Chapter 421 Kaze Is Perfect World Group's Chairman?

Rose had a closer look. She bolted up from the chair and reacted stronger than when she saw the Pink Rose. "Oh my god! Is that the Goddess' Heart?!"

"Rose, is it something famous?"

Agatha was intrigued by her daughter's strong reaction.

"The Goddess' Heart was on display at a massive exhibition at Sunrise City and it has already attracted a lot of attention. Everyone was amazed by its beauty.

"The designer is the world-famous Master Greta De Fontaine. She called this her masterpiece and can never replicate another one.

"After that, the Goddess' Heart hasn't shown itself anymore. Some said the chairwoman of Sixth Eye Jewelry Group, the Queen of Jewelry, Jasmine Sundar, has it in her collection and no matter how much people offer her, she's not selling it."

Rose was thrilled. Her voice sharpened and even started to blabber nonsense. "Don't tell me it's on Darcy's neck now!" Her voice surprised everyone in the room and they all turned to Kaze.

Adiamond necklace of tens of millions?

The necklace that Kaze gave Darcy?

If it was real, who exactly was Kaze Lee?

Everyone was shocked, especially Agnes. Her jaw fell on the floor.

“Darcy, can I have a look at it?” Rose went over to Darcy.

“Sure.”

Darcy took the necklace off and gave it to Rose.

Agatha asked nervously, “Rose, have you really seen the Goddess’ Heart before? Is this the real thing?” Kiev glued his eyes to the Goddess’ Heart as well.

Rose checked it for a while but then she put it down with a hesitant look. “I don’t know. The Goddess’ Heart was being displayed in a case. There’s no way we can see the details.

“But Darcy’s necklace is undoubtedly diamond and its cutting skills are masterful. It’s as beautiful as the Goddess’ Heart!” “So, it’s possible that this is the Goddess’ Heart?!”

The more Rose analyzed, the more the crowd believed the necklace was the Goddess’ Heart.

Agatha looked at Kiev. She shook her head and felt bad for him. She knew Kiev no longer had a chance.

Kiev spent millions to present the Pink Rose to Darcy. No woman could easily reject his generosity but Darcy did.

Now it turned out that Kaze had given her the Goddess’ Heart, a necklace worth more than a hundred million.

Agatha looked at Agnes with jealousy. "Sis, Darcy got you a good son-in-law. If the necklace he gave Darcy is worth hundred millions, I bet he's richer than he looks.

"I heard there's a young billionaire in Lilyrose who spent a fortune to acquire Perfect World Group. Don't tell me it's Kaze." Kiev was shocked upon hearing it. He looked at Kaze in surprise.

He felt defeated and aggrieved.

If Kaze was indeed the young billionaire, then Kiev would not stand a chance in front of Darcy.

Agnes hesitated. She had no idea if Kaze was the young billionaire, but the Goddess' Heart was on Darcy's neck.

"Aunt Agatha, what are you talking about? How could Kaze be the chairman of Perfect World Group?" Darcy said.

She denied Agatha's suspicion without a doubt.

She added, "This Goddess' Heart is the real one but Kaze got it from Ray Forrester because the man owed him one, and he gave it to me as a birthday present."

Chapter 422 Uninvited Guest, Miru Scarlet

Kaze was rendered speechless. His silly wife denied his identity as Perfect World Group's chairman, but he did not correct her. He did not care about what other people thought of him, only Darcy's feelings mattered. She could think whatever she wanted. Besides, the identity of Perfect World Group's chairman did not affect their relationship.

Darcy never looked down on him before.

Her explanation sparked speculation.

Psychiatric ward? Mental disability?

Kiev looked at Kaze strangely. "Aunt Agnes, what is this about? Kaze was in the psychiatric ward?"

"Kaze got into some conflict with his family and got locked up there for a few years. He's fine but everyone in the city thought he had a mental disability. People still laugh at us now."

Now that Kaze had a promising future, Agnes was proud of him and she was no longer embarrassed to tell others about his past. Unlike before, she would be silenced and embarrassed whenever people asked about her son-in-law.

She giggled and said to her sister, "Sis, if Kaze really has a mental disability, do you think Lefteria Group would hire him? Besides, he got promoted to manager on his first day because the chairman saw his capabilities. He became an executive from the start!"

"If you don't know, Lefteria Group is a huge company here in Lilyrose!" Agatha originally thought about using Kaze's mental disability to persuade Agnes and her family to matchmake Kiev and Darcy. It was to save her niece from wasting her future with an unpromising man.

However, after what Agnes said, Agatha knew there was no chance at all.

Kaze was perfectly fine and Darcy loved him. Even if the necklace was fake, she cherished it like it was the only one in the world. On the other hand, Agnes seemed to be happy with her son-in-law too.

There was nothing Agatha could do.

Kiev was slightly disappointed but he no longer felt defeated like before.

He assumed the distance between him and Kaze had shortened and he still had a chance to win Darcy's heart.

However, what Agnes said next agitated him.

Agnes said to Agatha, "Sis, I forgot to tell you that Kaze and Darcy are already married. I didn't inform you when they married because you know, our family wasn't doing well back then."

"What? They are married?"

Agatha lost all hope in matchmaking Kiev and Darcy.

Kiev's gaze turned as frosty as ice. He glared at Kaze coldly and tried his best to suppress his jealousy and anger. Then, the two families sat down and ate lunch.

Kiev felt like an outsider. No matter how delicious the food was, it felt like sand in his mouth.

After lunch, the two families continued to chat at the table.

Suddenly, the doors were kicked open with a bang.

The doors were slammed to the wall and a group of uninvited guests barged in. "Miru? What are you doing here?"

Darcy was shocked to see her friend barging into her family gathering.

“Mr. Lee, I’m sorry but | couldn’t stop her!”

The manager explained immediately when Miru kicked the door open.

Kaze waved at the manager and then looked at Miru, who was staring at him with killer intent. He frowned. “Miru, what is this about? | hope you have a valid explanation!”

“I am the one who should be asking you for an explanation!” Miru screamed. She pulled out a machete and pointed it at Kaze. The tip of the machete was millimeters away from Kaze’s face. Everyone in the room was shocked.

Miru glared at Kaze coldly and said, “Why did you murder my godfather?!”

Chapter 423 Alan Cummingham’s Death

Behind Miru was a group of men, all looking ferocious.

Their bulging muscles were an obvious sign that they were experts in fighting. They all glared at Kaze the moment they barged into the room.

Tension rose as they stared at each other.

Darcy and the others felt pressured that they had a hard time breathing.

“What? What are you talking about? Kaze killed your godfather? The chairman of Leteria Group, Alan Cummingham?” Darcy blurted out instinctively.

Kaze murdered Alan?

Impossible. He was not capable of killing someone.

The others exchanged a baffled look.

Slam!

Miru slammed some pictures on the table.

Darcy went through the pictures briefly but still could not understand.

Miru continued, “Around 10.30 in the morning, Kaze led the security guards on a routine security check around the building. Halfway through the security check, Kaze went into my godfather’s private office, where he usually reads and drinks tea.

“Awhile later, he ran out of the office in panic and went downstairs.

He then directly left the building. Then, my godfather’s assistant went into the office to update him on his schedule and found out that he was unconscious on the couch. He tried to wake him but there was no response, so he called 911. When the emergency response arrived, they found out that...”

Miru’s eyes teared up but remained glued to Kaze.

Her hand holding the machete was shaking violently. One quick swing and she could behead Kaze.

“M-my godfather was dead!”

Darcy and the others were shocked by the news. Their minds went blank.

Alan Cunningham had died!

Kaze was involved and he was the main suspect!

Now that Kaze was accused of murder, he could no longer remain quiet.

He said coldly, "Miru, you accused me of killing Alan Cunningham based on several pictures? Where is your brain?" "Yeah! Miru, Kaze doesn't have a motive! Why would he kill your godfather?" Darcy defended Kaze.

Miru said, "Have a look at the rest of the pictures."

The other pictures showed Kaze and Miru together and judging from their looks, Miru was scolding Kaze.

"He was late for work this morning. | scolded him. | was harsh with my words and | told him that | was the one who got him the job! Or else my godfather wouldn't make him the security manager! He probably hates me for that!"

"What? Miru got Kaze the job at the company?" Agnes glared at Kaze angrily. She always thought Kaze got the job on his own.

Kaze ignored Agnes and continued, "Miru, | will only say it once. | went to the office for the routine security check, that's it."

Miru scoffed. "Keep telling yourself that. You, as the security manager, should know better that without my godfather's permission, no one is allowed in his office. Not even me or Leo can access the place." Kaze was invited to the office for tea yesterday and he was unaware of the rule.

Miru did not give him the chance to speak. She shouted, "How do you explain yourself running out of the building in panic? If you didn't do anything wrong, why escape?"

Up until this point, everyone had started to believe Kaze murdered Alan!

He was the killer!

Chapter 424 Don't Know What to Say Everyone in the room stared at Kaze, including Darcy. "Kaze, tell me, why did you run? Did you see something?"

"I didn't go into Alan Cunningham's office. I saw nothing." Kaze shook his head. He added, "I received your text and I was running to Clover Center to save you."

Miru glared at Kaze. "Text? Darcy, are you in danger or is he lying?"

"I didn't text Kaze, but if he received the text, that means someone is trying to prank him," Darcy said. Her eyes remained glued to Kaze.

"So, it's his own words?"

Miru tried really hard not to swing the machete at Kaze's neck.

Darcy did not answer this time. She did not know if she should continue to trust Kaze. Kaze noticed Darcy's hesitation. He said, "Darcy, believe me. I didn't do it.”

“Excuses!” Miru shouted.

She tossed another stack of pictures in Kaze’s face.

The pictures showed him and Angel sitting together.

Miru bellowed, “These pictures are from Leo. The man in the picture. is Angel White, Cronus’ man, is it? He contacted you the other day and gave you two supercars-a Mercedes and a seven-seater. Cronus is my godfather’s longtime rival! He must have ordered you to kill him!”

Darcy and others were shocked once more.

All the evidence pointed at Kaze and clearly revealed his motive to take Alan’s life.

Even Darcy dared not fully trust Kaze anymore.

She shouted, “Kaze, you lied to us? You said you got the cars because Deborah and Samus bought them using the money that they got from selling our house and you were just taking them back. Was it all a lie? | was wondering why Taurus Automobiles would give you the cars so easily!

“You crazy murderer! You kill a man because of a few cars? You killed the chairman who promoted you?!”

Darcy swung her hand at Kaze, slapping him in the face.

The mark of her hand was imprinted on Kaze’s cheek.

Darcy covered her mouth as she teared up. She looked at Kaze, disappointed.

“Kaze, how could you? You knew Miru and I were good friends. Why did you help her godfather’s rival?”

She broke down in tears.

Kaze wanted to speak but Miru did not give him the chance.

“Take him back! He will pay for what he did!” Miru said to her men

Everyone knew Miru wanted to kill Kaze to avenge her godfather.

Darcy looked at her friend nervously.

Miru stopped her before she could say a word. She said, “Darcy, I know what you want to say. It’s already merciful because I came and not someone else from the company. If it’s not me, not only Kaze, your entire family will be taken away.” She was telling the truth.

Even Miru was listed as a suspect because she got Kaze the job.

She brought her men to capture Kaze because she wanted to make up for the mistake she made, and it was also to protect Darcy and her family.

Otherwise, the others in the company would go after Darcy and her family altogether.

Darcy plunged into despair.

Then, hurried footsteps came into the room.

A group of uniformed police officers came in and the leader was the chief of police, Don Braders.

He went over to Miru and said, "Ms. Scarlet, we have received the news of Mr. Alan Cunningham's death. The mayor told me to arrest the suspect and investigate the case. The police will provide a satisfying explanation to you, Leteria Group, and also the late Mr. Cunningham!"

Chapter 425 Protective Arrest Don then ordered his men to take Kaze away, but Miru and her men stopped them. "What are you doing?!" the officers shouted at them.

Miru's men were ferocious gangsters who roamed in the underworld. They were not afraid of mere police officers. They stood in the way of the officers.

"Ms. Scarlet, what is the meaning of this?" Don looked at Miru grimly. "Chief Braders, we are taking this man back to Leteria Group and we will punish him for what he did," Miru said coldly.

Don grunted. "Ms. Scarlet, don't get this wrong. This is a law-enforced society, you are not allowed to hurt others in private. Since we have already filed the case, the police must be involved."

He raised his hand.

All the police officers pulled their guns out and pointed at Miru's men Miru's men were deterred.

Miru took a deep breath and glared at Kaze coldly.

"Let's go!"

She left without pause, ignoring Darcy's guilty and apologetic gaze. After Miru and her men left, Kaze was also taken away by the police. The tension in the room finally went away.

Agatha and her family could finally breathe a sigh of relief.

"I didn't expect Kaze to be this ferocious. He killed the chairman who promoted him because Darcy's friend scolded him!

"He's the devil reincarnate!"

"I knew Kaze wasn't worthy of Darcy!"

Agatha and her family voiced their criticism.

Darcy and her family were hurt but did not have the words to talk back. They did not expect Kaze to commit murder as well.

"Agnes, don't be sad. It's a good thing that Kaze is arrested, or else he will drag you guys down too. Tell Darcy to divorce Kaze and you guys will be fine!"

Agatha continued to console her sister.

Darcy's heart sank. She pursed her lips in silence.

She held her hand tightly. She slapped Kaze out of anger earlier and it hurt her hand.

She did not regret slapping him but she did not know how to face her friend after this.

Kaze was escorted out of Lily Garden Hotel and into the police cruiser.

Then, the motorcade of a dozen police cruisers made their way to the police department.

The motorcade attracted a lot of attention along the way. Everyone wondered who the police had arrested. "Mr. Lee, Leteria Group is agitated by Alan Cummingham's death. The mayor is worried that they will come after you, so he ordered me to escort you away. | have all the police officers with us," Don said.

respectfully.

He no longer looked like the fierce police officer back in the room.

Kaze smiled. "So you and Johnson believed me that | didn't kill Alan Cummingham?"

"The mayor said even if you really killed Alan Cummingham, you must have your reason. Besides, the man was murdered. Given Mr. Lee's status and identity, one word from you and he would have to hang himself. There's no point for you to kill him yourself."

Both Johnson and Don knew Kaze's true identity. The moment they got news of Alan's death, they knew Kaze was framed.

When they learned that Miru had brought her men to capture Kaze, Johnson told Don to mobilize all the available police officers to protect Kaze.

Kaze was escorted away for protection, not arrested.

"Mr. Lee, if you reveal your true identity, you will be free in no time and no one will dare to accuse you. No one would believe that the God of War would kill Alan Cummingham with his own hands."

Chapter 426 River Watcher Inn When Kaze was taken away, Don noticed Darcy and her family did not even try to defend Kaze. He felt bad for Kaze. Kaze was accused of murder yet his family did not even believe him.

Kaze waved his hand. "Just a bunch of clowns with circus tricks. | don't need to reveal my identity to prove myself. Let's just see what these clowns wanted to play."

His gaze suddenly turned cold. Even he did not expect that he would one day become the pawn in someone else's game. Don was deeply concerned. He knew Kaze kept his identity a secret for the sake of the city and the safety of the citizens.

"Don, just skip the station. Just send me to the detention center. I don't want to waste your time and police resources," Kaze said.

Don immediately said, "Mr. Lee, you are being too kind. It is our duty to protect your safety. The detention center is messy, it's not as safe as the station. Lefteria Group won't let this go, they will come after you." Kaze said, "If I am in the station, how are they going to come after me?"

Don then realized Kaze wanted to be bait to lure out the mastermind.

Therefore, the motorcade went straight to the detention center.

The security was reinforced to make it look serious.

Then, Don called in a team for questioning. They wanted to interrogate Kaze at the detention center.

The River Watcher Inn used to be the headquarters of Lefteria Gang.

When the gang was promoted to company status, the business was moved to the office.

The River Watcher Inn became a gathering spot for the gangsters who worked under Lefteria Group.

As a matter of fact, it was the true core of the entire organization.

The reason why Lefteria Group was able to expand and thrive was because they were protected by the gangsters. The inn was filled with sobs and cries. Alan's wake service was being held there.

The coffin was placed on the first floor and the employees from the funeral company took care of everything. Leo was in charge of overseeing the entire service.

He looked sorrowful and busy. He even helped the funeral company's employees in dressing up his late godfather. All the elders of the gang and company came to the wake service and they saw what Leo did for his godfather. "Ms. Scarlet is here!"

Everyone turned around and saw Miru and her men walking in.

Alan's picture was already up beside the coffin.

Miru suppressed the sorrow in her heart and wanted to go have a look at the body.

"Hold on!"

A bloated man stopped her. "Miru, where's he?"

Miru knew the man was referring to Kaze.

"Uncle Sieg, Kaze was taken by the chief of police. They are investigating the case," she said respectfully.

The man she called Uncle Sieg was one of the founders of Lefteria Gang, Alan's close friend who used to fight side by side.

People called him Sieg Braford. Those who were closer called him Uncle Sieg and his men called him Master Braford, yet it was not his real name. Sieg was a board member of Lefteria Group and held a prestigious position in the company.

“Miru, how can you let the police take him away? That ungrateful little fuck killed your godfather, my good brother! You should bring him. here and make him repent his sins before my brother’s body!

“| will gut him myself and watch him bleed for what he did to Alan. How can you let the chief of police arrest him? Is this part of your plan?!”

Sieg shouted at Miru fiercely.

Chapter 427 Lilyrose Shaken The other elders of the company were infuriated as well.

“Miru, you brought the punk into the company yesterday and he killed Alan today. Now you are protecting him, allowing the police to take him away. Are you part of this as well? You are planning to kill Alan too?!”

“She's involved in this!”

“Her background is a mystery. She’s not a local. She appeared out of nowhere and somehow Alan took her in as his goddaughter. | think she’s a spy from somewhere, sent to hurt Alan!”

The elders berated Miru. Miru finally experienced what it was like to be criticized and berated by others. It was the same thing Kaze experienced countless times.

“Uncles, Miru is part of the family. We are both godchildren of our godfather. Please don’t accuse her without solid evidence. If we wronged her, | don’t think my godfather can rest in peace.”

Leo finally spoke up after the elders had berated Miru. The elders quieted down but they continued to glare at Miru coldly.

Even though Miru was not the killer, she was the one who brought Kaze into the company. This reason alone made her the public enemy to them.

“We don’t have evidence to prove that she’s behind this but we also don’t have evidence to prove that she’s not!” Sieg continued coldly. “Before we get to the bottom of this, Miru, you are hereby relieved of your duties in Lfteria Group and you are grounded.”

Miru blamed herself for what happened as well. Her head lowered. All she could do was accept the punishment in silence and guilt.

“I’m not going anywhere. I’ll stay here to accompany my godfather.”

Miru sat down before the coffin and stayed quiet.

Leo, on the other hand, looked at Miru from the back. His eyes were overflowing with lust and desire. He had his eyes on Miru’s seductive body for a long time now and he had everything planned out.

Once he got full control of Lfteria Group, it would be the day he could sleep with her. He knew he had to strengthen his position first before he could get under her skirt.

He took a deep breath to calm his arousing desire and walked away to a secluded corner.

He called one of his men over and said, “Spread the news. I want everyone to know that Kaze was instigated by Angel White to kill my godfather.”

Leo knew working with Cronus was dangerous. To seize the initiative and continue to get a grip on the situation so that Cronus would not expose him of his crimes, he had to work fast.

With the news out, even if Cronus spread news about him killing Alan, no one would believe it.

At the same time, he could use the situation to unite Leteria Group against a common enemy.

To stand against Cronus, who was also an underworld kingpin, Leteria Group must be united and share a common goal.

Until then, the other ambitious parties within the company would not be able to segregate the company for their selfish benefits. They would be the common enemy if they did so.

Leo, as Alan's godson and Bando's son, would be the natural candidate to lead the company.

Soon, the news of Kaze killing Alan under Angel's instigation spread across the city. The entire city was shaken by the news. Everyone betrayed and criticized Kaze. Cronus also got the news.

"That little piece of shit. I knew he wouldn't work with us so easily."

Angel cursed but he was not nervous. He had expected Leo to betray them.

Cronus barely reacted to the news at all.

“Once Alan Cunningham is dead, Lefteria Group is a tiger without fangs. Let Leo do whatever he wants. When he removes all his rivals and gets a hold of the company, it will be our turn to acquire Lefteria Group. This way, it will save us a lot of trouble.”

To Cronus, the moment Alan died, this entire rivalry had already come to an end.

Chapter 428 Sunrise City’s Top Killer Alan’s friends responded strongly to his death. As the kingpin who ruled the underworld twenty years ago, he had countless protégés and many people benefited from his reign.

After so many years, his protégés had scattered all over the country. Even those who had not done well in life had already become gang bosses in their respective areas.

His influence was so large that even Cronus was afraid.

Cronus dared not go after Alan directly because of the consequences, so he had to kill his rival with a borrowed knife. The news of Alan’s death spread across the country and it summoned all his protégés back to Lilyrose for revenge. Everyone in the city knew a storm was coming and there was no place for them to hide or run.

All the gang bosses of the underworld stayed quiet and kept a low profile. They even warned their men to not cause any trouble lately attract unwanted attention.

“Cronus is behind Master Cunningham’s death, but he had just passed. It’s inappropriate for us to cause too much of a commotion. After he is laid to rest, we’ll go after Cronus.”

“But if we don’t go after Cronus now, are we just going to sit back and watch the killer roam free?”

“The retard son-in-law of the Quints is the killer. We must take him and his entire family down to honor Master Cunningham.” The elders of Lefteria Gang were discussing in River Watcher Inn.

“The Quints are just a second-tier family. Just erase them from the face of the earth.”

“But Kaze Lee is taken by the police and got locked up in the detention center. He’s in the police’s territory. How are we going to get him? Should we go after the mayor and make him hand Kaze Lee over?”

Leo was shocked. He did not want to stand against the city council or the mayor.

There were rumors about the city council teaming up with Perfect World Group to stand against the top three families.

If he had to go against Cronus, then the city council and Perfect World Group would be his natural allies. He could not just offend them now.

He quickly said, “Uncles, elders, we don’t need to stand against the city council. Just send someone into the detention center and kill Kaze Lee. We can also set an example to the other factions in the underworld.”

“Oh? Good idea. Who should we send? Who else in Lefteria Group has such capabilities?”

Everyone pondered.

Leo chuckled and said, “Have you guys forgotten about the strongest in Lefteria Gang and the top killer of Sunrise City?” “You mean Jeremiah Reaper, the Grim Reaper? | thought he was living in seclusion in some monastery?”

The elders were surprised by Leo’s suggestion.

As elders of the gang and now board members of the company, they feared the man known as the Grim Reaper.

Unless necessary, they would not want to have any contact with him.

“My godfather was murdered. I believe Uncle Jeremiah wouldn't just turn a blind eye. He would be willing to come out of seclusion to kill the murderer,” Leo said.

Jeremiah was close with Alan and Leo's biological father, Bando.

It was the reason why Leo believed he could ask Jeremiah to kill Kaze.

With Jeremiah's involvement, Leo could also set an example for the other elders in the company who wished to usurp the position after Alan passed.

“I will go look for Uncle Jeremiah at Golden Crow Monastery.”

After obtaining agreements from the elders, Leo started to prepare to visit Golden Crow Monastery just outside the city. “I am already here.”

It was at that moment, a chilly voice came from behind.

Everyone felt chills down their spine.

An old man in rags came in while holding a broken sword

He ignored everyone and went straight up to Alan's coffin. He then drew his sword.

Before anyone could stop him, the lid of the coffin was lifted by the sword's energy.

Chapter 429 He Should Be Killed

“Grim Reaper?! What are you doing?”

The elders of Leteria Group were surprised by his arrival.

The first thing Jeremiah did when he arrived was to uncover the coffin’s lid.

“I have to see how Alan died!”

Jeremiah glared at everyone coldly as if everyone present was a suspect.

Everyone else paused and went quiet. They knew Jeremiah wanted to inspect the body. Jeremiah ignored their questioning gazes and bent over to put his hand on Alan’s body. Awhile later, he straightened himself and said coldly, “Put the lid back.”

Several men carried the lid and put it back on the coffin.

The lid was heavy and it took four strong men to barely carry it, yet Jeremiah was able to lift it single-handedly. He then turned around and put his hands on the hilt of his sword. “Who poisoned Alan?” “Uncle Jeremiah, it's Kaze Lee, the son-in-law of the Quints. He started work at Leteria Group yesterday and got promoted to manager by my godfather. He’s actually a killer sent by Angel White and his boss, Cronus...” “Ungrateful! He should be killed!”

Jeremiah was overflowing with killer intent.

When the tip of his broken sword touched the floor, the marble flooring cracked and it rapidly expanded outward like a spiderweb. It was terrifying to look at. Everyone in the room was frightened.

“Where is he now?” Jeremiah asked.

“Lilyrose Detention Center,” Leo said.

“I will kill him.”

Jeremiah then left the room.

Everyone else in the room was freed from the pressure.

“It's been some years since we saw the Grim Reaper and he's gotten even more ferocious. He's not that scary back then,” said one of the elders.

Everyone agreed with him.

Sieg then said, “Now that the Grim Reaper is after Kaze, we should deal with Kaze's wife and her family.”
“Yeah!”

Everyone nodded in agreement.

Miru, who was still kneeling before the coffin with her eyes closed, felt nervous. Her heart sank when she heard the elders.

Back at Horizon Mirror Mansion, Darcy and her family were with Agatha and her family, including Kiev.
“Now that Kaze has murdered Chairman Cummingham, | wonder if Leteria Group will come after us...” Agnes said on the couch, looking worried.

“Don’t worry, Agnes. They should go after the one responsible. It’s only normal that they would want to hold Kaze responsible, but you guys? It doesn’t make sense. They won't do anything crazy,” Agatha consoled her. Darcy's mind was empty. She sat quietly in the corner, looking dispirited.

Then, she received a text from Miru.

“Darcy, Lefteria Group has sent men to get you and your family. Run! As far as you can!” Darcy's face turned pale.

If Miru was this nervous, then Lefteria Group would be serious and if Darcy and her family were captured, they would be tortured terribly.

“Darcy, what happened?” Hector noticed the pale look on his daughter.

“Lefteria Group has sent men after us,” Darcy said with a trembling voice.

“What?!”

Everyone was shocked.

Kiev quickly went to the side with his phone.

“That bastard! He killed someone and now he’s dragging us down!” Agnes cried.

Agatha got nervous as well. “Should we go back to Sunrise City? | don’t think they will come to Sunrise City for you.”

“Sis, after the medical incident, I've already embarrassed our family enough. | don't want to embarrass them anymore this time. Sobs...”

Chapter 430 Darcy's Suspicion Master Quint came to Horizon Mirror Mansion to criticize Darcy together with the extended family.

“Darcy, | told you Kaze will drag us down sooner or later. | told you to divorce him and you ignored me. Look what he has done! Lefteria Group is coming after all of us!”

“Kaze is a menace to family, so are you, Darcy! Your whole family is nothing but trouble!”

“Darcy, you better tell Lefteria Group to not come after us! You and your family should bear all the responsibility!” The extended family berated Darcy the moment they arrived. Master Quint even shouted as he stomped his walking stick. If their gazes could kill, Darcy and her family would have been sliced up multiple times.

The Quint family was finished! How could they face the wrath of Lefteria Group?

While everyone plunged into despair, Kiev came over with delightful news.

“| can stop Lefteria Group from coming after you guys!”

His words attracted all the attention in the room.

Master Quint was thrilled. "Who is this young man?"

Agatha clapped her hands and said, "Right! Why didn't I think of this? Kiev's father is the vice commander of the South River Strategic

Department!"

"The son of the vice commander of the South River Strategic Department?!"

The Quints were thrilled by the news. They all stared at Kiev eagerly.

"Kiev, can you really save the Quint family?" Agnes asked. She placed all her hope on Kiev. "Agnes, with Kiev's father involved, saving the Quint family is a piece of cake..."

"Shut your mouth!"

Agatha's husband, Nelson, stopped her immediately and glared at her.

"The new chief commander of the River State Strategic Department, Albert Hiden, is about to take office. If you ask Kiev's father to help now, what if Chief Commander Hiden is not happy about it?"

Agatha pursed her lips and kept quiet. The Quints plunged into despair once more.

They could not offer any reward for the vice commander to help, so why would the vice commander meddle with their family affair?

Kiev did not say anything at first. When everyone fell into despair, he finally said, "Uncle Nelson, I've talked to my father and he has agreed to help when he learned that I wanted to help Darcy."

Nelson was surprised. He looked at Darcy and did not say anything. The Quints also looked at Darcy and Kiev and they knew why Kiev wanted to help. Kiev was into Darcy!

“Kiev, is it? I have to thank you and your father for helping us. Are there any terms and conditions? Just let us know and we'll try our best to cope!” Master Quint said confidently.

“There's no terms and conditions.” Kiev's words surprised everyone.

They thought Kiev would seize the chance to make requests to Darcy. “But...”

Kiev then looked at Darcy. “Lefteria Group will stand down if my father requests them to but the Quints must show their sincerity too. You know, they used to be gangsters and they still are, so respect is everything to them.

“If Darcy divorces Kaze and cuts ties with him, Lefteria Group won't come after you guys anymore. Sounds reasonable, isn't it?” Everyone agreed with Kiev's suggestion.

“You heard Kiev, Darcy! Divorce Kaze right away!”

Master Quint and the others urged her.

Darcy did not say a word. She had been thinking about something since she came home.

All the evidence that Miru showed at Lily Garden Hotel revealed that this was a planned murder, but was it the truth?

Were the pictures solid evidence?

Darcy looked up and asked a question that surprised everyone, "Did Kaze really kill Chairman Cunningham?"
