

Guardian 867

Chapter 867 Pressure Alyssa scoffed.

Shouldn't you You can go back and tell Ms. Quint to turn her husband in. This is your fault.

Shouldn't you be aware of that already by now?"

Ash kept quiet. She could tell Darcy would rather risk losing the company than send her husband to jail.

"You can leave now, Ms. Lester. Before Kaze Lee kneels in front of us, we will not be having any conversation with you."

pestered for Ash to leave the place.

Ash returned to the office with a bitter look.

Darcy and the executives were still in the meeting room, waiting for her to come back.

"Lil Dee is firm on this. Unless Kaze kneels and apologizes, they aren't going to continue the cooperation."

Ash told them about her meeting with Alyssa.

Dayton then said, "Ms. Quint, we must make Kaze apologize to Lil Dee, we still can turn this around. If this snowballs out of hand, our company is going to lose even more."

"Dayton is right. Kaze hit Lil Dee yet Lil Dee didn't call the police on him. He's trying to save our faces. Kaze should apologize to Lil Dee."

The other executives echoed in agreement.

"What do you mean by that?"

Darcy bellowed, "Can't you guys see what's wrong and right? It was Lil Dee who asked Kaze to pimp him and force Nancy to sleep with him. What must Kaze apologize to him?"

Her voice silenced the meeting room.

Then, Dayton mustered enough courage and said, "Ms. Quint, Lil Dee might be morally wrong on this but Kaze is physically wrong. We can solve this in a peaceful manner."

"Yeah. Raising his fist is wrong. If word gets out, what would people think about our company? If things didn't work out, should we raise our fists at people as well?"

The others jumped on Dayton's courageous act and voiced their opinion.

They all believed Kaze should apologize to Lil Dee.

They might not care about Kaze but Darcy cared.

She bellowed angrily, "You guys are funny. The one who did what's right must apologize to the morally wrong one? How can you guys make it sound so righteous?"

"Ms. Quint, we know that Kaze isn't fully wrong this time but this world isn't just black and white. There is a gray area."

Ash explained, "If Kaze doesn't apologize, we can't even negotiate with them. Why don't you talk to him and see if he can make it happen?"

+16 BONUS Darcy was surprised that Ash would agree with Kaze apologizing.

Slam!

She slammed the table and bolted up. "No! This isn't happening! Meeting dismissed!"

She stormed out of the meeting room.

"Ms. Quint is capable but she is overprotective of her useless husband. Can't she see the big picture?"

yeah. If he d actions?"

choose violence, this wouldn't have happened. Must we all pay for his

The executives continued to grumble.

Darcy bit her lip as she stormed back to her office. Her eyes were teary.

"What's wrong, babe?"

Kaze was scrolling his phone when Darcy came in with a sour look.

With a sobbing tone, Darcy said, "Lil Dee wants you to apologize. If not, he won't agree to continue the om cooperation. The executives agreed for you to apologize to him, including Ash. She even said it's not all black and white, there are gray areas as well. It was Lil Dee who was morally wrong..."

Kaze's gaze turned cold. "Is Ash trying to pressure you?"