Chapter 857 Bottoms Up

No one expected Lil Dee to be so blunt as to bring up Kaze's touchy subject.

The clamoring pub fell silent.

Lil Dee's team, Taz, and his sidekicks looked at Kaze curiously.

Most of them held Kaze in contempt.

Not wanting to put Kaze in the spot, Nancy said angrily, "Please show Mr. Lee some respect. He's our owner, Lil Dee." "Hal"

Lil Dee snorted and sneered. "So what? Can't | be honest with the owner? It's no secret that Mr. Lee took his wife's family name. Was | wrong?"

While Lil Dee was right, he did not have to lay bare Kaze's privacy.

Nancy was disgusted with Lil Dee.

The influencer, who was famed for his charity work and humility in public, acted high and mighty behind closed doors. "Lil Dee, Mr. Lee represents Sky Ocean Corporation."

Nancy stressed to remind Lil Dee that they were equal partners.

Given Kaze's position as a Sky Ocean Corporation representative, any personal attacks would be considered inappropriate. However, Nancy's words insulted Lil Dee.

"Are you threatening me with Sky Ocean Corporation?"

Lil Dee jolted to his feet and flipped the table, sending the bottles and cans clattering to the ground.

Rose and her friends turned as white as a sheet.

Even the ever-composed Kaze furrowed his brows.

Provoked, Lil Dee shouted angrily, “Don’t forget that Sky Ocean Corporation sought me out multiple times until I eventually agreed to a deal. I have thousands of companies eager to work with me.”

Nancy was taken aback by Lil Dee’s reaction. Darcy planned to rebrand Mountain Dew Estate, and Nancy did not want to be the reason to get in the way.

Drawing a deep breath, Nancy lowered her head and apologized, “I’m sorry, Lil Dee. It’s my fault. I shouldn’t have said that. Please don’t be mad.”

Despite Nancy’s kind apology, Lil Dee was not ready to let things go.

“You’re Nancy, right? You called me out for disrespecting your owner, but an apology won’t cut it for dissing me.”

Lil Dee grabbed a bottle of Remy Martin cognac. “The least you can do is finish this drink. before we can put this behind us.” It was not a glass. She was expected to down a whole bottle.

Although Nancy did not drink, she knew a bottle of Remy Martin cognac could knock her out.

Lil Dee was clearly out to get her.

“Alright. I'll do it.”

Gritting her teeth, Nancy yielded to Lil Dee for the greater good.

She was about to pick up the bottle when an arm extended across her to stop her. Then came Kaze's voice.

“Nancy doesn't drink, so let's not put her through that. You seen like a suave Yu adnate to take things far.” Kaze said indifferently, his gaze staring straight at Lil Dee.

Lil Dee raised a brow. Reading the dripping sarcasm in ee' stand, He spepedhuttt you going to drink on her behalf?”

Kaze narrowed his eyes dangerously. He wanted to move on from the matter, but Lil Dee would not drop it until someone finished. the bottle. Lil Dee was a petty man. He would not stop until he got his revenge.

Since branding Mountain Dew Estate was a Strategy ae out for Sky aze could not ruin the partnership.

“Fine, I'll drink.” He calmly grabbed the bottle of Remy Martin cognac.

Kaze uncorked the bottle with his thumb and gulped down the alcohol.
