you. If | can get this mansion for eighty million, | can give you a little...”
Before she could finish, Dagon stopped her. “Forget about the cut.”

Dagon looked at her lustfully and licked his lips pervertedly. “I am more interested in you than the cut.”

Chapter 274 Greedy Gambler

“What are you talking about, Mr. Conery!?”

Jessica frowned. She was not an idiot and immediately sensed his perverted gaze on her. As a beautiful woman in the business world, she had encountered many perverts like Dagon. All of them looked at her as if she was the juiciest prey in the jungle.

She did not expect Dagon to use the mansion to approach her.

“Ms. Summer, we are all players here. You don't need to act in front of me. One night with me and you can take the mansion for eighty million.

“One night and you save seventy million. You are a successful businesswoman and you should know it’s a bargain,” Dagon said with an evil grin.

His perverted gaze sized up Jessica again. He even started to breathe heavily. “Mr. Conery, I am not a child!”

Jessica stepped backward and glared at Dagon. “The price of his mansion is only eighty million, and that’s the price your bank gave you!”

Dagon raised the price to 150 million because he wanted to use it to sleep with her and then reduce the price later, making her think that she got a good deal.

She knew what filthy thoughts Dagon had.

Dagon’s expression shifted for a moment before he grinned. “Ms.

summer, you are smart. I like coming to amun poopic. You goe eager to get the mansion. You do know I make the call on the selling price of the mansion, don’t you?” He glared at Jessica eagerly. He knew Jessica wanted the mansion, so he spoke as if he had gotten his hands in her pants. Jessica’s expression shifted.

She must get the mansion to make it up to the White family and ask for Kaze’s forgiveness.

She asked Kaze to come with her because she wanted to appeal to him how capable she could be.

If she could not get this deal, then her efforts would be in vain.

While she was carried away by her thoughts, Dagon approached her.

“Ms. Summer, I got cleaners to clean the place before you came. The master bedroom is ready for us! I’m eager to enter you!” Dagon reached out to Jessica, trying to hug her.

Bang!

Suddenly, the door was kicked open from the outside, frightening Dagon.

He turned around with a furious glare.

He saw Kaze and boy was he infuriated. “Who let you in!? Get the hell out and stay outside!”

He did not take Kaze seriously. He even tried to criticize Kaze for not keeping watch.

Kaze went up to him, expressionless, and pulled Jessica away.

Then, he kicked Dagon’s plump body, sending him crashing on the floor.

Dagon screamed in pain. His bones felt like they were shattered.

Jessica looked at Kaze in shock. She said, “T-Thank you, Kaze!”

She thought Kaze would just sit back and watch Dagon ravage her because she ruined James life. However, Kaze came in and stopped Dagon.

“This is my friend’s house. I don’t want some filthy people to dirty the place,” Kaze said emotionlessly. Jessica bit her lips in silence.

Cough!

Dagon spurted blood from his mouth as he struggled to get up on his feet.

“Fuck you! How dare you kick me!”

He glared at Kaze and shouted, “You said this is your friend’s house? Do you mean James White? Hmph! Even if you kneel before me, I won’t sell it to you!”

Kaze just insulted and humiliated him. He scoffed and added, “I will sell this house to the fuckboys and tell them to organize orgies to ruin this place!”

Chapter 275 You Are Right

The mansion was the home of James and his family.

Now the man in charge of selling it, Dagon, threatened Kaze to sell it to some Tom, Dick, and Harry for orgy parties. He had definitely crossed Kaze’s line.

Kaze’s expression turned grim. He went over and kicked the man again.

“You are just the person in charge of this place. If I want to buy this mansion, even your director would have to hand it over to me without questions,” Kaze said coldly.

Ptoeey!

Dagon spat the blood on the floor and covered his mouth. His gaze turned grim as he bellowed, "You piece of shit! You are just a sugar baby, what are you talking about?!"

Kaze called Snow immediately. Meanwhile, in a coffee shop, Snow was having coffee with Mathias.

"Snow, you are the eldest daughter of the Frost family, why did you come all the way here to this city just to become someone's assistant? With your background and capabilities, you can be the chairwoman of Perfect World Group."

Mathias was sitting opposite Snow in a little corner. He was ordered by his family to bring Sandy back from Lilyrose.

He accidentally met Snow here, the eldest daughter of the Frost family, who had gone missing, and she was working as the chairman's assistant.

Perfect World Group was worth more than a billion and it was considered the strongest company in Lilyrose.

However, it was nothing compared to the Queen family in Butterworth.

Mathias had known Snow since they were young and he adored her.

He wanted to bring her back to Butterworth to start a new life.

He disliked Lilyrose because it was just a small city.

Then, Snow's phone rang.

She stopped Mathias and answered the phone.

“Snow, I am at no. 9 of Springville District. Tell the director of South Bank to come here at once!” Kaze’s voice came from the phone.

Snow then immediately called the director of South Bank, Ramsay Scotch. She said coldly, “Mr. Scotch, our chairman is trying to buy no. 9 of Springville District but your men is giving him a hard time. He wants you to see him there at once.”

She was a capable assistant, figuring out what happened based on Kaze’s tone alone. Ramsay was frightened by the call.

He was just recently appointed director after his predecessor was relieved of duty.

Mr. Lee, whom he had never met before, could be considered his benefactor.

“Ms. Frost, I’ll be there right away! Please tell Mr. Lee to calm down and try to say something nice on my behalf. I owe you a big one!”

“Jack, my car! Right now!”

Ramsay strode out of his office as he spoke, afraid that he would be late.

“Snow, that’s all you do as an assistant? It’s a waste of your talents.” Mathias heard the entire conversation.

“Mathias, you are right.”

Snow put her phone down.

Mathis was delighted. "So you are coming back to Butterworth?" Snow did not say a word. She got up and got her coat.

"Where are you going?" Mathias asked, confused.

"I am working now. The chairman needs me, of course | have to carry out assistant duties. Please do not disturb me while | am working.",

Snow then strode off without pause, leaving Mathias alone with a bitter smile. He knew what Snow meant.

He had his own reasons but his reasons did not work on Snow.

Mathias, a proud man, felt defeated.

"| don't know what's so charming about this chairman. How could he make the business genius of the Frost family work for him so devotedly?"

got the bill and went after Snow.

Chapter 276 You Fill the Number.

Meanwhile in the mansion, Dagon was still acting arrogantly."

Jessica Summer, let me fuck you and I'll let this piece of shit go! Or else | will make him pay for hitting me!" Jessica did not even look at him.

She did not want to inform Dagon that Kaze commanded the Tiger Fangs and the police department to arrest all the gangsters in the city.

She also did not want to tell him that Kaze was the mysterious chairman of Perfect World Group. In terms of power and money, Dagon was nothing before Kaze.

Dagon was challenging Kaze's patience by threatening her or him.

Then, the director of South Bank, Ramsay, arrived.

"Director Scotch? What are you doing here?!"

Dagon got up on his feet and went over to his director. He pointed at Kaze and grumbled, "Director, this guy here beat me up! Look at this, I'm bleeding..."

Ramsay looked at Kaze. He had never seen Kaze in person but since there were only three people in the house, Kaze must be the mysterious Mr. Lee.

"Bleeding? I'll beat the shit out of you!"

Ramsay beat up Dagon brutally by throwing a barrage of punches and kicks.

Dagon curled up like a cooked shrimp and screamed in pain.

Even Jessica was shocked. She knew Dagon had it coming but she

As for Dagon, he had no idea what happened.

“You piece of shit! How dare you mess with Mr. Lee?!”

Ramsay kicked Dagon in the stomach before he went over to Kaze, panting, and bowed.

“Mr. Lee, I am Ramsay Scotch, the new director of South Bank. I’ve brought all the related documents for this mansion. I’ve also drafted up the contract. All you need is to sign on it and the mansion is yours. You can fill in the price as you wish!”

Ramsay ordered his assistant to deliver the contract to Kaze.

Dagon, who was badly beaten up on the floor, widened his eyes in shock.

Kaze could fill in the price as he wished?

What if he wrote one?

Who exactly was Kaze?

Even Jessica was shocked.

South Bank was backed by a massive conglomerate.

Even though Kaze was the chairman of Perfect World Group, Ramsay acted too humbly before him.

While Jessica was carried away by her own thoughts, Kaze had signed his name and given her the contract. “You are paying for the so you can fill in the price.”

Jessica recalled what Ramsay said to Kaze.

She was permitted to fill in any number she wanted.

A moment of hesitation later, she wrote eighty million.

Eighty million was the most she could offer and she had prepared to spend the money from the start.

As long as she could appeal to Kaze, she could earn the money back.

“Honest,” Kaze murmured.

The eighty million was the compensation Jessica prepared for the Whites. A person could fake sincerity under pressure, so Kaze only believed in numbers.

After Jessica filled in the number, she had a glance at Kaze’s signature. She was shocked because it was not Kaze’s name.

It was someone named Jesse White.

Jessica recalled a rumor regarding James’ brother, Jesse.

It was said that James had a brother named Jesse. He managed to snatch Bersina Group from the top three families and wanted to change its name back to Shangrila Group.

It turned out that Jesse was Kaze!

Kaze did not only punish those who accused and framed James during their university days, but he also wanted to take revenge on the top three families!

Chapter 277 Kaze, It's You!

Jessica felt her soul shaking!

Kaze was targeting the top three families who had rooted themselves deeply in Lilyrose City! Even if Kaze was the chairman of Perfect World Group, would he be able to overthrow the top three families' rule? "Mind your own business."

Kaze shot a warning gaze at her. He did not want the top three families to know he was Jesse White.

The name Jesse White was a deterrent to the top three families and it alone was enough to make them anxious. He even asked Draco to forge an identity for Jesse White.

The identity of Jesse White became legitimate with all the necessary documents.

Even if the top three families ran background checks on him, they would not be able to find any clues. "I understand!"

Jessica straightened her body and swore to take the secret to her grave.

Ramsay was smart enough to follow Jessica. He pledged his loyalty and swore to never spill a word. Kaze shot a glance at Dagon.

Dagon shivered as he looked at Kaze in fear.

Even the director humbled himself before Kaze, so he dared not test

Since Snow joined them, he did not need to call for a truck to bring the luggage.

"Snow, is he the chairman that you are working for?"

It was then Mathias came over after he parked his car. He looked at Kaze's back with strong jealousy.

He did not see Kaze's front but judging from the back, he knew the chairman was young, probably around his age.

Knowing that the woman he had adored for years was working for a man his own age, serving as his personal assistant, Mathias felt hurt and sulky.

"What a coincidence."

Kaze paused and then turned around to Mathias, looking surprised.

“Kaze Lee?! It's you!”

Mathias screamed as if he had seen a ghost.

His expression turned grim. He shouted, “You are the chairman of Perfect World Group?!”

“Mathias, you are not allowed to talk to...”

Snow went up to Mathias fiercely, trying to stop him from being disrespectful.

She knew Kaze’s real identity, so Kaze was a god to her. She could not allow someone else to disrespect her god!

Chapter 278 Move “Mathias, you got the wrong person. Before Snow could finish, Kaze waved to stop her.

“I am just a guy greedy for one hundred million and who marries into the Quints as a son-in-law. How could I be Perfect World Group’s Chairman?”

Kaze then smiled and walked away.

He did not want Mathias to find out about his real identity because he wanted to keep a distance from the Queens of Butterworth.

It would be easier to call himself a greedy and useless son-in-law of the Quints.

Mathis felt a relief knowing that Kaze was not the chairman.

He said to Snow, "Snow, how can you be with someone like him? Did you know that earlier at Taurus Automobile, he wanted me to purchase the outlet that is worth a hundred million for him just because he saved my sister?"

"Your sister? Sandy?"

Snow knew Mathias for years but the Queens were huge, so she had never seen Sandy before.

However, she remembered the name of the girl Kaze had rescued the other day, and it sparked a realization in her mind.

It seemed like Kaze had stepped on Mathias’ tail.

Meanwhile, in the Old District, two Maybachs parked inside an alley.

Kaze went into the house with Snow and Jessica.

“Godfather!”

Brenda was sitting on a stool when Kaze came in. She cheered loudly and jumped into his arms, ditching the crayon on the table.

Kaze carried the girl and spun her around, making her laugh.

“Kaze, you're here.”

Camry and Teresa came over. They also saw Snow and Jessica behind Kaze. “Ms. Frost, Ms. Summer. Please, come in.”

The elderly couple were surprised. Brenda looked at Kaze curiously.

Kaze pinched the girl’s cheek and said, “We are moving back to the mansion that you used to stay in, the one with the pond of goldfish and tortoise.”

“Wah! Thank you, Godfather! You are the best!” Brenda cheered and kissed Kaze on the cheek.

Then, the family packed up all the necessary things and left the disposable items behind before they went to the ninth of Springville District. T

Kaze told Jessica and Snow to bring Camry, Teresa, and the excited Brenda into the house while he and Snow’s driver moved the luggage.

Then, several cars arrived in front of the mansion.

A group of people came down.

“Tiffany Chapman?”

The leader was a beautiful woman whom Kaze recognized at first glance.

Tiffany Chapman was the eldest daughter of the Chapmans and the owner of Socialite Club that Kaze thrashed.

“Commissioner Renslayer, this is the ninth. It used to belong to the youngest millionaire in the city two years ago. If you like it, I can buy it for you.”

Tiffany accompanied a man with a square face, and she looked unusually respectful.

“Ms. Chapman, this mansion looks expensive. I can’t afford it.”

The man shook his hands, feigning a dignified look but his eyes behind his glasses were eyeing Tiffany pervertedly. “Commissioner Renslayer, you are being too humble. If you can’t afford it, who else could?”

Tiffany flattered the man delicately and said, “You are the commissioner of Lilyrose Strategic Department Logistic Division. You have the power and the status, and you are fully in charge of the inauguration ceremony of General Hiden here in Lilyrose.

“The Everia, Golding, and Chapman families are relying on you to get us three spots at the ceremony. As a matter of fact, not only the mansion...”

Tiffany then moved closer to the man, almost sticking her chest on his arm.

She bit her red lips and said seductively, “Even if you want me, I can give myself to you.”

The man was the commissioner of Lilyrose Strategic Department Logistic Division, Martin Renslayer.

The top three families got to him because they wanted to attend the inauguration ceremony of Albert, the future state chief commander.

Tiffany flattered and teased the man, numbing his ears and arousing his body. “Ms. Chapman, you are humorous. Then I’ll take your offer. This mansion it is.”

Martin held Tiffany’s slender hand and tapped on it. He was fully Tiffany was thrilled. She signaled her men and said, “Call the person in charge at South Bank. Tell them I want to buy the No. 9 mansion and money is not a problem.”

“A hundred million. Are you okay with the price?”

Then, a voice sounded from inside the mansion.

Tiffany found the voice familiar. She raised her brows and looked into the mansion.

“Kaze Lee?! It's you?!”

Kaze humiliated her by thrashing her Socialite Club, and she held grudges against him since then. Seeing Kaze again fueled her anger.

She saw the luggage that Kaze was moving inside the mansion. She scoffed. “Kaze, I thought your wife got a two hundred million Tiffany's expression turned grim.

Kaze's words reminded her of the scene where she collapsed in fear before Kaze when her club was thrashed.

She later found out that the six men who thrashed her club were Dan's men who were veterans who returned from the battlefield.

If not for the six men, Kaze would not have walked out of the club that day. Tiffany was not afraid of Kaze.

She curled her hands around Martin's arm and scoffed. "Kaze, how much can you earn as a mover? Why don't | hire you as a servant here in the mansion? You can sweep the floor and clean the toilet. I'll give you ten grand a month."

Martin was aroused by the sudden intimacy.

He waved at Kaze and said boldly, "If it's Ms. Chapman's recommendation, I'll take it!"

"You heard the man, Kaze! You better thank Commissioner Renslayer!"

Tiffany continued to mock Kaze. "Commissioner Renslayer is a powerful man of the Lilyrose Strategic Department. Being his servant is an honor to you! If not for my recommendation, you will never get such an opportunity as the son-in-law of the Quints!"

Even though it was to mock and humiliate Kaze, Tiffany wanted to see Kaze sweep the floor in the mansion.

It was the only way she could make peace with her humiliation.

Tiffany thought Kaze would at least be agitated but Kaze remained calm and nonchalant.

"Tiffany, you reminded me. From today onward, you will be this mansion's full-time maid," Kaze said with a smile.

He needed someone to take care of Camry, Teresa, and Brenda, and also keep the place clean. He originally thought of asking Snow to hire two maids or nannies but now he got a better option.

Tiffany was the best candidate and she could start work right away.

"I am the daughter of the Chapmans and you wanted me to be a maid here?!" Tiffany shouted angrily. She could humiliate Kaze however she wanted but she would not allow Kaze to do the same to her. "If you are not the Chapman family's daughter, you won't be getting this position," Kaze said.

The top three families were the ones responsible for James' death.

Therefore, it would be appropriate to make them serve and take care of James' family.

Tiffany found Kaze's words infuriating and amusing at the same.

time. She bellowed, "Kaze Lee, you're trying to argue with me right? I'll buy this mansion for Commissioner Renslayer! | don't care what you have in mind, | will make you scrub the floor clean!"

nited the flame of anger in her and she ought to make him. said, you can't buy this mansion. You can give it a try if you don't elieve me. I'll give you enough time to do that!" Kaze then continued moving the luggage into the mansion. 125 BONUS Snow and Jessica were giving the Whites a tour around the mansion so they were not aware of the commotion outside the gate. Tiffany scoffed. She did not take Kaze's words seriously. Then, Tiffany's men brought Ramsay, South Bank's director, over. Ramsay left the mansion after Kaze left but before he could even drive out of Springville District, he received a call from Tiffany's men, He found out that Tiffany wanted to buy a mansion so he turned around immediately. Tiffany skipped to the point and said condescendingly, "Director Scotch, | want to buy mansion No. 9. Name a price." Due to her background, she did not take Ramsay, the newly appointed director, seriously. Ramsay was stunned. Why would Tiffany want to buy mansion No. 9 as well?

He said, "I'm sorry, Ms. Chapman. Mansion No. 9 was just sold before you arrived. As you can see, the new resident is moving in."

"Then tell him to move out."

Tiffany grunted and continued, "Tell the owner to move out because | want this mansion! He has an hour to clear his things." She did not even want to talk to the owner herself.

The mansion was only worth about a hundred million. The new owner of the mansion was not someone who was worth her time. What Ramsay said next agitated her.

"Ms. Chapman, I'm sorry but | can't do it."
