

Guardian 841

Chapter 841 A Pack of Cigarettes Please

“Hi, Kaze.”

Rose’s friends greeted him, with a casual attitude, somewhat perfunctory, and even sized him up curiously. Before Rose came to Lilyrose, her friends heard about her complaining about Kaze.

Even though Rose had completely changed her mind about Kaze after spending some time with him, her friends remained prejudiced.

They even looked down on Kaze.

Mei said with a smile, “Kaze, you must be here to drive us around. Appreciate it.” “Yeah, we'll pay you!

the service,” Welt added.

They knew Kaze married Darcy and he was never taken seriously. They also knew that his mother-in-law always scolded and beat him.

There was once when they video-called Rose and they heard Agnes scolding Kaze in the back and threatening to throw him out of the house.

Bronya spread the news in her circle and it sparked a heated discussion.

Having no position in the family was terrible.

Welt offered to pay Kaze for his service out of goodwill. He felt bad and pitied Kaze, and so did the other three. However, it was more hurtful than looking down on Kaze.

Kaze was not concerned. He smiled and said, "Since you guys are Rose's friends, you are my friends as well, how can I take your money?"

Rose's friends instantly had a better impression of Kaze.

Welt said, "I heard the road to Mountain Dew Estate is curvy and long, it's tiring. Since we are using your time, we have to make it worth your while."

The others nodded in agreement.

"It's fine. Besides, I'm not driving either and I'm not on duty. I'm just accompanying you guys to have fun." Rose's friends thought Kaze was trying to save face, so they did not insist.

They had decided to give him the money later when they arrived.

No one noticed the bitter look on Nelson.

When they all got into the car and saw Nelson in the driver's seat, they realized Kaze was telling the truth. Mei asked, "Rose, is your father driving us?"

"Yeah. My dad is a great driver. He'll drop us off at Mountain Dew Estate and pick us up later," Rose explained. Nelson was tasked to drive Kaze around by the discipline department.

"Then what is Kaze doing here?" Welt asked with furrowed brows.

Rose widened her crystal clear eyes. "Like he said, he's here to have fun as well."

"Have fun?"

Rose's friends shot an annoyed gaze at Kaze and their fondness of him plummeted.

Kaze could drive, yet he let Nelson, who was older than all of them, ride and only wanted to have fun.

They were afraid that they might have to cover Kaze's expenses for the trip as well.

If Kaze was someone with a status, it would be normal but he was exactly the opposite.

Kaze married into the Quint family, which gave him a lower position than others.

They might not harbor malicious intents against him but they instinctively looked down on him.

"Wait, I forgot to get some water. It's going to be a long drive. Let's get some water." Mei said.

"Why? It's so hot! I'll melt outside!" Mei said.

Welt then took out his expensive wallet and gave a few hundred bucks to the driver to get into the car.

"Kaze, buy us some drinks and get two packs of cigarettes for Mr. Oceanid."

Chapter 842 A VIP Client

Welt sounded courteous but the contempt underneath was obvious.

He even asked Kaze to bring Nelson packs of cigarettes but did not offer Kaze anything.

“Welt, what are you doing? You think you are at home? If you are thirsty, go get something to drink yourself.” Rose stepped in and defended Kaze.

Welt came from a wealthy family and Rose simply thought he was acting like a spoiled young master.

Welt’s expression turned gloomy. He had always liked Rose and he was the one who suggested the trip. However, Rose talked back to him because of Kaze, which further lowered his impression of Kaze.

As the atmosphere grew tense, Bronya intervened, “Rose, come on. Welt is just trying to be nice and he blurted out without much thought. Don’t mind him.”

“Yeah. We are all inside the car already except Kaze, so Welt is just asking out of convenience.” Bronya and Gepard defended Welt.

Rose pursed her lips and stared at Welt quietly.

“It's okay. | can go get a pack of cigarettes and some water for you guys.”

Kaze gave no mind to a bunch of teenagers, so he took the money and went to the nearest convenience store. “Water? | said | wanted Coke.*

Mei grumbled when Kaze came back with a few bottles of water.

Rose widened her eyes. “Mei, if you want Coke, you can get it yourself.”

Mei zipped her lips but her impression of Kaze went down.

He could not even satisfy the simplest of requests, no wonder his mother-in-law always scolded him at home. Kaze smiled it off. He obliged but he did not want to spoil them either.

He simply grabbed the bottles of water at the store and did not go through their different orders one by one.

Soon, the seven-seater car drove off.

Two hours later, after navigating the winding mountain roads, they finally arrived at Mountain Dew Estate.

“Dad, you can just drop us here. Go back and have some rest. We can go back on our own tomorrow. Right, Kaze?” Rose felt bad for her father as well and she turned to Kaze with a pitiful look.

Her friends had no idea why Rose would need Kaze’s permission for this.

“Thank you for driving us here Mr. Oceanid!”

Kaze smiled and handed Nelson a pack of cigarettes.

Agatha was Darcy's aunt, so Kaze was not in a position to argue with her.

Therefore, he kept going after her husband, Nelson.

Nelson was with the military and was a subordinate to Kaze’s subordinate.

He grunted with a bitter look but took the pack of cigarettes as well.

He was afraid of upsetting Kaze and that Kaze would make him the driver for tomorrow.

He had to drive for two hours straight through winding mountain roads and it was tiring.

More importantly, Kaze slept throughout the journey and snored like a pig! Nelson's reaction surprised Rose's friends.

Not even Rose's father liked Kaze.

"Have you booked a room?" Nelson asked Rose.

Welt answered, "Don't worry, I've talked to my father's friend and he will help arrange for it. not

20 OFF CAD Dow The We are staying in rooms. Since he always comes here to escape the summer, he's a VIP guest here.

"He said the place is getting crowded especially in summer.

Mountain

connections, he might not even get a room for himself. Keep in mind

one of the

executives of the estate."

Welt sounded proud because it was a chance to appeal to Nelson.

“Alright, since Welt prepared everything, I don’t need to worry. You guys have fun and stay safe. I’ll be going then. “Kaze, you better keep them safe as well.”

Nelson shot a warning gaze at Kaze before he drove off.

He had decided to use every connection he had to inform the discipline department to stop answering Kaze’s requests. The sky had turned dark, so Welt said, “Let’s go check in first. We’ll put our luggage in the room before we have dinner.” When they entered the lobby, another group of youngsters came over.

“Hey, isn’t that Rose? You guys are here as well?”

They strutted in with a proud demeanor and the luggage was being carried by the bellboy.

The leader of the group was the one who called out to Rose and he was staring at her eagerly.

“Taz?”

Rose’s expression shifted. She instinctively turned around to look for Kaze but she just remembered that he excused himself to the washroom.

Taz was the son of Samson Hobbs. He was her senior when they studied in the same school. He even tried to ask her out before.

Rose was sweet and talented. She always performed on stage and even represented her school in dance competitions. She was quite popular in school, which also attracted Taz Taz had always been the arrogant playboy in school because of his father and his relationship with the Lee family.

He too had a group of followers wherever he went and could mingle with the gangsters, so no one dared to challenge him. He used to harass Rose with his group of followers and it caused her a lot of trouble.

Fortunately, after Taz went to college, Rose was finally freed.

“Rose, you guys are checking in as well? Why don’t you join us later? We are having a barbecue party outside. Come, the more the merrier.”

Taz invited Rose to join his group,

Soon, the seven-seater car drove off.

Two hours later, after navigating the winding mountain roads, they finally arrived at Mountain Dew Estate. “Dad, you can just drop us here. Go back and have some rest. We can go back on our own tomorrow. Right, Kaze?” Rose felt bad for her father as well and she turned to Kaze with a pitiful look.

Her friends had no idea why Rose would need Kaze’s permission for this.

“Thank you for driving us here Mr. Oceanid!”

Kaze smiled and handed Nelson a pack of cigarettes.

Agatha was Darcy's aunt, so Kaze was not in a position to argue with her.

Therefore, he kept going after her husband, Nelson.

Nelson was with the military and was a subordinate to Kaze's subordinate.

He grunted with a bitter look but took the pack of cigarettes as well.

He was afraid of upsetting Kaze and that Kaze would make him the driver for tomorrow.

He had to drive for two hours straight through winding

More importantly, Kaze slept throughout the journey and snored like a pig! Nelson's reaction surprised Rose's friends.

Not even Rose's father liked Kaze.

"Have you booked a room?" Nelson asked Rose.

Welt answered, "Don't worry, I've talked to my father's friend and he will help us HAN les oot!

now at we are staying in rooms. Since he always comes to Mountain Dew Estate to escape the summer, he's a VIP guest here.

"He said the place is getting crowded especially in summer. If he doesn't have any connections, he might not even get a room for himself. Nee

one of the

executives of the estate.”

Welt sounded proud because it was a chance to appeal to Nelson.

Chapter 844 | Don't Like You

Welt sounded stern and he called Taz a fool in front of Rose.

Taz was a proud person. The moment Welt stepped in, his smiley face was replaced by a gloomy look. “You little punk, who do you think you are talking to?”

Slap!

Taz slapped Welt on the face.

Welt did not expect the sudden slap. The force of the slap sent him to the floor.

“Welt!”

“Taz! Why did you hit him?!”

Rose and her friends were shocked and quickly went over to Welt.

“Let go of me!”

Welt was equally prideful. He pushed his friends away and shouted at Taz, “You hit me?!” “Talk shit, get hit.”

Taz raised his hands and prepared to throw a punch.

Welt was frightened and quickly moved away.

“Haha! Stupid punk! Taz can hit anyone he wants. Stop bullshitting in front of us!”

“Yeah! | think this punk likes Rose as well. The last one who tried to snatch Taz’s date was hospitalized with a broken leg.” The youngsters around Taz scoffed and sneered at Welt.

Welt was embarrassed and angry at the same time. Deep down, he was feeling aggrieved yet scared.

“Move along, punk!”

Taz ignored Welt and went over to Rose.

“Rose, which room are you staying in? I’ll walk you there and we can go out together later.” Taz tried to take Rose’s luggage again.

Rose got so nervous that her face turned pale. She moved backward as she said with widened eyes, “Taz, you hit Welt! | don’t need you to walk me to my room, nor will | have dinner with you!”

Taz’s expression turned grim. He glared at Welt and scoffed, “Rose, it was him who started it. Everyone saw it.” His followers nodded in agreement.

Rose and her friends pursed their lips helplessly.

Taz smiled and said, “Rose, come on. Don’t be like this. You know | have always liked you. Even in college, | still think of you all the time. | still hope we can go to the same college.”

He was bluffing.

Rose heard news about the many girlfriends Taz had had in just a few months and there was even a girl who got an abortion for him.

“Haha! Rose, listen to Taz. He’s awesome in college. If you are in the same college as us, no one would dare to touch you.” Taz’s followers echoed. Rose was angry and embarrassed. “Keep on dreaming, Taz. I will never go to the same college

as you and I don’t even like you.”

She was scared but she was able to keep calm while he in a sense would embarrass her from time to time.

She knew Kaze was strong and if he were here, Taz and his friends would not dare to hit Welt. Taz was furious that Rose rejected him openly.

He said grimly, “Rose, I’ve always bought you breakfast and gave you a ride to piegents High School. Have you forgotten?”

He thought by giving enough, he could get more in return.

Rose said strongly, “I never ate anything you bought and gave me. I don’t like you. Please move! We are going to check in!”

She wanted to walk away from Taz. Taz was embarrassed by Rose’s openly rejection. He clenched his teeth and said coldly, “Check in?! Without my permission, you and your friends are not checking in here!”

Chapter 845 The Manager

“Rose, if you are not having dinner with me tonight, then you and your friends won’t be checking in to Mountain Dew Estate!” Since Rose had openly rejected him, Taz revealed his true nature and threatened her.

Rose and her friends were agitated.

Taz was being a jerk. His fondness for Rose was merely his wishful thinking and now that Rose had rejected him, he tried to coerce her into submission.

Rose shouted angrily, “Taz, you are a jerk! | won't go to dinner with you!”

Taz’s expression turned heavier. He grunted and said, “It’s dark now and Mountain Dew Estate is the only resort here. I'd like to see where you guys are going to spend the night.”

o stay in our “Why don’t you come to stay in our

Taz’s friends continued to tease her.

room?”

“Yeah. Good idea, we can make a lot of love and maybe a baby or two.”

“Rose is still a student. What if she has to bring her baby to class in the future?”

They harassed her openly.

Rose was flushed with anger. Her friends felt bad either but they were helpless against Taz and his friends. Welt was furious that the girl she liked was being harassed. 1 “Taz, you really think you own this place? We already booked one of the most expensive rooms here!” he shouted. He then showed his booking on his phone.

He asked his father's friend to help book the best room because he wanted to flatter Rose.

Taz glanced at his phone and scoffed, "One of the best rooms? Not anymore."

He then turned around to the bellboy carrying their luggage. "Call your manager. I want to see him right now," he said with a condescending tone.

The bellboy was afraid of him, so he quickly used his walkie-talkie to contact his manager. "Manager Barden, Young Master Taz wants to see you at the lobby."

"Young Master Taz is here already? Tell him I'm coming right now."

Soon, a chubby man in a formal suit came out of the office.

n

12

He was the guest relations manager, Kefier Bardem.

He walked up to Taz and bowed with a bright smile. "Young Master Taz, what can I do for you?"

Rose and her friends had a bad feeling when they saw the manager bowing at Taz.

Taz was happy with Kefier's attitude.

He pointed at Welt and said, "This guy here said he ees ore of tthe

Welt and the others were shocked. Without any hesitation, Kefier turned around to Rose and her friends with an apologetic look.

"The room that you booked is actually reserved b and it's made directly by our big boss.

"I'm so sorry but we will have to cancel your booking and we will do a full refund." Rose and friends were furious. Kefier looked kind and polite but listened to Taz's order and canceled their reservation.

Welt said angrily, "What VIP? What big boss? We were the ones pen our reservation? No! | won't let this happen!"

Chapter 846 Julius Grange

Kefier's face fell as Welt would not take the hint.

"You might want to think before you speak."

Kefier said curtly, "The owner's two-billion-dollar purchase of Mountain Dew Estate has demonstrated his abundant finances. one you can mess

"The honorable guest is an influencer with millions of followers, not someone you with. You're just students, so don't even try. "Know when to quit and cancel the reservation. Otherwise, | have other ways to blacklist you from Mountain Dew Estate." Exasperated, Kefier adopted a harsh approach toward the students.

"That's outrageous. That's bullying. We will expose you i what you are.

Rose and the others could burst into tears in rage.

They could not tolerate being kicked out in the middle of the night.

“Expose me?”

Kefier smirked fearlessly. “I doubt you have clout. Once the influencer gets here, he could make a post to promote the resort. Your so-called expose won't get many views.”

Rose and the others were at a loss for what to do.

They were just students with no experience of the real world.

“Mr. Bardem, that's a bold statement to make. I'd like to see you try and kick them out on my watch.”

angry voice resounded.

An angry

The group turned to the source of the voice and saw a poised middle-aged man in casual wear approaching.

“Julius!” Welt exclaimed with joy.

It slipped his mind that Julius was enjoying his summer vacation at Mountain Dew Estate too. Julius Grange was the friend of Welt's father.

“Mr. Grange.”

As color washed off Kefier's face, he glanced at Welt and probed, "And who is he to you?" "He's my nephew."

Julius uttered coldly, "The kids are here for their summer break, Kefier. I reserved the chalet for them, but now you're driving them out. I guess you don't value me as a guest."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Grange. I didn't know the boy was related to you."

Kefier smiled embarrassedly.

"Yay!"

With Kefier backing down at Julius' presence, Welt and the others cheered gleefully. Julius scoffed. "Mr. Bardem, I believe you owe me an explanation."

"Mr. Hobbs."

Kefier turned to Taz for help.

Stuck between a rock and a hard place, Kefier did not want to upset either party. "Who is he?"

Taz looked askance at Julius, his attitude as arrogant as ever.

Kefier drew close and whispered, "He's the chairman of Sunrise's Green Lantern Corporation. He's loaded and books a vacation at Mountain Dew Estate every summer."

“Haha. The chairman of Green Lantern Corporation? What's the big deal?”

Taz sneered in contempt, “My dad has shares in Green Fahteli om Corpora and-thechdinian, gave him'the shares as a gift after my father helped him.”

Julius scowled. He stared at Taz, sizing him up. “And you are?”

Since Taz’s attitude gave him a leg to stand on, Kefier replied Se Grange, he is T Hokbseth ctor of Lee Investment and son of Samson Hobbs.”

“Samson Hobbs?” Julius was filled with dread.

Samson was a well-known figure in

Sunrise’s One a.helpedsthe Cee amily to present their illegal businesses as legitimate.

He had the means and connections.

Having caught wind of Samson’s reputation, Julius was concerned to come face-to-face with Samson's son.

“Julius, right? It’s in your best interest to stay out of this.”

Taz lit a cigarette and took a drag. “Poking your nose in places you’re not supposed to can get you and your family in trouble.”