Chapter 868 Darcy Does Not Make the Final Decision in Sky Ocean Corporation Kaze thought only the executives wanted him to apologize and he was not concerned at all.

Now that Ash had joined them.

Ash was the acting CEO who ran the company when Darcy was not around. She was practically the brain of the company.

If this continued, Darcy's position would surely be challenged or worse, abdicated.

Whether Ash was intentional or not, Kaze could not allow it to continue.

He made a call to Mathias immediately.

"Brother, what is it?"

Mathias' humble voice came from the phone.

Kaze said coldly, "Come here and take care of your manager. If not, I'll do it for you."

Mathias was shaking when he heard Kaze.

Before he could even figure out what happened, he nodded and said, "Right away! I'll be there!"

Only after the call, Mathias got a second to wrap his head around the situation.

Manager? Did Kaze mean Ash?

Ash was acting against Kaze?

Mathias was irritated. He left the hotel room that he was in and went to Sky Ocean Corporation.

Meanwhile at Ash's office, Dayton and other executives who supported the idea of Kaze apologizing were there to talk to her.

"Ms. Lester, Ms. Quint is too stubborn. She's risking the company's profit for her stupid husband. This can't go on."

"Yeah. It was her husband who caused all this yet we have to suffer the consequences. Why?"

Dayton and the others voiced their complaints.

Ash emotionlessly said, "Don't come to me with that. You saw Ms. Quint's answer. She'd rather lose the company than agree to Lil Dee's terms."

In between the lines, she was dissatisfied with Darcy's actions.

Dayton grunted and said, "Ms. Quint might be the chairwoman but she doesn't make all the calls in this company."

The other executives were enlightened by his words.

The one who made the decision was the Butterworth Queens.

"Ms. Lester, why don't you talk to Mr. Queen and see what he can do about it?"

The executives hoped that Ash could use Mathias to continue pressuring Darcy.

+15 BONUS Dayton, an extremist, said, "I think we should consider changing our chairwoman. Ms. Lester is much more capable and experienced for the position and if she could replace Ms. Quint, the company will surely perform better."

He was trying to sow discord for his own selfish gains.

If Ash could replace Darcy, he might be able to seize some benefits for himself in the

"Yeah!"

The other executives echoed in agreement.

They wanted to side with Ash but they were afraid of offending Darcy.

"Shut up!"

Ash slammed the table and glared at them. "Do not try to sow discord!"

Internal conflict was a taboo in any organization.

However, Ash simply scolded Dayton and the rest before letting them go.

It was then she received Mathias' call.

process.

"Wait for me. I'm coming to Sky Ocean Corporation," Mathias said coldly before he abruptly hung up the call.

Ash frowned in dissatisfaction.

She had served the Queens for many years. With her reputation and m experience, even Mathias would talk to her politely and show respect.

Yet he spoke to her with such a tone on the phone.
