Chapter 881 Professor Shoots Commercial

Samson watched quietly as Natasha struck Darcy.

“Ms. Quint, let’s go! Samson Hobbs, you will pay for the slaps!”

Ash quickly dragged Darcy away and left with an angry remark.

She was not bluffing. She knew that Darcy had a strong background and even the Butterworth Queens worked for her.

Samson was just the lapdog of the Lees. His fangs were not enough to hurt Darcy.

“I’ll be waiting for you. If you can, bring your useless husband along. Hahaha.”

Samson laughed as he pulled Natasha into his arms and tapped her butt. “Nice slaps, Nat. You did what I have always wanted to do.”

“Sir, Darcy Quint is a bitch. Slapping her will only dirty your hands. I can do it for you,” Natasha said meekly as her eyes gleamed with viciousness.

She was just jealous of Darcy.

Darcy was more beautiful, younger, and was the chairwoman of two companies.

Natasha was just a slave to Samson, a plaything to his son and Vayne.

“Darcy, how did it go?”

Back at Sky Ocean Corporation, Kaze came into Darcy’s office, asking about the meeting with the professor’s student.

He sent Rose and her friends to their homestay and had lunch with them, so he had no idea how the meeting went.

He was surprised to see the teary Darcy at her desk. He went over and hugged her.

“What’s wrong, babe? What happened?”

“Mr. Lee, Professor Whiteman’s endorsement deal was intercepted by Lee Solutions...”

Ash then told Kaze about what happened back at Dynasty Hotel.

Bang!

Kaze punched the solid wood desk angrily.

“Samson Hobbs, I didn’t come after you yet you hit

my wife?”

He pulled his phone out and called the professor.

He was not concerned about Vayne, the clown.

No matter what deal he had made with Samson, Professor Whiteman could turn the contract into useless papers with one word.

However, Kaze could not reach the professor.

He then called Kenny, a doctoral student who followed the professor to Lilyrose.

“Kaze, you are looking for the professor? He just went out and left his phone behind. I don’t know where he went but I saw an expensive car pick him up.

“They say the professor signed an endorsement contract and is here to pick him up for a commercial shoot, so the professor followed them.”

Kaze knew it must be Lee Solutions who picked the professor up.

They were quick. They already scheduled a commercial shoot right after the deal.

Kaze wiped the tears off Darcy’s face and said, “Babe, the professor was taken away by Lee Solutions for a commercial shoot. I’ll go bring him back.”

“Kaze, don’t try anything stupid. The Lees are after you, so you better stay away from them. Since the professor had signed the deal with them, just forget it.” SEARCH THE WEBSITE to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Darcy tried to stop Kaze.

“No way. You were slapped because of this. I have to avenge you.”

Kaze added coldly, “Besides, the professor followed them away thinking that it was our commercial shoot, or else he would never agree to go with them.”

Due to the history between the professor and the Lees, the professor resented the Lees.

No matter how much the Lees offered, the professor refused to cure Narian’s legs. He would never agree to be their ambassador as well.

“Darcy, just stay here and rest. I’ll bring the professor back.”

Darcy no longer tried to stop Kaze.

“Ash, go get lunch for Darcy.”

After giving Ash his last order, Kaze left Sky Ocean Corporation.

Through Snow, he found out where the professor was doing the commercial shoot.

“Isn’t this a fertility hospital? We are doing the shoot here?”

Professor Whiteman came down from the black Maybach and saw the signage above his head.

His brows furrowed as he was baffled.

He had heard about this hospital before but was not fond of their practices.

It felt strange that the commercial shoot was being held in the fertility hospital.

“This is the place, Professor Whiteman.”

Samson's secretary, Natasha, was tasked to receive the professor.

Professor Whiteman did not know her. He simply thought it was an employee of Sky Ocean Corporation.

Annoyed, he grumbled, "You guys really know how to pick the location."

He might be dissatisfied with the location but he had agreed to become the ambassador, so he followed Natasha into the hospital.

The hospital was still operating.

cam

When the doctors and nurses heard that the professor had arrived, they out to welcome him warmly.

"Professor Whiteman is having a commercial shoot at our hospital? We don't need to worry about sales anymore!"

"Yeah! Our hospital's reputation is terrible and now we can change it to an orthopedic specialist with the professor endorsing us. We can continue to make money!"

"The professor isn't as money-averse as they said. He accepted our hospital's endorsement. Even I dared not tell people that I work here..."

"I know right? But hey, money made is money earned. Lee Solutions must have made an offer that he could not resist."

The doctors and nurses were mumbling, and the professor did not understand them. He thought they were his fans.

"Alright, make way, please! Please do not stand in the way!"

The camera crew was ready at the garden for shooting.

The director told the assistant to bring the professor over.

"Professor, I need you to wear this doctor's robe, give us a big thumbs up while standing here

Several crew members surrounded the professor instantly.

One of them put the robe on him, one of them put makeup on his face, and one of them helped him to wear the mic for recording.

Professor Whiteman was overwhelmed since he was a complete amateur in commercial production. He simply cooperated the best he could.

“Professor, I just need you to read the lines here.”

One of the crew members then gave the professor the script.

“Lilyrose Orthopedic Hospital, the first choice for any physical injury. I am Professor Sam Whiteman and I endorse...”

Before he even finished reading, Professor Whiteman was infuriated.

“What nonsense is this?”

He tore the script in half and shouted, “Where’s the person in charge? I want to see him! I thought this was a commercial for Mountain Dew Estate. Why am I endorsing some random hospital instead?”

All the crew members were stunned, not knowing why the professor was so agitated.

Natasha and the people from Lee Solutions then came over.

She looked at the professor with a confused look and said, “Professor, have you mistaken something? What Sky Ocean Corporation? You are here to endorse Lee Solutions’ hospitals. This hospital is one of our properties.”

Chapter 883

Chapter 883 Violated

“I am endorsing Lee Solutions’ hospitals?!”

Professor Whiteman was baffled.

Kaze asked him to be the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate of Sky Ocean Corporation, yet it turned out to be Lee Solutions.

“That’s right, Professor Whiteman. You are now the exclusive ambassador of Lee Solutions and you are doing a commercial shoot for the hospital under the company’s name,” Natasha explained patiently.

The professor was vital to Samson’s plans, so she had to do whatever she could to satisfy him. Professor Whiteman asked, “Is Kaze Lee the owner of Lee Solutions?”

If Lee Solutions belonged to Kaze, then the hospital should be fine and he did not mind endorsing it either. SEARCH the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

He trusted Kaze.

“Kaze Lee? You mean that useless son-in-law of the Quints?”

1230

Natasha did not notice the change of expression on the professor’s face when she called Kaze useless.

She sneered. “Lee Solutions belongs to the Sunrise Lees. They both shared the same name but the useless trash isn’t worthy to be my boss.”

Professor Whiteman found Natasha’s remarks to be both amusing and irritating at the same time.

“Useless? If Kaze is useless, then you are not even human!”

The professor bellowed, “I’m done. I’m not doing the shoot! You want me to endorse the Lees ‘property? No fucking way! Goodbye!”

He took the doctor’s robe off and tossed it on the ground.

“Professor, what’s wrong? What happened?”

The director got nervous and looked to Natasha for help.

The professor was a man with a temper.

The ambassadors that he had worked with before were all cooperative and would do their best to complete the job.

Natasha’s expression turned bitter after being scolded by the professor.

Her expression turned grim when the professor took the robe off. She bellowed, “Professor Whiteman, you signed a contract with Lee Solutions. You can’t just walk away. You are paid, so you are expected to fulfill your part! You are a prestigious professor in the medical field, don't tell me you are also a rascal!"

Professor Whiteman scoffed. He spent most of his life saving lives yet someone called him a rascal.

"Listen carefully, girl! I did not sign a contract with Lee Solutions and I did not accept a cent from you," Professor Whiteman bellowed.

Natasha scoffed. "Your student, Vayne Tucker, made a deal with Mr. Hobbs. The annual endorsement fee is two hundred million. Each appearance at an event and commercial shooting is five million.

"The contract is signed and you are trying to breach it?"

Professor Whiteman widened his eyes, speechless.

Vayne signed a contract with Lee Solutions? He had no idea about it and Vayne did not say a word to him.

Lee Solutions were eager to have him endorse the hospitals, so before Vayne could even inform him, they had invited him to the commercial shoot.

"Vayne, what did he do?!"

Professor Whiteman wanted to call his student to find out what happened but he realized he did not have his phone with him.

Natasha told the crew member to pick up the doctor's robe. She tapped the dirt off and then tossed it back to the professor.

"Professor, you better put the robe back on and cooperate."

She knew the professor cherished his reputation, so she was not afraid of him walking away. She did not bother to keep her politeness either.

She said viciously, "You are already an old man. I think you wouldn't want your reputation to go down the drain at such an old age, right?"

"Who do you think you are? What gives you the right to speak to the professor like that?" A frosty voice came from behind the crew members.

Chapter 884

Chapter 884 No One Leaves

“Kaze?!”

Listening to the familiar voice, Professor Whiteman looked toward the voice and saw Kaze coming out from behind the crew members.

“It’s you? Darcy Quint’s useless husband? What the hell are you doing here?” Natasha glared at Kaze.

Are you the one who slapped my wife?” Kaze walked up t her and stared down at her.

Natasha scoffed and lifted her chin arrogantly. “Yeah, I slapped her. I slapped her twice on both her cheeks. You should have seen her face when she left...”

Before she could even finish her sentence, she was slapped in the face.

Slap!

The sudden slap forced her to swallow her words back into her stomach.

“Aaah!”

Natasha covered her burning cheek and screamed in pain. “You slapped me?! You piece of garbage!”

Slap!

Another slap landed on the other side of her face.

“I slapped your boss’ son. Why can’t I slap the lapdog working for him?”

Kaze did not even look at her as she fell to the floor.

“Professor, let’s go.”

He walked over to the professor and took the mic off his collar.

“Great!”

Professor Whiteman was assured by Kaze’s presence. He laughed as he stripped the doctor’s robe and tossed it on the floor.

Right before he could leave with Kaze, Natasha shouted, “Hold it right there! No one is leaving!”

She glared at Kaze and bellowed, “You slapped me! You are not going to walk out of his hospital! You are dead!”

Kaze turned around and glanced at the woman. He stood still and said, “Whatever you want to do, just do it. Don’t waste my time.”

His contemptuous tone infuriated Natasha.

She shouted, “Security, get this son of a bitch and beat him up, or you and your men will be fired!”

The head of security, Birdie, led his men over.

+15 BONUS

He was a well-known gangster in the underworld. He and his men were responsible for the security work of different hospitals under Lee Solutions.

All the security guards were his men.

Since the hospitals were not exactly responsible and honest, it was quite normal for the families of the patients to cause trouble at the reception or the lobby.

Common security guards would not be able to hold them down or scare them away.

Birdie and his men were more like bouncers than security guards.

“Punk, how dare you cause trouble at our hospital?”

Birdie and his men surrounded Kaze with ferocious gazes.

Natasha was confident that it would deter Kaze. She added, “Kaze Lee, I slapped your wife too lightly just now. Now I am going to slap your face off your skull!”

“Stop wasting my time. Come at me.”

Kaze told the professor to step aside and then pointed at Birdie.

“You piece of shit! I’ll kill you!”

Birdie signaled his men. “Get him!”

The security guards jumped on Kaze. They were eager to present themselves in front of Natasha because they might be rewarded later.

Kaze did not take them seriously at all.

He grabbed one of the security guards by the arm and broke it with a single twist.
“Ugh!”

The excruciating pain of the broken arm forced a painful look on his face.

Kaze then grabbed him by the collar and tossed him around like a bat.

“Ough!

“Oaaah!”

Painful screams sounded continuously.

In less than a minute, all the security guards were beaten to the ground, curled growling in pain.

Everything went silent except for the painful growls.

Everyone looked at Kaze in shock, except for Professor Whiteman.

Yet they were like children in front of Kaze.

Slap!

A heavy slap sent Birdie to the floor, landing on his butt. His head was slightly dizzy as he stared at Kaze blankly.

Kaze grabbed him by the hair and said, "Still trying to break me?"

"No! No! Not anymore! Please let me go!"

Kaze lifted Birdie into the air single-handedly.

With his legs kicking and flapping like a bird, Birdie felt like his scalp was being ripped off his skull.

"I can let you go."

Kaze then gestured with his lips, pointing at Natasha. "Slap the woman's face and I'll let you

"But she's with the boss..."

Birdie almost broke down in tears as he begged.

Kaze's expression turned cold. He tossed Birdie away on the ground.

The fall almost broke his body into pieces.

"Do what I say or I will break every bone in your body," Kaze said coldly.

Birdie immediately got up and ran over to Natasha.

"What are you doing?!"

Afraid and scared, Natasha tried to run but Birdie grabbed her hair and pulled her back.

He lifted his hand and slapped her on the face ceaselessly.

“Aaaaah!”

Natasha cried in pain as Kaze brought the professor away.

They went back to Sky Ocean Corporation.

“Professor Whiteman! Professor Whiteman is here!”

The news spread across the office and lifted everyone’s spirits.

Professor Whiteman’s arrival gave everyone confidence.

Not only did the criticism online target Sky Ocean Corporation, but it also targeted the employees.

In addition to the termination of contracts, the employees were disheartened and distressed. Now that the hero of the country appeared in their office and was talking to their chairwoman, it boosted their confidence and got rid of their worries.

“Professor, welcome to Sky Ocean Corporation!”

“Professor, you know Ms. Quint?”

The professor received a warm welcome and was treated like a celebrity.

“Guys, calm down. The professor is here to bring us good news and we will finalize the details soon. Please return to your seats and be patient.”

Darcy sent the employees back to their workstations before bringing the professor into her office.

“Darcy, I’m so sorry about what happened. It was all Vayne’s fault.”

Professor Whiteman apologized the moment he entered the office.

He had found out what happened along the way through Kaze and he knew that Darcy was slapped because of him.

Darcy said, “It’s alright, Professor Whiteman. You were not informed, but Vayne had signed an exclusive contract with Lee Solutions. Would you be in trouble?”

Professor Whiteman was furious about it.

He did not expect Vayne to sell his endorsement rights to Lee Solutions.

“It’s fine. Vayne sent me the original copy of the contract and I haven’t signed it yet.”

He waved his hand to assure Darcy.

Everyone breathed a sigh of relief. If the contract was signed, then the professor would be bound to Lee Solutions and it would take a while to dissolve the contract through legal means. It would also affect the professor’s reputation during the process.

“It’s okay now, Darcy. You guys can print a new contract and I’ll sign it here and now. No one is going to intervene now,” Professor Whiteman said.

The incident alarmed the professor. It seemed like he could not even trust his own student.

He could only trust Kaze, who he had been through life and death with.

“Okay. Ash, can you draft up a contract real quick? We’ll choose the right time to make the announcement,” Darcy said.

They could not afford to drag this out any longer.

The longer it took, the more damage was done to the company.

While Professor Whiteman was signing the contract with Sky Ocean Corporation, Samson received the news of Natasha being hospitalized as well.

More importantly, the professor was taken away from the commercial set by Kaze.

Slam!

Samson smashed his favorite mug on the floor and shouted, “Call Vayne immediately!” Vayne was sleeping after having too many drinks at lunch.

He was woken up by an abrupt call and made his way to the Lee Solutions’ office.

Samson wore a strict look on his face as he bellowed, "What is the meaning of this, Vayne? I thought you said you had gotten your professor to sign the contract, yet he refused to cooperate on set!"

Vayne's heart skipped a beat. He knew Samson was difficult to deal with once he got mad. "Samson, calm down. I'll call the professor right away and find out what happened." Vayne dialed the professor's phone but he reached Kenny instead and was told that the professor did not bring his phone along.

"The professor left his phone. I'll go look for him right now!"

Samson scoffed, "You don't need to look for him anymore. Kaze Lee took him back to sky Ocean Corporation and even beat up Natasha.

"Vayne Trucker, I'm warning you. You better get this done or else I make you pay up ten times the fifty million investment you got from me!"

Samson lost his patience and threatened Vayne before tossing the man out of his office.

Vayne shuddered as he walked out of the building. On second thought, he decided to head to Sky Ocean Corporation.

When he arrived at the reception, Vayne arrogantly said, "I am Vayne Tucker, Professor Whiteman's student. Tell your chairwoman to come and meet me!"

The receptionist contacted the chairwoman's office to convey the

"Tell him to leave. I don't have a student like him," the professor said angrily.

Now that he had calmed down, he was able to comb through the details.

At first, he thought Vayne might have misunderstood Kaze and Darcy and fell for Samson's trap, yet when Kaze revealed that fifty million dollars were credited into Vayne's company account earlier in the afternoon, he knew he was tricked.

The money was from Lee Solutions.

Professor Whiteman was furious. The student that he had high hopes for sold him out to Lee Solutions for fifty million.

"I'm not meeting him."

Darcy refused to see Vayne as well.

"Alright, Ms. Quint. I tell him to leave," the receptionist said.

Kaze said, "Wait, just tell Vayne that Darcy is busy with something else. Tell him to wait."

"I have nothing to say to him," Darcy said.

Kaze smiled and said, "I know but he made you wait for him earlier, so why not return the favor?"

Darcy curled her lips knowing that Kaze was trying to avenge her, so she told the receptionist accordingly.

Chapter 887 Cold Shoulder

"Mr. Tucker, Ms. Quint is busy now. You'll have to wait a moment to see her," the receptionist said.

Vayne bellowed, "Wait? Did you tell her who I am? I am Professor Whiteman's student. Sky Ocean Corporation has to go through me to secure the professor's endorsement!"

"Mr. Tucker, the professor also said he doesn't have a student like you," the receptionist said with a professional smile.

"Nonsense!"

Vayne did not believe the professor who disowned him.

He believed the professor was tricked by Kaze and Darcy. He slammed the counter and bellowed, "Tell Darcy Quint to hand over the professor, or I will call the police and say your company is restricting him! Do you know how serious this is?!"

"Mr. Tucker, please do not cause a scene here, or we will sue you for slander. You should know how serious that is too."

The receptionist saw the professor go up with Darcy with smiles and laughter, how could he be confined within the company?

“You!”

Vayne was fuming!

The receptionist not only stopped him from seeing Darcy, but she even threatened to sue him for defamation.

His pride was challenged.

“Yvonne, what’s going on here?”

The security guards, who were veteran soldiers, came over.

The receptionist called them over when Vayne started to cause a scene.

She pointed at Vayne and said, “This man here is trying to cause a scene. You guys might need to see him out.”

The security captain stared at Vayne fiercely.

Vayne did not expect the receptionist to threaten him to this extent. He was furious but he dared not shout anymore in the presence of the security guards.

“You want me to wait? Fine. I’ll wait!”

Vayne stormed over to the waiting lounge.

He waited for two hours.

He asked the receptionist countless times and was brushed off with all kinds of excuses.

While his patience thinned, he finally experienced the annoyance that Darcy and Ash went through earlier.

+15 BONUS

Finally, he lost his patience. He went over to the reception and shouted, “Tell Darcy Quint to come down right now!”

“Who do you think you are, shouting and causing a scene at my wife’s company?”

Kaze came out of the elevator.

“Kaze Lee?”

Vayne was even more infuriated seeing him. “You were the one who took the professor here! Hand him over!”

“You think the professor is an item that can be given away?”

Kaze signaled the security captain. “Throw his man out.”

“What are you doing? Let go of me! Aaaa!”

Vayne was tossed out of the lobby.

Kaze stood on top of the stairs and lit a cigarette. He said, “Vayne Tucker, is it? How does it feel to be treated with the cold shoulder? My wife never intended to see you. I made you wait that long.” SEARCH THE WEBSITE TO ACCESS CHAPTERS OF NOVELS EARLY AND IN THE HIGHEST QUALITY.

The most frustrating thing was that Vayne could not do anything about it even when he learned the truth.

Vayne shouted at Kaze but he was not bothered at all.

Kaze went back into the building after finishing his cigarette, leaving the angry Vayne alone on the street.

With all options exhausted, Vayne called the police.

“I want to make a report! Sky Ocean Corporation is restricting Professor Sam Whiteman!” “Are you sure about that? The last person to kidnap the professor was taken care of by Chief Commander Hiden. Who else has the nerve to do that?”

The operator on the other end of the line did not take him seriously, which challenged Vayne’s pride.

Chapter 888 Strip

Vayne was deeply aggrieved.

He quickly thought of reporting another incident.

“Then I’m making a report about Kaze Lee, the husband of Sky Ocean Corporation’s chairwoman, hitting Natasha Laxton, the secretary of Lee Solutions. She’s hospitalized now.”

“Please hold on, sir. We’ll verify this before we send officers over.”

After the call, Vayne waited for the police to arrest Kaze. Then he could bring the professor back to Lee Solutions and sign the contract.

However, he received a call from Samson.

“You fuck, who told you to call the police? Are you trying to tell everyone that Kaze Lee took the professor away under my watch? Isn’t it embarrassing enough?”

“Do you know that Kaze is tight with the local police department? They won’t arrest him for whatever he did...”

Samson scolded Vayne and told him that not even Natasha dared to press charges on Kaze. “Vayne Tucker, I’m warning you one last time. If the professor doesn’t sign the contract with us by today, I will erase you from Sunrise City’s business world!”

Samson gave Vayne the ultimatum.

“That piece of shit. He turned on me faster than anyone!” Vayne grumbled after the call. Regardless, he had to bring the professor back to sign the contract with Samson.

Suddenly, he saw a media van stopping in front of him. Reporters with cameras headed straight into the building.

He had an idea.

At the same time inside a VIP ward of Lilyrose Prime Hospital, Alyssa came in with a middle- aged woman that looked fierce.

Lil Dee was smoking on his bed when the woman came in. He quickly jumped off the bed and went over with a flattering smile.

“That’s good to know.”

Laura nodded. She then said to Alyssa, “I heard the press is heading to Sky Ocean Corporation. How many media outlets are there?”

Thousand Leaf Entertainment used every connection they had and invited more than a hundred media houses to exacerbate the situation.

“Ms. Blossom, before I received your call, most of the media houses we invited were already there. They are all interested in this incident,” Alyssa said.

Laura nodded. “Great. The more, the merrier. Remember to reward the reporters. We can’t save on this. We can earn back double or even more from Sky Ocean Corporation.”

A large crowd gathered at the entrance of Sky Ocean Corporation.

More than a hundred media outlets were present.

The security guards formed a human wall to stop the reporters from entering.

“Darcy Quint, please come out. We would like to interview you.

The chairwoman’s husband beat up Lil Dee, causing him to be hospitalized. Is it true?”

“Is Mountain Dew Estate a brothel with pimping service?”

The employees who were at the scene to maintain order were questioned by the reporters, yet none of them said a word.

“Why aren’t you answering our questions? The company forbids you from talking? They’ll fire you once you speak? Sky Ocean Corporation is said to be affiliated with gangs.”

The silence was counter-effective. Some sensitive questions were posed and the employees’ silence turned into a tacit affirmation to those questions.

It was obvious that Sky Ocean Corporation was in a tough spot.

Someone was trying to crush the company by pressuring them.

The sensitive questions were the tools used by the mastermind pulling the strings from behind.

Vayne was an elite businessman and he knew someone was targeting Sky Ocean Corporation. With curled lips, he went over to the reporters and shouted, “I am Vayne Tucker, the student of Professor Sam Whiteman. I would like the press to uphold justice for my professor!”

The reporters were further excited by the sudden news.

“Professor Whiteman’s student?”

“What happened? What truth do we need to uncover?”

The reporters swarmed Vayne like moths to light.

Vayne was instantly surrounded by mics and recorders.

“Less than three hours ago, Professor Whiteman was taken by Sky Ocean Corporation’s chairwoman’s husband, Kaze Lee, and they are now inside the building!

“I demanded they release the professor but I was rejected and thrown out. I called the police. but the police refused to believe me that they had my professor restricted.”

Vayne teared up and spoke angrily in front of the cameras.

The media outlets were shocked by the news.

“Sky Ocean Corporation, release the professor!”

“Darcy Quint, come out and face us! You owe the public an apology!”

While the angry mob at the entrance, Professor Whiteman was signing the contract in Darcy’s office.

“Professor Whiteman, thank you for lending us a helping hand in this difficult time. I can’t thank you enough,” Darcy said as she shook the professor’s hand.

Professor Whiteman smiled and said, "It's nothing. I believe in you, Darcy. If you want me to shoot any commercial or advertisement, just let me know."

Ash and the other executives applauded the professor's kindness.

Suddenly, an employee barged in with a panicked look and said, "Ms. Quint, there are a hundred media houses at the entrance, here to question us about the incident with Lil Dee!

Ash and the others were struck with sudden realization. The panic on their faces was gone.

“Yeah! Someone hired the media outlets to pressure us but we can use it for free publicity! We should thank this person!”

“Hahah, when we make the announcement, the mastermind would be pissed!

Everyone in the office laughed.

Kaze said with a smile, “Professor, let’s go downstairs. It’s time to put an end to this fiasco.”

“I’m really disappointed in Vayne!”

Professor Whiteman left the office with a gloomy look.

“Darcy, let’s go.”

Kaze held Darcy’s hand and followed the professor downstairs.

At the entrance of the building, while the reporters were doing their jobs in front of the camera, a group of people came out of the sliding glass door.

“The chairwoman of Sky Ocean Corporation and her husband are here!”

Then all the cameras pointed at Darcy and Kaze, bombarding them with flashlights.

“Ms. Quint, Professor Whiteman’s student said your husband abducted the professor and currently has him inside the building. Is it true?”

“Kaze Lee, you beat up Lil Dee and abducted Professor Whiteman, what do you have to say for yourself?”

The reporters bombarded them with questions.

Kaze looked at them coldly and bellowed, “There’s nothing I have to say. Reporters like you fanned the flames so you can get more attention, the truth doesn’t matter. Is this how the media work nowadays?”

His words offended many of the reporters.

“What did you say? Explain yourself!”

“You were the one who did all this and you blame us?”

The reporters were angrier than before.

Kaze said coldly, “I said nothing wrong. All of you are here because someone said something. You fanned the flames and hoped it would get bigger so you could get views and attention.

“You reporters are either stupid or villainous!”

The reporters were fuming.

Even though it was nothing new for reporters to be despicable for attention and views, Kaze said it right in their faces without qualms and it challenged their patience.

He somehow managed to silence all the reporters.

“Kaze, you obnoxious criminal, release the professor!”

Vayne came over with an angry look.

Slap!

Kaze slapped Vayne’s face in front of the cameras.

“You hit him!? What the hell?”

“We’ll report this! You will be charged!”

The reporters clamored loudly.

They did not expect Kaze to be this arrogant. Not only did he scold the reporters, he even slapped Vayne in front of the cameras.

Vayne covered his face and shouted, “Kaze Lee, you abducted the professor and slapped me!!”

Kaze shook his hand and said casually, "That is for the professor. I slapped you because you betrayed him." Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Then, an aged but vigorous/voice came from behind.

"Professor Whiteman!?"

"The professor is here!"

When the vigorous aged voice echoed in the air, the reporters clamored once more.

The reporters were so excited that they almost broke through the security guard's human wall.

Vayne was pushed away from the spotlight and was drowned by the stampede.

"Professor, your student said you were abducted by Sky Ocean Corporation, is that true?"

Professor Whiteman glared at the reporter and said was, how am I answering your stupid question here? Are you blind? Should I recommend you to my optometrist friends to get your eyes checked?

"If

"And you people! Where is your conscience? Are views and attention more important than the truth?" Professor Whiteman bellowed angrily at the reporters.

Like Kaze, the professor did not care what the reporters would write in their articles.

He simply disliked the reporters' poor ethics and scolded them.

The reporters were scolded by Kaze and then the professor. Many of them were aggrieved.

They came here expecting a big scoop but got scolded twice for no reason.

However, none of the reporters left. If they had to endure some beating to interview the professor, they would bite the bullet and take the hit.

"Professor Whiteman, you came here of your own will? We received news that you have been here for at least two hours since you lost contact with the world," one of the reporters asked right after being scolded.

Upset, Professor Whiteman explained, "I came here of my own volition. Who said I was abducted? I came to Sky Ocean Corporation because I am working with them."

"Working with them? On what?"

The reporters were more curious than ever.

He explained, "I have accepted Sky Ocean Corporation's invitation to become the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate!" Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

The prestigious professor who had never accepted any endorsement became the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate!

This was surely a big scoop!

All the reporters were excited. Cameras flashed non-stop as the reporters tried to move closer for an interview.

"Professor, don't fall for it! Sky Ocean Corporation is involved in a violent incident and they are using your name to clear their own!"

Vayne made it out of the crowd alive and went up to the professor.

"You shut up!"

Professor Whiteman bellowed, "Vayne, you claimed to be my student but you used me as your leverage to negotiate with Lee Solutions!"

“You sold my endorsement rights to them and got a fifty million investment. You really think I am worth only fifty million?”

The professor laughed.

“Professor, I...”

Vayne’s expression shifted. He panicked. He did not expect the professor to know the truth. “Shut up!”

The professor added, “Don’t call me your professor anymore! I don’t have a student like you!” “Professor! No!”

Vayne was devastated. He fell on his butt as his world—collapsed on him.

He was disowned by the professor in front of the reporters and was exposed for his betrayal.

He was as good as dead. He could no longer use the professor’s name to trick people anymore.

Vayne did not realize this was just the start of his torment.

Soon, he received a call from Samson.

“Vayne, you better take the responsibility, or I will come after you and your family!”

Samson shouted into the phone.

Not only did the professor announce his endorsement of Mountain Dew Estate, but he also exposed the dirty secrets between Vayne and Lee Solutions.

Samson could already see the criticism flooding his company, so he quickly warned Vayne to take responsibility and free the company from unnecessary criticism.

Vayne was forced to agree.

He regretted his actions.

If he directly signed the contract with Sky Ocean Corporation, things would not have been exacerbated to this extent.

However, there was no turning back for him now.

No one cared about Vayne anymore. All the reporters focused on the professor and Sky Ocean Corporation.

The news of the professor endorsing Mountain Dew Estate reached the internet and made headlines.

As the professor's first endorsement, Mountain Dew Estate received overwhelming attention.

"Darcy, we got great news! The bookings are coming in like crazy and we are fully booked for three months ahead in just half an hour!"

Nancy, the manager of the estate, called Darcy to inform her of the good news.

Professor Whiteman's name was too influential.

He alone was better than the celebrities out there.

On top of that, Darcy received more good news from their previous partners.

"The person in charge of South River Station just called. He apologized for what happened and would put our advertisement back on schedule!"

"Our promotional video is also running again on different social media platforms!"

"Ms. Quint, I'm Ethan from Mountain Dew Tourism Board. Many travel companies just contacted us for a collaboration. The other neighboring sites also wanted to work with us to set up a full route for the tourists."

Not only Mountain Dew Estate went viral, but even the location it was in became a tourist spot.

Darcy suppressed the excitement and said to the executives, "We cannot just start the tourism project without proper planning. Many basic infrastructure remains unfinished and damaged, we haven't completed the safety assessment as well."

“The more attention we get, the more we have to keep calm. Tell the tourism department to inform interested parties to go through the necessary procedures.

“We have to fix all the basic infrastructures first before we can work with the neighboring tourist spots. Our priority now is on rebranding Mountain Dew Estate as a recreational center.”

The development of Mountain Dew Estate was halted under the top three families' management.

Darcy knew that the attention Mountain Dew Estate got was because of the professor, not its own features.

If she jumped on the hype and agreed to release even more tourist attractions, it could secure some short-term benefits and that would not last long.

There were many previous examples of tourist spots being replaced due to the lack of tourists. “Ms. Quint is right. If we take the right steps to do this tourism project, it will profit us for more than a decade. We cannot just be blinded by the immediate success.”

Ash and the other executives agreed.

Sky Ocean Corporation's management was able to calm down faster than the public.

“Darcy, you are getting better at this.”

Kaze held Darcy's hand when they returned to the office. He was there at the meeting and he was impressed by Darcy's decision-making skills.

Darcy was happy that the tables had turned.

She shot a glance at Kaze to warn his hand to behave.

“Kaze, thank you. It was you who came up with the idea of getting the professor to endorse Mountain Dew Estate. Otherwise, I really have no idea what to do.”

“That’s it? At least give me a kiss.”

Kaze smiled and moved closer to her face.

Darcy blushed and jokingly pushed him away. “I have to work... Mhmm!”

Her resistance was silenced by a strong kiss..

Meanwhile at Lilyrose Prime Hospital, the atmosphere in Lil Dee’s ward felt heavy.

The TV on the wall was showing Professor Whiteman being interviewed at Sky Ocean Corporation.

Other than the noise from the TV, everyone in the ward was silent and they had a heavy look on their faces.

After the news, Alyssa took a deep breath and said heavily, “What the hell? We spent all that money to get the media there and Sky Ocean Corporation used it to make their announcement?”

“Sky Ocean Corporation is darn lucky! They got Professor Whiteman to endorse their lousy estate! I can’t accept this!” Lil Dee bellowed.

The comments online had turned completely as well.

Following the professor’s clarification, even those haters started to question the validity of the news surrounding Lil Dee and Kaze’s conflict. They even suspected that someone was accusing Sky Ocean Corporation of being affiliated with gangs.

Some even said that Lil Dee was not hurt at all and he simply pretended to be hospitalized.

“What the hell? Are they stupid? They criticized Sky Ocean Corporation a while ago and now I am the target?”

Lil Dee was shaking with anger as he went through the comments berating him.

“You have the nerve to say that?!”

Laura got up and slapped Lil Dee in the face.

Slap!

Lil Dee covered his burning face with pouty lips. Aggrieved, he said timidly, “Ms. Blossom, why did you slap me?!”

That was all he could do.

+15 BONUS

If it was someone else who slapped him, he would have punched the person in the face.

Laura was the vice–director of his agency, Thousand Leaf Entertainment, so there was no way he could defy her. Without his agency, he was nothing.

The agency could easily raise another Lil Dee without the original one.

If he dared to defy his agency, he would be replaced in no time.

Laura said strictly, “You really think Sky Ocean is just lucky? They are powerful! When you terminated the contract with them, they got Professor Whiteman to replace you. And you are still fantasizing about them kneeling before you. What a fool. They did not even take you seriously! I think you should be the one to kneel!”

Lil Dee realized Laura was not just scolding him. She intended to make him apologize to Sky Ocean Corporation.

Anxious, Lil Dee said loudly, “But why?!”

Making him kneel before Kaze would be worse than killing him.

Slap!

Laura slapped him again. She bellowed, “You idiot! It’s because Professor Whiteman has the attention now. If you don’t apologize to them and try your best to take the ambassadorship back, then are you planning to pack your bags?”

Lil Dee was stunned before realization struck.

Attention was his life.

If he could make peace with Sky Ocean Corporation and become the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate together with Professor Whiteman, he would gain even more attention for himself. He jumped off the bed and said excitedly, “I understand, Ms. Blossom!”

Chapter 894

Chapter 894 Same Amount

Without further ado, Lil Dee and Alyssa went to Sky Ocean Corporation.

There was still a crowd outside the building.

Professor Whiteman had left but the reporters wanted to get more interviews with the people in the company, especially Darcy and Kaze.

Both of them were probably the most discussed people in the city.

One of them was the chairwoman of two companies and was known for her beauty while the other impersonated the God of War who was known for being useless and the son-in-law of the Quint family.

The reporters hoped they could get exclusive interviews with them, but Darcy and Kaze did not even come out.

Then, Lil Dee and Alyssa arrived.

The reporters were surprised for a moment before they swarmed over to the two of them. "Lil Dee, I heard you were beaten up by Kaze Lee and got hospitalized. Is that true?"

Lil Dee was still in his hospital gown and had a patch on his face. His appearance somehow verified the reporter's question.

"Please make way. We are on official business with Sky Ocean Corporation and we are not accepting questions at the moment. Lil Dee will answer everyone's question at a press conference later."

Alyssa escorted Lil Dee into the building safely.

Learning from the receptionist that Lil Dee and Alyssa were here to talk about the contract, Darcy gave them permission to come up.

Ash and the other executives were here as well, so they decided to meet Lil Dee and Alyssa in the meeting room.

“Ms. Quint, we are terribly sorry about what happened and we are here hoping to reach a peaceful agreement. Lil Dee wants to continue his position as the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate,” Alyssia said..

The executives of the company exchanged a baffled look with each other.

The two of them were arrogant and disrespectful a while ago. They threatened to sue the company and wanted Kaze to kneel before them, yet they were completely different now. “Ash, what do you think?” Darcy asked. She had always respected Ash’s opinion.

Before Ash could say a word, Alyssa said, “Ms. Quint, in order to show you that we are serious, Lil Dee can endorse for free this time and he will also go live to promote Mountain Dew Estate!”

Upon hearing Alyssa’s offer, not only the executive but even Darcy was surprised.

Free endorsement and publicity for Mountain Dew Estate on Lil Dee’s livestream—seemed like they were serious.

However, no one at the table was an idiot. They knew Lil Dee was after the professor’s name.

Ash said, “Ms. Quint, I think we can continue to work with Lil Dee. Lil Dee’s livestreams have a lot of traffic and if he can promote the estate, we can see some positive effects.”

She knew that Professor Whiteman was just the nominal ambassador since he was busy with his work. He was unable to fully commit to promoting Mountain Dew Estate like Lil Dee. The promotional campaign needed someone with a following, someone like Lil Dee.

Lil Dee and Alyssa were thrilled to hear a positive reply, thinking they had secured the deal again.

Suddenly, Kaze came in and said, “I don’t have a say in this?” SEARCH THE website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Lil Dee and Alyssa’s hearts sank immediately.

Ash frowned. “Mr. Lee, what is your opinion on this?”

Kaze did not answer Ash's question. He looked at Lil Dee and said, "You guys spread false rumors about Mountain Dew Estate and wanted me to apologize to you. Now you are trying to wipe it away with just one apology?"

"Then what do you want us to do?" Lil Dee's expression turned bitter.

"I'm a fair person. I just want you to do what you asked me to do, nothing more."

Kaze sat down and tapped the floor with the tip of his foot. "Kneel, apologize, and then go down there to clarify things with the reporters and we'll talk. Or else, please leave." It was the same thing that Lil Dee said to threaten Sky Ocean Corporation earlier.

Chapter 895

Chapter 895 Terminate the Contract

"Ms. Quint, uh..."

Ash tried to stop Kaze. She believed it was inappropriate to be so disrespectful because they had to work together long-term.

Darcy glanced at her but did not say a word.

The stern look on her face silenced Ash.

After Ash and the executives tried to abdicate her, Darcy still respected her for her experience and insights but she would no longer let Ash make all the decisions.

"Kaze Lee! Don't push it! I've apologized, what else do you want? You really think I can't live without your contract?"

Lil Dee was furious.

Kneeling and apologizing to Kaze would be worse than killing him.

Kaze curled his lips and said, "Then please leave. You are right, it's not like we have to work with you anyway."

"You..."

Lil Dee's eyes were burning with flames of anger. He glared at Darcy and said, "Ms. Quint, is this how you treat your business partner?"

Darcy said emotionlessly, "Lil Dee, we are not business partners to be exact. You've terminated the contract already."

"I..." Lil Dee was speechless.

He really wanted to walk but knowing how influential Professor Whiteman was, he calmed himself down and swallowed his grievance.

Thump!

Lil Dee dropped to his knees before Kaze. He clenched his teeth tightly and closed his eyes. Kaze, I'm sorry!"

It was not his first time kneeling anyway. When he went live on his channel, he knelt to beg for donations from the viewers as well.

"Go down and clarify things with the reporters."

Kaze did not care if Lil Dee was sincere or not.

Lil Dee got up. He shot a frosty glance at Kaze before he went downstairs with Alyssa.

"Lil Dee is out!"

The reporters were waiting for more surprises at the entrance when they saw Lil Dee and Alyssa coming out.

"Lil Dee, are you here to negotiate with Sky Ocean Corporation?"

G MAKAVI

"Rumor has it that the employees of Mountain Dew Estate offered to pimp you. You rejected and got beaten up. Is that true?"

The reporters fired a barrage of questions at him.

Lil Dee was petrified on the spot and his lips had a hard time opening.

Alyssa then whispered softly, "Do it! Suck it up and we can go! We can get back at Kaze in the future!"

Lil Dee accepted his cruel fate. He moved closer to a microphone and said, "The rumors are false. The employee of Mountain Dew Estate did not try to pimp me, I was not beaten. This injury was from a careless fall.

“Because of that, I got into a misunderstanding with Sky Ocean Corporation, and we have talked it out.”

The reporters were quick with their reporting.

The clarification video of Lil Dee was already online the moment he ended the interview, and it sparked a lot of attention. Search The website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“I knew it. Mountain Dew Estate is clean. Professor Whiteman endorsed it.”

“The one who spread false rumors is a piece of shit. If not for Lil Dee, Sky Ocean Corporation would have suffered big time.”

The negative comments on Mountain Dew Estate were erased instantly.

Lil Dee and Alyssa then went back to the meeting room.

“Ms. Quint, Lil Dee had clarified everything. Can we sign the contract again and continue working together?” Alyssa asked.

Lil Dee looked at Darcy with anticipation.

Professor Whiteman was the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate.

If Lil Dee also became the ambassador, it would mean that he was at the same level as the professor.

He could then attract more views and followers with his new status.

His eyes were gleaming with hope.

“Nope. Sky Ocean Corporation has decided to terminate the contract with you,” Kare said indubitably.

Chapter 896

Chapter 896 The Divorce is Happening

Kaze’s words left the room full of people dumbfounded.

With red-rimmed eyes, Lil Dee pointed at Kaze and blurted angrily, "You went back on your word, bastard!"

Lil Dee had kneeled and cleared the air.

He assumed the humiliation would be enough for him to keep his position as the ambassador and piggyback on Sam's popularity.

Yet, Kaze wanted to back out of the contract.

Kaze's scornful eyes nearly drove Lil Dee to the edge.

Ashen in the face, Alyssa said to Darcy curtly, "Ms. Quint, I guess integrity isn't one of Sky Ocean Corporation's business core values since you can't keep your word."

Darcy furrowed her brows.

Kaze said with a smirk. "What promise? I've never said that he would still be the ambassador if he apologized on his knees and came clean openly."

While talking, he turned to Lil Dee. "Besides, it was the least you could do. You made a fuss, demanding that I kneel before you to apologize. You should have seen it all coming when you hired trolls to slander me.

"Get lost now. At least you can still walk out with some dignity intact," Kaze said and waved Lil Dee off.

Lil Dee yelled furiously, "Bastard! Who do you think you are? You don't make the decisions for Sky Ocean Corporation."

"Ms. Quint, people might think just your husband is the one running Sky Ocean Corporation," Alyssa said sarcastically to rile Darcy up.

Pulling a long face, Darcy said indifferently, "I'm the chairman of Sky Ocean Corporation, but in this case, I stand by my husband's decision."

Lil Dee and Alyssa grew upset.

Darcy intended to withdraw from the collaboration with them.

Lil Dee and Alyssa panicked.

Alyssa said anxiously, "You better think it through, Darcy. You will be paying the high penalty for breach as written in the contract."

Darcy could not believe the woman would threaten Sky Ocean Corporation with the penalty for the breach of contract.

Sky Ocean Corporation could afford the penalty and then some.

Kaze smiled and said, "You'll have to take us to court if you want to see a penny from us. You can forget about becoming the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate. Bye. Don't let the door

Darcy called security before Alyssa and Lil Dee could say anything more. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

They dared not make a scene in case the security personnel kicked them off the premises. It would be the end of Lil Dee's social media career if the press caught them on the way out.

Later, Sky Ocean Corporation issued a statement, declaring the termination of its partnership with Lil Dee.

Despite Thousand Leaf Entertainment's frustration, the employees could not do anything about it.

Having secured Professor Whiteman as their brand ambassador, Sky Ocean Corporation now boasted an ironclad defense. Thousand Leaf Entertainment's underhanded tactics were no longer effective.

That was the end of the matter.

The development of Mountain Dew Estate carried on as planned.

Darcy dove back into work mode, but amid her hectic schedule, she showed great interest in Kaze's work progress.

"Kaze, Míru called me just now. She wants you to take up your appointment at Hudson Investment Firm tomorrow. You can learn a lot just from observations, alright?" Darcy urged Kaze like a nagging mother.

"Got it, babe. I got it covered."

Kaze felt happy and helpless.

He did not need to prove himself through Hudson Investment Firm, but he could not let Darcy down either.

Still, he intended to take a hands-free approach like before.

After much contemplation, he decided to take one person from Shangrila Group to Hudson Investment Firm.

Upon arriving at the office building of Shangrila Group, Kaze made a beeline to Winnie's office.

Winnie was unaware of Kaze's presence as she crossed her arms and spoke on the phone in

"Zenny, I said the divorce is not up for debate. It will happen."

Zenny used Brenda to trick Winnie into the underground parking lot once.

Winnie and Brenda were forcefully taken to Wuthering Pavilion and nearly died horribly at the hands of Chrysant Twin Ghost.

Since that day, Winnie made up her mind to divorce Zenny.

She had been looking for Zenny, but the latter had taken cover.

“Zenny, just say the word, and we can meet to sign the papers

Zenny interrupted, “Don’t try to trick me into signing the papers, bitch!”

He yelled through clenched teeth, “Are you trying to get me out of hiding so Kaze could get to me? I’ll have you know that I’m not easily fooled. Forget about luring me out.

“Fuck! Why didn’t Chrysant Twin Ghost kill the loser instead of letting him live?”

Kaze knocked Zenny unconscious with a kick when the latter brought up Wuthering Pavilion. Zenny had no idea what happened after.

Zenny assumed Kaze had a lucky escape, and that was all there was to it.

Unable to stand Zenny’s vile remarks, Winnie placed the phone away from her ear until Zenny kept his voice down. She then said with utmost patience, “Please stop jumping to conclusions.

"Shameless!"

Hearing the disconnected tone after the click, Winnie nearly cried angry tears.

"It's not worth crying over a scumbag."

Kaze drew close to Winnie.

"What brings you here, Mr. Chairman? Yes, I won't cry for him."

Winnie wiped away her tears and changed the subject embarrassedly, "Has the issue with Sky Ocean Corporation been sorted out?"

"Yes."

Kaze nodded. "Darcy wants me to be the general manager at Hudson Investment Firm and report to work tomorrow. I'm planning to appoint Sophie as the general manager's assistant and move her up to deputy general manager to take care of daily operations."

Kaze was pleased with Sophie’s enthusiasm for the job and contacted Miru right away.

Miru was as sarcastic as ever when she got Kaze’s call.

“At least you’re aware of where you stand and seek help, Kaze. Sophie Song, you say? Alright. She can report straight to work.”

The sneering aside, Miru still made things happen.

Her intention was to give Kaze a respectable position at Hudson Investment Firm to save Darcy from embarrassment.

Miru did not care about Kaze hiring Sophie as an assistant.

“Mr. Chairman, I’ll head there now.

Sophie made her way to Hudson Investment Firm after getting the necessary stuff.

Noticing Winnie's lack of enthusiasm, Kaze tried to turn her attention elsewhere and said, "Come on. Let's pick Brenda up and take her somewhere fun."

Brenda had been bugging Kaze about going to an indoor entertainment space. Now that Kaze had time, Kaze wanted to spend some time with his goddaughter.

"Godfather!"

Outside the kindergarten, Brenda plunged headfirst into Kaze's arm affectionately.

They happily made their way to Century Fun.

Brenda enjoyed playing on the trampoline while Kaze and Winnie sat nearby and watched her. Winnie's weary face beamed for once.

"You can still file for divorce even if Zenny doesn't want to sign the papers, Winnie."

Kaze finally brought up her divorce.

He provided another approach that could help with the split. "The witnesses and video of your abduction with Brenda at the basement parking lot can serve as proof on grounds for divorce."

Given Zenny's intention to cause harm toward Winnie and Brenda, the court would likely grant a swift dissolution of the marriage.

"Alright. I got it."

Winnie nodded.

Suddenly, a crying voice belonging to a girl came from the trampolines.

"Brenda!"

As discoloration washed over her face, Winnie jolted to her feet.

Kaze got up to check out what the fuss was about when he saw several non-local children surrounding Brenda.

A seven-year-old boy extended his arms and made Brenda fall.

"My godfather and mom are there. Don't bully me," Brenda shouted while wiping her tears.

“You’re not one of us. Don’t come close.”

“My dad said that you and your kind are lowlifes. Get lost! Don’t play with us!”

The foreign kids insulted and stomped on Brenda.

Brenda’s white dress was stained with multiple shoe prints.

“Sob... My godfather bought me this dress.”

Brenda wailed harder and tried to stand on her feet on the trampoline by holding onto an older child’s leg, but she was pushed away.

The child stood on the edge of the trampoline.

He lost his balance from the push and fell off the trampoline, crashing to the ground. He started to wail.

“Are you alright, Brenda? Are you hurt?”

Winnie rushed over to hold Brenda. The girl dried her tears and whimpered, “I’m okay, Mommy. Those kids picked on me.”

Despite the hurt, Brenda put on a brave face, and Winnie’s heart went out to her.

Someone helped the older child to his feet.

“Hey, bitch! How dare you hit my child!”

A woman stormed over, her hand holding the older child’s.

The woman, who spoke in a heavy foreign accent, approached hastily.

“You asked for it, bitch! No one hits my child and gets away with it,” she yelled while raising her hand to slap Brenda.

Frightened, Brenda cocked her head back and hugged Winnie’s neck to cry.

Winnie slapped the woman's hand away, hugged Brenda, and consoled her, "Don't cry, Brenda. Mommy's here,"

Her mother's little girl, Brenda, stopped the tears and curled up in Winnie's arms before staring at the foreign woman shyly.

The foreign woman held her arm and glared at Winnie menacingly. "Ah! You're such a savage lowlife! How dare you hit me!"

The fact that Winnie hit her enraged her more than her child getting hit.

"Ma'am, use your words, not violence," Winnie said with a grimace.

The foreign woman stood aside and watched the children bully Brenda. Now that her child had fallen over, she tried to strike Brenda.

With Winnie's words striking a nerve, the foreign woman uttered in rage, "Even your government has to show me respect when I arrive in this country. How dare you disrespect me!"

"You people are vile and crude!"

Her screams caught the attention of many.

The public was outraged by the utter slander of their beautiful country.

However, nobody stepped forward to stop the foreign woman as they did not get the full picture.

Winnie said angrily, "Ma'am, who are you calling vile and crude? You tried to attack my daughter without reason. She's only five. She can't handle the rough handling of an adult.

"I'm only doing my job as a mother and protecting my daughter."

Winnie held Brenda and backed away a little in case the foreign woman decided to assault them again.

"Shit! All I'm doing is parenting your wild child for you!" the foreign woman screamed exasperatedly.

A few foreign couples, likely the parents of the children around, arrived in haste.

"Oh, my goodness, Joshua. My baby, are you alright? What happened?"

They approached their children and asked.

The boy named Joshua pointed at Brenda and said, "We won't play with that kid, so she

Another two foreign children backed up Joshua's story.

"Shit! These crass.locals are so wicked to kids."

"Devil! She's a devil!"

The foreign parents looked at Winnie and Brenda in disgust.

"Jesus! Oh, my God! Danny Jr. is bleeding."

Suddenly, the foreign woman pointed at Danny Jr.'s arm and screamed.

She turned around and shouted harshly at an approaching man. "Danny, are you going to stand and watch as someone pushes Junior? Are you still a man?"

Big-bodied Danny sported an elite look..

He frowned and pulled a blank face at Kaze and Winnie before uttering arrogantly, "Before I flip out,

Danny demanded one million prys in compensation for the minor scrape on Danny Jr.'s arm.

The payment was expected in prys, a currency with an exchange rate ten times higher than the dollar.

Winnie was not the only one angry. Even Kaze smirked in rage. “Danny, right? I bet you couldn’t earn a living in your home country, so you came to Arcadia to scam us locals.

“We haven’t yet determined if compensation is appropriate in this case. Even if we should, you are demanding one million prys for a minor injury. It’s daylight robbery.”

“Hahaha...”

The onlooking crowd was amused by Kaze’s remark.

Many foreigners, who could not make a living in their homeland, were treated like kings in Arcadia

The recent increase in the number of foreign teachers at universities sparked debate and raised concerns about qualifications and necessity.

Many were glad that Kaze tore into Danny, but some took things far and stood against the common enemy.

“You’re right, sir. Why one million prys for a minor injury? What makes your child better than all of us?”

“Get lost! Your cons don’t work here!”

Understanding the local language, Danny’s group was upset.

Flushed in the face, Danny’s wife yelled angrily, “We belong to the royal family in Paladia. Danny Jr. is better than all of you. One million prys is too little of an amount.”

“Even the royal family scams.”

Someone’s mocking drew laughter from the crowd.

No one believed Danny’s wife’s claim.

“shut up!

As Danny’s family grimaced, a middle-aged local shouted, “Mr. Danny Tulip comes from a long line of aristocrats in Paladia. He’s the heir of the powerful and wealthy Tulip family.

“Your families are just struggling working class generations ago. Who are you to question Mr. Tulip? He’s better than all of you put together.”

The middle-aged man’s supposed honorable speech did not sit well with many.

Some wanted to snap back at him.

However, the middle-aged man added, "Our consular office in Paladia invited Mr. Daniel, of the Tulip family, as a special guest to Lilyrose for an important collaboration with the city.

"Those who participated in slandering and insulting Mr. Tulip will not get away with it."

The locals who mocked Danny turned as white as a sheet.

Danny clearly came from power and wealth since he was linked to the royal family and invited by the consulate. SEARCH THE WEBSITE to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Hence, these people shut their mouths.

They were just civilians and did not want to get involved in the drama.

The locals' fear gave confidence to the foreign group to be cocky again.

Danny smiled at the middle-aged man and said, "Jem, don't intimidate these people. Mu family is civilized. These lowlives aren't worth my time."

He presented himself graciously.

Jem responded with a smile, "You're a cultured and forgiving man, Mr. Tulip. I should learn from you."

He then glared at Kaze and Winnie. "Get your kid to apologize to Danny Jr. now and foot his medical bill. Mr. Tulip is so kind enough to offer a solution, but you took things too far and bullied his son.
