

Guardian 451

Chapter 451 To Melrose

“Darcy, where are you? | went to Clover Center to pick you up earlier but you weren't there.” Kiev was in Horizon Mirror with Agnes and the others when he received the call from Darcy. “Im in Melrose...”

Darcy briefly talked about what happened.

Kiev frowned. He knew Darcy went to Melrose overnight because of Kaze.

She had already announced her divorce with Kaze, yet she was still thinking about him. Kiev was overwhelmed by jealousy.

Darcy was still obsessed with Kaze and even asked him for help.

He understood that Darcy had lingering feelings for Kaze but what about in the future? What would happen after he helped Darcy this time or another time?

Kiev told himself the feelings would die off soon, so he took a deep breath and said, “Darcy, just hold on. I’m coming to Melrose now. My family has some connections there. | assure you Shane Blanc won't give you a hard time!”

“Thank you, Kiev. I'll make it up to you when this is over.”

Darcy was delighted and embarrassed.

She did not want to trouble Kiev for nothing.

“We can talk about it later. We are friends, that’s why | agree to help 1/3 you,” Kiev said softly.

“Kiev, what happened to Darcy?” Agnes asked anxiously.

Kiev came to Horizon Mirror for Darcy early in the morning and only then the family realized Darcy did not go to work. They could not get in contact with her.

They were worried, afraid that Darcy might get into trouble. Just when they were thinking about how to get in touch with Darcy, they received a call from her.

Kiev said, “Aunt Agnes, Darcy is in Melrose looking for an informant named Shane Blanc to help investigate the traitor of Lefteria Group. She wanted to clear Kaze’s name but the man held her back.”

“What? How did it happen?”

“She’s such a fool! She’s announced the divorce. She has nothing to do with Kaze anymore. Why would she go to another city just to deal with this?”

“What if something happens to her? What are we going to do then?”

Agnes collapsed on the couch, crying and cursing Kaze for being a menace.

Agatha hugged her sister and consoled her, “Agnes, calm do is calm, | bet he has a way to save Darcy. Am | right?” Everyone looked at Kiev with anticipation.

“I do!”

Kiev nodded. "The commander of Melrose Strategic Department, Trevor Rumhold, used to be my father's man. Shane Blanc is at most a gangster boss, there's no way he would stand against the military. I can tell Uncle Trevor to talk to him and Darcy will be released in no time!"

He then made a call to Trevor.

Trevor learned the situation and was happy to help.

"Uncle Trevor has agreed to help."

Kiev put his phone down with a delighted look.

One call and he could get assistance from the commander of Melrose Strategic Department. It was proof of how well-connected he was.

Kaze was nothing compared to him.

He said, "Uncle Hector, Aunt Agnes, I'll go to Melrose to bring Darcy back."

"Kiev, let us go with you."

Agnes was worried about her daughter.

“Alright. Let's make a move now.”

The two families then got into their respective cars and headed to Melrose.

Vroom!

When they left Horizon Mirror, they saw a military helicopter from a neighboring house and disappear into the sky. To

“Agnes, is that Chief Commander Lang’s helicopter? Is he d helicopter?”

Agatha and her family curiously looked into the sky.

Ever since she found out Agnes was Draco’s neighbor, she and family were intrigued by the mansion next to theirs.

Chapter 452 God of War Palace’s Helicopter “It should be. It’s the first time I’ve seen a helicopter flying out from that place.” Agnes was not sure.

Kiev said with a smile, “It should be Chief Commander Lang. Did you see the logo of a sword on the helicopter? That's the mark of the God of War Palace, so that helicopter must belong to the God of War.”

“God of War Palace’s helicopter has more authority than helicopters from Lilyrose Strategic Department.

‘Once it lifts off, the Air Control Department would lock down the airspace. No other aircraft are allowed in the air so that the God of War can fly in his helicopter without having to deal with air traffic.

“Chief Commander Lang must have some urgent matter to attend to himself.” Everyone was enlightened by Kiev’s explanation and was also jealous.

Agnes asked curiously, “Kiev, your father is the vice commander of Lilyrose Strategic Department, does he have a personal Does the Air Control Department seize the air traffic for attend official affairs, like Chief Commander Lang?”

Kiev was slightly embarrassed. copter? thor to “Aunt Agnes, you must be joking. Chief Commander Lang is the powerful person in Lilyrose Strategic Department. He used to the God of War and achieved many accolades on the battlefield, that’s why he’s able to enjoy such privilege.

“My father is a subordinate to his subordinate. He had not seen Chief Commander Lang in person before, let alone having such privilege.

He drives to work. But | heard the new chief commander of South River Strategic Department, Albert Hiden, is going to be my father’s direct superior and he used to serve under the God of War as well.

“| guess you can say my family is indirectly related to the God of War?”

“Oh...”

The topic was put aside as they made their way to Melrose.

Meanwhile, in the sky, Kaze was in the helicopter that just took off from Draco’s place.

He did not go back to the retention center yesterday and spent the night in Draco’s mansion. When Kiev received Darcy's phone call, he too received news of Darcy being apprehended in Melrose. He got the update from the two Tiger Fangs soldiers whom he sent to protect Darcy in secret. The two of them had infiltrated Shane's logistics park together with Miru's men.

Kaze got into his helicopter and flew toward Melrose as soon as he received the news. Though he had no idea why Darcy would go to Melro

Shane.

Then, he received an update from Snow.

"Mr. Chairman, Shane is South River's biggest underworld info Ms. Quint went to him to find out the true killer of Alan Cummin so that she could prove your innocence.

for

"At the same time, I received news from Lilyrose Bank that Quarte Group's bank account had two transactions last night. A total of hundred million was withdrawn."

Kaze felt warm when he heard the report.

Did Darcy spend a hundred million just to prove his innocence?

"I knew my wife wouldn't give up on me that easily!"

He was delighted. He eagerly wanted to see Darcy to clear all the misunderstandings.

Half an hour later in Melrose, Kaze got out of the helicopter on a spacious ground near Melrose Logistics Park. Together with Reeve Carter, Draco's security captain, they headed to the logistics park to meet Shane.

-When they reached the entrance, the guard stopped them.

"Hold it right there. Who are you? You are not allowed to enter without permission."

Chapter 453 Arrogant Shane Blanc Kaze frowned. He looked at Reeve beside him. Reeve went up to the security guard and showed him the iron badge that he carried.

"I am Reeve Carter, security captain of Chief Commander Draco Lang of Lilyrose Strategic Department. Inform your park manager and hand Ms. Darcy Quint to us!"

"Chief Commander Draco Lang? You might as well say the God of War. Look at the kid behind you, does he look anything like the chief commander? You think you can scare me with some made-up names?"

The guard scoffed at Kaze and took them as a fool.

He waved impatiently and said, "Get out of here."

Reeve was furious when he was embarrassed by a mere security guard in front of Kaze.

Kaze's expression turned cold. He simply wanted to walk in.

At the same time, inside the gate, two majors in uniform with angry looks on their faces headed out while being escorted by burly men. As they walked, the two majors grumbled their grievances hearing

“Our superior is Trevor Rumhold, the commander of Melro Department!”

“This is the last piece of advice for your boss! Hand those two us or you will suffer the consequences!” y several

The leader of the burly men pushed him and said coldly, “Shut up!

boss made it clear. A commander of the Strategic Department is just a colonel. He has no right to meddle in our business!”

The two majors were then tossed out of the park.

“Who are they?”

The leader saw Kaze and Reeve at the entrance and asked the guard about them.

The guard explained and it made the burly men laugh.

“Get them out of here.”

The buffed men then went back inside the park.

“Shane Blanc is quite arrogant. He’s not scared of Melrose Strategic Department.”

Kaze pondered at the gate.

Shane was just an informant who made a living selling intel, yet he was rather well-known in the capital. He was able to survive in the business for so long, so he must have his own sources and support.

He should be related to a first-tier family in the capital, otherwise it could not explain his arrogance. With that, Kaze said coldly, "Reeve, find out which ba to us."

Melrose Strategic Department was just a branch, respons arranging tasks for the soldiers serving under South River Department and related affairs.

They only had a number of active soldiers on duty and they we part of any strategic missions if a war broke out. It was why Shane was not afraid of them.

Reeve made some calls and soon got an answer.

"Sir, the closest battalion to us is Armored One Battalion, serving under South River Strategic Department. They are also the ace company of South River and currently having a live round practice just on the outskirts of Melrose."

Kaze hummed and told Reeve to inform Draco of the deployment.

South River Strategic Department was under Lilyrose Strategic Department, so ordering a deployment was just a piece of cake. After Reeve informed Draco, he continued to stay beside Kaze.

Awhile later, two cars arrived at the logistics park.

The first was a Maybach, Kiev's car that he used to send Darcy to the company last night.

Chapter 454 Boastful

The two cars stopped in front of the logistics park.

Hector, Agnes, Agatha and her family, plus Kiev, alighted the cars.

Only Sky did not follow because he was still mad at his sister for divorcing Kaze.

The two families were surprised to see Kaze at the entrance as well.

They did not expect to see him here, let alone be earlier than them.

“Kaze? What are you doing here? Did you break out of prison?!” Agnes said coldly with an obvious sense of disgust. She had no respect for him.

“Mother, my name is cleared. I did not murder Alan Cunningham. I heard Darcy was apprehended by the owner here, so I came to bring her out...” Kaze explained.

“Don't call me your mother! I am no longer your mother-in-law!” Agnes shouted at him and warned him with a ferocious glare. “Kaze, how dare you come here for Darcy? She's in thi because of you. If not because of you, why would way to Melrose?” “You are a menace!”

Kaze chose silence as a reply to Agnes' scoldings.

It was because of him that Darcy put herself in danger.

He failed as a husband this time.

e all the Kiev said with a subtle delight, "Kaze, you are quite well-informed. Darcy just got caught and you are already here. But do you have a idea who the owner of this logistics park is? He's a notorious gangster here in Melrose. Do you have what it takes to bring Darcy out?"

Kaze knew exactly what Kiev was trying to do.

His father, Vanik Clifford, was the vice commander of South River Strategic Department. Due to his background, his confidence surged and he decided to go after Darcy.

The two majors who were escorted out of the logistics park must be Kiev's doing.

Kaze shot a calm glance at him and said, "I've already called in a -battalion of soldiers. | believe Shane Blanc will release Darcy at gunpoint."

Called in a battalion of soldiers?

Kiev cackled because he was surprised.

He did not even bother to argue with Kaze because it was purely a joke.

How could someone like Kaze call in a battalion of soldiers? It was absurd!

Kaze was a fool trying to brag in front of him.

Agatha lived within the Strategic Department's compo and she had a better understanding of the rules.

She said, "Agnes, don't listen to this idiot. Called in a battali does he think he is? Even Kiev's father, the vice commander o River Strategic Department, does not have the authority to call i soldiers."

Upon hearing her sister, Agnes looked at Kaze with nothing but hatre and disgust.

No one knew Kaze better than her.

The idiot bragged many times before and he never seemed to learn.

Landon scoffed, "Kiev made some calls on the way and Melrose Strategic Department had sent their men here for negotiation." "They must have just arrived."

"Kaze must have seen it, so he used it to brag. How funny! He doesn't even know what is going on."

"I think he doesn't know the commander of Melrose Strategic Department was Kiev's father's superior. With just a call, the commander has agreed to help Kiev..."

Nelson and Rose did not say anything but they looked at Kaze with similar disgust. Kaze was not just incapable, he even liked to brag. Everyone wondered what Darcy saw in him to the point that she would put herself in danger for an idiot like him.

Chapter 455 Go In and Bring Her Out

“Kiev, since the Strategic Department has already sent men over to negotiate, I believe Shane Blanc has agreed to release Darcy, right?”

Agnes ignored Kaze completely as she was only concerned about her daughter’s well-being.

Kiev said confidently, “Of course. The Strategic Department has intervened, and Shane would surely release Darcy now. Let’s just go get her. I believe she’s afraid and she definitely wants to see you the most.”

Agnes smiled.

“Then let’s go inside and bring her back. Kiev, thank you so much for this. Tell the guard to open the gate for us,” she said with utmost gratitude.

“Of course.”

Kiev went over to the guard.

The guard judged a book by its cover. He saw Kiev coming out of a Maybach and he knew that the young man must have background, so he was more polite than before.

A moment later, Kiev came back.

“Aunt Agnes, we can go inside to bring Darcy out. He’s goi in.”

“Great!”

Agnes nodded happily.

Everyone then went into the logistics park.

Before Agnes went in, she turned around to glare at Kaze.

“Kaze, you are such a menace. Don’t you follow us in! You and Darcy are over! She has divorced you! You are no one to her anymore!”

Kiev smiled as he shot a glance at Kaze. He then led the two families into the park. Kaze was no longer worth his time. The two families finally met Shane in person.

Kiev said in a condescending manner, “Mr. Blanc, I believe the folks from Melrose Strategic Department have informed you and you have agreed to release them. Now hand them over.”

Shane was slightly baffled by their arrival.

His men told him that folks from Melrose Strategic Department had sent someone over again.

He thought it was Trevor Rumhold, the commander, so he agreed to meet.

The mere commander of Melrose Strategic Department was not strong enough to make him give up more than a hundred million. To his surprise, it was not Trevor but Darcy’s family.

He casually sipped on his tea and said impatiently, “Si agree to release them? Punk, didn't Trevor Rumhold tell thrown his men out?" This time, it was Agnes' turn to be confused.

They all looked at Kiev.

Kiev said once the Strategic Department got involved, Shane wo surely release Darcy.

Now it seemed like Shane did not even take Melrose Strategic Department seriously.

Kiev was surprised. He said coldly, "Shane Blanc, you are just some well-informed gangster! How dare you speak to us like this? Are you trying to challenge us? Release Darcy now, apologize to her, and | will not hold you responsible. Or else..."

"Or what?" Kiev was interrupted before he could finish.

Shane put his cup of tea down and shot a glance at Kiev. "Young man, are you threatening me on my turf? You've got some balls. I'd give you that. Tell me, where are you from and what made you so - confident to speak to me like that?"

Shane's men then stared at Kiev with hostility. All his men were fierce and merciless. They were all gangsters and probably criminals. One word from Shane and they would jump on Kiev.

Kiev was slightly deterred, but he did not step away. He said coldly," My father is the vice commander of South River Strategic Department

"Vanik Clifford?"

Shane interrupted him again. "So that makes you Kiev

Chapter 456 Kiev Gives Up

Shane was indeed the most well-connected informant in South River State. He knew Kiev's name by just looking at him. Kiev was slightly surprised. He nodded and said, "I am. Darcy Quint is my friend, so you should release..."

Before he could finish, Shane interrupted him again.

"I will let you off the hook this time, for the sake of your father. Now take your little friends and piss off."

Shane pointed at Agnes and the others.

Kiev was infuriated. "Shane Blanc, how dare..."

"FUCK OFF! Hear me!?"

Shane's men went up and surrounded Kiev.

One of them put his massive hand on Kiev's shoulder. The pressure he felt on his shoulder hurt him, making him sweat profusely.

Awhile later, under Shane's men's angry glare, Kiev, Agnes, and the others were escorted back to the park entrance. Similar to the two majors from Melrose Strategic L

they were thrown out of the gates.

Kaze noticed Kiev could not even lift his hand and he kne must have taught the young man a lesson.

He asked Hector and Agnes, "Father, Mother, are you guys

Hector shook his head.

Agnes glared at him. "It's none of your business! Kiev is hurt! Ha now? He's hurt because he's cleaning up your mess! You menad

She shifted all the blame onto Kaze.

"Agnes, forget about him. What should we do now?"

Agatha's expression looked bitter as well. "Shame Blanc is too arrogant, he did not show respect to Kiev's father!" "He's not releasing Darcy. How are we going to get her out?"

"Yeah! We didn't even see her inside. We don't know how she's doing. What if something happens to her? How..." Agnes was so worried that she did not even have the energy to scold

Kaze anymore.

Kiev crossed his arms as he sulked. His resentment for Shane skyrocketed.

What happened just now embarrassed him in front of Agnes.

He said he could bring Darcy out without any problem, yet Shane did not even take him seriously.

He grunted coldly and said angrily, "I think | have to ask Uncle Trevor to deploy his troops..."

"No!"

The first one to voice out was Nelson who disagreed suggestion.

“Kiev, are you out of your mind?” Nelson bellowed. “Not father has the authority to deploy any troops. This is aga

“If it was another time, they still can cover it up with some but now, the new chief commander, Albert Hiden, is going to ta office soon. He’s new and he will definitely make an example your father to erect a fierce image. Don’t put your father in a diff position. Are you trying to ruin your father’s career?”

Nelson used to serve under Vanik, Kiev’s father.

His whole family relied on Kiev’s family to expand and thrive.

Therefore, he was the first one to voice out and defend the Cliffords. Protecting the Clifford family would be equal to protecting his own family. As for his niece, Darcy, it was out of his control.

“Sorry, Uncle Nelson. | was being impulsive...”

Kiev's flames of anger were extinguished by Nelson.

He knew that everything he had right now was from his father.

Without his father, he was nothing.

Therefore, his father’s future was countless times more important.

than Darcy.

Kiev had decided to give up.

Chapter 457 Armored One Battalion

“Aunt Agnes, I'll think of another way. There must be a solution to this Kiev's words no longer felt as powerful as before.

Shane did not even take the vice-commander of South River Strategic Department seriously, let alone his son. Must Kiev find someone more powerful than his father to solve this problem?

Agnes was drowning in her despair but she still consoled Kiev.

“Kiev, don't blame yourself. You've tried your best. You've helped us plenty. We are grateful for your help. It's all because of Kaze! If not for him, Darcy wouldn't be held inside.

“Kaze, if anything happens to Darcy, | will haunt you for life even after

I die!”

Agnes was agitated and riled up. She wished she could strangle Kaze with her own hands.

Kaze said, “Nothing will happen to Darcy. | said | will | will bring her out.”

“You? Not even Kiev can settle this. What makes you th

Agatha and her family looked down on Kaze.

“You are nothing but blindly confident.”

out and

Even Rose, the calmest of them all, insulted Kaze for his misg confidence.

Kiev was already agitated and Kaze's words were like adding fuel the fire.

He sneered, "Kaze, you said you've called in a battalion of soldiers to save Darcy right? Where are they? Where..." Before he could finish, loud rumbling noises resounded.

More than a dozen military helicopters in camo disguise appeared in the sky and hovered above the logistics park. Everyone looked up in shock.

Then, the ground shook.

Further at the horizon, a fierce dust storm rumbled and approached rapidly.

A dozen tanks and armored trucks came in a tactical formation. As their wheels rolled, they trampled across the land of the logistics park.

The tanks were loaded with live rounds and aimed for the park.

All the armored battalion was heading to the logistics park!

The hatch of the helicopters opened up and a number of ropes were hurled out.

Numerous soldiers slid down from the ropes rapidly

The tanks and trucks stopped further away. As the up, soldiers disembarked the vehicles and surround Everyone inside and outside the logistics park was horr

Kiev, Agnes, and the others were petrified.

They stared at the soldiers, the helicopters, and the tanks blan

Shane's logistics park was completely surrounded by soldiers!

A company of soldiers marched up to the entrance.

opened ark.

The leader was a brigadier general.

"Johnny Tsuda?!"

Kiev was shocked. He knew the man.

Johnny Tsuda was the commander of Armored One Battalion, the battalion serving under South River Strategic Department.

"Isn't the Armored One Battalion doing live practice nearby? Why are you guys here? Is this part of the practice?" Nelson was baffled.

"They have all come here to the logistics park. Could it be by the order of Kiev's father?"

Agatha noticed her husband's worried look. She quickly consoled him, "Don't worry. If Kiev's father gave the order, he must know what he's doing."

Nelson agreed. He sighed and rested his anxious heart. Kiev assumed it was his father as well. He went over with a bright smile and said, "Johnny, did my father send you here?"

Johnny looked at him with surprise. He did not expect to see Kiev here.

He kept quiet and did not even answer Kiev's ques After a quick scan over the people at the park's en over to Kaze.

Everyone got nervous.

The brigadier general went over to the idiot!? What Johnny did next shocked everyone.

He saluted at Kaze and said loudly, "Sir, Armored One Battalion o South River Strategic Department is ready for deployment. Your instructions, sir!"

"Huh?"

"Wha-"

Kiev was stunned.

Agatha and Nelson were stunned. Hector and Agnes were also stunned. It was Kaze who called in the soldiers!

The soldiers served under the same department as Kiev's father and not even his father had the authority to deploy or mobilize them!

Chapter 458 Tell Shane to Get Out Here Immediately

Everyone held their breath.

They felt like their worlds collapsed on them.

How could Kaze call in a battalion of soldiers?

How?

They suspected that it might be a dream or an illusion.

They rubbed their eyes and pinched their cheeks, but the pain told them that what was happening before their was real. very eyes

It was all real!

"So it was not him who was incapable, it was us..."

Rose wished she could bury herself in a hole. She was the clown, not

Kaze.

"Oh. My. God. W-Who is Kaze exactly?!"

Agatha almost passed out from the shock. She could not even maintain the same pitch.

Knowing that she insulted Kaze earlier, her face turned

“I have no idea...” Agnes’ mind went blank.

Kiev looked at Kaze in fear.

How could he go after Darcy if Kaze was this powerful? Why did he lose him the confidence to snatch Darcy away from him?

He was courting death, not Darcy!

Kaze did not care about the reactions. He said to the guard at the entrance, “Tell Shane Blanc to come out right now!” “Y-Yes sir!”

The guard who looked down on Kaze was mortified. He turned around and ran into the park. He tripped and fell, but he quickly got up and continued running inside.

He was afraid that the soldiers would execute him for delaying any further.

“Boss! Someone called in a battalion of soldiers and got the park surrounded!”

Shane was wondering what caused the commotion outside when his men came in with the message. "What is the Melrose Strategic Department thinking? Is Rumhold trying to get on my nerves?" he shouted.

He assumed Trevor, the commander of Melrose Strategic Department, would not dare to send troops to his place, that was why he was confident in rejecting the request.

Now, his entire logistics park was surrounded by soldiers.

"Boss, it's not the Melrose Strategic Department! It's the red One Battalion of South River Strategic Department! "There are helicopters, armored trucks, and tanks outside soldiers are heavily armed as well!"

Shane shuddered when he heard this.

Aerial tactical battalion armed for battle?!

"Can we still get out of the park?!" Shane asked.

His men sobbed as he said, "No! The whole park is locked down, not even a fly can get out!"

"And boss, the person in charge of this whole operation is with Lilyrose's chief commander. He wants you to go out right now!" Shane's expression turned pale.

Lilyrose's chief commander?

Chief Commander Draco Lang?!

Shane was not that afraid before he heard Draco's name.

Draco's name and title pushed him over the cliff of despair.

He did not take the Melrose and South River Strategic Departments seriously because they dared not move against him. However, the chief commander of Lilyrose was different.

Draco was from the God of War Palace.

Even if Shane had the support of a top-tier family from the capital, he dared not mess with someone that high of a rank.

"Hurry and get those two women out! I'm going out!"

Shane ran to the entrance immediately.

"So you're Shane Blanc?" Kaze asked.

Thump!

Shane fell to his knees immediately and said in a trembli Yes sir! | am Shane Blanc!"

Kaze went close to him. "Stand up and speak!"

Shane held his shaking knees as he struggled to get up.

"What happened to the two women you held up?" Kaze asked col

Shane's heart sank. He knew he had messed with the wrong people

He did not know the two women had such a powerful background. Even someone like the chief commander was alarmed.

Shane dared not hold any secrets from Kaze. "Sir, they are safe! I held them captive but I didn't hurt them!"

Chapter 459 Death Penalty

Kaze nodded and breathed a sigh of relief.

"I heard you got a hundred million from Darcy. Explain that," he asked.

Shane gulped nervously and said, "Ms. Quint wanted me to find out the traitor of Lefteria Group." "And did you?"

"I did. It's a guy named Leo Lionel."

Kaze looked at him. "Based on what I know, Leo came to you and then went back to Lilyrose. Yet the ladies are held captive. How do you do business?"

Shane got so frightened that he wanted to kneel, but Kaze stopped him with a fierce glare. He shuddered and managed to keep himself standing.

"Sir! I was tricked! Leo gave me one billion and I fell for it! But I never thought of hurting Ms. Quint and Ms. Scarlet! It was him! It was Leo! He wants me..."

Shane exposed Leo and his schemes without a second

Kaze's eyes gleamed coldly after he learned the truth.

Leo went back to Lilyrose alone because he wanted to use get rid of the ladies.

He wanted to kill them with a borrowed knife!

He ordered Shane to let Miru escape and if she did, she could ne clear her name as the traitor. Given Jeremiah's persistence, he would surely hunt down Miru an silence her once and for all once caught.

Darcy and Miru were best friends, and given her righteous personality, she would never sit back when her friend was in trouble. If Miru got in trouble, Darcy would too.

Leo's plan might get Darcy killed.

This point alone angered Kaze and to him, Leo was already dead..

Kaze said coldly, "Forget about Leo for now. My wife did business with you but you turned on her. What are you going to do about it?"

Shane was sweating profusely. He explained as he sobbed, "Sir, | really had no idea that Ms. Darcy Quint is your wife! If | had, | wouldn't have done it!"

Then, Darcy and Miru were escorted out of the logistics park. Kaze then said, "You tell her yourself and hear her response." Shane immediately went over to Darcy and knelt before her. "Ms. Quint! | am terribly sorry!" Darcy said coldly, "I hate people like you, who don't keep your promise!" "Yes, | am so very sorry! | was tricked! | was blinded! | s turned on you!" Shane prostrated. "Sorry ain't enough. I'll slap the shit out of you!" Miru was much more aggressive. She rolled her sleeve and Shane in the face. The slaps left Shane's face swollen, but he dared not move or do 'ib Miru finally vented out her grievance ve Then, Agnes ran over to her daughter and checked on her. She breathed a sigh of relief knowing that Darcy was not hurt. "Darcy, you're fine!"

"Why did you come to Melrose without letting us know? Do you have any idea how worried your father and I were?"

Darcy was embarrassed and apologized to her parents.

She noticed the armored trucks, tanks, and hovering helicopters, which shocked her.

"Did Kiev call in the soldiers?! We have to thank him, or else Miru and I won't get out of this easily!" Kiev, who heard Darcy, remained silent. He blushed and wished there was a hole that he could bury his head in like an ostrich. Agnes was also embarrassed.

"It wasn't Kiev. It was Kaze who called in the soldiers."

"Kaze?!"

Darcy and Miru were stunned. They both looked at Kaze with widened eyes.

Both of them could not believe what they heard.

How did Kaze call in the soldiers?

"Kaze, did you really call in the soldiers?" Darcy asked. She felt like this was the first time she knew Kaze.

Chapter 460 Albert Hiden

Not only Darcy and Miru, even Agnes and the others glued their eyes to Kaze.

“Yeah, I called them in,” Kaze admitted in front of everyone.

“Uh...”

Even though the armored trucks and tanks were shocking enough, they were still astonished when Kaze admitted it in front of them.

How did Kaze do something even Kiev could not?

Kaze suddenly became a mystery that no one knew.

His real identity intrigued everyone.

Could he be the secret child of some powerful officers? He had someone even more powerful than Kiev's father?”

“Sir, the chief commander of South River Strategic Department attended the practice of Armored One Battalion and he heard that your were near. He wants to meet you.”

Reeve, who had been quiet since the beginning, went whispered in his ears.

The chief commander that he was referring to was Alber

A few days ago, Kaze had agreed to attend his inauguration ceremony that was around the corner.

It was just a matter of time before they met.

Kaze called the young man impatient but he understood his excitement as well.

and

Since Albert used to serve under him, Kaze nodded. "Bring him

Soon, multiple green jeeps with the number plate exclusive to South River Strategic Department came.

When Kiev saw the number plates, he was left in a daze again. He cried, "That's the private jeep of the chief commander of South River Strategic Department, Albert Hiden!"

"Kiev, who is this Albert Hiden?" Agnes was curious about this mysterious but powerful figure. "Agnes, this chief commander is someone extremely powerful!" As the family of a serving soldier, Agatha knew the military more than her sister did.

"Let me put it this way. Chief Commander Hiden is the most powerful person in South River Strategic Department. Even Kiev's father is his subordinate."

"Do you have any idea how old he is? He is just thirty years old!"

Agatha lowered her voice and said with a hint of delight, "I heard he's the son of some big family and has a strong background. That's why he's able to become the chief commander at such a young age."

Being a chief commander at thirty years old was amazing and could be considered a genius! "Aunt Agatha, it's a little inappropriate for you to say that"

Kiev continued, "Chief Commander Hiden might have a poor background but he also achieved a lot on his own to reach his position. His background and capabilities complement each other"

"I heard he used to serve on the foreign battlefield and joined the God of War's special training. You can say he was trained under the God of War."

"Think about it. He's someone who trained under the God of War! He" capabilities are undoubtedly astounding! My father said that because he joined the special training by the God of War, no one questioned him when he was promoted to chief commander at such a young age!”

Kiev sounded proud. He was not jealous of Albert at all despite being the same age. He admired Albert and respected him for his achievements.

The difference between him and Albert was worlds apart.

It was futile to envy him.

Moreover, Albert was his father’s superior.

He

Me how felt close to Albert and assumed the chief commander as his senior.

Everyone got a lot more curious about Albert after Kiev's explanation.

Only Kaze curled his lips.

Other than him, Miru’s reaction was rather cold. She even had a hint of disdain on her face when people talked about Albert.