

Guardian 854

Chapter 854 Lil Dee Samson brought up his opinion about Kaze within Taz's earshot.

Thinking little of Kaze, Taz hissed through clenched teeth. "He's a bastard. He has the nerve to hit me when my dad won't even do that. Since you're here, I'll crush you now and make you hand over Hudson Investment Firm."

Taz turned his nose up at Samson's plan. In his opinion, no scheme was necessary to deal with a loser like Kaze.

Lost in his thoughts, Taz pondered ways to dice and slice Kaze when his sidekick said, "Mr. Hobbs, Lil Dee and his team are at Mountain Dew Estate."

"Come on. Let's meet with Lil Dee."

Taz got up and led his minions to meet Lil Dee.

Lil Dee and Taz were old friends.

Taz often watched Twig live reels in his spare time.

Back then, Lil Dee had only started live streaming as an influencer.

Lil Dee's stunts made Taz laugh, and Taz sent gifts worth up to a million dollars on the platform, propelling Lil Dee into stardom. Later, Taz and Lil Dee hung out several times in real life and hit it off.

Taz was there at Mountain Dew Estate because Lil Dee had invited him.

After settling Kaze and his group in their accommodation, Nancy received news of Lil Dee's arrival and headed to greet him at the Mountain Dew Estate parking lot.

Due to Lil Dee having a huge team, Sky Ocean Corporation dispatched several vehicles to transport them to the resort. “Lil Dee, hello-”

As Lil Dee got out of the car, Nancy went up to him.

Before Nancy could finish talking, Taz suddenly approached and glared at her. “Get lost!”

Nancy was enraged.

Still, Taz did not see her as a threat. He walked toward Lil Dee, and the old pals fist-bumped. Lil Dee, in his thirties, was big and burly.

He had a pink-dyed buzz cut, a tattoo along his neck, earrings, and a silver chain around his neck. His style was very much hip—hop-influenced.

“What happened to your face, Taz?” noticing the blister on Taz’s face, Lil Dee asked.

Taz was frustrated and exasperated. “I don’t want to talk about it. A bastard burnt me with a cigarette.”
“Who would do that to you? That person is asking for it.”

Lil Dee made a big deal.

Not wanting to talk about it, Taz asked, “You have a lot of people with you. Do you have an event?”

“Yeah. Sky Ocean Corporation invited me to become the ambassador for Mountain Dew Estate. I heard that the owner of the resort would be here to meet me. That's the sort of respect I am getting. We can have our fun later, Taz.”

Lil Dee chuckled. Their fun time usually consisted of women. Kaze was the owner of Mountain Dew Estate. In other words, Kaze would be attending to Lil Dee.

Taz smiled. He finally figured out a way to straighten the loser.

“Lil Dee, Sky Ocean Corporation must not think that you're important, Sure, the guy, i the owriero ountain Dew Hotel, but he's just a loser, living off his wife.

“Do you know that the guy is well known in the city f Ore: Wife's 'ee ames wogbl no ody thinks highly of him. Lil Dee, your socials can break millions in sale're an influencer, and anything you promote on loser.”

Taz stirred things up.

Lil Dee grimaced. “Is that so?”

records. It's beneath you to be associated with the

“You can ask around if you don't believe me. Would | lie to you?”

Taz continued to make waves. “Besides, the loser gets the best chalet at the resort tonight.

“You traveled from far away to be their ambassador, oe Shouldn't WaAse {east aki you with the best chalet?”