

HACKER 2571

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2571-Nicole raised an eyebrow at Jared as she attempted to understand what he had meant.

A warm, fuzzy feeling arose within her as she said, 'Til have a glance at it first. I'll contact them if I need to.'

Jared stayed with Nicole as she browsed the Hunters. And a while later, Nicole logged off the computer and the couple went to bed thereafter.

The next day, the sun shone high and hot as Nicole arrived at the headquarters of Riddle Corporation. She was about to give Preston a call before she realized that he had already arrived before she did.

"Thanks!1 Preston said as he came over and stood before Nicole.

Nicole turned to look at Preston. "You ought to thank Grandpa yourself. He was the one who made the decision."

"I still have to thank you for that," Preston insisted.

Preston knew that had it not been for Nicole, her grandfather would not have rendered aid to his parents, nor would he have asked her to pay him a visit last night.

"So, from now onwards, whatever happens next will be up to them," Nicole reminded.

"I understand that well," Preston replied with utmost seriousness.

He was well aware of the mess his parents had made, and he would do everything in his power to ensure that history would not repeat, regardless of whether his parents had repented or not.

Nicole looked up at Preston, raised her eyebrows, and asked, "You came all the way here just to thank me?"

"No, there are other matters I need to discuss with you about,' Preston said, his expression darkening. "You do know what's been happening at the Hunters, right?"

Nicole nodded. "Yeah, I was just about to swing by and talk to you about it but since you're already here..."

Preston nodded. "Have you seen how strange it has been recently?"

"Do you think that they have got other motives?" Nicole asked, her forehead creased.

“Perhaps it has something to do with the crests we’re trying to locate? Since we...,” Preston pondered.

“Aside from the fact that these crests are centuries old, it is nigh impossible to get anyone to get their hands on it even if they have leveraged the Hunters,” said Preston casually.

Nicole nodded in agreement, “Yeah, that was what I was thinking.”

After a moment, Nicole frowned, “As of now, do you have any clues?”

In return, Preston sighed. “No, I thought I had made a breakthrough before all these fiascos happened. Ever since the Reby family intervened, our chances of tracking them down became next to impossible.”

“What about the Fire Crest?” Nicole asked in a hushed voice.

She really wanted to unveil the truth behind the Fire Crest as it might hold the answers she had been searching for.

However, Preston shook his head. “It’ll be even more difficult to find. Everyone knew it was in your possession.”

“Yeah, but who would have thought that I would have lost such an important object?” Nicole thought.

“You can consider other possibilities. Like, whether that crest is within something that you could have worn daily. Perhaps it’s on you right now. I mean how could it just vanish into thin air, right?” Preston suggested.

Nicole frowned. “I get what you’re trying to say but I honestly can’t remember much other than the fact that I woke up without any of my belongings next to me.”

Nicole was certain that she did not have any of her belongings around her while she was sobering up from the crash.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2572-Then, Preston speculated. “How about this? There could’ve been a possibility that whoever had saved you back then had stolen it?”

‘If it wasn’t on her, is it possible that someone could’ve intercepted it along the way? As she woke up with amnesia and did not remember anyone, that perpetrator might’ve taken it and hid it elsewhere.’ Preston thought to himself.

However, Nicole felt that it was unlikely that someone could have stolen it from her, as she was the only person who knew how to activate the Fire Crest.

“Perhaps they took it and sold it off without knowing the value of it,” Preston muttered.

In a flip, the look on Preston’s face changed, and he exclaimed, “What if they took it and sold it off!”

Nicole chuckled. “I don’t think they would do something like that. The people there? They all live very honest lives.”

Nicole was certain that the bunch of people who had saved her would not commit such petty crimes. After all, the device housing the Fire Crest itself was rather insignificant.

“Then where on earth could it have gone? Ever since you went missing, you were basically living with them,” Preston continued, becoming increasingly agitated as he could not figure out where the Fire Crest had gone if the people who had saved Nicole had not pawned it.

As for Nicole, a sudden rush of emotions came over her. She was unable to pin it down into words, but she had a hunch that she had seemingly stumbled across the Fire Crest somewhere.

‘Where did I come across these words before? Was it in one of the sessions I had? What was the meaning behind them?’

Nicole asked herself.

Noticing that Nicole was feeling uneasy, Preston cautiously asked, “Nicole, are you okay? What’s wrong?”

Nicole snapped back into her senses, whereupon she looked up at Preston. She slowly shook her head without saying a word. Then, she turned to her computer, staring at the screen.

Her eyes squinted as she centered her gaze at the screen, ‘I can’t put my finger on it, but it looks oddly familiar with the system that Lawrence had once given me...’

“Wait a minute...,” she muttered, tensing up as she clicked on her mouse several times and clacked away on her keyboard.

A system interface instantly appeared on her monitor, one that Nicole always had trouble accessing. Just like that, it was unlocked within seconds.

Nicole stared at the screen as the popup windows appeared, her eyes widening in shock.

Preston, too, was speechless, for he had never seen anything like that before. "This is..."

Suddenly, a sound blared out of the computer and an AI voice uttered, "Ma'am, is there anything I can help you with?"

Caught offguard, Preston nervously swallowed. "Nicole, what-how did this suddenly appear?"

'This is the Fire Crest which symbolizes the Holy Union,' Nicole figured, her eyes darkening. 'Lawrence gave this to me on purpose. He knew that I would be able to help him crack it. He told me there was something important inside. Something very dear to him.'

Lawrence had long discovered it and had sought the help of numerous people to crack the code. However, to his dismay, none of them had succeeded. Because of this, he had no choice but to approach Nicole. She was his only hope, and he knew for certain that she would be able to crack it for him, sooner or later.

However, everything was already too late, as Nicole had successfully cracked the code. It was then that she realized the risk that came after cracking the system.

Perhaps he had really come to a dead end and had no choice but to ask me for help,' she surmised.

As Nicole cracked the code open, the truth became clear as day, revealing the Fire Crest. 'Does this mean that I am the true owner of the Fire Crest all along? The consequences that come with this would be too much for Lawrence to bear anyway.'

"Nicole, this is great news! You found the Fire Crest! Wait, what's with that look?" Preston asked, the smile on his face vanishing immediately after he had noticed how grim Nicole was.

Why is she looking so beat up? Isn't she glad that the Fire Crest has been found?' he asked himself.

"I'm okay. It's a good thing I found it," Nicole replied, shaking her head before looking up at Preston with a brow raised.

Nicole was slowly regaining vague memories about the Fire Crest.

Then, she glanced down at her wrist. 'Wait, where's my watch? I remembered that I've fixed it to my watch for easy access

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2573-“I think I need to locate my watch,” Nicole said as she immediately posted a message onto the system.

“Yes, ma’am,” the system replied as it began processing its command.

Nicole turned the system off shortly after while issuing a heavy sigh.

Right now, she was overwhelmed with mixed emotions.

‘I could never have thought that Lawrence would lie to me. Why did he do so? Moreover, the Fire Crest would’ve recognized me as its sole owner anyway. It won’t change until I die, but if I had helped him crack it earlier on the way before I regained my memories, I can’t imagine what kind of things he would’ve done to me,’ Nicole pondered.

She had a hard time telling what was true from what was false among the people on Crescent Island too. ‘Was everything one big, practical joke from the start? Was everyone in on it too? Those people I had been friends with, were waiting for me to help them crack the code too?’

Preston looked at Nicole with worry written all over his face, “So, ever since you’ve lost your memories and your watch, you didn’t know how to activate the Fire Crest. Is that right?”

“Yeah, something like that,” Nicole replied, not wanting to tell Preston too much about this, as it would be safer for Preston to not know about Lawrence.

anything you need help with, don’t hesitate to reach out to me,” Nicole said as she shot Preston a serious look.

“The workers that you’ve hired to aid us have been nothing short of efficient and helpful,” Preston added.

Preston would be forever grateful for the help that Nicole had rendered him when he first started his company, especially after the collapse of DillCorp under Dillion’s leadership. The thought of owning his own company one day was something beyond his wildest dreams.

Nicole smirked. “It’ll only get better, trust me.”

“Thank you. I won’t let you down, I’ll work twice as hard,” Preston promised as he swore on his words.

Ever since the downfall of DillCorp and its subsumption back into Riddle Corporation, Preston had experienced serious changes to his family life, and the burden on his shoulders had since gotten heavier.

Then, Nicole and Preston went on to chat for a while longer before Preston eventually excused himself.

As Preston left Nicole's office, Patricia entered.

"Can you do a background check on Hanwick Ferguson? If it's impossible to do so, detain him," Nicole ordered, her eyes glinting with frost.

'The major influential families will soon know that the Fire Crest has been reactivated. I bet that sooner or later, Lawrence will receive the message too. I won't have to hide anything from him,' Nicole thought to herself.

"Yes, ma'am," Patricia obliged as she turned around and left the office quickly.

Nicole leaned back against her chair as she glanced out the window, her mind slowly drifted into the clouds.

Not long after, the sun began setting in the horizon, and Nicole walked out of the office. Downstairs, Jared was already standing by his car waiting for her.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2574-Jared and Nicole got into the car, and right away, he noticed that something was off.

That was when he quickly brought her into a comforting hug. "Consider this a good ending."

Nicole having to find the Fire Crest the way she did indicated that her 'friendship' with Lawrence was nothing but a sham and that they were not really 'friends' to begin with.

'I guess discovering the problem now is better than finding out about it later, when it has mushroomed into something bigger,' Nicole thought to herself, somewhat trying to make herself feel better about the situation.

In response to Jared, she nodded. "I know."

Nicole had always been one who needed time to process all that was going on around her, and this time, it was the deception and betrayal of her 'good friend'.

Jared took Nicole into his arms and gently held her. "Let's just go with the flow."

Nicole bit her lips, contemplating for a while before asking, "Did you find anything?"

“Hanwick was under Lawrence’s payroll just as you’ve figured. They had plotted to prevent you from recovering your memories,” Jared informed, knowing that Nicole would ask about him.

“There’s nothing else to it?” Nicole asked, her eyes narrowing.

How can he be this petty?’ she fumed.

“For now, that’s all the info I can provide you with,” Jared said with a reassuring look on his face.

“Where is he now?” Nicole asked, her voice icy cold.

Jared then glanced down at Nicole. “We’ve set him free.”

Nicole raised her eyebrows, understanding that Jared’s intent was to track the person after setting them free to see if they would make a move.

“Okay.”

With her questions answered, Nicole fell silent, and it was not long before they arrived at the Riddle residence. By then, everyone had already arrived and were waiting for Jared and Nicole to come home.

“Everyone, let’s dig in,” Daniel said as Jared and Nicole sauntered into the dining room.

Gloria looked around the table as Jared and Nicole settled in. “Alright everyone, the big day is tomorrow. I hope that everyone has gotten their schedules cleared and has made arrangements accordingly.”

“Yes, all has been well sorted,” Nicole replied.

“Don’t worry, Mom. We have double and triple confirmed. There won’t be an issue,” Spencer reassured.

Hearing that, Gloria nodded in satisfaction. “That’s great!”

As soon as Gloria had spoken, she shifted her attention to Stanley, “Don’t forget to invite Regina to the wedding with you.”

“No, I don’t think that’s necessary. It’s such an important event. We should be focusing on the newlyweds, not me,”

Stanley protested.

He did not wish to mingle with anyone, let alone someone he had met through his blind date.

“What are you afraid of? The entirety of the Wynn family will be attending.” Gloria grinned.

Stanley could not help but roll his eyes upon hearing that.” It’s none of my business whether they come or not. Just forget about playing matchmaker...”

“You...!” stuttered Gloria.

Then, Nicole suddenly stepped in and cut Gloria off. “Mom, let’s make sure their wedding runs smoothly and everything goes according to plan first.”

Gloria frowned, for she had assumed that playing the matchmaker with Stanley at the wedding would be like killing two birds with a stone.

Interrupting Gloria, Stanley pointed out, “Mom, I have a role to play. It would be in bad taste if I neglect the guests during the wedding.”

Gloria nodded along, figuring that Stanley had made a fair point. “Okay, I shall wait until after the wedding before I continue with all that matchmaking for you.”

With that said, Stanley flashed Nicole a look of gratitude. ‘If it wasn’t for her, I would have refused to show up at my own brother’s wedding to avoid my mother’s awful cupid-like antics.’

A headache struck Stanley as he thought about the possible outcomes that would have unfolded had Nicole not intervened.

Concurrently, Nicole smirked as she turned to look at Gloria.

“Mom, are your dresses ready?”

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2575-Stunned by the question, Gloria asked, “You mean mine?” ‘Gosh, it has completely escaped my notice! How can I forget to prepare my own dresses!’ she panicked.

Noticing her mother’s reaction, she chuckled and shook her head.

“I knew it!” Nicole beamed.

She had not heard any mentions of it from Gloria for a while now, and so, she had guessed that she might have forgotten about it long ago.

“I’ll go shopping tomorrow,” Gloria groaned.

"I've picked a few dresses out for you. They'll send over three pairs for you to choose from," Nicole stated.

She had gone out with June and Lulu to try out a bunch of wedding dresses a while ago and had ordered a few for Gloria as well.

"You're the best, Nicole! Compared to the rest of these brats, nobody seems to have remembered this," Gloria said as she glared at her sons.

"Yes, it was our fault that we overlooked this," Stanley admitted, followed by Spencer and Samuel, who were all embarrassed by their act of negligence.

"Never mind that. Let's all dig in," Gloria finished as she brushed it off at once.

After dinner was over, everyone gathered at the living room where a heated discussion of the wedding then took place.

After that, all of them retired to their respective rooms to get some sleep.

Nicole tucked Lana and Nolan into bed before heading back to her room. Just as she entered the room, she saw Jared standing by the window. He was staring out into the yard, apparently deep in thought.

Seeing this, she walked over and stood next to him, "What are you looking at?"

Jared glanced over his shoulder and saw Nicole, and that was when he handed her a box. "Try this on."

Nicole furrowed her eyebrows, surprised by the gift which he had given her out of the blue. "You've prepared a gift for me?"

n

Nicole opened the box carefully, and within it was an elegant, light blue dress, rendering her speechless and amazed by the beauty of it. "This... is beautiful!"

"Go and try it on," Jared suggested as he motioned for her to change into it.

Nicole took the dress out of its box and made a beeline for the bathroom at an instant.

When Nicole stepped out from the bathroom in the dress, Jared gave her a grin of satisfaction. "You look amazing!"

Nicole then twirled around in the dress before giving him a smirk. "I love it!"

"I'm glad you love it. You can wear this for the wedding," Jared replied as he caressed Nicole's hair.

Nicole grinned and happily agreed, "Of course!"

Nicole had already prepared her dress for the wedding, but without a second thought, she had decided to wear the dress

Jared had gifted her instead.

Nicole quickly changed out of the dress and put it back in the box, "I'm going to take a shower."

Nicole then grabbed her pajamas and was ready to hop into the shower when Jared, who had a wicked smirk plastered on his face, stopped her.

"Together," he said.

"I don't want to shower with you. Move away! Hey! Put me down!" Nicole resisted as Jared picked her up mid-sentence and threw her over his shoulders.

And in a flash, the sound of running water filled Nicole's ear, drowning her cries and protests.

Two days flitted by just like that, and soon, the long- anticipated wedding day had arrived. The ballroom was spruced up with stunning decorations, and the influx of guests kept flowing in, as it was one of the biggest weddings the Riddle family had ever hosted.

Nicole was accompanying June and Lulu in the dressing room as they were doing their makeup. Lulu had also gotten some bridesmaids to come along with her, among which was Tia, who had shown up to participate at the wedding.

In the midst of all that chatter and giggles, one of the bridesmaids spoke up, "June, once you become a part of the Riddle family, don't forget about us here!"

In return, June rolled her eyes. "I'm just getting married and jetting off for a honeymoon. I'll still be back in the office when I return home. How could you think that I'd forget you

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2576-Everyone busted out into fits of laughter while the makeup artist and stylist began to do some touch ups.

"Lulu, you ought to pull it up a little more," Nicole commented as she and Tia examined Lulu's makeup and dress.

Everyone around the room had their roles to play and were nothing short of busy. Meanwhile, June and Lulu were bright red, with both looking a little awkward as they prepared themselves to walk down the aisle.

All of a sudden, a knock was heard at the door.

“Are the brides ready? We’re here,” Ellar announced from the other side of the door.

“They’re here,” the bridesmaids squeaked, instantly excited.

One of them was already making her way toward the door to let the men in when Tia stopped her.

“Don’t open the door for them so easily. Let’s tease them a little.”

Feeling a little embarrassed, she apologized, “Oh right, I forgot about that.”

“Gosh, you’re so embarrassing!” another bridesmaid exclaimed.

“They’re from Riddle Corporation. This isn’t a normal wedding, so we have to do our best even though we’re nervous, okay?” another bridesmaid assured.

“This is a once-in-a-lifetime chance to see them upfront! We should have them give us some gifts before we let them in,” another bridesmaid plotted.

Everyone in the room giggled, as they were sure to get gifts from the groom’s team.

After a while, Ellar knocked on the door again. “Open up! Our groom, Spencer and Samuel, are here! Don’t keep them waiting!”

“Gifts first or we won’t budge!” a bridesmaid shouted over the door.

“Don’t worry, we have prepared more than enough gifts for everyone here!” Ellar replied from the other side of the door.

The bridesmaids looked at each other, crowding around the door before opening it. Once the door was wide open, however, no one rushed in. All they could see was Spencer and Samuel standing by the door, each holding a bouquet of flowers in their hands.

As the bridesmaids stared in awe, a voice suddenly shouted, “June! Lulu! Your husbands-to-be are here for you!”

Everyone began to push their way into the room, completely forgetting about the gifts, while Ellar gave Spencer and Samuel a push and asked them to get their brides to the reception at once.

“Their gifts. Don’t forget that!” Preston reminded.

The bridesmaids suddenly remembered that they had yet to receive their gifts, so Spencer and Samuel handed them out to the bridesmaids and made their way to Lulu and June.

“We’re here to get you to the wedding,” Spencer and Samuel stated as they handed their bouquets to the brides.

“Let’s get going, we don’t want to keep everyone waiting,” one of the bridesmaids chimed in, holding a handful of gifts in her arms.

June and Lulu chuckled at the sight of it. They were already feeling shy at first, but now, they felt utterly helpless, especially June who could not help herself from giving everyone an eye roll.

“I can’t believe you guys got bribed with just a few petty gifts. Haven’t you guys prepared yourselves for it earlier? What happened to that?” June asked.

‘These girls looked extremely worried earlier. Now they’re just eager to see me get wed,’ June thought.

“These are no ordinary gifts. These are gifts from the sons of the Riddle Corporation!!!” a bridesmaid remarked.

“You’re the stars at this wedding today. If you were in our spot, you’d understand why we gave in so easily,” another stated.

The atmosphere in the room was energetic; people were chattering, and everyone was bursting out in gales of laughter at the bridesmaids, who had made it seem like they had achieved a lifelong goal of theirs.

Spencer and Samuel then led June and Lulu out of the dressing room and downstairs for the wedding reception.

Lana and Nolan were dressed in their attire, waiting for the brides and grooms to come. Then, after they had seen Lulu and June, they obediently followed the brides as they walked down the aisle.

“The kids look so cute! They look like dolls!” one exclaimed loudly in awe.

Everyone was taken aback by the twin’s appearance as they watched the two waddling up the aisle.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2577-Lana nodded at everyone with a polite smile while Nolan played it cool. Together, they melted everyone’s hearts.

“This wedding is truly worth attending.”

“It’s a once-in-a-lifetime event.”

Amid the sea of admirations along the way, everyone finally arrived at the grand hall where the wedding was to take place.

They naturally stopped chattering as they entered.

Once there was nothing but pin drop silence, the doors opened, and the wedding march began to play. Then, Spencer and Lulu walked hand in hand down the aisle, followed closely by Samuel and June.

The two pairs of newlyweds stood before the stage as everyone clapped and cheered for them.

When Spencer, Lulu, Samuel, and June had taken their places, Nolan and Lana stood at both ends with a basket of flower petals, charming and adorable.

The newlyweds then ended the sacred ceremony, with everything going according to plan.

“Now, I pronounce you husband and wife. The grooms may kiss the brides.”

With the priest’s words uttered, the two couples shared a sweet kiss, sealing their lifelong vows.

After the ceremony, the guests moved to the banquet hall. The best men accompanied the grooms in greeting the guests, while the brides, with their bridesmaids, went off to change. As for Nolan and Lana, they followed Nicole to the changing room.

The makeup artists and stylists assisted June and Lulu in changing their outfits while June’s colleagues, the bridesmaids, observed Nolan and Lana with great curiosity.

Though they were not familiar with the Riddle family, they knew that no one in that family had children, which was why they were all wondering, ‘Who are these adorable little ones?’

“Mommy.” Nolan and Lana walked over to Nicole and snuggled up in her embrace.

“Mommy?!” The bridesmaids stared in astonishment as they noted the loving interaction between Nicole and her children.

‘Those cuties actually called Nicole, ‘Mommy’!’

Nicole hugged Nolan and Lana with a smile.. “Your wish came true. Are you happy now?”

“Of course!” Lana tugged at her beautiful princess gown, nodding in delight.

In return, Nicole looked at Lana dotingly as she gently ruffled her hair.

“Miss Nicole, are these really your kids?” one of them finally gathered the courage to ask.

“Yes, they are my twins. This is the older brother, Nolan, and this is the younger sister, Lana.” Nicole introduced the two little ones with a smile.

“But... You... They...” someone muttered before falling silent.

In contrast, Nicole had nothing but a calm smile. “You’re wondering how they’ve grown so big, right?”

“When I left San Joto, I was already pregnant, and so, they turned five when I came back,” Nicole explained, her eyes filled with fondness as she glanced at Nolan and Lana.

During those years, she was blessed to have these little angels who had been her source of happiness.

“Ah, I see. That’s why no one knew about them.”

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2578-“Anyway, they really do look a lot like you and Mr. Johnston.”

“Alright, you’re starting to creep the kids out,” June teased her friends after she was done with her makeup and changing.

Soon, Lulu joined them and asked Nicole, “Should we go downstairs now?”

“I think so. The guests are waiting,” Nicole replied, preparing to lead everyone downstairs.

The group left the room in high spirits. But then, out of the blue, a woman suddenly barreled toward them and lunged at Lana.

Nicole instinctively pulled Lana back a couple of steps to evade the oncoming woman. However, before she had time to react, the woman had already pounced on Nolan. Nicole rushed over to save Nolan, but it was too late.

“Mommy!” Nolan cried out in panic as he was seized.

The woman then placed a knife in front of his throat.

“Nolan!” Nicole’s face blanched at once, but she knew she had to remain calm and composed.

Pushing Lana to Tia, Nicole whispered, “Protect Lana. No matter what happens, don’t intervene. You’ve got to make sure that Lana is safe.”

“Miss Nicole, you...” Tia’s eyes welled up, but upon sighting Nicole’s resolute expression, she could only grit her teeth and give her a firm nod. "Got it. Don't worry."

Even if she herself was in danger, she would do anything to protect Lana. She knew that Nicole would never abandon Nolan in such a situation. She could not help her in any other way, so the least she could do was ensure that Nicole did not have to worry.

Taking a deep breath, Nicole looked at the person who had taken Nolan hostage, her eyes filled with a cold determination.

"Raine, you've been hiding for so long just for this moment, haven't you?"

No one had expected Raine to show up. They had even thought she had fled San Joto for good.

"What a pleasant surprise, Nicole." Raine scoffed. "I initially came here to kill you, but that was when I didn't know you had kids. I've changed my mind now. Say, will it hurt more if I hurt them instead of you?"

She had been holed up for a long time and refrained from subjecting herself to public scrutiny even during daytime. Up until now, she had only dared to get some food for herself at night, and she had done it all for this day.

She had snuck up on Nicole and was planning to kill her when she was not paying attention.

Unexpectedly, she then heard about the twins, who were Nicole's children. That was why she had changed her mind. She wanted Nicole to suffer in agony. That way, she could finally satiate her wrath.

"Raine, stop your nonsense. Doing this will only add to your crimes!" Lulu yelled.

"Hmph, do I look like I care? Look at me now! I'm worse than dead. But I can't die yet. Even if death is certain, I must drag Nicole down with me. I won't let her off the hook easily." Raine glared at Nicole with venom in her eyes as she gritted her teeth like a predatory creature.

"You really are crazy. Nicole was just too kind-hearted.

That's the only reason why you're able to hurt people today." Lulu stared Raine down disdainfully.

If they had known earlier, they would have sent Raine to jail.

"Kind? Hah. She's more vicious than I am." Raine's eyes turned bloodshot as she hysterically declared.

"She knew about

James's plan a long time ago, but she didn't do anything. She just waited for my downfall and took over DillCorp."

"You have only yourself to blame for your bad judgment.

Even if we had told you back then, what do you think was going to happen? Not only would you not believe us, but you would also think that we were jealous and trying to sabotage your relationship with James. Did you think we had any reason to tell you?" Lulu retorted.

At that time, James was probably the only person Raine trusted, while they were the last people Raine would trust. If they had told her, she would only loathe them more.

Therefore, they had little reason to speak up.

"Raine, you're the one who's not using your brain. Are you blaming us now for your own lack of judgment? You were stupid back in school, but it's been years, and you have still shown no improvement. Even after you've ended up like this, all you know is still to get back at everyone else." June's expression twisted into a grimace as she glared at Raine.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2579-'How could Raine kidnap Nolan during my wedding?! What the hell?! Not only is she freaking stupid, but she's also still as evil as always.'

"Shut up, all of you!" Raine exploded under the barrage of accusations from Lulu and June, feeling extremely humiliated.

"Alright, well keep quiet. You talk," Nicole said coldly, after which she glared at Raine. "What do you want?"

"Let go of my brother, you wicked lady!" Lana shouted angrily as she looked at Nolan with concern.

"Yeah, let Nolan go. What do you want?" June and Lulu echoed.

They would put up with anything at this point as long as Nolan remained safe.

"What do I want?" Raine waved the small knife in her hand and gritted her teeth. "I want to make Nicole suffer. I'll be happy so long as she's in pain."

Raine had nothing left to her name at this point. She had even been deceived by the unfaithful James. On the other hand, Nicole had DillCorp.

DillCorp was supposed to be mine! If I had worked harder, I could even have taken over the entirety of the Riddle family!

But now, because of Nicole, all my efforts have gone to waste! How could I not hate her?!' Raine thought.

"Raine, what are you doing? Put the knife down now!" A loud roar startled Raine.

People had suddenly gathered in the second-floor corridor, and most of the Riddle family had already rushed over as well.

The person who had just shouted at Raine was none other than Dillion himself. He was livid when he saw what Raine was doing. He had just received his father's forgiveness and the opportunity to live peacefully in the family manor.

Pay Less to Trade More

<https://en.novelxo.com/my-wife-is-a-hacker-novel-nicole/r1019799.html> 2/3

Unfortunately for him, Raine had returned to cause another mess.

"Raine, put the knife down now," Karen advised her anxiously, her face pale.

"Mom, Dad, why are you like this too?" Raine looked at them in disbelief. "These are Nicole's children. I just want Nicole to experience the pain of having everything taken away from her. Don't you want this too?"

"Shut up and put the knife down. You're only making things worse for yourself now!" Dillion bellowed.

They did not want to think about anything else right now as they just wanted to live in peace.

"Raine, don't make things worse." Preston frowned, evidently disapproving of Raine's actions.

"Preston, I'm your sister. Why are you always on Nicole's side?" Raine screeched.

Everyone in her family had faulted her for everything, even her parents and her brother.

'What the hell did I do wrong?!' she seethed.

"We're a family. Besides, I have to tell you what's right and what's wrong because you're my sister," Preston replied in defeat.

He had been trying to advise Snow and Raine for a long time, but no one had listened to him, and now, it had all ended in the sorry state it was in.

“Fine, you’re always right, and I’m always wrong! Very well then. I’ll let you see what happens when I’m wrong.” Raine declared, and prepared herself to slit Nolan’s throat with the knife.

“No, don’t!” The girls screamed in terror.

“Stop, you imbecile!” Mr. Riddle Sr.’s face blanched in anguish.

Everyone in the Riddle family turned pale, their hearts leaping beats into their chests. “Raine, don’t hurt Nolan!”

Nolan must not be harmed. It would be something nobody would be able to bear.

Nicole became desperate, her eyes turning red. She had already lunged forward, but she knew very well that she was still a few steps too far.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2580-“Nolan!” Nicole screamed, frantic.

For the first time, she regretted getting injured earlier, which had taken a great toll on her agility and dexterity.

Time was running out, and Nicole was close to having a breakdown. However, she still did her best to get to Nolan and Raine before the former could be injured.

“Bahaha!” Raine burst into maniacal laughter, raising the knife to strike Nolan.

“Ugh... Ah!”

With a sharp scream, the air in the room froze. Everyone’s minds went blank, as if time itself had stopped, and some even closed their eyes, afraid to witness what was happening in those final moments.

But then, there was nothing but silence, a deathly silence... and then a loud thud.

Following a muffled groan, the first floor erupted into chaos, and those on the second floor slowly pulled themselves back to reality.

“Daddy! Nolan!” Lana cried out before running toward Jared and Nolan, before burying herself in Jared’s arms, sobbing,” Daddy... Nolan! You’re okay?”

Jared carried Lana up, his voice soft as he comforted her,” It’s okay, Lana. Don’t cry. Nolan’s fine. We’re all fine now.”

Nolan looked at Jared in a daze. He was actually frightened while he was being held hostage, but he did all he could to suppress his fear as he did not want Nicole to worry.

He really thought he was going to die, but at the very last second, a strong arm had wrestled him away and embraced him.

It was the first time he had experienced such an embrace, one that Nolan could not explain, though it felt peculiar.' Maybe this is what security feels like, the sense of security from a father.'

"Nicole!" June and Lulu rushed over to support Nicole, preventing her from tipping over.

Barely holding on, Nicole looked at Jared with tears in her eyes. Jared had appeared, Nolan was safe, and as she realized this, she felt like she could finally breathe again.

"Mommy! Are you okay?" Nolan and Lana asked in concern, looking at Nicole's weakened state.

Jared approached Nicole with Nolan and Lana, after which he gently placed Nolan in her arms. As she felt Nolan in her embrace, tears streamed down Nicole's face uncontrollably.

"Nolan, I'm so sorry. It's all Mommy's fault. I couldn't protect you," Nicole tightly held Nolan while she sobbed, as if this was the only thing she could do to make herself feel at ease.

Seeing this, Nolan wrapped his arms around Nicole's neck and comforted her, "Don't cry, Mummy. I'm fine, and it's not your fault. It's that bad woman's fault."

As Raine was mentioned, the Riddle family and the bridesmaids finally recalled that Raine had fallen from the balcony, and the chaos downstairs was likely caused by her plunge. However, they did not know what had happened to Raine after she had fallen from such a height...

Soon, the police and ambulance arrived, with the latter taking Raine away, while the police left after they had obtained the surveillance footage from the scene.

At that moment, no one knew how to proceed with the wedding anymore.

“We are sorry for this sudden turn of events. We won’t keep you any longer, and the Riddle family will offer you each compensation as apology,” Mr. Riddle Sr. loudly announced.

“Please don’t apologize, Mr. Riddle Sr. We won’t be in your way now.”

After sending everyone off, Mr. Riddle Sr. turned to June and Lulu and said “The Riddle family is truly sorry about this.

About your wedding, why don’t we...”

Immediately, June and Lulu exchanged glances and replied, “Grandfather, the wedding has already come to an end.

We’re now a family, and nobody has wronged us.”