

Guardian 865

Chapter 865 Public Anger Kaze briefly told them what happened last night.

Darcy was disgusted after learning the truth.

Lil Dee might be an influencer who spread positive energy but he was privately a pervert and a jerk.

One of the executives, Dayton Shoemaker, was unhappy with Kaze's explanation. "Mr. Lee, if Lil Dee is looking to have fun, why not just satisfy him? Isn't this what business meetings are all about?"

"Yet you raised your punch at him. Do you know how much your punches cost us? Lil Dee has terminated the contract and he's suing us!"

The other executives nodded in agreement.

Kaze glared at Dayton coldly. "If he wants to terminate the contract, just let him be. Lil Dee is a rotten person. Making him the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate is going to ruin Sky Ocean Corporation's reputation."

He did not want to make Lil Dee the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate.

Lil Dee might be famous with a strong fanbase but if some scandals happened to him in the future, Mountain Dew Estate might be affected as well.

It was also the reason why many agencies and companies terminated contracts with celebrities or influencers once something bad happened. It was to save their own skin.

Kaze was totally fine with Lil Dee terminating the contract.

Dayton's expression turned ugly.

Kaze might be hinting at him while calling out Lil Dee's poor character.

Dayton grunted and said angrily, "You made it sound easy. Do you have any idea how much money has Sky Ocean Corporation invested in Mountain Dew Estate and its campaign? We have invested almost half the funds we received from the city council. Because of your punches, they are all going into the drain!

"You did nothing for the company's growth but you are wreaking havoc with your temper. You should fix this immediately. Turn yourself in or whatever!"

The other executives nodded in agreement.

Kaze resented Dayton for prioritizing the company's profit over serving justice. He said coldly, "If it's down the drain, let it go. What does it have to do with you? This company belongs to my wife, you are just working for her."

He did not care about losing money.

He was the one who told Mathias to buy Sky Ocean Corporation and he was also the one who funded the entire city development campaign through the city council.

Kaze's words infuriated not only Dayton but the other executives as well.

+15 BONUS Aggrieved, Dayton looked at Darcy. "Ms. Quint, we are on the company's side, yet your husband is trying to discourage us. Is he trying to make me leave?"

Kaze almost threw up at his pretentious character.

"Then leave. Sky Ocean Corporation can continue to operate without you," Kaze said coldly. Anyone righteous would be disgusted by Lil Dee's action, yet Dayton made it sound normal. In other words, he might be as filthy as Lil Dee deep down.

To Kaze's surprise, his words angered everyone.

"Ms. Quint, your husband started this yet he's forcing Dayton to quit. What is the meaning of this?"

"Are you trying to make us quit as well?"

"You think you can do whatever you want because you're the com chairwoman's husband? full of yourself!"

The executives voiced up.

"If you want to leave, go ahead!"

Kaze slammed the table. "Ash, approve all of their resignations."

"Mr. Lee, technically speaking, you do not have any rights to make Om decisions in this company," Ash said.
