

Guardian 869

Chapter 869 Death Wish Ash did not overthink about it. She simply thought Mathias was angry because he found out about Lil Dee terminating the contract with Sky Ocean Corporation.

She put the phone down and then looked at Dayton and the others.

"Mathias is coming. Let's go down and welcome him."

Dayton and the others exchanged a delightful gaze. They did not expect Mathias to come so soon.

They quickly followed Ash downstairs to wait for Mathias.

At the lobby, Mathias strode in with a stern look.

"Mathias."

"Young Master Mathias!"

Ash and the others bowed and welcomed him.

Mathias nodded at them and asked, "I heard that something happened to the company?"

"Yes. Ms. Quint's husband hit Lil Dee, the ambassador we hired for Mountain Dew Estate. He terminated the contract and threatened to sue us. I tried to negotiate with them but they wanted Kaze to apologize to them..."

Ash briefly told Mathias what happened.

"He must be having a death wish!"

Mathias' expression turned grim.

He was amazed by Lil Dee's stupidity. How could an influencer demand the God of War to kneel and apologize to him?

He thought his fanbase could save him and allow him to be ignorant?

The entire Queens basically listened to Kaze's orders.

When Lil Dee insulted Kaze, he indirectly insulted Mathias as well.

Mathias wished he could skin Lil Dee alive and break all his limbs.

The executives, however, thought Mathias was talking about Kaze.

Dayton and the others originally thought about making the complaint to Mathias. When they saw the grim look on Mathias, they knew they were right and it lifted their spirits.

Dayton went up and said, "Young Master Mathias, you are right. Kaze must be having a death wish for causing this much loss for the company.

"If he just kneels and apologizes to Lil Dee, we can avoid the worst. Yet Ms. Quint protected her husband and refused to send him there. It was her husband who hit Lil Dee first yet our company has to pay for it.

"Ms. Quint is risking our company's profit. I think she's no longer suitable to be the +15 BONUS chairwoman..."

Dayton spoke righteously and criticized Kaze.

He had no idea that Mathias was looking at him with murderous intent.

Mathias then looked at Ash, who looked nonchalant. "Ash, what is your opinion on this?"

"I think Ms. Quint is being stubborn and it has caused many complaints in the management."

Ash was not as direct as Dayton but she made her stand clear as well.

"Does it include you as well?" Mathias' voice turned cold.

Ash frowned. She did not know what caused the change of tone, but she nodded as well.

"Yes."

Slap!

Mathias then slapped Dayton, who was nearest to him.

Dayton covered his face in shock. "Young Master Mathias, why..."

Ash and the other executives were similarly shocked.

Slap!

Mathias slapped Dayton on the other gre?

side of his face. He said coldly, "Who do you think you are? You want Kaze to kneel and apologize? Are you criticizing Ms. Quint? You should be the one apologizing to Kaze."

Dayton fell on his butt and stared at Mathias blankly.

What happened?

He had no idea what just happened.
