

Guardian 850

Chapter 850 You Are Taz's Lapdog

Taz talked tough and stormed off.

"Is that supposed to be a threat?"

Kaze narrowed his eyes dangerously at Taz's back before turning to ask Rose, "How did the guy come onto you?" Rose recounted Taz's unwanted pursuit of her in school.

In the end, she tugged Kaze's clothes and said worriedly, "I think Taz's father is influential, Kaze. He might go after you." Kaze appreciated Rose's concern.

He patted her head and said with a smile, "It's okay. I won't go down without a fight."

"Okay."

Rose nodded with glee.

"Wow, you were amazing, Kaze!"

As Rose's friends gathered around, Bronya and Mei stared at Kaze with star-studded eyes.

The girls, impressed by Kaze's quick takedown of Taz's minions, found Kaze quite the hunk.

"Thank you, Kaze."

Welt awkwardly thanked Kaze.

He had a crush on Rose, When Taz forced his lips on Rose, Welt was heartbroken and frustrated with his helplessness. The fight changed the group's opinion of Kaze for the better.

Julius said, "You ought to watch out, young man. Taz is Samson's son, and Samson is associated with the Sunrise Lees." "Are the Sunrise Lees that remarkable?" Kaze said indifferently.

Kaze was not a fan of Julius.

Julius stayed on the sidelines as Rose endured abuse from Taz.

Sensing Kaze's indifference, Julius scoffed peevishly and lectured Kaze, "Ignorance is bliss, young man."

He assumed Kaze was in the dark about the Lee family's power.

Brushing Julius off, Kaze carried Rose's suitcase. "Come on. Let's check you in and get something to eat. I'm hungry." "Check in? Who said you could?"

With bunched tissue up his nose, Kefier sneered, "Mr. Hobbs has put the word out. You're not welcome at the resort." Kaze narrowed his eyes and uttered solemnly, "Are you the manager of Mountain Dew Estate or Taz's lapdog?"

Since Kefier did not recognize him and would not allow them to check in, Kaze gave Nancy a call. "My family, her friends, and I are trying to check in, but a manager named Kefier Bardem won't let us through the lobby. Can you get here now?"

On the other end of the line, Nancy was thrown for a loop.

She had communicated to her team that the owner was checking into Mountain Dew Estate tonight. Yet, something went wrong. "I'm coming, Mr. Lee."

Nancun

down the phone and rushed to the scene at record speed.

Enraged, Kefier said threateningly, "It doesn't matter who you call, relations No one wilt Check you in without my approval."

Kaze nodded calmly. "Alright. Keep talking."

Kefier's eyes burned with rage

He told a staff member in the back, "Call security. He hit me, and he's not getting away with it." "But, sir, he's a guest at the resort."

The newly hired staff member did not recognize Kaze. Stil HE was raid of Kezeand aid hot want to cross him.

"A guest? He has no right to attack me or anyone els Aiepineteribtish net to all «Re\cops on him."

Kefier added angrily, "Hurry up, or I'll fire you!" Scared stiff, the staff member picked up the intercom. "Who are you"trying to fire, Kefier?"

An angry voice boomed from behind.