

Guardian 331

Chapter 331 Debtors

“Bernard Vikrom, you old horse! Since when did the Hansers owe the Vikroms money? My birthday event is over and you are causing problems?”

Liam was furious when Bernard asked him to pay the money back. Liam and Bernard were never on good terms, and Liam believed the man was here to cause trouble. The man even picked his birthday to cause a scene to disgust him.

“You still have the nerves to hold a birthday event? Liam Hanser, if you don’t pay us back, you will be having not a birthday but a funeral today!”

Bernard widened his eyes and added, “The Vikroms lent eighty-five million to the Quints’ property to help them repay their loans. We have an agreement and it’s all in writing! You can’t escape this!

“Now that Quartet Group had acquired Quintessential Group’s property company, legally, you would have inherited their debts as well.”

Liam widened his eyes in disbelief.

“Bernard Vikrom, watch your mouth! Quartet Group doesn’t belong to the Hansers! Don’t slander us!”

He denied immediately.

Quartet Group was registered at Sunrise City secretly and it was mostly used for investment. The Hansers kept this secret tightly and had never revealed it to anyone.

Bernard spat on the floor and said, “If you don’t want others to know, don't do it! Liam Hanser, you really think your little trick can fool me? All the top families have their own secret businesses! It's not wise to put all your eggs in one basket; everyone knows that!"

In recent years, all the top families of Lilyrose had started secret businesses in other cities.

It all happened because Quintessential Group got taken over by other families a few years ago. This worried the rest of the families, fearing they might face a similar fate.

Two years ago, Shangrila Group was taken over by the top three families and it exacerbated the situation.

Even though all the families did it secretly, the first-tier families were more experienced than others so it was not difficult to figure it out.

No one wanted to burst the bubble until now.

Liam's face turned pale.

Now that Bernard had exposed the existence of Quartet Group, the Hansers would have to pay back the eighty-five million loan. He clenched his teeth and scoffed. "Bernard, it's just eighty-five million, the Hansers can afford it."

"Liam Hanser, what about the eighty-five million of the Logmans?"

The head of the first-tier family, Peter Logman, came over.

The Vikrom and Logman families had loaned Quintessential Group a total of 170 million.

Darcy even signed a contract with both the families, but the heads of the respective families changed the terms and made it into an investment instead.

Liam felt anxious suddenly.

The debt rose from eighty-five million to 170 million. He felt an instant pressure but that was not the end.

“There’s also seventy million for the Heavensward Group! The Hansers must pay us back!”

“Ninety million for Sixth Eye Jewelry Group too!”

“The local government financing platform also has a one hundred million investment in Quintessential Group!” Bruno Bandino, the CEO of the Heavensward Group, Jasmine Sundar, the chairwoman of Sixth Eye Jewelry Group, and Nick Guard of the government financing platform all demanded Liam and the Hansers. to pay them back.

During the loan crisis, Kaze told them to invest in Quintessential

Group to help Darcy and now they all demanded Quartet Group to pay them back.

“A total of 2.4 billion. That's the number that we invested in Quintessential Group.”

The Hansers were shocked by the astronomical figure.

They must have poked the hornet’s nest. All of them demanded money from the Hansers at once!

Bernard grinned when he saw Liam’s pale look.

“Liam Hanser, just eighty million right? It seems like the Hanser family is rich, so you are to pay us back 2.4 billion!” 3/3

Chapter 332 Someone You Can't Afford to Mess With Liam originally thought he could brush off Bernard with some money but it turned out that he had poked the hornet's nest. A number of people demanded more than two billion from his family.

The Hansers just got around the same amount from Quintessential Group. They could still afford to pay them all back, but Liam did not want to lose the money he had just acquired.

“Nonsense! If Quintessential Group owes you money, go ask for the money from them!”

He added, “Quintessential Group's property company and its assets are sold to Quartet Group. It's their problem now. This has nothing to do with the Hansers!”

The Hansers had almost drained Quintessential Group dry but they did not mind getting rid of the company once and for all. Liam had no scruples to shift the responsibility back to Quintessential Group.

“The Hansers had drained Quintessential Group dry! us, why would we come to you?”

an pay

“You have the money! You must pay us back even if you to!”

“If the Hansers don't pay us back, don't even think about m stand in Lilyrose. You offended us all! Don't think about sellin house from your project!”

Everyone knew the Hansers had acquired Quintessential Group v dirty tactics, so no one wanted to reason with Liam.

If the Hansers chose to act tough, the others could do the same to them.

There were twenty of them and they represented twenty different factions..

They teamed up to overthrow the bank system of the city and the directors of respective banks were forced to resign. The Hansers were a first-tier family but they dared not make enemies with that many of them.

Liam almost passed out with blood gushing out from his mouth.

If they were to sue him, he would have a way around the situation. All of them were trying to oppress him with their influence and there was nothing he could do.

“Liam Hanser, you have one day to pay us back the money. If you don’t, your family can get out of the city!” Bernard then left with the others.

Liam was frightened. His hands and feet were cold as he clenched his teeth tightly. “Bernard Vikrom, who instigates you to come a us?”

He knew that someone must be pulling the strings in the dark, otherwise, there would not be so many of them ganging up on the Hansers.

“Someone you can’t afford to mess with.”

Bernard said without even turning back. He and the others quickly disappeared beyond the hall.

“Someone | can’t afford to mess with?”

Liam stared in the direction of the main entrance blankly. He had no idea who Bernard was referring to, but he knew the person must have a wide connection to round them all to ask him for money. Not even the top three families had this kind of influence and connection.

“Grandpa, what are we going to do now? Are you going to pay them back? What about our project? We still need the money,” Vincent asked anxiously.

The other family members looked at Liam in anticipation and fear. “We cannot touch the funds for the project. This is the only chance for us to grow stronger.”

Liam clenched his teeth. “It’s just two billion. We’ll pay them back! Even if we have to mortgage our house, I’ll slap them in the face with the money!”

“Contact all the banks. Borrow a hundred million here and two hundred million there and we can soon get the money.”

Liam decided to take the risk and gamble. He wanted to gamble on this chance for a bigger reward. Everyone else started to make calls.

“Grandpa, Ramsay Scotch of South Bank won't approve the loan!”

“The Industrial and Commercial Bank too!”

“The director of Construction Bank refused to answer the phone.”

More and more bad news flooded them.

Liam’s expression turned grim instantly.

idea who Bernard was referring to, but he knew the person must have a wide connection to round them all to ask him for money. Not even the top three families had this kind of influence and connection.

“Grandpa, what are we going to do now? Are you going to pay them back? What about our project? We still need the money,” Vincent asked anxiously.

The other family members looked at Liam in anticipation and fear. “We cannot touch the funds for the project. This is the only chance for us to grow stronger.”

Liam clenched his teeth. “It’s just two billion. We’ll pay them back! Even if we have to mortgage our house, I’ll slap them in the face with the money!”

“Contact all the banks. Borrow a hundred million here and two hundred million there and we can soon get the money.”

Liam decided to take the risk and gamble. He wanted to gamble on this chance for a bigger reward. Everyone else started to make calls.

“Grandpa, Ramsay Scotch of South Bank won’t approve the loan!”

“The Industrial and Commercial Bank too!”

“The director of Construction Bank refused to answer the phone.”

More and more bad news flooded them.

Liam's expression turned grim instantly.

Chapter 333 Mathias Queen Arrives

Not a single bank was willing to lend money to the Hansers, and they did not even want to negotiate.

“What is happening? We didn’t offend the banks, why are they not helping? It’s as if they had ganged up against us!” A great shadow loomed over the Hansers and fear started to spread.

“Could it be related to the one we offended?” Liam murmured with clenched teeth. His hands were shaking.

After Bernard and more than twenty debtors left, the banks cut the Hansers off.

The Hansers had gloated at Quintessential Group when they faced a financial crisis previously. Now that they experienced it themselves, they were devastated.

Soon, Liam received news.

It was Snow, the chairwoman of Lilyrose Bank, who released an order to all bank directors to boycott the Hansers, cutting them off completely.

“Grandpa, what are we going to do? The pre-sale is starting and we are cut off...”

The Hansers were anxious. They all looked at Liam, waiting for further instructions.

“Pre-sale? Forget about the pre-sale! We are in trouble and you are still thinking about the pre-sale!”

Liam shouted, “Take whatever we have and give them to the Vikroms and the others. We must overcome this crisis first.”

The entire family refused to surrender the money but they had to as their options were exhausted.

The only thing they could do was pay the Vikroms and the others with the money they got from Quintessential Group. The planned pre-sale of Passion Fragrance District project was canceled.

After paying the Vikroms and the others off, they no longer came after the Hansers.

Liam breathed a sigh of relief. Even though his heart bled paying off the debt, they had gotten the money from Quintessential Group.

“We lost the money but we still have the project. We still gained something from this. With this project, the Hansers can make a comeback!”

Liam tried to calm his family down and cheer himself up.

“That’s right. At least we made it out alive. The Quints were drained t its last penny, they are going to die soon!”

Happiness was built on comparison,

The Hansers felt better by gloating at the Quints’ situation.

Master Quint was discharged from the hospital after a few packs of drips.

When he returned home, he learned that the Hansers were forced to pay off all debts and it ignited an ember of hope in him. Master Quint told Deborah to call Vincent to take back the Passion Fragrance District project:

“Vincent, we are having a situation now. Grandfather is sick. Please, for old time’s sake, can you tell your grandfather to give us back the project...”

“Fuck off!”

Deborah begged and cried on the phone but all she got was a cold and merciless answer.

“The Hansers are a bunch of bloodsuckers! They are afraid of the higher power but they took advantage of us! Bernard Vikrom asked for money from them and they paid back; we asked them for the project and they shut us off.” The Quints were infuriated by the Hansers’ attitude.

They completely forgot that they did the same to Darcy and her parents in the past.

“Is Master Quint here?”

A young man arrived at their door when they were being shrouded by disappointment.

“Mr. Mathias Queen?!”

Deborah and Samus were shocked to see Mathias at the door.

Why would he come here?

Master Quint had been sulking on his bed and lost all appetite since he was discharged. When he heard that Mathias had come, he bolted up and led his family out to welcome him.

“Welcome, Mr. Queen! It’s an honor to have you here with us! I’m Logan, the head of the Quint family. What can we do for you?” Master Quint sounded respectful and humble in front of the young man who was not even half his age.

Mathias said, “I heard the Quints are in trouble, so I’m here to help. If you guys need any help, just let me know.”

Chapter 334 Out of Convenience

Mathias was here to return the debt of gratitude.

Kaze once requested the Queens to purchase Taurus Automobiles for him as a gift. Matthias talked to his family but his family declined it..

Even though the Queens had money, it was their hard-earned money.

They could not satisfy Kaze’s request of more than a hundred million and it was at that moment that the Queens realized how greedy Kaze was. They wanted nothing to do with him.

Therefore, the Queens told Mathias to stay in Lilyrose to return the debt of gratitude so that they could cut ties with him once and for all.

When he heard about the Quints' situation, Mathias knew it was a great chance to repay Kaze, so he came over immediately. The Quints were overwhelmed to see Mathias. The young master of a wealthy family came to them with a helping hand.

How amazing!

"Mr. Queen, really? Are you going to help us with anything?" Master Quint asked excitedly.

Mathias was disgusted by Master Quint's less courteous request.

Like grandfather, like son-in-law.

The Quints were as greedy as Kaze.

With previous experience, Mathias dared not make reckless promises. He said, "What do you need help with? We can talk about it as long as it doesn't involve purchasing Taurus Automobiles that costs a hundred million."

"Of course not. We aren't as greedy as Kaze!"

Master Quint also heard about Kaze's request to purchase Taurus Automobiles from Samus, so he quickly denied it.

He then talked about how the Hansers usurped the company and drained the company funds dry.

"Mr. Queen, we don't ask much. We just want the Hansers to give us back what they took," Master Quint said.

"Okay. Not a problem."

Mathias immediately called Cronus and asked him to get what the Hansers took from the Quints.

"Mr. Queen, you might not be aware of this but the top three families supported the Hansers to usurp our company," said Cronus.

He had received news about the conflicts between the Hansers and the Quints. Since he was an ally to the top three families, he was aware of their actions.

Mathias grunted and said, "Tell the top three families that | don't care what beef they have with the Quints but | am protecting the Quints. this time because | want to repay them."

"Alright. | will inform the top three families."

Cronus was forced to accept the request and deliver the message to the top three families.

When Flint and the others learned that Mathias wanted to intervene and protect the Quints, they were shocked. They did not expect Kaze to be related to the Queens of Butterworth.

However, after listening to Cronus' explanation, they breathed a sigh of relief.

Mathias simply wanted to repay the debt of gratitude. After this, he would not care what they do with Kaze.

“Since the Queens had asked, we'll accept it this time. We promise not to destroy Kaze Lee and Darcy Quint for now.”

Flint and the others quickly came to an agreement.

They were displeased when Darcy overthrew the verdict and got Liben and the others arrested.

They knew they could not pin Kaze down this time and had been waiting for another chance.

If so, why not do a favor for Mathias out of convenience?

The top three families agreed and then contacted the Hansers, instructing them to return the company to the Quints. “It's done. I've talked to the top three families. You will get your company back soon,” Mathias said as he waved his hand. He made the call in front of Master Quint and the others, so they believed every word he said.

“Thank you, Mr. Queen! Thank you! You are our savior!”

Master Quint and the others cheered happily and thanked Mathias for his help.

Quintessential Group was saved.

Mathias looked around and asked, “Where's Kaze? Is he here?”

Chapter 335 Don't Be Nosy

"Kaze visited me at the hospital. Do you want to see him, Mr. Queen? I'll call him over immediately," Master Quint said. "It's okay. I'll contact him myself."

Mathias was fed up with Master Quint and the Quints' flattery. He quickly left the mansion.

Master Quint watched as Mathias disappeared beyond his sight. He then regained his composure and sighed. "Who would have thought it was Kaze who saved us."

He had mixed feelings and he believed it was time to view Darcy and her family differently.

Now that Kaze had gotten close to the Queens of Butterworth, he was no longer the useless son-in-law. No wonder he sounded confident when he said he would mal Hansers return the company.

They did not believe him at first, yet Mathias helped them get the company back with just one call. were

The others of Kaze.

The idiot was extremely lucky to save the daughter of the Queens.

After Mathias left Master Quint's place, he contacted Kaze who was at the lawyer's office with Darcy. Kaze was waiting outside when he saw Mathias come over with his bodyguards.

"Kaze, you can tell your wife to give up. Why are you suing them for this? If you do, this court case will go on forever," Mathias said with a pitiful look at Kaze. Mathias assumed that Kaze had been pretending all along.

He did not want the hundred billion before but when the Hansers usurped the company from Darcy, the only way he could think of was to take legal action.

If he was really powerful, why would the Hansers go after Darcy's company?

"It's none of your business," Kaze said with a frown.

He knew consulting a lawyer was useless but Darcy insisted, so he accompanied her. He was not in a hurry either and he could take back the company whenever he wanted.

Mathias grunted and said condescendingly, "I am here to tell you that | have contacted the Hansers and they will give you back the company.

"| have repaid you, so you can't use my sister's incident to make a profit anywhere, or even brag about it. If | find out that you are using it to gain benefits or the Quints claiming credits for this, | will come after you myself!"

Mathias shouted at the end to warn Kaze.

He was disgusted by Master Quint and the Quints' greediness, so he emphasized his tone as a warning to Kaze. Kaze was angered when he heard Mathias had contacted the Hansers to return the company to the Quints.

"Mathias Queen, do you know you are being a nosy bastard? | can get my wife's company back myself!"

He originally planned to take the company back and put it under Darcy's name. If the company went back to Master Quint, the Quints would continue to cause trouble for the company again and again. They were not capable of running the company.

Kaze did not want Darcy to be restrained by her extended family and threatened by Master Quint. He wanted Darcy to control her own fate.

With Mathias' intervention, his plan was ruined.

Mathias grunted. "Kaze Lee, stop acting. If not for me, how are you going to make the Hansers return your wife's company? If you are that capable, what are you doing here at the lawyer's firm?"

He simply assumed Kaze was being proud and too egoistic to ask when he needed help.

Mathias thought Kaze blamed him for going to Master Quint and solving the problem because he wanted to seize the credit for himself.

"Get out of my face!" Kaze bellowed and turned away. He did not want to talk to a busybody who meddled with

Chapter 336 The Queens Bought a Slot Too

"What? Who do you think you are?!"

Mathias took a deep breath to suppress his anger. He grunted heavily and left.

For Sandy's sake, he did not argue with Kaze.

After he left the lawyer's firm, Mathias called his uncle, the current head of the Queens and also Sandy's father, Matthew. "Uncle Matthew, I've repaid Kaze. I'll bring Sandy back to Butterworth today."

Mathias told his uncle what he did.

Matthew grunted and said, "Nicely done, Mathias, but you can't come back to Butterworth today."

"What? Why?" Mathias was confused.

He wanted to stay in Lilyrose because Snow lived in this city.

Unfortunately, the woman he adored did not care about him and focused on taking care of the chairman's trivial matter, willingly. Mathias did not feel good watching Snow humble herself like that, he wanted to go back to Butterworth.

Matthew said, "I think you've heard of Albert Hiden, the new chief commander of South River State, right? His inauguration ceremony will be held in Lilyrose in a few days.

"The Queens want to get a military order from the South River Strategic Department, so we must go through him. You have to attend the inauguration ceremony on our behalf."

The inauguration ceremony only invited several social elites to attend and each slot cost one billion.

The Queens had gotten one slot.

"What? One billion per slot? This new chief commander is greedy!"

Mathias was shocked by the number.

It cost one billion to attend the inauguration ceremony?

Even though Mathias had never seen Albert Hiden, he already assumed the man was a greedy person.

The one billion per slot was a trick to scam the top three families.

No common family would spend a billion to attend an inauguration ceremony, but that did not include the Queens.

Matthew said with slight displeasure, "That's none of your concern. You just have to attend. This order is important to us and you cannot fail."

"Fine. I'll go back after the inauguration ceremony."

Mathias agreed to stay in Lilyrose for a few more days.

Back in the lawyer's firm, Darcy came out from the consultati

Kaze asked, "Darcy, what did Mr. Delfoe say?"

"Based on our current situation, it's difficult."

Darcy's delicate face showed obvious disappointment.

"Don't worry. | promise you. | can get the company back. Come on, let's just go back first."

Kaze did not expect anything from the lawyer. He simply consoled Darcy and drove her back.

When he reached home, he received a call from Han Feyan.

“Mr. Lee, we’ve been tracking Bronik Hanser and finally got our hands. on solid evidence of the Hansers breaking the law.” Han said his men had arrested one of Bronik’s men in secret.

Based on what the man said, Bronik had been using his connections in the underworld to oppress and eliminate his competition, and it was all for the sake of the Hansers.

Several core members of the Hansers were involved as well.

Awhile back, Bronik led his men to locate and bring Jean back. They also captured her parents and brother. They coerced her to accuse Darcy of crimes she did not commit.

“Mr. Lee, we just need your word and we can arrest Bronik and his men. What is your order?”

Chapter 337 The Hansers Won't Be Coming Back

Han asked Kaze for instruction.

Kaze hummed and said, “Alright. I'll go to the Hansers. Be prepared and wait for my order.”

Due to Mathias’ intervention, he already planned to visit the Hansers after he sent Darcy home.

He had to get the company back for Darcy before the Hansers returned the company to Master Quint and the others. “Yes, Sir. I'll be waiting for your order,” Han said respectfully.

After the call, Kaze said he had to go out. He drove the car out of Skylar View District.

Meanwhile at the Hansers' place, everyone was shadowed by a looming depression. They had yet to recover from the two hundred million they gave away.

Before they could catch a breath, another terrible news arrived.

They received a call from Flint Golding, the representative of the top three families, who ordered them to return the company to the Quints.

The Hansers panicked.

The top three families were their main support in going against the Quints.

They even used their connections to bring Han to Lilyrose just to investigate Darcy. Now, the top three families had turned on them.

The Hansers felt like their prime had passed.

"We've planned this for more than six months and we got nothing in the end? | won't accept this!" Sam Hanser, Vincent's father, bellowed.

Tom Hanser, Vincent's uncle, grunted and said, "What else can you do? We've literally offended every other family in the city. The top three families no longer support us and it's not up to us to keep the company anymore."

Things had snowballed out of their control.

Sam went quiet for a moment before a spark of brilliance lit up in his mind. "Father, do you think we can give back the company, but just the shell. We can transfer the rights of the Passion Fragrance District project to one of Quartet Group's subsidiaries.

"I don't think the person that we offended is from the Quints, he won't step in and intervene." The rest of the family nodded in agreement. They believed it was a viable way.

Liam was conflicted. He bit the bullet and said, "Fine, we'll take the risk. Since we are cornered, we can't do anything either. If we can make a comeback, once the Passion Fragrance District complex starts selling, we will rise to our prime again!"

"The Hansers are never making a comeback!"

As soon as Liam's voice subsided, a frosty voice sounded.

A young man strode into the house.

Outside the mansion were a bunch of bodyguards, knocked out on the ground. "Who are you?! Who let you in here?!"

The Hansers were frightened and infuriated by the young man's arrival.

"Kaze Lee? How dare you come to us? Even if we can't make a comeback, we'll drag you down with us!"

Only Vincent recognized Kaze.

"Kaze Lee? The useless son-in-law of the Quints?"

The Hansers were surprised before they sized up Kaze with a contemptuous gaze.

“Kaze Lee, are the Quints too cowardly to send someone else? What is a useless piece of shit like you doing here?” “The Quints are indeed a bunch of useless cowards. They send the useless son-in-law here? Does he even read?” The Hansers mocked him.

It was sad because the Quints were all that they could mock now.

Kaze came under the crosshair himself, so they sneered at him.

Kaze grinned coldly at the Hansers who laughed at him “Laugh all you want. You don’t have much time left to laugh.”

Chapter 338 Spend Your Life in Jail “You stupid idion, what do you mean? Are you cursing us?” Vincent shouted at Kaze. “Enough, Vincent. Why are you being so riled up by an idiot?”

Liam stopped his grandson and then looked at Kaze coldly. “Go back and tell Logan that we will give him back the company. Just be patient.”

“I am not here to take the company back for the Quints.” Kaze shook his head.

Vincent was upset. Then why are you here? To laugh at us?!” “I am here to make a deal with the Hansers.”

“What deal?”

Liam frowned. What could a useless son-in-law possibly pro Mot even his own family took him seriously.

Kaze flung a coin into Vincent’s face

When the coin slid off Vincent's face and fell on the floor, Kaze sai llam acquiring Quartet Group with one doilan

Vincent had the mark of the coin on his face.

It hurt when the coin struck his face. He shouted, "You fuck! How dare you flung the coin in my face... Wait, what? What did you say? You want to acquire Quartet Group with one dollar? Did hear you right?" Non only Vincent, but everyone else was shocked, wondering if they heard Kaze wrong. "You heard me right. Now that I've paid, Quartet Group belongs to me."

Kaze pointed at the dollar coin on the floor. It was the payment to acquire Quartent Group.

He was not joking or fooling around.

The Hansers had taken Quintessential Group without paying a dime.

Now, he used a dollar to acquire Quartet Group. It was considered merciful of him.

The Hansers looked at Kaze as if he was an idiot.

"One dollar and he wanted to buy Quartet Group? Is he out of his mind?"

"This idiot is here to make fun of us!"

Vincent, upset, darted over to Kaze and shouted, "Kaze Lee, are you out of your fucking mind? Get the fuck out..." Slap!

Kaze slapped him in the face, sending him flying away.

Vincent lost a few teeth and his jaw almost dislocated.

Kaze did not feel sorry for Deborah but he hated Vincent for toy with her feelings too.

"Vincent!"

Vincent's parents went over to him immediately.

Vincent's mother turned around and shouted, "You idiot! How dare you hit Vincent, I'll kill you!"

She then turned to Liam and cried, "Father, you must do something to avenge your grandson!"
"Brontikit Liam bellowed. Asinistrel looking man emerged from the group.

The man was Bronik Hanser, the one who coerced Jean to accuse Darcy.yHHe was originally a distant relative and was a gangster in the underwoddd.

A few years ago, Liam took him in and made him do dirty work for the familyly.

Liam pointed a br Kaze. "Beat this stupid idiot up and send him back to Logan! No maager how terrible our situation is, we don't need the son- in-law of a second tier family to make fun of us!"

"Yes, Mester Hansed"

Bronik turned to Kazze wil: a ferocious glare. "Kaze Lee, am | right? It's our mistake fornoob getting your wife jailed. Once | break you, | will send your wife behind as again!"

He felt defeated for not being able to send Darcy to jail. Kaze's gaze turned frosty. "What you said just now has life sentence in prison."

Chapter 339 Who's Family With You?

"You? You won't see that day coming because I'll dig your eyes out!"

Bronik was a ferocious man and he was not scared by verbal threats. He pulled his dagger out and charged at Kaze. Bang!

A deafening bang sounded behind Kaze.

What happened? Where did the bang come from?

The Hansers were shocked. Before they realized what happened, Bronik's dagger fell off his hand.

Clank!

"Argh! My leg!"

He fell to the ground and held his leg in pain. His forehead was covered in sweat as he shuddered painfully.

Bronik was shot in the leg and the hole in his thigh looked gory.

The Hansers were stunned when they realized Bronik was shot. All of them dared not move a muscle.

"Protect Mr. Lee!"

A loud voice came from the entrance.

Han, armed with his gun, then dashed into the house.

If the God of War was hurt before his eyes, not even his superior's superior could bear the responsibility, let alone him. "He can't hurt me," Kaze said. He pointed at Bronik and said, "Add a charge of willful harm to him."

What Bronik did might not result in a life sentence but after he tried to hurt KKaze, he would spend the rest of his life in jail. Wes, Sir!"

Ham matted. He waved at his men and said, "Arrest him!

Bronik was arrested.

The gangster tried to fight back and shouted while he was dreng

Ruffert..

Why Why are you people arresting me? This idion slapper Wincent He should be arrested! Are you people fake police? Why are yat

wresting me

Fake? Onem your eyes and see properly!"

Han showed his age to Bronik.

State Police Department, Economic investigation Division, Ham

Feyan.”

liam cried. “Commoner Feyan! You’ve got the wrong he Hansers. It was uss wis called the police to arrest this i

Why are you arresting one of uES?”

Yeah! Commissioner Revan Branik is one of us! Why are you irresting him?” Yeah, we are on the same site! We are family!”

They thought Han was omther site because the top three families jot the state police involved to deal with Darcy. Han must have gotten the wrong person.

Shut up! Who are you calling family” tan shouted.

He then turned to Kaze and said, “Mr., have never contacted the Hansers officially or privately, please do not listen to them.” The Hansers were shocked as they looked at Hanem.”

Why would Han be so respectful to Kaze?

“Out the nonsense and continue the arrest.”

kaze waved his hand. If Han was one of them, he would have skinned the commissioner alive. Han nodded. He turned around to the Hansers.

Mom Hanser!” Han bellowed.

Sincent’s uncle pointed at himself, confused. “W-What is it?” set him! Han said to his men.

Cers officers went up to Tom to arrest him.

benice Tom could react, his hands were already cuffed.

Chapter 340 Know the Opportunity

“No! Why are you people arresting me?! No!”

Tom shouted and resisted the officers when he was being cuffed. The rest of the Hansers were shocked.

Bronik was arrested because they thought Kaze teamed up with Han to get him. They must have gotten evidence of Bronik’s crimes.

Why would they arrest Tom?

The family realized something was not right. Could it be that what they did secretly was exposed? Han grunted. “You can choose to remain silent but what you said will be used against you in court!” Tom was devastated and stopped struggling.

Han was from the state police and he would not simply arrest people.

If he ordered an arrest, he must have gotten important evidence.

“Liam Hanser, how about my proposition of acquiring Quartet Group?” Kaze asked all of a sudden. Liam looked at Kaze. He was fuming to the point that his cheeks twitched.

“Stop dreaming! I will never sell Quartet Group to an idiot!” he shouted.

He believed Kaze was extorting him and forcing him to comply.

Kaze grinned. His expression turned heavy and said, “Continue the arrest.”

“Dick Hanser!” Han called another name.

Dick was also the core member of the family, responsible for one of the subsidiaries.

He was then cuffed by the officers.

“Harry Hanser!

“John Hanser!

“Sam Hanser!”

Han called names and his officers arrested all of them one by one.

Vincent's father and cousins were all arrested, and he was completely stunned.

All the male core members of the family were taken away.

The tumultuous family went silent as they drowned in fear. They were afraid that they would be next. The arrested family members were the main pillars of support in the family. With them gone, the Hansers would be doomed. "Are there any more names on the list?" Kaze looked at Vince

Thump!

Vincent fell on his knees and begged Kaze.

Han said, "Mr. Lee, Vincent was not involved in the core meeting and did not break any laws."

"Then he won't be arrested. Vincent might look useless at times but it's a good thing." Kaze sneered. Back at the Quints, Vincent and Deborah always called him useless and an idiot.

Now, Vincent was spared from jail because he was useless.

How ironico

"Yes! Yes! I am useless!"

Vincent collapsed on the floor like a weakened ragdoll.

"Useless piece offshit! You are not worthy to be my grandson!" Liam bellowed.

Vincent had embarrassed the family

“Who's next?”

Kaze then looked at Liam

Liam's expression shifted. He quickly lowered himself and said, “I'll sell you Quartet Group with one dollar, just let me go!” He knew resistance was futile. If Liam rejected Kaze's proposition, the Hansers would be over! “Liam Hanser, you really know how to seize the opportunity.”

Kaze nodded happily.

He turned to Han and Han said, “Mr. Liam Hanser is as well.”

Liam must know what his family members did, but he was not directly involved.

The police did not have evidence on him, so they could not arrest him

Liam felt weak instantly as if all of his energy was drained.

In the end, Kaze managed to scare him and exploit him.