

Guardian 401

Chapter 401 Mr. Lee Has Medical Skills

Darcy was the chairwoman of Quartet Group.

Only the position of vice manager was appropriate for Kaze's current status.

Alan believed since he already agreed to Kaze's staying, why not do him a favor and give him the nominal title of vice manager? Kaze smiled and shook his head. "It's fine. I like being the security manager. I kinda enjoy talking with the boys, it's relaxing." If he became a vice manager in Lefteria Group on his first day, he would not know how to explain it to Darcy.

Darcy would never believe he got the position with his own capabilities and would assume Miru helped him.

If so, it would put Kaze in a passive position before Miru.

He did not want Darcy to think that she owed Miru a lot and could not be proud in front of that woman.

"Alright. I'll tell HR to make the necessary changes."

Alan called his assistant over to give the order.

Suddenly, he thought of what he saw downstairs and remembered he owed Kaze an explanation. He said to his assistant, "Ruby and Leo are getting too close lately and I have been hearing rumors. Suspend her for now."

Executives were promoted to fit a specific role.

Once Ruby was suspended, it would be impossible for her to return to her original position.

“Mr. Cummingham, Pauline from Golden Shield interviewed me and because of me, she got fired by Leo,” Kaze said. Alan then told his assistant to bring Pauline in to work directly under Lefteria Group’s HR department as a team leader.

She used to serve Golden Shield Security Company’s HR but after Kaze appealed for her, she got into Lefteria Group's HR and became a team leader. It was a huge promotion for her.

“Mr. Lee, please don’t mind what Leo said. That kid is just childish.. Leo is Banda Lionel’s son, my old pal. We used to work together but he died saving me. | took his son in as my godson and because of his old man, as long as he doesn’t cause too much trouble, I’d let him do whatever he wants.”

Alan talked about Leo and his history with Leo’s father, Bando.

Only then did he realize the conflict between Kaze and Leo.

Given Kaze’s strength, he could easily kill Leo, so Alan was actually trying to beg for mercy on behalf of Leo.

Kaze nodded. He said as long as Leo would stay away from him, he could pretend nothing ever happened.

If Leo continued to act like a fool, then it would be difficult to tell.

After some tea, Kaze got up and excused himself.

Before he left, he glanced at Alan and casually said, “Mr. Cummingham, you should spare some time to have your body checked. A normal hospital won't do. | suggest you look for a seasoned doctor skilled in traditional medicine. You have signs of being poisoned.”

“Mr. Lee, you are learned in medicine as well?”

Alan was surprised.

“It's just experience. | know a thing or two.”

Kaze then left the room. He gave a friendly reminder to repay the favor.

As for whether Alan would take him seriously, it would be up to him. Though if he did take it seriously, he could save his life with early treatment.

Alan did not know if he should trust Kaze.

Poisoned? Just by a look at his face?

How ridiculous.

Based on his knowledge, even the most seasoned traditional doctor could not diagnose a patient based on a glance. However, he believed Kaze would not simply say something to scare him.

Alan pondered. A while later, he picked up the phone and called someone.

“Mr. Anemo, I have to ask you for a favor. Can you come to Lilyros

Chapter 402 No.1 Doctor in South River State

Alan Cunningham, the man who used to rule the underworld, sounded humble and polite on the phone.

On the other end of the phone was the man known as the No. 1 Doctor in South River State, Charles Anemo.

Even wealthy families of Sunrise City would have to humble themselves before the man, let alone Lilyrose's ex-gangster. It was a trend for rich people to cherish their health.

They might not live for five hundred years but they would spend fortune to live as long as possible by staying as healthy as they can.

Charles was famous because he saved a lot of people from dying and he was famous among wealthy families. Alan had a history with Charles, so he was able to ask the man to come to Lilyrose.

Otherwise, no matter how rich or influential a person was, he would have to go meet Charles in person instead of the other way around!

Charles was at Sunrise City at the moment so he agreed to visit on the same day. After coming out of Alan's office, Kaze returned to the security department.

The security guards looked at Kaze with admiration and reverence.

When Leo fired Kaze, they all thought Kaze would surely be thrown

However, the chairman came and treated Kaze like a friend, which shocked everyone.

“Brother Lee, this office belongs to you now!”

Lester surrendered his current office to Kaze and tried to flatter hi

“Lester, you don’t have to. You will still be in charge of the securi department. | just want the name,” Kaze said as he sat down on chair.

He was made the security manager and Lester was made the vic security manager of operation. It was ironic how fast the tables had turned.

Fortunately, Kaze did not plan on meddling with the business here. H planned to skip work if he could not wake up in the morning.

even

As long as he was absent, Lester would still be in charge.

“Whatever you say, my brother!”

Lester was delighted that he retained his authority. He said with a flattering grin, “I do hope you can help us here, like training us to be as strong as you. The boys and | want to be stronger.”

Kaze laughed hysterically. “As strong as me? Don’t even think about it! Hahaha!” “What? Why?”

Lester refused to accept it.

Kaze explained, "I am strong because I killed enemies on foreign battlefields."

Lester shuddered.

The battlefield?

Kaze was a soldier on foreign battlefields?

Lester had served in the military himself, but foreign battlefields were like a myth to him.

A battalion of a thousand men was deployed on foreign soil but not all of them might return. Sometimes, having one survivor was worth celebrating.

Lester finally realized that he could never reach Kaze's level.

"You can at least guide us. Even if we can't be as strong as you, we want to be at least one-tenth of you." Not only Lester, but the other security guards looked at Kaze with utmost anticipation as well.

Kaze smiled.

They were dauntless because they did not know what Kaze had been through.

In fact, they could overthrow the country if they were a thousandth of Kaze, let alone a tenth.

“Of course, | can guide you. Let’s start with the basics. Running. After work, run for thirty kilometers and put on the standard military weight.”

Lester and the security guards responded with a bitter look. “Then forget what | said.”

Kaze got up and wanted to leave.

Everyone was entitled to make their own choices and he was not responsible for other people’s lives.

Strength came with hard work, it was not a blessing.

No pain, no gain.

Chapter 403 Darcy’s Wrath

“Yes, Brother Lee! We'll go run after work!”

As if Lester and the security guards were triggered by Kaze’s nonchalance, they replied strongly and promised to run after work. Kaze did not say anything and left the office.

He was bored, so he thought of visiting Darcy at her company.

He headed to Clover Center.

The first floor was still in a mess as the trucks were moving office supplies into the building.

“Mr. Lee!”

Riley, who was in charge of coordinating the trucks and liaising with the moving company, saw Kaze. She came over with a bright smile, showing admiration and gratitude.

“You are working already? Why didn’t you take two days off? simply asked.

Riley answered, “Ms. Quint rewarded me with two million dollars she’s already working hard. As her assistant, I can’t just slack at home. Besides, I was no longer scared when you shoved the cig into Dave Pamela’s mouth.”

Kaze’s ferocity the other day left an impression on her. He was looking extremely cool. Kaze nodded.
“Where’s your boss?”

“She’s having a meeting upstairs. You’re looking for her?”

The meeting room was ready for use and Darcy was having a meeting with the executives to plan the next steps in operation.

Darcy always focused on her work and she would never make empty promises to her employees or try to brainwash them with nonsense.

She paid her employees handsomely and made the career ascension path clear for everyone,

All the employees loved her.

“Nah, I just came to kill some time and then go home with her,” Kaze said.

Jealous, Riley said, "Mr. Lee, you really love your wife. And you are powerful! Ms. Quint is definitely a lucky woman!"

"Kaze? Isn't it still working hours? What are you doing here instead of working? If you already got the job, you should stay there and work. Don't slack anymore!"

Before Riley could respond, Darcy strode over with a temper and scolded Kaze.

She asked Miru to arrange the job for Kaze and she thought Kaze would cherish the opportunity to prove to her mother that he useless.

Yet he came to Clover Center during business hours just to skive work.

Riley was stunned by how strict Darcy was with Kaze.

She wanted her husband to work?

Despite her husband owning Clover Center?

He could change the management with a single call and make Skyline. Estate lose more than half of its clients in the city.

Why would someone like him work for a living?

Kaze smiled and allowed Darcy to scold him however she wanted. After Darcy was done and was staring at him, he smiled and asked, Darcy, how did you know | already have a job?"

Darcy's lips moved but she could not tell the truth. She came up with an excuse and said, "I heard from Miru that you got the job as a security guard at Lefteria Group."

Riley's jaw dropped. Mr. Lee as a security guard?!

"But | never submitted my resume. In fact, | don't even have a resume. Someone wrote it for me and applied for the position. When they called me, | thought it was a scam."

"Huh?"

Darcy looked nervous. "Don't tell me you rejected it. Why didn't you go have a look? You are a grown man and you can fight, who's gonna scam you?"

Chapter 404 Not Afraid of Infection? "| went, and | got the job," Kaze smiled.

Darcy breathed a sigh of relief before she glared at Kaze and continued lecturing him, "If you got the job, why aren't you working? Why are you loitering here? That's a company that you are working for, not your house!"

Kaze looked at her affectionately. She went through so much just to protect his pride and chose to lie to him with her lousy acting.

"That's because | got promoted to security manager. | lead a team of security guards now and | have flexible working hours." "Really? You got promoted on your first day?" Darcy was surprised. While Kaze excused himself to the washroom, she called Miru to verify. She thought Miru gave Kaze the position of manager because of her, which made her feel bad. She had only wanted a simple job for Kaze, like a common security guard. Yet Miru made him a manager, which made Darcy feel that she owed her friend big time. "Darcy, | just got the notice as well. Kaze beat up the security guards on his first day and maybe because my godfather liked his capabilities, he made him the manager. Lucky bastard." Miru disliked Kaze for whatever he did. He could fight but that was it. "Really? Thank you, Miru! I'll buy you lunch next time!" Darcy speechless, torn between laughter and tears. At the same was time, she felt happy for Kaze. It was the first time Kaze was recognized for his capabilities, even though it was through his fists. As long as he used his strength in the right place, she was okay with 1. "Sure. | have to go punch someone in the face." Darcy was confused, wondering who made Miru mad. Since she was Alan's goddaughter, she would be fine, so there was nothing to worry about. Darcy then went home with Kaze. Meanwhile back at Lefteria Group, Miru hung up the phone and got out of the car. She strode into the lobby with a frosty face. "Where's Leo?" she asked the receptionist. The receptionist knew Miru was not in a good mood based on h looks. She quickly made some calls and confirmed Leo was Office. Miru then strode off to the elevator. Bang! At the same time in Leo's office, he smashed his phone on the floor.

"That piece of shit! What did he do to become the security manager?! Godfather even suspended you and promoted that little bitch from Golden Shield. Is he doing this to embarrass me?!"

Leo was furious, while Ruby wiped away her tears like a little girl being bullied.

After venting his anger, Leo sighed and waved at Ruby. "Just take some time off since it's a direct order from Godfather. I'll try to make arrangements to bring you back. You are my woman after all."

"Thank you, Leo."

Ruby walked over to him and stared at him affectionately.

Leo saw her teary eyes and it aroused him. He grabbed her by the waist and put her on the table.

Right after he removed his belt, the door behind him was kicked open.

Bang!

Ruby screamed.

Leo was also frightened, it almost killed his erection on the spot.

He turned around angrily and when he saw the person at the door, he was surprised. "Miru, can't you knock!?" "What? Did | interrupt something?"

Miru glanced at Ruby and grinned coldly.

“Leo, how could you act like a little puppy in front of me while you fuck around the company like a rabbit? This woman has slept with more than a hundred men in the company already. Aren’t you afraid that your dick will fall off?”

Chapter 405 Betray Godfather?

“What are you talking about, Miru?” Ruby screamed.

Miru strode over to Ruby and slapped her in the face.

“Mind your words. Who gave you the right to say my name?”

Ruby covered her face as her body shuddered in anger and embarrassment.

Leo’s expression turned grim. “Miru, Ruby is an executive of the company. How can you just slap her?”
Slap!

Miru slapped him before he could finish. “Executive? Don’t forget what Lefteria Group started as. Other company’s systems don’t apply here. If she’s disrespectful, she’s going to get slapped!”

Ruby looked at the palm mark on Leo’s face and suddenly felt that her slap did not hurt that much.
“Miru, you crossed the line!” Leo covered his face and shouted back.

Miru did not care. She turned around and walked to the exit. “Leo, | got Kaze into the company, so he’s under me. You embarrassed him in front of others means you embarrassed me. Why can’t | slap you for it? If there’s another time, | will slap you again!”

Bang!

She slammed the door on her way out.

“Fuck!”

Leo punched his desk and sat down angrily.

Ruby

Min walked over to him and put her chilly hand on his face. “Leo, doesn’t respect you at all. You both hold the same rank and are also the chairman’s godchildren. Why did you let her slap you?”

“I heard the chairman has plans to make Miru the CEO and she will have control over the company. She will not take you seriously then.”

Slap!

Leo slapped the woman in the face and kicked her away.

“Stop poking your nose in my business! Get the fuck out!”

Leo scolded Ruby away and sat at his desk, rubbing his burning face.

His mind was replaying what Ruby said earlier.

He had always known his godfather favored Miru.

Miru did not have any blood relations to Alan whereas Leo was the son of Alan’s late friend.- However, Alan favored Miru over Leo.

Sometimes he suspected that his godfather was sleeping with Miru was charming, she could hypnotize all men. Even if she did do anything, she could enchant a man's mind easily. What happened just now made Leo think more.

Kaze was made security manager because he could throw a punch.

Could it be, as Ruby said, that his godfather had started to pave the way for Miru to become CEO, hence making Kaze the security manager on his first day?

Leo drowned himself in grievance and anger. Then, his phone rang. +25 BON

"White?"

Leo was slightly surprised by the caller ID.

He shut the door before he answered the phone.

"Mr. Lionel, I heard Miru just slapped you because of the retard of the Quint family." Angel's voice was heard through the phone.

Leo was frightened.

It had only been a few minutes since Miru left. How did Angel know?

He grunted and said, "Mr. White, are you calling just to laugh at me?"

"Of course not, Mr. Lionel. Why would we laugh at you? I'm jealous of you, to be honest. If I can get a slap from someone as enchanting as Miru, I'd give anything."

Leo was disgusted by Angel's perverted statement.

"What is it?"

Angel stopped his perverted laugh and said, "About the matter th we discussed the other day, what is your decision?" "You want me to betray my godfather? No way!" Leo said without a second thought.

Chapter 406 Sky's Arrested "Hehehe."

Angel laughed grimly. "Don't be so resistant, Mr. Lionel. My king isn't interested in Lefteria Group. There's only room for one Godfather of Lilyrose in the underworld.

"With your godfather gone, Lefteria Group enters a new era with you at the helm.

"When that happens, no one would have the audacity to lay a hand on you,"

Leo touched his face.

Ruby's words haunted him, slowly poisoning his mind.

As malice flickered in his eyes, he gritted his teeth and asked, "When do we strike?" "Tomorrow. We will aid you whenever possible."

Angel went ahead and told the time, probably knowing Leo would eventually come around. "Aid me? | doubt | have the ability to kill Alan."

Leo scoffed.

He did not want to do it himself.

Leo was playing with fire by working together with Angel. The murder of his godfather could be linked back to him, and he would be forced to take the blame.

Angel said with a smile, "Don't worry, Mr. Lionel. We won't sell you out. Otherwise, no one would want to work with us. Isn't the Quints' son-in-law working at Lefteria now? He sounds like the perfect scapegoat to me."

"Let the idiot take the fall?"

Leo was filled with glee.

Miru recruited Kaze to work at Lefteria Group.

If Kaze were to become Alan's killer, Miru could forget about getting away scot-free too. Leo could rally Alan's network to seek retribution in his name.

Everybody at Lefteria Group would heed his call and Miru would have nothing on him. He would be killing multiple birds with one stone.

"Alright. That's settled."

Gritting his teeth, Leo nodded.

Darcy and Kaze stepped into Horizon Mirror Mansion when A rushed through the door. With a proud look on her face, Darcy took Kaze's hand. "I've got ne for you, Mom."

"I don't have time for this. Your brother is arrested."

Distraught, Agnes was not in the mood to talk.

"Huh? Why is Sky arrested?"

Darcy knew it was not the time to celebrate as her brother was in trouble.

Agnes stamped her foot in a panic. "The boy got into a fight, and the Southend police contacted me about the arrest. You should tak to the police station now." "Bring the car around, Kaze."

Kaze had gone missing before Darcy finished her sentence.

Soon, he drove the car out of the garage.

He took Darcy and Agnes to Southend police station.

"It's all your fault, Kaze. You and your friends are a bad influence Sky.

"Ever since he trashed Socialite Club with you, he would get on wi your sleazy friend, Draco, to learn to fight.

“He even told me that he wouldn’t take any abuse and would fight back. Sky used to be a good kid. He would never fight with anybody before.”

While on the way, Agnes ripped into Kaze.

Kaze took the reprimand without a word.

Draco would climb over the wall and wander into the area when he had time.

Sky heard from Agnes that Draco once broke King Kong’s arm with a single punch. Not only did he ignore Agnes’ advice to stay away from Draco, but he pestered Draco to teach him to fight too. Draco taught him a few moves to pass the time.

Kaze had stayed to observe out of concern before.

Given that Draco had only taught Sky self-defense moves, Kaze did not intervene.

They quickly arrived at the police station.

Isaac the vice-captain met with them.

“Are you Sky Quint’s family? Due to Sky’s assault, the victim’s family has demanded five hundred thousand dollars in compensation to settle out of the court. Otherwise, they will take the legal route and take your son to court,” Isaac said with a menacing look as Kaze, Darcy, and Agnes entered the station.

Chapter 407 Blackmail

“Was the other party badly injured?”

Agnes turned pale at the mention of five hundred grand to settle out of court.

Isaac nodded and urged, "Get the money and bail him out. It took a lot of persuasion to get the price down to half a million. The family initially asked for a million dollars. Otherwise, your son would get a jail sentence for the assault."

Unlike Agnes, Darcy was not easily fooled.

Isaac acted like he had their best interest at heart, but his words carried intimidation. Something did not sit right with her. Frowning her brows, Darcy said, "Captain Oceanid, how did the whole thing happen? Can you give us the recount? "We need to know who started it, and who was at fault before we talk about a settlement."

Isaac pulled a long face and stared coldly at Darcy.

He said irritably, "I hope you don't think I'm lying to you. The victim's family is demanding compensation, or they will file charges against your son, and they have the means to do so. You can't afford to take them to court. It's in your best interest to settle out of court before it's too late."

Standing on the sidelines, Kaze realized something was off about Isaac.

He pointed at the Maserati Quattroporte parked out front.

"Captain Oceanid, they have the means to go to court, but so do we. | think we should meet with Sky and get an idea about what happened before anything.”

Isaac was the type to judge a book by its cover, so the quickest way to get through to him was to show that the Quints had money and resources too.

“Hmph. Quattroportes are common. I doubt they cost much. So you have some money. It doesn’t mean anything.” Isaac scoffed in disdain.

He thought Kaze’s family owned a small business and that they probably did not have access to huge funds or power.

If the Quints had money and power, they would have made phone calls to pull some strings instead of rushing to the police station.

“It’s your choice whether you want to make payment. As far as we know, Sky will have to face jail time unless you reach a settlement.”

Kaze smirked. Isaac was untrustworthy for keeping things vague. A civilian would have been fooled.

Kaze said curtly, “Captain Oceanid, we’re not saying that we won’t compensate the family, but we should at least get a face-to- face meeting with the victim’s family-”

“Can you shut up, Kaze?”

Agnes yelled, cutting him off.

“Don’t interfere. I won’t forgive you if Sky ends up in jail because of you.”

She glared at Kaze before turning to Darcy. "Withdraw the money to save your brother, Darcy."

Kaze walked out without another word.

He pulled out his phone and gave Don a call.

"Can you give me a moment, Captain Oceanid? I'll get the money now. Although Darcy found Isaac questionable as Kaze did, she caved in to Agnes' urging to bail Sky out. "Hurry up. The family is waiting. I can't help you if you delay this any further."

Isaac waved Darcy off arrogantly, his eyes flickering in delight.

Darcy went to withdraw the money.

Meanwhile, a group rushed out from inside the building.

Isaac went up to suck up to the middle-aged man leading the group.

"Cap, where's the whole crew headed? What situation requires your presence?"

Derrick Maverick ignored him.

He looked around the room before taking quick paces to Kaze.

"Are you Mr. Lee? I am Derrick Maverick, captain of the Southend police."

time about?"

Chapter 408 Second-Class Citizen

“That’s right.”

Kaze nodded.

Derrick lowered his head. “Let me welcome you to the Southend precinct.” Isaac felt chills down his spine.

Color washed off his face.

Isaac wondered who the young man was for his boss to personally greet him. Agnes’ eyes widened.

It appeared she had never known her son-in-law.

“You're too kind, Captain Maverick.”

Kaze added indifferently, “My brother-in-law is in your custody at t moment. He might have done something, but | don’t know the full story yet. Vice Captain Oceanid here believes we aren't rich and powerful enough to even step into the precinct. He told us to come here, but he wouldn't allow visitations. He said we need to cough up half a million dollars to make a supposed assault go away.

“My question for you is, are civilians without wealth and influence second-class citizens? Apparently, we don’t even have the right to know the truth.”

Kaze did not raise his voice.

Yet, his words yielded power.

Derrick broke out in a cold sweat.

“You are mistaken, Mr. Lee. We have no such rule in the precinct. a matter of a handful of rotten apples.”

Derrick turned and looked daggers at Isaac. “The nerve of you, Isa Who gave you the right to turn people away and extort them for money?”

“Captain, I-...”

Isaac could not refute Derrick’s accusation.

“I’m sorry, Mr. Lee. | didn’t know-”

Isaac looked at Kaze in a fluster.

“Captain Maverick, can | see my brother-in-law now?”

Not wanting to hear Isaac’s excuse, Kaze interrupted him from finishing.

“Sure. I’ll take you there now.”

Derrick shot Isaac another angry look before leading the way.

“What’s going on, Kaze? Why is the captain afraid of you?” Darcy whispered to Kaze as they walked inside. “He’s not afraid of me. He’s afraid of Don,” Kaze replied.

Don was fearsome among the Lilyrose police force.

During the last incident involving Kaze, Don dismissed a top- performing officer.

His reputation as the Grim Reaper of Crime lived on.

Anybody would feel their spine tingle and blood run cold at the ring of his phone call. "Oh, I should thank Chief Braders. He has helped us a lot."

Everything made sense to Darcy now. She knew Kaze and Don v friends.

When Darcy was brought away for questioning, Don came to the rescue.

Don even drove them home.

Kaze smiled in silence..

Soon, they met Sky and his friends in the holding cell.

"There you are, Kaze. Tell them to let me out."

Kaze was a knight in shining armor to Sky.

Sky did not even notice his mother and sister.

Agnes did not feel comfortable about the situation.

Kaze was only good at bragging. Yet, her son had faith that Kaze would save him.

Still, the previous scene in front of the precinct gave her second thoughts. For once, she held her tongue. "Shush! Why are you trying to get out when you got into a fight? Yo should be detained for a few more days."

Darcy glared at her brother before turning to the officer on duty. "Did Sky injure the other party badly? Will my brother get a jail sentence if charges are filed against him?"

"It's not that bad. A group of youngsters got into an altercation over a girl. The young men started it, but your brother fought back. There are a few cuts and bruises, but nothing serious. The minor injuries won't justify jail time," the police officer responded.

Derrick saw red. "Isaac, what's this half a million dollars to avoid jail

Chapter 409 One Problem After Another

Isaac went weak in the knees, his face pale.

He knew that he was done for.

The matter was quickly cleared up.

Sky and his friends were having a basketball match at the stadium.

Celine, who had been all over Sky before, was there too. She stood a short distance away while the boys played ball. A group of youngsters later arrived at the stadium.

One of them, Hugo, hit on Celine.

Sky and his friends could not stand by and watch as a stranger made unwanted advances to their friend. Hence, they went to reason with the boys.

Things got heated up pretty quickly, and both parties started gettin into it.

Hugo perceived his size as an advantage over Sky, who was lanky, so he went ahead to pull the first punch. Sky was no longer the doormat that he was. Without hesitation, he jumped in and fought back. Hugo took a hit from a guy who was shorter than him.

The passersby called the cops, and both parties were arrested.

“Where’s Hugo now?” Kaze asked coldly.

Kaze wanted to make Hugo pay for hitting Sky.

Isaac grimaced.

As the jig was up, he said in a trembling voice, “Mr. Lee, Hugo is a relative of mine. I released him to get treatment at the hospital since he was injured.”

“My brother-in-law is hurt too, and his friends are battered up. Why does your relative get a special pass to get treatment?” Kaze pointed at the palm print on Sky’s face, his eyes flickering with murderous intent.

Thud!

Isaac fell on his knees and pleaded for mercy.

They were past the point of apologizing, though.

“You are under immediate investigation, Isaac,” Derrick said furiously.

He had no idea who Kaze was.

If there was one thing he knew, the Southend precinct would be the one to watch for in Don’s list.

“Captain Maverick, | want to take my brother-in-law and his friends t get treatment,” Kaze said indifferently. He could not care less about what would happen to Isaac.

Derrick dared not breathe a word. Besides, it was not a big deal. The fight was between college students. For such cases, the kids would get a bit of tough love and lecturing before getting released.

“| know | was safe the moment you came, Kaze.”

Sky and his friends were glad to taste freedom again.

They looked at Kaze in admiration.

Kaze had met Sky’s friends, including Celine, before.

The only person Kaze did not see eye to eye with was Celine becau she once sucked up to Samus while mocking him and Sky. Kaze wondered how she had gotten Sky’s forgiveness and been allowed back into their circle of friends. Sky was the leader of his friend group.

It was only because Sky had an amazing brother-in-law.

After leaving the police station, Kaze took them to a nearby healt center to get treatment.

The wounds were only superficial. That was all.

By the time their injuries were dressed, it was dark outside.

With night falling, Darcy talked to Kaze about taking the kids for dinner before heading home. The couple went ahead to a nearby restaurant, got a table, and ordered before everyone else. Once Sky and his friends had seen the doctor, they followed Agnes out of the health center.

A group emerged on the street, armed with baseball bats. They approached Sky's party aggressively. There were at least a hundred of them.

"Hugo!"

Sky and his friends went pale when they saw the young man leading the group.

With a bandage wrapped around his head, Hugo swaggered forward savagely.

"How dare you, Sky. I have never been hit in my life.

"I'm going to kick your ass until you drop, or my name isn't Hugo Oceanid!"

Chapter 410 Mother-in-Law's Humiliation

Sky and friends shook in their boots upon seeing the group of gangsters behind Hugo.

"What are you trying to do, Hugo? Your relative, Isaac, has been terminated from his job.

“My brother-in-law made the captain dismiss him. If you come after us, my brother-in-law will make you pay.” Although Sky was afraid, he could escape a beating since his brother-in-law was just around the corner. “Oh? If your brother-in-law is so amazing, where is he now?”

Hugo then said something to the burly man next to him before swaggering over.

The burly man waved his arm.

The group in the back fanned out and surrounded Sky’s party in the shape of a scallop.

Sky said, “My brother-in-law is nearby. You better take your people and leave now.”

“Haha. Weren't you cocky when you hit me earlier, Sky? Don't try to bullshit me now.”

Hugo stopped laughing and added menacingly, “Either way, I’m going to beat you up. Clyde, tell your men to hold the guy down. | want to whip the shit out of his mouth.”

At the wave of Clyde’s arm, two men charged forward and dragged Sky out. Smack!

Hugo slapped Sky in the face.

“Kneel and call me king.”

“Dream on!”

Despite two men restraining his arms, Sky yelled angrily.

He was no pushover anymore. He would rather die than kneel before Hugo. Smack!

Hugo struck his palm across Sky's face and shouted, "Kneel!"

"No!"

Smack!

"Kneel!"

"No!"

Smack! Smack!

Even though Sky's face was swollen all over, he gritted his teeth and hung on. "Til kneel."

A heart-wrenching cry came from behind.

Coming out of the health center, Agnes was met with a terrible scene. She had just gone back inside to collect some medicine from the pharmacy.

Tears streamed down her face as she rushed over and fell on her knees before Hugo.

"Don't kneel before the bastard, Mom!"

Sky could fight back the tears when he was beaten up, but the humiliation his mother faced drove him to wail out loud. He struggled frantically. "I'm going to kill you, Hugo! I'm going to kill you!"

Smack! Smack!

Hugo slapped him twice and burst out laughing. "Haha. You're a loser. Even your mother grovels at my feet. How are you going to kill me?"

Kaze and Darcy were at their table at a nearby restaurant. Hearing the commotion in the direction of the health center, they went over to check it out.

Outside the crowd, they could hear Sky's and Agnes' heart-wrenching cries.

"Mom and Sky are in trouble!"

Darcy was anxious as a group of gangsters were in the way.

With a scowl, Kaze pulled Darcy close and kicked the gangster the way to go straight to the commotion. "Mom!"

Darcy saw Agnes kneeling and pleading with Hugo for mercy.

Her brother's face was battered beyond recognition.

As tears rolled down her cheeks, Darcy broke free from Kaze and rushed over “Stop that woman!”

Following Clyde’s order, a gangster approached Darcy.

At a close distance, the gangster got a good look at Darcy's gorgeous face. Driven by primal instincts, he chuckled and wrapped his arms around her. Bam!

The gangster was knocked over by a kick the impact broke a few of Kaze pulled Darcy behind him into protection and stared aloofly at the gangsters apprehending Sky “Who the hell are you? Who are you you to tell me what to do?”

The two gangsters look

Before they knew it, they toppled, their screams cut

Vaze helped Agnes up

“Oh. We have a lighter among us

Clyde

echoing in the